KREYER, HUBERT STANLEY, Lieut., was born 4 July, 1890, son of Frederick Arthur Christian Kreyer, Lieut.-Colonel, Indian Army (retired in 1910). He was educated at Victoria College, Jersey, Channel Islands, 1900–8; was at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, from Sept. 1909, to Dec. 1910, and played for the Royal Military College and Royal Military Academy at Association football and hockey. He joined the 2nd Battn. Prince of Wales's Own Yorkshire Regt. 25 March, 1911, and proceeded to France with the 7th Division 4 Oct. 1914; landed at Zeebrugge on 5 Oct. 1914; was present at the First Battle of Ypres. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Hubert Stanley Kreyer, Lieut., 2nd Battn. Alexandra, Princess of Wales's Own (Yorkshire Regt.). Has shown conspicuous gallantry on several occasions in conveying messages along the trenches under heavy fire. His Commanding Officer considers that it was largely due to the services rendered by this Officer that the battalion was extricated from a difficult position." He was mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1915; was present at the Battle of Neuve Chapelle; was wounded 13 March, and invalided home; rejoined the B.E.F., France, 1 Oct. 1913, and was invalided home through an injury to his knee 20 March, 1916. He was promoted Captain 16 April, 1916. Capt. Kreyer acted as Brigade Major, 192nd Rifle Brigade, Home Forces, 10 Aug. 1917, to 14 May, 1918; as Brigade Major, 185th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 15 July, 1918, to 13 April, 1919; as G.S.O.3, G.H.Q., British Army of the Rhine, 14 April to 13 June, 1919; as Brigade Major 14 June, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1919. In 1918 he married Alice Leonie, second daughter of the late Capt. J. S. Berkeley, 85th Regt.

Hubert Stanley Kreyer.

LAMB, CAMERON, Capt., was born 25 May, 1879, at Old Charlton, Kent, son of the late Sir John Cameron Lamb, C.B., C.M.G., and of Bella, daughter of the late John Farquharson. One of his brothers is Capt. B. Lamb, R.G.A., late of the Egyptian Army, and A.D.C. to the Governor of Barbadoes. He was educated at Blackheath School, Exeter College, Oxford, and Guy's Hospital Medical School; was gazetted to the 4th Battn. Durham Light Infantry in Aug. 1900, and joined Lovat's Scouts (Imperial Yeomanry) in June, 1901. He served in the South African Campaign, 1899–1901, and took part in the operations in Cape Colony and the Orange River Colony during the South African War, for which he received the Queen's Medal with four clasps. He was gazetted to the Border Regt. in Jan. 1903, and served with it in South Africa, India and Burma. He was fond of rowing, boxing and hockey, and had many trophies of his big-game expeditions in Central Africa. He travelled across Canada from east to west, on foot for most of the way. He spent some time in studying the Franco-Belgian Frontier before the war with Germany broke out, for he had a strong belief that the British would be called upon to operate there in his lifetime. His belief was justified, and he served in the European War; was promoted Captain in 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Cameron Lamb, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Border Regt. For repeated gallantry and exceptionally good work, scouting daily in and amongst the enemy's lines." He was decorated by the King while His Majesty was in Belgium. We are told that "Lieut. Lamb went out on an average every morning and night searching the farm for snipers, trying to discover the enemy's positions, and rounding up the enemy's patrols. He went out one morning with two men, and put four of the enemy out of action. He went to the place to see the result, and found another officer wounded. He insisted on bringing the officer away, and, under German fire, carried the wounded officer three-quarters of a mile. The firing, however, became too hot for him, and he left the man at a farm, and at night sent the stretcher-

Cameron Lamb.

Digitized by Google

bearers to bring him in." An account of another incident reads: "When the front trenches were taken, all that remained to hold the position were the headquarters and scouts. Lieut. Lamb stood on the top of the trench and shouted: 'Now, come on, boys, and give it to them! Show them what the Scouts are made of!' Our fire proved very effective, and some of the enemy had to retire, but they found that we were numerically weak, and came on again. We had made such a bold show that Mr. Lamb remarked that he could die smiling because he knew that the Scouts had done their work." Capt. Lamb was hit in the left arm and left leg while leading A Company of the 2nd Border Regt. in an attack on the German trenches near Fromelles, five or six miles west of Lille, on the night of the 19th Dec. 1914. An officer of the Artists' Rifles wrote: "I have just heard that my old friend Lamb, of the Borderers, has died of wounds. He was one of the best people I have ever met. He died a magnificent death. When they carried him out of the trenches, horribly wounded, he was whistling the whole time, and refused to pay any attention to his wounds. He died in hospital before they could get him back to England." Capt. Lamb died on the 29th Dec. at the British Hospital, Hôtel Ballerive, Wimereux, near Boulogne, and was buried in the cemetery there. The Colonel of his battalion had written of Capt. Lamb in Nov.: "I must just write you a line to say how well your son—my Scout Officer—has done during the war. He is one of the bravest young officers I know, and absolutely fearless. He has been invaluable to me, and you will, I know, be proud of him. He did so well on that Monday, 26 Oct., when my old regiment lost so many officers and men, and he was the last to come away with me when we withdrew at dusk. I only hope, when I return, I may have him with us again." And after his death he wrote: "The old battalion has lost, by his death, a very gallant officer, and we shall all deeply mourn his loss. He was so brave and full of spirit all the time, even when things looked blackest, and, as you know, he was beloved by all—officers, non-commissioned officers and men, and on the field admired by all." An obituary notice of Capt. Lamb appeared in the "Times" of 4 Jan. 1915.

LLOYD, HUMPHREY WILLIS CHETWODE, Lieut., was born 19 Feb. 1892. He entered the 1st Battn. Wiltshire Regt. 19 Jan. 1912; became Lieutenant 25 Oct. 1914; Captain 1 Oct. 1915; was G.S.O.3 from 16 May, 1918. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Humphrey Willis Chetwode Lloyd, Lieut., Wiltshire Regt. On 19 Oct. led an attack and effected an important lodgment in enemy's lines, from which he was subsequently withdrawn as general advance was checked. Has acted for Adjutant for a month, and has always volunteered and performed good work with information patrols."

McCONNEL, JAMES KENNETH, Lieut., was educated at Winchester, and was gazetted to the 20th Hussars in 1912; entered the Special Reserve; was seconded, serving with the M.G.C., prior to his appointment as Assistant Instructor, notified in the Gazette of 9 June, 1916. He served in the European War from 1914; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "James Kenneth McConnel, Lieut., 20th Hussars. For coolness, gallantry and exceptionally good work during the operations of 23 Oct. to 4 Nov. near Messines, and for exceptionally good service in covering with his machine guns the retirement of his regiment from the trenches with great skill and gallantry on 1 Nov. near Messines."

MAITLAND-DOUGALL, WILMOT EDWARD, Second Lieut., was born 1 Dec. 1890, youngest son of the late Capt. W. Maitland-Dougall. He entered the R.A. 23 July, 1910; became Lieutenant 23 July, 1913; Captain 23 July, 1916; was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1919; awarded the Military Cross, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Wilmot Edward Maitland-Dougall, Second Lieut., R.A. For conspicuous enterprise in spotting the shield of an enemy's gun only 600 yards away, getting up a gun into the firing line, successfully knocking enemy's gun out, and also checking the enemy's infantry advance."

W. E. Maitland-Dougall.

John Kevin Martin.

MARTIN, KEVIN JOHN, Lieut., was born 3 July, 1890, at Ootacamund, Nilgerri Hills, India, son of Lieut.-Colonel Patrick Richard Martin and Isabella Maria Martin, daughter of Lieut. W. Carr Hamond, R.E. He was educated at Beaumont College, Old Windsor, and joined the Royal Engineers, as Second Lieutenant, 23rd July, 1910. Lieut. Martin served in the European War from 1914; was present at all battles in France and Flanders in 1916, 1917 and 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Kevin John Martin, Lieut., Royal Engineers. For conspicuous gallantry in taking his section across heavily swept ground to prepare a house with loopholes from which our infantry hoped to be able to overcome the enemy, who were fortified in some other neighbouring buildings. He successfully placed a machine gun in position, and helped the infantry for the rest of the day. Again on 12 Nov. did good work, and was wounded." He was Officer of a Company of Gentleman Cadets, Class A., Royal Military Academy (temporary), from 23 March to 23 July, 1915. He became Adjutant, R.E., 9 Aug. 1915, and Temporary Captain 23 Sept. 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches five times, and given a Brevet Majority 1 Jan. 1918. He was G.S.O.3, 26th Division, B.E.F. 7 March to 27 April, 1916; G.S.O.3, 3rd Army, British Armies in France, 11 May to 14 July, 1916; Brigade Major, 32nd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 15 July, 1916, to 3 Nov. 1917; G.S.O.2, 6th Division, British Armies in France, 18 Nov. 1917, to 19 March, 1918; G.S.O.2, 15th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 28 April to 4 May, 1918; G.S.O.2, attached Headquarters, Commander-in-Chief, Allied Forces, near Nancy, 5 May, 1918, to 21 Feb. 1919. He was previously for a time Officier de Liaison with the Italian Army. On 29 July, 1915, at Louth, Lincolnshire, he married Hilda, youngest daughter of C. W. Burkenshaw, of Cotes Grange, Louth.

MENZIES, STEWART GRAHAM, Capt., was born 30 Jan. 1890, son of the late J. Graham Menzies and Susannah West (now Lady Holford), daughter of the late Arthur Wilson, of Tranby Croft. He was educated at Eton, and joined the 2nd Life Guards 8 June, 1910. He served in the European War, 1914–18, was mentioned in Despatches, received the Legion of Honour and the Crown of Belgium; was given the Brevet of Major, awarded the Military Cross and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Stewart Graham Menzies, Capt., 2nd Life Guards. Showed great coolness during the attack on German position led by Major the Honourable A. F. Stanley, 1st Life Guards, on the 7th Nov., in support of the right flank of the 4th Guards Brigade, and again on the evening of that day." Major Menzies married, in 1918, Lady Avice Sackville, daughter of the late Earl de la Warr.

MONTAGU-DOUGLAS-SCOTT, LORD FRANCIS GEORGE, Capt., was born at Dalkeith, Scotland, 1 Nov. 1879, sixth son of the 6th Duke of Buccleuch and Lady Louisa Jane Hamilton (died 1912), Mistress of the Robes to the Queen, third daughter of the 1st Duke of Abercorn. He was educated at Eton (Cricket Eleven, 1898), and Christ Church, Oxford, and joined the 3rd Battn. The Royal Scots, in 1898, and the 2nd Battn. Grenadier Guards 29 Nov. 1899. He served in the South African War from April, 1900, to July, 1902, with the 2nd Battn. Grenadier Guards, and took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Biddulphsberg and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); in the Transvaal, Feb. to March, 1901; and again during operations in Orange River Colony, Dec. 1900, to Feb. 1901, and March, 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Lieutenant 17 Sept. 1901; was A.D.C. to the Viceroy of India 18 Nov. 1905, to 22 Nov. 1910, and became Captain 22 Jan. 1908. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Lord Francis George Montagu-Douglas-Scott, Capt., Grenadier Guards (attached Irish Guards). For persistent and gallant efforts to rally the battalion when much shaken by heavy losses, and by helping to restore steadiness by his good example." The D.S.O. was awarded whilst attached to the 1st Battn. Irish Guards, from 18 Sept. to 31 Oct. 1914, serving on the Aisne and in the First Battle of Ypres. The account in official Despatch was not accurate, as it was described as rallying men after heavy losses, whereas such occasion never occurred. It is believed that the real reason was for running across the open to give orders to a subaltern under heavy fire from the enemy, and being wounded severely in so doing. He was mentioned in Despatches, Jan. 1915. He was promoted to Major 11 Nov. 1914; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 4 Dec. 1916; was in command of a Service Battn. Royal Fusiliers, 1 Sept. to 4 Nov. 1915; was mentioned in Despatches, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918. His favourite recreations are hunting, shooting, cricket, polo and golf. Capt. Lord Francis Scott married, 11 Feb. 1915, Lady Eileen Elliott, daughter of the 4th Earl of Minto, late Governor-General of Canada and Viceroy of India, and Mary, daughter of the Honourable Charles Grey, and they have two daughters.

MONTGOMERY, BERNARD LAW, Captain, was born 19 Sept. 1887, at St. Mark's Vicarage, Kennington Oval, son of the Right Rev. Bishop Henry Hutchinson Montgomery, D.D., D.C.L., sometime Bishop of Tasmania, and Maud, daughter of the late Dean Farrar. He was educated at St. Paul's School and Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the Royal Warwickshire Regt. 19 Sept. 1908, and joined the 1st Battn. in India in Nov. 1908. He became Lieutenant 1 April, 1910, and was Temporary Captain 14 Sept. to 13 Oct. 1914, and Captain 14 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914, and was mentioned in Despatches in Nov. 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Bernard Law Montgomery, Capt., The Royal Warwickshire Regt. For conspicuous gallant leading on 13 Oct., when he turned the enemy out of their trenches with the bayonet. He was severely wounded." The incident described in the Gazette took place during the attack of the 4th Division on Meteren 13 Oct. 1914, in the Ypres-Armentières Battle. He became Brigade Major 12 Feb. 1915. He was again mentioned in Despatches, Jan. 1917; appointed G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 22 Jan. 1917, and given the Brevet of Major Bernard L. Montgomery.

Digitized by Google

3 June, 1918; appointed G.S.O., 1st Grade, with temporary rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, 16 July, 1918.

NICHOLSON, LAWRENCE CAIL, Lieut., was born 30 Aug. 1882, fourth son of Frederick W. Nicholson, of Shiplake, late of Maidenhead. He was educated at Uppingham; joined the 14th (King's) Hussars in March, 1902, and served in the Boer War. He became Lieutenant in Jan. 1905; retired from the active list in 1907, and was appointed Lieutenant in the 3rd Battn. Royal Berkshire Regt., July, 1910. He served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Lawrence Cail Nicholson, Lieut., 14th Hussars, 3rd (attached 1st) Battn. (Princess Charlotte of Wales's) Royal Berkshire Regt. Led and commanded his platoon admirably during an attack on the German position, Passchendaele–Becelaere Road, which resulted in the taking of the enemy's trenches and seventy prisoners. (Has since died of his wounds)." Lieut. Nicholson died 2 Nov. 1914, of wounds received in action near Ypres on 23 Oct.

ORR-EWING, SIR NORMAN ARCHIBALD, BART., Capt., was born 23 Nov. 1880, son of Sir Archibald Ernest Orr-Ewing, of Ballikinrain, Stirlingshire, N.B., 3rd Bart., and the Hon. Mabel Addington, youngest daughter of the 3rd Viscount Sidmouth and Georgina, daughter of the Hon. and Very Rev. George Pellew, D.D., late Dean of Norwich. He was educated at Eton, and joined the Militia in 1899. He served in it for 281 days; became Second Lieutenant (from Militia) Scots Guards 12 Sept. 1900; served in South Africa, 1899–1901; was present at operations in Orange River Colony, 1900 (Queen's Medal and two clasps). He became Lieutenant 1 April, 1903; Captain 5 June, 1907; invalided home with enteric; was employed with the Egyptian Army 5 Feb. 1907; served with Camel Corps until 1 Aug. 1910; was Adjutant, Scots Guards, 2 Aug. 1910, to 30 Sept. 1912. He served in the European War; was present at the Aisne, First Battle of Ypres, Givenchy and Quinchy (1914), Loos, the Somme and Passchendaele Ridge; also Cambrai (Nov. 1917), German Attack (1918), operations at Buzancy and the Vesle, Hulloch (1918), The Advance (1918). He was twice wounded; mentioned five times in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Norman Archibald Orr-Ewing, Capt., Scots Guards (attached Irish Guards). For persistent and gallant efforts to rally the battalion when much shaken after its heavy losses, and by his good example helping to restore it to its usual steadiness." He was again wounded at Loos, and mentioned in Despatches; was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 27 Dec. 1915, commanding 3rd Reserve Battn. Scots Guards and 2nd Battn. Scots Guards, B.E.F., from Sept. 1916, to May, 1918. He was awarded the Cavalier Military Order of Savoy, May, 1917; the Croix de Guerre, Nov. 1917; became Temporary Brigadier-General, commanding 45th Infantry Brigade, May, 1918; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; awarded the Légion d'Honneur, Croix d'Officier, Aug. 1918. He succeeded his father in 1919. Sir Norman Orr-Ewing married, 24 July, 1911, Laura Louisa, fourth daughter of Abraham John Robarts, D.L., and the Hon. Mrs. Robarts, of Tile House, Lillingstone Dayrell, Bucks, and they have two sons: Ronald Archibald, born 14 May, 1912, and Alan Lindsay, born 13 Jan. 1915, and one daughter, Jean Marjorie.

Norman A. Orr-Ewing.

OSBORNE, EDMUND ARCHIBALD, Capt., was born 26 July, 1885. He entered the Royal Engineers 1 Oct. 1904, becoming Lieutenant 23 June, 1907, and Captain 30 Oct. 1914. Capt. Osborne served in the European War from 1914, as G.S.O.3, 9th Division, British Expeditionary Force, 8 Oct. 1915, to 2 Jan. 1916; Brigade Major, 28th Infantry Brigade, British Expeditionary Force, 3 Jan. to 7 May, 1916; Brigade Major, 101st Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 8 May, 1916, to 10 Jan. 1917; G.S.O.2, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 3 Feb. to 24 July, 1918; G.S.O.1, 33rd Division, British Armies in France, 23 July, 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches, was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1916, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Edmund Archibald Osborne, Capt., Royal Engineers. Repeated gallantry and coolness in action on 31 Oct. He recovered a cable wagon which had been abandoned by the enemy. Has frequently shown great capacity for command."

PARDOE, FRANK LIONEL, Capt., was born 26 Feb. 1880, at Biarritz, France, son of the late Rev. John Pardoe, of Leyton, Essex, and Graveley, Herts, and of Mrs. Pardoe. He was educated at Eton and Sandhurst; entered the Army 10 March, 1900, and joined the 60th Rifles about the 20th March, 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899 to 1902, and was present at the operations in Natal (March to June, 1900); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900 (slightly wounded); in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to July, 1901; also during the operations in Cape Colony, March to 31 May, 1902. He was wounded, and received the Queen's Medal with two clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was promoted to Lieutenant 15 April, 1901, and Captain 23 Oct. 1908. He proceeded to France 12 Aug. 1914; served in the European War, as Brigade M.G. Officer, 6th Brigade, from 1914, and was present in the Retreat from Mons, and in the Battles of the Marne, Aisne, and the First Battle of Ypres, for his services in which engagement he was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Frank Lionel Pardoe, Capt., 1st Battn. The King's Royal Rifle Corps. On 30 Sept. and previous days this Officer carried messages under rifle and shell fire. He was knocked down by a shell, but did not relinquish his duty." The date given in the Gazette as 30 Sept. should have read 20 Oct. He was wounded, and mentioned in Despatches 18 Feb. 1915. He was present at Neuve Chapelle (Givenchy operations) and Festubert; and was again wounded, and mentioned in Despatches 31 May, 1915. He left France 20 May, 1915 (wounded). He became Major 1 Sept. 1915, and embarked for Egypt 5 Aug. 1916; was employed as Machine Gun Instructor at the Imperial School of Instruction, Zeitoun, Cairo, from Aug. 1915, to March, 1917, being mentioned in Despatches for the fourth time on 21 June, 1916; was appointed G.S.O.2, for Machine Guns, at G.H.Q., E.E.F., in March, 1917, becoming G.S.O.1, for Machine Guns, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in March, 1918. He served on the Staff of G.H.Q., Palestine, throughout the operations which commenced with the capture of Beersheba and Gaza, and ended in the occupation of that theatre of war, and was mentioned in Despatches for the fifth time on 14 June, 1918. On 12 Dec. 1911, in London, Capt. Pardoe married Sybil Margaret, widow of the late Lieut. C. D. Eyre, 60th Rifles, and daughter of Capt. Clayton Mitchell, R.N., of West Highlands, Winchester, and they have a son, John, born 27 Oct. 1912, and a daughter, Felicity.

PAYNTER, GEORGE CAMBORNE BEAUCLERK, Capt., was born at Eaton Square, London, S.W., 2 Aug. 1880, son of George Paynter, Major, King's Dragoons Guards, and of Frances Janetta Paynter, daughter of the late Lord and Lady Augustus Beauclerk. He joined the 2nd Battn. Scots Guards, as Second Lieutenant, from the Militia, 18 Oct. 1899. He served in South Africa, 1900–2; was all the time with the 8th Division. He took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Biddulphsberg and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps); became Lieutenant 16 March, 1901, and Captain 14 Dec. 1904. He served in the European War from 1914; was Major, commanding the Scots Guards, 26 Oct. 1914, to 12 March, 1915; was six times mentioned in Despatches; was Temporary Brigadier-General, 172nd Infantry Brigade, 57th Division, from 20 Aug. 1916, to 7 April, 1919; twice wounded; commanding 2nd Battn. Scots Guards from July, 1919. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "George Camborne Beauclerk Paynter, Capt., 2nd Battn. Scots Guards. On the night of 24 Oct., while in command of the battalion, fought his trenches all night against repeated attacks from front and rear." He was A.D.C. to the Commander-in-Chief, British Expeditionary Force; A.D.C. to Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, Home Forces; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. (Sir D. Haig's last list); received the Croix de Guerre in Dec. 1919, and was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order in Sept. 1919.

We have quoted from Lord Ernest Hamilton's "First Seven Divisions" in the account of Lord C. Hamilton in this book where he describes the inhospitable reception which made the German night attack on two battalions of the Guards at the village of Kruseik "a distinct failure as far as Capt. Paynter's company was concerned. The left-hand trenches were less fortunate. It may be that they were more unsuspecting, or perhaps the British accent of the figures advancing through the darkness was purer on the left than on the right. In any event, a report reached the battalion headquarters in rear about nine o'clock that these trenches had been rushed and all the occupants killed. On receipt of this news the two reserve companies of the Scots Guards were sent up under Major the Hon. H. Fraser to investigate, and if necessary to retake the lost trenches. These two companies filed silently through the main street of Kruseik, keeping close under the shadow of the houses on either side. Not a light was burning, and not a shot was to be heard. At the far end of the village Major Fraser halted the column and went forward alone to try and get into touch with Capt. Paynter in the right-hand forward trenches, and find out from him what the truth of the matter really was. He managed after a time to find that officer, who assured him that not only were his trenches still uncaptured, but that he had every intention of keeping them so. As to the trenches on his left he knew nothing. With this information Major Fraser made his way back to the east end of the village where he had left his men. He decided to investigate for himself the truth as to the left-hand trenches, and accordingly, accompanied by Lieut. Holbeche in the capacity of guide, and forty men, he crept down the cinder track which led from the road to the trenches in question. The trenches were in absolute silence, and he was beginning to doubt the story of their occupation, when suddenly a flashlight was turned on to his party, a word of command rang out, and a volley broke the stillness of the night. Major Fraser gave the word to charge, and the little party dashed forward with fixed bayonets, but they were shot down before the trenches were reached. Major Fraser was killed and Lieut. Holbeche severely wounded, and of the whole party only four returned. In the meanwhile the rest of the two companies which had been waiting at the end of the village street noticed a light in a house standing by itself in the fields. Lord Dalrymple and Capt. Fox held a consultation, and decided to surround it. When this was done, Sergt. Mitchell, with great courage, went up to the door and knocked. It was flung open and he was at once shot dead. The house, however, was well surrounded, and all within it were taken prisoner. They numbered over two hundred, including seven officers, and they were promptly sent to the rear under escort. Further back, however, the prisoners were transferred to the custody of some of the 2nd Queen's, and the Scots Guards escort rejoined the two companies at the end of the village, whereupon the lost trenches were recaptured and connection once more established with Capt. Paynter. This was not effected without considerable further loss. In addition to those already mentioned, Lieuts. Gladwin and Dormer were killed, and Colonel Bolton, Lord Dalrymple, Capt. Fox, Lord G. Grosvenor and the Hon. J. Coke were all wounded, and in the darkness of the night fell into the enemy's hands. The 2nd Scots Guards in all lost nine officers during this night's fighting. On the following day the battalion was ordered to abandon the Kruseik trenches, and was taken back into reserve, mustering only 450. Capt. Paynter and Capt. Fox got the D.S.O. for this night's work."

Digitized by Google

He was promoted to Major 28 Jan. 1915; was extra A.D.C. 4 Sept. to 18 Dec. 1915.

PENDAVIS, HUGH VALENTINE, Second Lieut., was born 14 Feb. 1895, son of the Rev. Whylock Pendavis, Rector of Hethe. He served in the European War, and was mobilized in the Special Reserve 179 days, and joined the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, from the Special Reserve, 31 Jan. 1915; was Second Lieutenant, Royal Flying Corps, 9 May, 1915, to 31 May, 1918, as Observer, and from 1916 as Pilot. He was promoted to Lieutenant 27 July, 1916. He was employed under the Air Ministry 1 April, 1918. For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Hugh Valentine Pendavis, Second Lieut., 3rd Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, attached 2nd Battn. On 3 Nov. conspicuous good work in advancing from his trench and assisting in driving away the enemy, who were commencing to dig a new trench within thirty yards of his own. Thirty of the enemy were shot down on this occasion."

Francis Pepys.

PEPYS, FRANCIS, Second Lieut., was born at Budleigh Salterton, Devonshire, 2 April, 1891, son of Colonel Arthur Pepys, late 60th Rifles. He was educated at Charterhouse, where he was in the Cricket Eleven, and he subsequently joined the Special Reserve, attached to the Devonshire Regt. He was gazetted to the 2nd Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, as Second Lieutenant, in May, 1913. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Francis Pepys, Second Lieut., 2nd Battn. The Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry. On 3 Nov., for conspicuous good work in advancing from his trench and assisting in driving away a party of the enemy who were commencing to dig a new trench within 30 yards of his own; 30 of the enemy were shot down on the occasion. (Since killed in action)." His Commanding Officer wrote: "He most thoroughly earned it for the splendid way he, with three others, turned 30 or 40 Germans out of a trench, and for his splendid leading on other occasions." He was killed on 12 Nov. 1914, while stepping out of his trench the morning after his battalion had materially contributed to the rout of the Prussian Guard. He was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch of the 14th Jan. 1915. Second Lieut. F. Pepys was fond of shooting, steeplechasing, cricket, golf, fishing and ski-ing. He played cricket for the Aldershot Command in 1913 and 1914, and won the Officers' Race in the Vine Hunt Point-to-Point in 1914.

RAIT-KERR, WILLIAM CHARLES, Lieut., was born 6 Aug. 1886, at Rathmoyle, Edenderry, Ireland, son of Sylvester Rait-Kerr, a Scotchman residing in Ireland, and Mary Isabel Rait-Kerr, an Englishwoman, third daughter of the late Major-General C. S. Hutchinson, C.B., R.E., for many years Government Inspector of Railways. He was educated at a Preparatory School, Arnold House, Llanddulas; at Rugby, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and obtained his commission in the Royal Field Artillery 28 July, 1907. He served at home till war broke out, and then went to France with the 1st Division, from Aldershot, under Sir Douglas Haig, in the 57th Battery, 43rd Brigade, Royal Field Artillery. He was gazetted Captain 4 Nov. 1914. Capt. Rait-Kerr was said to be specially useful all through the fighting, in the Retreat from Mons and during the Battle of Ypres, in directing the fire of his battery by telephone. For about 10 days before his death he was in command of an advanced gun—the rest of the battery having gone to the rear to rest and refit. During that time he did very good work, and on 8 Nov. received the congratulations of his Brigadier, who enclosed to him a letter of thanks from the Colonel of a French Zouave Regiment. He was on his way from the advanced trench to the gun when he was shot through the head by a German sniper (10 Nov. 1914). His body was recovered next day and buried beside the advanced gun, near Veldhoek, four miles east of Ypres. The following appeared in "Eye Witness's" account in the "Times" of 17 Nov. 1914, and is an exact description of the work done by Capt. Rait-Kerr: "On our extreme left, one of our Howitzer Batteries, whose fire was being most effectively directed, selected, as its first target, a farm from which a machine gun was harassing our infantry. It scored a hit at the first round and knocked out the machine gun. The second target was a house occupied by snipers. This was set alight by a shell, and when the occupants bolted they came under the rapid fire of our infantry. The third target was another building, from which the Germans were driven and then caught in the open by shrapnel." Capt. Rait-Kerr was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch, dated 14 Jan. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "William Charles Rait-Kerr, Lieut., Royal Field Artillery. For gallant conduct in bringing up a gun to within 250 yards of the enemy in a wood, blowing down a house in which the enemy were working a machine gun. (Since killed in action)."

William C. Rait-Kerr.

James R. Russell.

RUSSELL, JAMES REGINALD, Second Lieut., was born 9 Oct. 1893, at Westonbury, Pembridge, Herefordshire, son of Henry Freeman Russell, J.P., of Southfield, Leominster, Herefordshire, and Martha Mary Russell. He was educated at Bromsgrove and Sandhurst; gazetted to the West Kents in July, 1914; joined the Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regt. 8 Aug. 1914, and served in the European War; was present at the Battle of the Marne, being for some weeks at Missey; the Battle of the Aisne, and Neuve Chapelle. It was here that Lieut. Russell was one of the two officers left out of 13. It was left to them to fight the regiment and bring it out of action, and for which they were personally congratulated by General Smith-Dorrien. He served as Second Lieutenant till 27 Oct. 1914, and was promoted Lieutenant 28 Oct. 1914. Lieut. J. R. Russell was mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914], being one of the D.S.O.'s first gazetted during the European War: "James Reginald Russell, Second Lieut., 1st Battn. The Queen's Own (Royal West Kent Regt.). For exceptional grit and gallantry in the trenches near Neuve Chapelle between 23 and 29 Oct." He was promoted to Captain. In 1919 Capt. Russell married Gwendolen Edith, daughter of the Rev. G. W. Lawson.

SAMPSON, GEORGE ELLIS, Lieut., was born 27 July, 1887, son of Capt. George Dennis Sampson, J.P., of Scarriff, County Clare, and Fanny Catherine (who died in 1915), daughter of W. E. Wall. He was gazetted to the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers 4 May, 1907; became Lieutenant, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, 21 May, 1910, and Army Signal Service 2 Sept. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914; was promoted to Captain 1 Feb. 1915; was Acting Major 28 Sept. 1917, to 10 Nov. 1918, and Acting Lieutenant-Colonel from 11 Nov. 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches four times, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "George Ellis Sampson, Lieut., The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers (Army Signal Service). On 30 Sept. and previous days this Officer carried messages under rifle and shell fire. He was knocked down by shell fire, but did not relinquish his duty." He became Captain, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, 1 Feb. 1915, and was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1917.

SAMPSON, PATRICK, Capt., was born 4 Jan. 1881, son of M. Sampson; entered the Army 30 Jan. 1906; became Captain 30 July, 1909; Major 30 Jan. 1918; served in the European War, 1914–17; was wounded; twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Patrick Sampson, Capt., R.A.M.C. Has shown frequent and conspicuous gallantry throughout the campaign, especially on 21 and 22 Oct., attending wounded men under very heavy shell fire." He married, in 1917, Dorothea, daughter of Commander D. H. Kirwan, R.N.

SCHREIBER, EDMUND CHARLES ACTON, Lieut., was born 30 April, 1890, son of Colonel (Temporary Brigadier-General) Acton Lemuel Schreiber, C.B., D.S.O., A.D.C., and Evelyn May, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel Edmund Darcy Hunt. He was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 23 Dec. 1909, and became Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1912. Lieut. Schreiber served in the European War from 1914; was promoted to Captain 23 Dec. 1915, and Staff Captain, 1st Army, British Armies in France, 17 June to 2 Nov. 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Edmund Charles Acton Schreiber, Lieut., Royal Field Artillery. For very gallant conduct on 14 Sept. in saving horses which had become entangled in a blocked road, and manhandling guns away from a position which had become untenable from a very heavy shell fire, continuing to work, although wounded." He was Temporary Captain from 29 May to 22 Dec. 1915, and became Captain 23 Dec. 1915. Capt. Schreiber married, in 1916, Phyllis, only daughter of the late Major Barchard, and they have one daughter.

Aubrey Vere Spencer.

SPENCER, AUBREY VERE, Lieut., was born 4 April, 1886, at Kensington, London, only son of Aubrey J. Spencer, Esq., M.A., J.P., Barrister-at-Law, of Wheatfield Park, Oxfordshire, and Florence Mary Spencer, daughter of the late Frederick H. Janson, Esq. He was educated at Marlborough (1900–4 B 1), and joined the 3rd Battn. Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry 28 Jan. 1907; became Lieutenant 5 March, 1910 Captain 2 Feb. 1915, and Temporary Major 27 June, 1918. He proceeded to France with the 2nd Battn. Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, in the Expeditionary Force, 13 Aug. 1914, and took part in the battles of the Marne, the Aisne and Ypres, 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Aubrey Vere Spencer, Lieut., 3rd Battn. The Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry. For good work in an attack on 21 Oct., and in repelling night attacks on 21, 22 and 23 Oct." He was wounded on 26 Nov. 1914, and transferred to England 3 Dec. 1914. Capt. Spencer was again mentioned in Despatches 17 Feb. 1915; was Adjutant, 3rd Battn. Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, 27 Jan. 1916, to 7 Oct. 1917; promoted Temporary Major 27 June, 1918.

Digitized by Google

STANLEY, THE HONOURABLE ALGERNON FRANCIS, Major, was born 8 Jan. 1874, sixth son of the 16th Earl of Derby and Lady Constance Villiers, daughter of the 4th Earl of Clarendon. He was educated at Wellington College, and entered the Army in Oct. 1899, in the 1st Life Guards. He served in South Africa, 1899–1900, as Special Service Officer; took part in the operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, in 1900, and received the Queen's Medal with two clasps. He became Captain 4 April, 1906. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918; became Major 5 Nov. 1914; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, 1st Life Guards, 2 Dec. 1914, to 19 June, 1916; Temporary Colonel, commanding 14th Mounted Brigade, Home Forces, 6 April to 28 July, 1916; Temporary Colonel, Guards' Machine Gun Regt., 10 May, 1918, to 4 March, 1919. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "The Hon. Algernon Francis Stanley, Major, 1st Life Guards. On 7 Nov. he led his regiment with great resolution and skill during an advance to support and protect the right flank of the 4th Guards Brigade, which had become uncovered by the retreat of a portion of the line. He held on to his position although out of touch on either flank, and thereby materially helped the 4th Guards Brigade to re-establish their line during the following night." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel in Jan. 1915, and promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, July, 1916, to command 2nd Life Guards. He married, in April, 1918, Lady Mary Crichton, widow of Viscount Crichton, M.V.O., D.S.O., daughter of the late Duke of Westminster and the Dowager Duchess of Westminster.

STEWARD, SIDNEY JOHN, Capt., was born at Worcester, 1879, son of John A. Steward, J.P. He was educated at Cathedral King's School, Worcester; Downing College, Cambridge, and St. Thomas's Hospital, London. He served in the European War from 1914; was present at the Retreat from Mons; advance on the Marne and Aisne; Ypres, 1914; Loos, 1915 (with No. 1 Field Ambulance, I Division until March, 1916); Medical Officer, No. 5 Infantry Base Depôt, Rouen; Senior Medical Officer, Paris (March, 1917); Second-in-Command, 1/2nd East Lancashire Field Ambulance (June, 1917); Second-in-Command, 24th Field Ambulance (8th Division) (Oct. 1917), and with this unit (Acting Major, Jan. 1918) at Villers Bretonneux, March, 1918, and Retreat to the Marne, 1918; O.C., 31st Motor Ambulance Convoy (June, 1918), and with this unit (8th Corps) in advance during Oct. 1918, reaching Mons on Armistice Day, 1918; also served as a combatant in the 1st Battn. Suffolk Regt., in the South African War, 1899 to 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Sidney John Steward, Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps (Special Reserve). Went with a party of stretcher-bearers across ground swept by rifle and shell fire to Langemark village, and removed 11 wounded men."

Sidney John Steward.

STEWART, HERBERT WILLIAM VANSITTART, Lieut., was born 15 Aug. 1886, fourth son of Lieut.-General John Mackie Stewart, Bengal Infantry, and Florence, daughter of the late Henry Vansittart. He was educated at Fettes College, Edinburgh, and joined the Royal Scots Fusiliers from Sandhurst, as Second Lieutenant, 29 Aug. 1906; became Lieutenant 21 Jan. 1911. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918; became Captain 24 Oct. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Herbert William Vansittart Stewart, Lieut., 2nd Battn. The Royal Scots Fusiliers. On 24 Oct., when two German machine guns were enfilading his trench at 200 yards' range, he went out and shot down two teams, one after the other, and silenced the guns." He held a Special Appointment commanding a Company of Gentleman Cadets 29 Sept. 1918. Capt. Stewart married, in 1919, Doreen Evelyn, youngest daughter of J. G. Ohlenschlager, of Ashurst, Fernhurst, Sussex.

Herbert W. V. Stewart.

Frederick C. Tanner.

TANNER, FREDERICK COURTNEY, Capt., was born 2 Dec. 1879, son of C. F. Tanner and Mrs. Tanner. He was educated at Marlborough (1893–97); joined the Lancashire Fusiliers, as Second Lieutenant, 12 Aug. 1899; became Lieutenant 16 May, 1900, and Captain 15 Feb. 1904, and was Adjutant from 1901–4; was transferred to the Royal Scots, 1908. He served in the European War; was wounded; mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Frederick Courtney Tanner, Capt., attached 2nd Battn. The Royal Scots (Lothian Regt.). By gallant leading, forced passage of canal north of Vieille Chapelle on 12 Oct., and was largely responsible for success of general operations. Has invariably done well." Capt. Tanner was invested with the decoration by the King 27 May, 1915. He was employed at the Royal Military College, Camberley, Feb. 1915, to April, 1916; on the General Staff, France, April, 1916, to April, 1917; as Instructor at the Staff Course, Cambridge, April to Dec. 1917; on the General Staff, Italy, Dec. 1917, to April, 1918, and in France from April, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919; received the Croix de Guerre, and was made an Officer of the Order of the Crown of Italy, 1915.

TRAILL, THOMAS BALFOUR, Capt., was born 21 Nov. 1881, only son of the late Major-General George Traill, C.B. He joined the Army, as Second Lieutenant (Unattached), 28 July, 1900, and the Indian Staff Corps 9 Oct. 1901; became Lieutenant 28 Oct. 1902; Captain, Indian Army, 28 July, 1909, and Royal Scots Fusiliers 18 July, 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was wounded; mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Thomas Balfour Traill, Capt., 1st Battn. The Royal Scots Fusiliers. After being wounded in the knee, rode back under fire for reinforcements, returned and remained with his company during retirement (Aug. 23)." He became G.S.O., 3rd Grade, War Office (temporary), 26 July, 1915; was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1917, and retired with the rank of Major 24 April, 1919. He married, in 1918, Winifred Jean Bertha, daughter of Major W. A. Warren.

TURNBULL, DUDLEY RALPH, Second Lieut., was born 15 Oct. 1891, son of Colonel Charles F. A. and Evelyn Turnbull, of Whiteways, near Farnham, Surrey. He was educated at Wellington College and Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the Gordon Highlanders 13 March, 1912, and went with the regiment to France in Aug. 1914, with the original Expeditionary Force, and at the time of his death had served with great distinction throughout the war. He fought at Mons and Cambrai, and took part in the Grand Retreat. When his battalion was reformed he was placed in charge of the Machine Gun Section, and was for conspicuous gallantry awarded the Distinguished Service Order on 13 Oct. His decoration was gazetted 1 Dec. 1914: "Dudley Ralph Turnbull, Second Lieut., Gordon Highlanders. For conspicuous gallantry on 13 Oct., in serving his Maxim gun when detachment were all wounded, until he also was wounded in two places, and his gun damaged by a shell. He subsequently recovered the gun, bringing it away on his shoulder." He had become Lieutenant 30 Oct. 1914, and was sent home wounded, and on recovery returned to the front, serving in the trenches in the winter of 1914–15. He was sent home suffering from pneumonia, Jan. 1915, and shortly again returned to the front. He was promoted Temporary Captain 1 Feb. 1915, and appointed to the Staff. He became Captain 1 Oct. 1915. It was while on Staff duty that he received orders to proceed to the 2nd Battn. of his regiment, which was heavily engaged. His C.O. fell in this action, and Capt. Turnbull assumed command, which he held for some months. He was given his Brevet as Major, for distinguished service in the field, and next held several Staff appointments, and was on the Divisional Staff till he was given command of the 20th Battn. of the Manchesters. Lieut.-Colonel Turnbull, who had been three times mentioned in Despatches, was killed in action 1 Oct. 1917, when only 25 years of age, when attached to and in command of a battalion of the 20th Manchester Regt. He was a member of the London Scottish Rugby Fifteen, and Londoners will remember him as a member of the Scottish side that played Rugby football at Richmond. He also took a keen interest in the regimental team of the 1st Gordon Highlanders.

Dudley R. Turnbull.

The Second-in-Command of the battalion writes: "Although with the battalion a comparatively short time, he won the respect and admiration of all by his thorough knowledge of his job, his soldierly bearing, and, above all, the care he showed for all ranks."

His Adjutant writes: "I have lost the best commanding officer I ever had, and also the best friend. We all loved him in the battalion, and the men would have gone anywhere with him—he was such a fine soldier."

In a letter dated 30 Sept. 1917, immediately before going into action, Lieut.-Colonel Dudley Ralph Turnbull, D.S.O., wrote: "I am very pleased with the efficiency of my battalion now, and am sure they will do well." His Second-in-Command writes: "The battalion he trained has done magnificently during the recent operations." In the middle of Sept. 1917, Lieut.-Colonel Dudley Ralph Turnbull, D.S.O., was commanding his brigade, in the temporary absence of his General.

The following telegram has been received:

"Buckingham Palace.

"To Colonel C. F. A. Turnbull,
"Whiteways, Farnham, Surrey.

"The King and Queen deeply regret the loss you and the Army have sustained by the death of your son in the service of his country. Their Majesties have read with much interest the splendid record of your son's services, and much deplore the death of so gallant an officer.

"Keeper of the Privy Purse."

Digitized by Google

The General Commanding the Division in which Lieut.-Colonel Dudley Turnbull, D.S.O., was serving, writes with reference to him: "He fell in the great battle we are now fighting, just after his battalion had distinguished itself in beating off a German counter-attack. He was moving about amongst his men, and setting a magnificent example of courage and coolness. He had done so much for the battalion he commanded that I know he will be sadly missed, but I feel sure his gallant spirit will live in them, and that all the soldierlike qualities they learnt from him will help them to do their duty like men. No one in this Division had a finer record, and we all feel we have lost a brave comrade, whom we could ill spare."

The Signalling Officer writes: "I can say with all my heart that I never met a braver man nor an officer who took as much pains to look after and guide those serving under him. We have lost a very great soldier and a very great man. I feel the loss very greatly indeed, as Colonel Turnbull was not only my C.O., but, I am happy to say, my friend, as he was to all, indeed. On many occasions your son's coolness and bravery had helped us all to do our duty, and the men would have followed him anywhere."

The following are extracts from letters written by brother officers of the Gordon Highlanders since received: "I cannot tell how very, very keenly all his friends feel his death. I saw him and wished him good luck only a few hours before the end, and I am very glad I had the chance."

"We were all so proud of your son in the regiment, and proud of the way he had got on."

Another officer writes: "This supreme sacrifice will be felt in the regiment enormously, and I can picture to myself all the men and N.C.O.'s in both battalions talking it over and relating all the small as well as the big things that he used to do that made them all love him so. I have heard numerous men of all ranks talking about him up here, and at the same time a feeling of proudness that he was in the Gordons. If it is any consolation to you to know that, your dear son was beloved by all officers, N.C.O.'s and men, and they would have followed him anywhere."

A memorial service was held at Seale Parish Church on Monday, 15 Oct. 1917.

WEMYSS, HENRY COLVILLE BARCLAY, Lieut., was born 26 April, 1891, son of the late Alexander Wemyss and Louise Frances Amelia Wemyss, of Mauritius and Bedford. He was educated at Bedford and Woolwich, and joined the Royal Engineers, as Second Lieutenant, 23 Dec. 1910, and became Lieutenant 21 Dec. 1912; Captain 23 Dec. 1916, and Brevet Major 3 June, 1918; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel since 19 Sept. 1917. He served in the European War from 1914; was present at Mons, the Marne, the Aisne, the First Battle of Ypres, at the Suvla Bay landing and evacuation, at the Suez Canal Defence, in Salonika, in the Struma Valley, at the Third Battle of Gaza (1917), and in the Palestine and Syria Campaign, 1918. He was promoted to Captain 23 Dec. 1916; was G.S.O.3, British Salonika Force, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 28 May to 16 Sept. 1917; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.E., from 19 Sept. 1917. He was given the Brevet of Major 19 Sept. 1917; was five times mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Henry Colville Barclay Wemyss, Lieut., Royal Engineers. Has shown conspicuous efficiency in Staff duties, and in keeping up communication with a long line of front composed of many units, where communication was often difficult. He has carried and delivered messages under fire with promptness and despatch." Lieut. H. C. B. Wemyss was also awarded the Military Cross [London Gazette, June, 1916].

HAYDON WHITE, HENRY BASIL, Lieut., was born 15 Feb. 1892, at Nottingham, son of Charles Haydon White, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., and Ethel Gertrude Handley White. He was educated at Cheltenham, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and joined the Royal West Kent Regt. 13 March, 1912. He served in the European War; was Temporary Lieutenant 1 Sept. 1914, and Lieutenant 3 Sept. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Henry Basil Haydon White, Lieut., 1st Battn. The Queen's Own (Royal West Kent Regt.). Near Neuve Chapelle, for bringing his battalion out of action after ten successive days in the trenches, during which time he showed great powers of leadership and determination of a high order." On the night of 26 Oct. the enemy were in possession of all the trenches on the north-east side of Neuve Chapelle, but on the south-east side the Wiltshire Regt., the Royal West Kents, the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry and the East Surreys were still holding their ground, in advance of the town, behind which the rest of the 3rd Division were thrown back. The Wiltshires had to retire by noon, and the Royal West Kents now had the enemy on three sides of them. They would not, however, retire. Major Buckle and Capt. Legard were killed, and Lieuts. Williams and Holloway wounded. All the company officers on the left flank were now down, but the formation was reorganized under the direction of Sergt.-Major Penney, and Sergt.-Major Crossley. In the evening our troops in rear of the town counter-attacked and drove the Germans back for the whole of that night, but their machine guns continued to work havoc in the ranks of the assailants, and early on the morning of the 28th the attacking force had to fall back and the Germans reoccupied the town. Lord Ernest Hamilton says in "The First Seven Divisions" (page 197): "The position of the Royal West Kents was now as bad as ever, and once more half the battalion had to face about to its left flank and rear. The execution of this movement again took its toll of officers, Capt. Battersby and Lieut. Gore being killed, and Lieut. Moulton-Barratt wounded. The battalion had now lost twelve out of the fourteen officers with which it had gone into the trenches; Second Lieut. White and Second Lieut. Russell alone being left, and on these two it now devolved to maintain the spirit of the corps." At this time practically the whole of Neuve Chapelle was in the hands of the Germans, except the south-east corner by the La Bassée road, which was still held by the Royal West Kents, while, on the other side of that road, the angle which it makes with the Richebourg Road was held by the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry. At 8 a.m. on the 28th a force of French and British, under the command of General McCracken, attacked the town after a bombardment by French Artillery. At 5 p.m., however, the Germans were still in possession of Neuve Chapelle with the exception of the small area held by the Royal West Kents and the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry. In the evening, however, the Germans vacated the town. "The heroes of the three days' fighting," says Lord Ernest Hamilton, "were, of course, the Royal West Kents, who immortalized themselves by a performance which in many ways must be unique. The two surviving officers, Second Lieuts. White and Russell, were each awarded the D.S.O., and were, in addition, the subjects of some particularly flattering remarks on the part of Sir Horace." Sergt.-Majors Penney and Crossley were given the D.C.M., as were Sergt. Stroud and Private Alison. When, on the 28th at 2 a.m., the battalion was relieved by the Seaforths, it had lost over 300 men in the trenches of Neuve Chapelle. Lieut. Haydon White was mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1915; was promoted to Captain 1 Dec. 1915, and was employed with the Egyptian Army in the Sudan from 26 Feb. 1916. He married, 20 June, 1917, at Cowes, Isle of Wight, Miriam Olive, youngest daughter of Alfred Barrett, of Lammas, Cowes, Isle of Wight, and they have one son.

Henry B. Haydon White.

WILLIAMS, OSMOND TRAHAIRN DEUDRAETH, Second Lieut., was born 26 Feb. 1883, eldest surviving son of Sir Osmond Williams, Bart., of Castle Deudraeth, Lord Lieutenant of Merionethshire and formerly M.P. for that county. He was educated at Eton, and received his first commission in the 19th Hussars. He fought in the South African War. He had retired from the Army, but enlisted on the outbreak of the European War in the Scots Greys. He was promoted to Second Lieutenant for gallantry in the field. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "Osmond Williams, Second Lieut., 2nd Dragoons (Royal Scots Greys). For general gallant service near Messines in ascertaining under fire the progress of night operations, and especially, on the night of 31 Oct., for leading the 12th Lancers to position for counter-attack, in which he took part, accounting for 11 of the enemy himself." Subsequently he exchanged into the Welsh Guards. He was gazetted Captain in April, 1915, and died 30 Sept. 1915, of wounds received on 27 Sept. while leading No. 1 Company, Welsh Guards, into action at Loos. Obituary notices appeared in the "Times" for 2 Oct. 1915. He had married, in 1912, Lady Gladys Margaret Finch-Hatton, only daughter of Lord Winchilsea, and they had one son, Michael Osmond, born 22 April, 1914, and one daughter, Elizabeth Anne, born 28 Aug. 1915.

WOODMAN, JAMES EDWARD SOMERVILLE, Capt., was born at Clifton 26 July, 1870, son of Commander C. E. S. Woodman, R.N. He served in the European War from 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "James Edward Somerville Woodman, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Lancashire Regt. Commanded three companies of his regiment in the attack at Le Touquet, and afterwards commanded the section of defence which included the village." He was decorated by the King 2 Dec. 1914, on the occasion of His Majesty's visit to the Expeditionary Force. Major Woodman was killed in action in France 25–27 Sept. 1915. The Officer Commanding the 12th Northumberland Fusiliers wrote: "Major Woodman was with us through the bad time the battalion had on Saturday, 25 Sept., and after orders were received to take the German trenches by assault on the morning of Sunday, 26 Sept., he came up the hill with us and encouraged the men in the charge. The men could not run up the hill the whole way without a rest to get their breath again, and it was then that Major Woodman sat up and put up his field-glasses to look at the enemy's position. He was immediately shot through the heart, and fell over on his side. He was a brave and gallant officer, and you have the satisfaction of knowing that he died at the head of the battalion, facing the foe. We suffered very badly; only seven of our officers remained with the battalion after the charge, and of these only two were unhit. We all deplore Major Woodman's loss, as he was a man of very wide experience, and was of the greatest help to us. One of the last things he did was to tell my servant to get back down the hill, as the boy had been wounded in the wrist, but still was going on."

James E. S. Woodman.

Extract from the "Morning Post," 18 Oct. 1915: "Major James Edward Somerville Woodman, D.S.O., Lancashire Fusiliers, attached 12th Battn. Northumberland Fusiliers (killed in action), was born in July, 1870, and entered the West India Regt. in Jan. 1891. Promotion came in 1893 and 1898 (Captain), and in 1900 he transferred to the Lancashire Fusiliers, being posted to the 2nd Battn. He was recently promoted and attached to the Northumberland Fusiliers. From March, 1903, to Feb. 1906, Major Woodman was employed with the West African Frontier Force, and from July, 1909, to March, 1912, he held the Adjutancy of the King's Own Malta Regt. of Militia. Major Woodman had fought with great distinction in the present war. He was twice mentioned in Despatches in the London Gazette in Dec., and was decorated with the D.S.O. Before this he had seen service in Ashanti (1895–96), for which he received the Star; in the operations in Sierra Leone (1898–99), and in West Africa (Northern Nigeria—1903–4) (Medal with clasp)."

Digitized by Google

WYNDHAM, THE HONOURABLE EDWARD SCAWEN, Capt., was born 30 April, 1883, at Petworth House, Sussex, son of the 2nd Lord Leconfield. He joined the 1st Life Guards, as Second Lieutenant, in March, 1904, and became Lieutenant 21 Nov. 1904. He was promoted to Captain 10 May, 1911, and served in the European War from 1914, having gone to France in Aug. of that year as a Captain in the Expeditionary Force. He was mentioned in Despatches in Nov. 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Dec. 1914]: "The Hon. Edward Scawen Wyndham, Capt., 1st Life Guards. Near Messines on 31 Oct.–1 Nov., during a night attack by the Germans, after some of his trenches had been taken and himself wounded, he counter-attacked, retook his trenches, and subsequently withdrew his squadron." "On 31 Oct.," says another account, "Capt. Wyndham, being already wounded in his lung, counter-attacked and retook his trenches." He was invested by the King at Buckingham Palace; returned to France in May, 1915; became Major 1 July, 1915; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 14 Dec. 1916, to 4 March, 1919, and Lieutenant-Colonel, 1st Life Guards, 1 July, 1919. He married, in 1907, Gladys Mary, daughter of Fitzroy W. J. Farquhar, brother of the 4th Baronet, and they have one son and one daughter.

London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914.—"War Office, 9 Dec. 1914. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their services with the Expeditionary Force, specified below."

BEDINGFIELD, HENRY, Lieut., was born 10 Dec. 1889. He was educated at the Universities of Edinburgh (M.B., Ch.B., Honours), and London, and became House Surgeon, Queen's Hospital for Children, Hackney Road, E.; Assistant Medical Officer, Hackney Infirmary, and Clinical Assistant, City of London Chest Hospital. He entered the Army 24 Jan. 1913; served in the European War from 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Henry Bedingfield, M.B., Lieut., Royal Army Medical Corps. For coolness and daring in repeatedly superintending removal of wounded from the firing line under heavy fire." He became Captain 30 March, 1915. Capt. Bedingfield married, in 1915, Edith, fourth daughter of the late P. Grant, of Edinburgh.

BIRT, LIGHTLY HAROLD, Capt., was born 22 Oct. 1879, third surviving son of the late Sir William Birt, of Hatfield, and of Lady Birt, of Brickett Road, St. Albans. He got his commission from the Volunteers in 1900, and was promoted to Captain in 1910. He served in the European War from 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Harold Lightly Birt, Capt., 1st Battn. Royal Berkshire Regt. For skill and courage at Villers-Cotterets on 1 Sept. and at Metz Farm Valley 7 Sept. in holding his position." He was killed in action 5 Jan. 1915, aged 35 years. An obituary notice appeared in the "Times" of 11 Jan. 1915.

BURNETT-HITCHCOCK, BASIL FERGUSON, Capt., was born 3 March, 1877, at Chatham, son of the late Colonel T. Burnett-Hitchcock, of Week Manor, Winchester, Hants, and Amelia Burnett-Hitchcock. He was educated at Harrow and Sandhurst (Sword of Honour, Anson Memorial Sword, 1st passing out); joined the Sherwood Foresters 20 Feb. 1897; served in South Africa, 1899–1901, with the 1st Battn. Sherwood Foresters, Mounted Infantry, and on the Staff. Took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; also in Cape Colony 1899–1900; again during operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Captain 12 March, 1901; Staff College, 1903–4. He was Staff Captain, Eastern Command, 1905–9; General Staff Officer, 2nd Grade, Bermuda, 1910–12; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 4th Division, Eastern Command, 1912.

B. F. Burnett-Hitchcock.

Capt. Burnett-Hitchcock served in the European War from 1914; was present at Le Cateau, the Marne, the Aisne, the First Battle of Ypres, Festubert (1915), Second Battle of Ypres, Loos and Battle of the Somme. He was mentioned in Despatches, 19 Oct. and 9 Dec. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Basil Ferguson Burnett-Hitchcock, Capt., Sherwood Foresters (Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire Regt.). On 26 Aug. at Haucourt, France, for gallantry in rallying troops in disorder and leading them against the enemy, thereby ensuring an orderly evacuation of the village." He also received the 1914 Bronze Star. Capt. Hitchcock was again mentioned in Despatches 17 Feb. 1915, and was given the Brevet of Major 18 Feb. 1915; became Major 1 Sept. 1915; was mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1916, and given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916; was again mentioned in Despatches 15 June, 1916, 4 Jan. and 15 May, 1917; was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; was again mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1918; was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, 1914, and created a C.B., 1918. He was appointed Temporary Brigadier-General in France in 1916; Director of Mobilization at the War Office, with rank of Temporary Brigadier-General, 1917, and Director-General of Mobilization, with temporary rank of Major-General, 1918; was made an Officer of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus (Italy), 1918; Croix de Guerre (France), 1920; promoted Major-General 3 June, 1919. On 22 Oct. 1902, at St. Margaret's, Westminster, Major-General Burnett-Hitchcock married Anne Austin, daughter of J. Robertson-Walker, of Gilgerran, Distington, Cumberland, and they have a son, Denys Austin, born 21 Sept. 1904.

BUTLER, SIDNEY GEORGE, Major, was born 18 May, 1874. He became Lieutenant, Royal Army Medical Corps 27 July, 1899; served in South Africa, 1899–1902. He was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; in the operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; in the operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; and the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900), and action at Pieter's Hill; served in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900; again in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, 1900, including action at Frederickstad (17 to 25 Oct.); in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, including action at Ruidam; and again in the Transvaal, June to Oct. 1901, and Jan. to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted to Major 27 April, 1911. Major S. G. Butler served in the European War, 1914–18, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Sidney George Butler, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps. At Nissy, on 15 Sept. For coolness and courage in continuing all day to collect wounded under severe shell fire." He became Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915

CARLETON, CORNELIUS ASGILL SHAW, Capt., was born 18 May, 1883. He became Second Lieutenant, Welsh Regt., 22 Dec. 1906; Lieut. 25 May, 1910; and was employed with the West African Frontier Force, 1908–13. He served in the European War from 1914; 2nd Battn. (attached 6th Battn.) Welsh Regt.; became Captain 1 Nov. 1914; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Cornelius Asgill Carleton, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Welsh Regt. For daring and successful reconnaissances on several occasions, on the last of which, on 15 Sept., he was severely wounded." He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1916, and was employed with the West African Frontier Force 16 April, 1919.

COTTRELL-DORMER, CHARLES MELVILLE, Second Lieut., was born at Bicester Hall, Bicester, 18 Feb. 1892, son of Capt. Cottrell-Dormer, of Rousham, Oxfordshire, and of Heath House and Stapleton Park, Gloucestershire, and Ursula Cottrell-Dormer, daughter of Thomas and Lady Elizabeth Leslie-Melville Cartwright. Through his mother, Lieut. Cottrell-Dormer was the great-grandson of David, 8th Earl of Leven and 7th Earl of Melville. He was educated at Mr. Lionel Helbert's, West Downs, and at Eton, and gazetted Second Lieutenant from the Special Reserve in June, 1915, to the 3rd Battn. Coldstream Guards, which is one of the best shooting units in the Service. Its officers and men have all fought with distinction, and the mentions range from Private Childer to Lieut.-Colonel Fielding. All Lieut. Cottrell-Dormer's men used to say that they thought he "had a charmed life." He had a wonderful eye, and hence was a good shot, and excellent at games. He was deeply read in most subjects. After being twice mentioned in Despatches, Lieut. Cottrell-Dormer was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Charles Melville Cottrell-Dormer, Second Lieut., 3rd Battn. Coldstream Guards. After all his men had been driven out of the trenches by enfilade fire, he remained to the last and got his wounded men away." He was promoted to Lieutenant; was invested by the King with the Order on 13 Jan. Lieut. Cottrell-Dormer was present at the end of Nov. 1914, at a Memorial Service held for his elder brother, the late Lieut. Clement Cottrell-Dormer, of the Scots Guards, and he had only recently returned to the front after sick leave (the last days and hours of which he spent visiting the wounded, and comforting bereaved widows and mothers), when he was mortally wounded during an attack on La Bassée on his late brother's 24th birthday, 6 Feb. He died on 8 Feb. 1915, aged 22, at Bethune, where he is buried, and a Memorial Service was held for him on his own 23rd birthday, so that the two brothers who were devoted to one another were not long divided by death.

C. M. Cottrell-Dormer.

Colonel J. A. C. Richardson Drummond-Hay, Coldstream Guards, wrote to Lieut. Cottrell-Dormer's parents as follows: "It is all the harder to bear when the son was such 'a very perfect gentil knight,' as poor Melville undoubtedly was, but it is comfort to feel that his life that he laid down, though short, was such a beautiful one. I would have been terribly sorry if the regiment had not been represented (at the Memorial Service in Rousham Church), when your boy had done so much for its honour and glory. Two points that stand foremost in his death are these, that he was back with his beloved No. 3 Company, 3rd Battalion, Coldstream Guards, and that his devoted servant, Johnson, was by his side when he fell mortally wounded, and never left him till he passed peacefully away at 1 p.m. on Monday, 8 Feb., never having regained consciousness."

Capt. Vaughan (Coldstream Guards) wrote of him: "No words of mine can express the admiration, love and respect I had for your son. He was gallant, brave and a leader of men, and worshipped by the non-commissioned officers and men who came in contact with him, and if you could only have heard them talking of him, as I have done, in that very trying time in the early part of the war, when he was left alone to command No. 3 Company, you would know how we one and all will miss him."

Mrs. Monck, wife of General Monck, says: "Every officer in his regiment whom we have seen when they were at home for a few days' leave, have spoken so much of him and his great and wonderful bravery, and the Coldstream soldiers could not say enough of his great kindness to them as well as of his example of great courage."

Digitized by Google

Another extract from a letter reads: "I was his Company Sergeant-Major on the Aisne, and was with him throughout until he was invalided from St. Julien, near Ypres, just after the officer commanding the company was killed. He was then in temporary command of No. 3, and he carried that duty out excellently. The company thought such a great deal of him, as he was a brave and fearless leader, and his death is keenly felt by us all."

Sergt. W. Ward wrote: "May I offer you my deepest sympathy in your terrible loss (my boy commander). May God help you to bear it."

His servant wrote: "A braver man I have never known, and I shall miss him because I loved him."

ELLIOT, WILLIAM GRENFELL RIVERSDALE, Lieut., was born 17 April, 1892, at Muree, Punjab, India, son of William Henry Wilson Elliott, D.S.O., Lieut.-Colonel, I.M.S. (retired), and Charlotte E. P. (who died in 1914), eldest daughter of the late C. Furber. He was educated at Cheltenham, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and joined the Cheshire Regt., as Second Lieutenant, 11 Oct. 1911. He became Lieutenant 14 March, 1914, and served in the European War; was wounded; twice mentioned in Despatches, 19 Oct. and 9 Dec. 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "William Grenfell Riversdale Elliot, Lieut., 1st Battn. The Cheshire Regt. On 24 Aug. when, during a retirement, he ran back, picked up a wounded man, and carried him 100 yards to safety under a hot fire, being himself shot through both ankles." He became Captain 1 Oct. 1915. Capt. Elliott has the 1914 Star.

FLINT, ROBERT BRADFORD, Lieut., was born at Blackheath 30 Aug. 1891, son of James George Harry Flint, Elder Brother of Trinity House, and of Helen M. Flint. He was educated at Lindisfarne, Blackheath, and at Cheltenham College, and joined the Royal Engineers 20 July, 1911. He served in the European War from Aug. 1914; was four times mentioned in Despatches; made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour for gallantry during the operations between 21 and 30 Aug. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Robert Bradford Flint, Lieut., Royal Engineers. At Missy, on 14 Sept., under a heavy shell fire, he assisted Capt. W. H. Johnston in working all day until 7 p.m., with their own hands, two rafts bringing back wounded and returning with ammunition, thus enabling the advanced brigade to maintain its position on the other side of the river." Lieut. Flint was mortally wounded on the night of the 22nd Jan. 1915, while at work in the trenches, and died a few hours afterwards, in the early hours of the 23rd. He was buried with full military honours in the graveyard at Dranôutre, Belgium.

Robert Bradford Flint.

FULLBROOK-LEGGATT, CHARLES ST. QUENTIN OUTEN, Lieut., was born 16 Aug. 1889. He was educated at Bath College, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst; joined the Royal Berkshire Regt. 18 Sept. 1909, and became Lieutenant 17 Aug. 1911. He served in the European War from 1914; was Adjutant, Royal Berkshire Regt. 11 Sept. 1914, to 12 Feb. 1916; was promoted to Captain 10 May, 1915, and served on the Staff in France 30 March, 1916, to 7 May, 1919. Capt. Fullbrook-Leggatt was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1918. He was wounded; mentioned in Despatches four times, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Charles St. Quentin Outen Fullbrook-Leggatt, Lieut., 1st Battn. Princess Charlotte of Wales's (Royal Berkshire) Regt. For gallant conduct during an attempt to regain a bridge over the Sambre, near Marnilles, on the night of the 25–26th Aug." He was also awarded the Military Cross. Capt. Fullbrook-Leggatt married, in 1917, Mary Katherine, daughter of Colonel C. H. Bittleston, R.A., of Ashleigh, Whitchurch, Devon.

GRIFFITH, ARTHUR LEFROY PRITCHARD, Lieut., was born 7 May, 1886, son of the Venerable Henry Wager Griffith (Vicar of Thorp Arch, Yorkshire, since 1905; late Archdeacon of Lahore) and Eleanor Eva, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel Pritchard, R.A. He was educated at Bilton Grange; at Dover College, and at Clare College, Cambridge (B.A., 1908); entered the Royal Artillery 23 Dec. 1909, and became Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches three times; was wounded at the Battle of the Aisne, and twice at the Third Battle of Ypres, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Arthur Lefroy Pritchard Griffith, Lieut., 36th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery. On 14 Dec., after being wounded, he gallantly assisted in manhandling guns out of action until exhausted." He was Temporary Captain 29 May to 22 Dec. 1915; was promoted to Captain 28 Dec. 1915, and commanded the 459th Howitzer Battery, 118th Brigade, R.F.A. Capt. Griffith was awarded a Brevet Majority on 3 June, 1917, for distinguished conduct in the field at the Battle of the Somme. His favourite recreations are hunting and Rugby football; reserve (Rugby football) for England; played for Rest of England, the North, Welsh Trials, Yorkshire, the Army, Blackheath and United Services teams.

Arthur L. P. Griffith.

LAWRENCE, WILLIAM LYTTLETON, Major, was born 4 Sept. 1873, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence, of The Cedars, Chepstow. He was gazetted to the South Wales Borderers in July, 1893, becoming Lieutenant in Jan. 1896, and Captain in Sept. 1904. From the latter date to Sept. 1907, he was Adjutant of his battalion, and in Dec. 1907, was appointed A.D.C. to a Divisional Commander in India. Major Lawrence served in the European War. He was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch of 8 Oct. 1914. He was killed in action on the 31st Oct. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "William Lyttleton Lawrence, Major, 2nd Battn. The South Wales Borderers (deceased). For gallantry and ability in repelling the enemy on 28 Sept."

LECKIE, MALCOLM, Capt., was born at Eltham, Kent, 18 April, 1880, son of James Blyth Leckie, of Crowborough, Sussex, and a descendant of the Leckie of the Barony of Leckie (Stirlingshire, 1352). One of his ancestors, Sir Walter Leckie, of the Bodyguard of King Charles VII. of France, commanded the Scottish troops at the Battle of Lagny on the 10th Aug. 1432—the last exploit of the Maid of Orleans—when these troops were instrumental in the utter defeat of the English under the Duke of Bedford. Sir John French, in his first Despatch, said that for the advance from the Marne his left wing rested on Lagny. Malcolm Leckie was educated at Blackheath Proprietary School, and privately abroad, and carried out his medical studies at Guy's Hospital, London. He was a member of the Blackheath Hockey Club, and used to play for the Army, and he was Captain of Guy's Hockey Club when at the hospital. He had also represented England against France, and played for the Blackheath Hockey Club. After having obtained his medical qualifications he joined the Royal Army Medical Corps in Feb. 1908, and was attached for four years to the Egyptian Army. He served in the Sudan, up the Blue Nile and in Upper Egypt. Capt. Leckie served in the European War, and was attached for duty to the 1st Northumberland Fusiliers. He was appointed to the D.S.O., was wounded by shrapnel at Frameries, and died there from the effects of these wounds on the 28th Aug. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Malcolm Leckie, Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps. For gallant conduct and exceptional devotion to duty in attending to wounded at Frameries, where he was himself wounded."

Malcolm Leckie.

LIVEING, CHARLES HAWKER, Major, was born 1 April, 1872. He joined the Royal Artillery 12 Feb. 1892; became Lieutenant 12 Feb. 1895; was employed in Uganda Protectorate 9 Nov. 1899, to 21 April, 1901; became Captain 15 March, 1900; was Instructor, Ordnance College, 1 Jan. 1904, to 31 Dec. 1906; was promoted Major 8 June, 1909. He served in the European War from 1914; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Charles Hawker Liveing, Major, 135th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. For bravery and devotion in withdrawing guns by hand under a heavy fire near Ligny, France, on 26 Aug. 1914." He was given the Legion of Honour, 4th Class, and became Lieutenant-Colonel 8 July, 1915.

LUCAS-TOOTH, DOUGLAS KEITH LUCAS, Capt., was born in Sydney, New South Wales, Australia, 10 Oct. 1880, son of the late Sir Robert Lucas Lucas-Tooth, Baronet, and Lady Lucas-Tooth. He was educated at Eton; was given a Colonial Cadetship, and was commissioned in the New South Wales Mounted Infantry in March, 1899. He went with the first unit sent to South Africa, 1899; did very good service during that year, and was mentioned in Despatches by Colonel De Lisle. He was given his commission in the 9th Lancers in Dec., and joined the regiment in South Africa. He became Captain, 1908; served in the European War in 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Douglas Keith Lucas Lucas-Tooth, Capt., 9th (Queen's Royal) Lancers (deceased). For gallantry in action against unbroken infantry at Andrignies, Belgium, on 24 Aug." He led the charge at Andrignies, and skilfully rallied and took the squadrons out of action. He was killed near Vendresse on 13 Sept. 1914, by shrapnel.

D. K. L. Lucas-Tooth.

MARGETTS, CECIL FRANCIS MOWBRAY, Lieut., was born 16 Dec. 1884. He was educated at Bedford Grammar School, and entered the Dorsetshire Regt. 20 May, 1905, becoming Lieutenant 24 Sept. 1908, and Captain 14 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was wounded; twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Cecil Francis Mowbray Margetts, Lieut., 1st Battn. Dorsetshire Regt. On 24 Aug. at Paturage, when the 1st Line Transport was ambushed, he rode forward and engaged the enemy, thus giving time for his vehicles to wheel about and escape with slight loss, he himself being wounded."

Digitized by Google

O'KELLY, HENRY KANE, Second Lieut., was born 6 June, 1894, son of William Henry O'Kelly, of Monkstown, County Dublin. He was educated at Clongowes, and entered the 3rd West Riding Regt. 24 Dec. 1914, becoming Lieutenant, A.S.C. in 1915, and Captain 24 Dec. 1917, and retired from the R.A.S.C. 28 Jan. 1919. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Henry Kane O'Kelly, Second Lieut., Army Service Corps. For coolness and gallantry at Le Cateau on 26 Aug., and for initiating at Crepy an attack on two motor-cars, which he and a small party captured under heavy musketry fire."

Henry Kane O'Kelly.

PENNYCUICK, JAMES ALEXANDER CHARLES, Lieut., was born 9 Jan. 1890. He joined the Royal Engineers 26 July, 1910, and became Lieutenant 21 Dec. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "James Alexander Charles Pennycuick, Lieut., Royal Engineers. On learning that the bridge at Pontoise had not been destroyed, he went back with another officer and successfully blew it up during the Retreat." He became Captain 23 July, 1916; was G.S.O.3, 3 July, 1918, to 6 April, 1919, and Staff Officer to the Chief Engineer, 4th Army Corps, British Armies of the Rhine.

STAVELEY, ROBERT, Second Lieut., was born 28 Feb. 1892. He entered the Royal Artillery 23 Dec. 1911; became Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1914; Captain 8 Aug. 1916; was Acting Major, R.A., from 25 Sept. 1916. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was mentioned in Despatches five times, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Robert Staveley, Second Lieut., 121st Battery, Royal Field Artillery. At Ciry, on 16 Sept., under a very heavy shrapnel and high explosive shell fire went out and helped to carry into safety Gunner Davies, a telephone operator, who had been wounded and was unable to move."

WALKER, JOHN BARRY, Capt., was born at Lucknow 29 April, 1881, son of Francis Blennerhassett Walker (deceased), Civil Railway Engineer under Government of India, and Katherine Walker (née Spring). He was educated at Bath College, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 6 Jan. 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901. He served in Malta from 1900 to 1902, and in India from 1902 to 1906. He was employed with the Canadian Forces 15 April, 1910, to 18 May, 1912, and became Captain 2 Jan. 1911. Capt. J. B. Walker served in the European War from about 17 Aug. 1914, with the 48th Heavy Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery, 3rd Division; was present at Mons, Le Cateau, the Retreat to near Paris, the Advance to the Aisne, Neuve Chapelle (Nov. 1914), Kemmel in the winter of 1914 (all with the 3rd Division); as Brigade Major in the battles of Neuve Chapelle, Festubert and Loos (1915); as Staff Officer, Royal Artillery, 2nd Army, 1916; as Counter Battery Staff Officer in the Battle of Messines and the fighting on the Ypres front, 1917; on various fronts, 1918; the Advance to the Scheldt and the fighting connected with it on the Wytschaete and Menin fronts, 1918; the Advance into Germany, in Command of the 41st Heavy Artillery Brigade, 1918; with the Army of Occupation up to Aug. 1919. He was mentioned in Despatches 16 Oct. 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "John Barry Walker, Capt., Royal Garrison Artillery. At the Battle of the Aisne, on the 14th Sept., rescued a wounded gunner from under an ammunition wagon under heavy fire." He was again mentioned in Despatches 15 June, 1915; acted as Brigade Major of No. 1 Group, Heavy Artillery Reserve, from 1 March, 1915; Major 5 Aug. 1915; was mentioned in Despatches, 4 Jan. and 17 Dec. 1917, and became Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 12 Feb. 1917; Staff Officer, Royal Artillery (Army), June, 1916, to Feb. 1917; became Counter Battery Staff Officer, 10th Corps, on 12 Feb. 1917; commanded the 41st Brigade, Royal Garrison Artillery, from 17 Nov. 1918, to 16 April, 1919. He was mentioned in Despatches 20 Dec. 1918; awarded the French Croix de Guerre with Palms on 29 Jan. 1919; reverted from Acting Lieutenant-Colonel to Major 16 April, 1919. He married, 4 April, 1910, at Alrewas House, Ashbourne, Derbyshire, Sara Beatrice Bond, daughter of G. M. Bond, Esq., of Alrewas House, Ashbourne, Derbyshire, and of Sara Bond (née Warner), and their children are: Jeffery Francis, born 19 Jan. 1911; George Barry, born 2 Dec. 1912; Mary Beatrice, born 12 April, 1914, and Katherine Hope, born 20 March, 1919.

John Barry Walker.

Roger R. F. West

WEST, ROGER ROLLESTON FICK, Second Lieut., was born 12 Jan. 1891, son of Samuel West, M.A., M.D.Oxon., F.R.C.P.London, and Margaret Nanny, daughter of Sir Edward Frankland, K.C.B., F.R.S., D.C.L., etc. He was educated at Rugby, and King's College, Cambridge (A.M.I.C.E., and B.A. Cantab.). He served in the European War, 1914–15; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914]: "Roger Rolleston Fick West, Second Lieut., Intelligence Corps. For assisting Lieut. J. A. C. Pennycuick in the demolition of the bridge at Pontoise." He became Lieutenant.

London Gazette, 22 Dec. 1914.—"Admiralty, 22 Dec. 1914. The King has been graciously pleased to approve of the following appointment to the Distinguished Service Order, in respect of the undermentioned Officer, who was Second-in-Command of Submarine B11, which torpedoed the Turkish Battleship Messudiyeh, in the Dardanelles on the 13th Dec. 1914."

WINN, SYDNEY THORNHILL, Lieut., was born 29 Nov. 1888, at Boulogne-sur-Mer, France, son of Algernon William Winn, Surgeon, Royal Navy. He was educated at the Royal Naval College, Lee-on-Solent, and in H.M.S. Britannia; joined the Royal Navy in May, 1904; served in H.M.S. Hindustan, 1904–6; in H.M.S. Glory, 1906–8; was Midshipman, Navigation School, 1908; Sub-Lieutenant, H.M.S. Hibernia, 1909–11; Lieutenant, H.M.S. Hampshire, 1911–12; H.M.S. Dolphin, for Submarines, 1912; H.M. Submarine C26 (1913); H.M. Submarine B11 (Mediterranean); H.M. Submarine B5 (Portsmouth); H.M. Submarine C1 (Sheerness); H.M. Submarine B7 (Venice). He served in the European War from 1914, in the Dardanelles Campaign, and was in Submarine B11 in her dash into the Dardanelles. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 22 Dec. 1914]: "Sydney Thornhill Winn, Lieut., Royal Navy." (See details above.) He was Instructional Officer and Senior Submarine Officer, Fort Blockhouse Submarine Depôt, Gosport, till April, 1918, when invalided out for eye-strain. He married, in 1919, Mary, eldest daughter of A. H. A. Knox, of Littlegarth House, Dorking.

Sydney Thornhill Winn.

London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915.—"The King has been graciously pleased to approve of the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of services with the Expeditionary Force, specified below."

ALEXANDER, THE HONOURABLE HERBRAND CHARLES, Capt., was born 28 Nov. 1888, son of the 5th Earl of Caledon and Lady Elizabeth Graham Toler, daughter of the 3rd Earl of Norbury. He was gazetted to the 5th Lancers 27 Jan. 1909; became Lieutenant 1 March, 1910, and Captain 11 Nov. 1914; was Acting Major, 25 April, to 29 Oct. 1918, and 4 Nov. to 14 Dec. 1918, and employed under the Air Ministry from 1 April, 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "The Honourable Herbrand Charles Alexander, Capt., 5th (Royal Irish) Lancers. Has done exceedingly good work in action and in reconnaissance, since the commencement of the war." He married, in 1919, Millicent Valla, only daughter of Sir Henry Meredyth, Bart.

ARBUTHNOT, ALEXANDER GEORGE, Major, was born 30 Nov. 1873, at Woolwich, son of the late General Sir Charles Arbuthnot, G.C.B., Colonel Commandant, Royal Artillery, and Caroline, daughter of William Clarke, M.D. He was educated at Marlborough (1886–91, Cotton House), and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; joined the Royal Field Artillery 21 Oct. 1893; served in England, India and Ireland; became Lieutenant 21 Oct. 1896. He became Captain 8 Aug. 1900; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 16 April, 1904, to 15 April, 1907. He was promoted to Major 14 Nov. 1910, and served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches in 1914, and twice in 1915, for services in France; in 1916 (General Milne's Despatches), for services in Salonika, and again in Dec. 1917. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Alexander George Arbuthnot, Major, 24th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. For very valuable work on several occasions between 19 Oct. and 23 Nov., in observing the fire of our batteries and furnishing valuable reports, though under very heavy shell fire from the enemy's guns, during the First Battle of Ypres-Armentières." He commanded the 24th Battery, R.F.A., in France, Sept. 1914, to Sept. 1915, and subsequently the 99th Brigade, R.F.A., in France and Salonika. He became Lieutenant-Colonel 3 March, 1916, and was created a C.M.G. in Jan. 1917, and awarded the Serbian Order of Karageorge with Swords. He later commanded a group of artillery in the 14th Corps during the Third Battle of Ypres in the autumn of 1917, and was severely wounded on 29 Nov. 1917. Capt. Arbuthnot married, 12 Sept. 1905, at Boldre, New Forest, Hampshire, Olive Mary May Burton, daughter of Colonel Burton, of Shirley Holmes, Lymington, Hampshire.

John Dopping Boyd

BOYD, JOHN DOPPING, Lieut., was born 14 Feb. 1886, eldest son of the late William Henry Boyd, Esq., J.P., D.L., Landowner, of Ballymacool, Letterkenny, County Donegal, Ireland, and of C. Agnes

Digitized by Google

Boyd, daughter of Colonel J. H. Dopping, of Ballymacool, Letterkenny. He entered the Queen's Royal West Surrey Regt. 6 July, 1907; became Lieutenant 10 Feb. 1911; Captain 10 Feb. 1915, and Brevet Major 1 Jan. 1917. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches for the action on 31 Oct. 1914, and the First Battle of Ypres, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "John Dopping Boyd, Lieut., 1st Battn. The Queen's (Royal West Surrey) Regt. For gallant leading of his men on the 31st Oct., and for consistently good work during the campaign." He was granted his Brevet Majority, and was mentioned in Despatches Jan. 1917; was also mentioned in Despatches in Dec. 1917, and awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. in Jan. 1918. He served with his battalion up to Jan. 1916, and subsequently as G.S.O.3, Brigade Major, and G.S.O.2. Major Boyd married, in Jan. 1916, Effie Harriet, daughter of H. D. Butterfield, Esq., of Durham, Bermuda, and they have a son, John Darrell Boyd, born 23 Sept. 1917.

CARY-BARNARD, CECIL DARCY VIVIEN, Capt., was born 11 Aug. 1876. He served in South Africa, 1900, with Lumsden's Horse, Feb. to Oct. 1900; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Karee Siding and Zand River; was present during operations in the Transvaal, May, 1900, including action near Johannesburg; also in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, 1900 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Second Lieutenant, Wiltshire Regt., 27 Oct. 1900, and Lieutenant 13 Sept. 1902; was Lieutenant, West African Regt., 13 June, 1903, to 24 July, 1906; Captain 1 April, 1909, and Major 1 Sept. 1915. Major Cary-Barnard served in the European War from 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, wounded, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915] "Cyril Darcy Vivien Cary-Barnard, Capt., 2nd Battn. Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire Regt.). On the 11th Nov. showed conspicuous gallantry and promptitude on his own initiative, in dislodging, with the aid of about 30 men, a company of Germans who had occupied a trench in our line." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Cyril Darcy Vivien Cary-Barnard, D.S.O., Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Wiltshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He handled his battalion with conspicuous success and ability on numerous occasions, inspiring all ranks with confidence by his fearless example." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was Staff Captain, 51st Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 17 Sept. to 29 Dec. 1915; commanded the 68th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 14 Oct. 1917, to 31 Jan. 1919; was Base Commandant, Taranto, 11 Feb. 1919; Temporary Brigadier-General; was created a C.M.G. in 1919. In 1910 Lieut.-Colonel Cary-Barnard married Rita Persse, and they have one son and one daughter.

Cecil D. V. Cary-Barnard.

GRAHAM, FRANCIS, Second Lieut., was born 29 March, 1894, the only surviving son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Graham, of Rendalls, Harrow, and Forston House, near Dorchester; and grandson of General Sir Robert M. Stewart, G.C.B. He was educated at Harrow School, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and obtained his commission in the Royal Field Artillery in July, 1913. He served in France during the whole period of the war up to his death, taking part with the First Division in the Battles of Mons, the Marne, the Aisne, the First Battle of Ypres, Festubert, Richebourg and Loos; and with another Division in the chief battles of 1917. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for an achievement in the First Battle of Ypres [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Francis Graham, Second Lieut., 51st Battery, Royal Field Artillery. When the officers of a part of the South Lancashire Regt. were disabled he took command and succeeded in holding an important part of our trenches until relief arrived and drove out the enemy, who had effected a footing, the situation being thus saved by his prompt action." He was mentioned in Despatches in Feb. 1915; was promoted Lieutenant 9 June, 1915, and was given command of a battery, as First Lieutenant (Temporary Captain), in May, 1916. In Nov. of that year he was awarded the Military Cross [London Gazette, Nov. 1916]: "Francis Graham, Lieut., Temporary Capt., Royal Field Artillery. On one occasion he, with another officer, established his O.P. in a shell-hole on the outskirts of a village, and observed from thence under very heavy fire for the rest of the day. His coolness and gallantry are remarkable." He was gazetted Acting Major in Dec. 1916, and Captain in July, 1917. Major Graham was killed in action 28 March, 1918, by a shell which burst close to his battery.

Francis Graham.

GRENFELL, THE HONOURABLE JULIAN HENRY FRANCIS, Lieut., was born on 30 March, 1888, at 4, St. James's Square, London, S.W., eldest son of William Henry, 1st Baron Desborough, K.C.V.O., great-grandson of Pascoe Grenfell, M.P., of Taplow, and of Ethel Priscilla, daughter of the Honourable Julian Henry Charles Fane, and granddaughter of John, 11th Earl of Westmorland. He was educated at Summerfields, Eton, and at Balliol College, Oxford. He rowed in the College boat, and in 1907 and 1908 was three in the Balliol Eight in the Ladies' Challenge Plate, and in the following year was bow in the Balliol Four which won the Wyfolds at Henley, and he also rowed for the O.U.B.C. coxswainless-fours. He was a fine boxer, and knocked out two professional pugilists in a boxing competition in the same week in which he wrote "Into Battle." At Johannesburg, in 1914, on Kangaroo, he made the record High Jump for South Africa—6 feet 5 inches. He was an excellent shot, and a good all-round sportsman. Of a fight in Johannesburg he wrote: "A member who was in training for the Amateur Championship said he would come and fight me. He was a fireman called Tye; he used to be a sailor, and he looked as hard as a hammer. I quaked in my shoes when I saw him, and quaked more when I heard he was 2 to 1 on favourite for the Championship, and quaked most when my trainer went to see him, and returned with word that he had knocked out his men in a quarter of an hour. He went into the ring on the night, and he came straight at me like a tiger, and hit right; I stopped the left, but it knocked my guard aside, and he crashed his right clean on the point of my jaw. I was clean knocked out, but by the fluke of Heaven I recovered and came to and got on my feet again by the time they had counted six. I could hardly stand, and I could only see a white blur in front of me; but I just had the sense to keep my guard up, and hit hard at the blur whenever it came within range. He knocked me down twice more, but my head was clearing every moment, and I felt a strange sort of confidence that I was master of him. I put him down in the second round, with a right counter which shook him; he took a count of eight. In the third round I went in to him and beat his guard down, then crossed again with the right, and felt it go right home, with all my arm and body behind it. I knew it was the end, when I hit; and he never moved for twenty seconds. They said it was the best fight they had seen in Johannesburg, and my boxing men went clean off their heads and carried me twice round the hall. I was 11 stone 4 lbs., and he was 11 stone 3 lbs., and I think it was the best fight I shall ever have." Mrs. Meynell wrote in her "Memoir of Julian Grenfell": "When Julian left Summerfields for Eton at the age of thirteen he already had a serious conscious love of religion, such as was the tradition of his home. He was to have a life of wild physical activity, but he had a faith which could never be outstripped or left behind even from the boldest venture. He linked his belief to all physical activities that he so much loved. Faith has been carried among strange scenes and places by men in their enterprises, but faith has ridden her maddest rides with Julian, and with him on horseback mad her wildest leaps into the air. All his life faith was the implicit companion of his energies. But now this thirteen-year-old belief was a very definite, straightforward thing, and had its expression in the simplest words. He was still at Summerfields. There had been a very bad thunderstorm. He said: 'I suddenly seemed to recognize God.' It was with him as with the poet who wrote: 'I saw eternity the other night.' In his after life he again referred more than ever to what he had experienced then. In his early years at Eton he began his love of Thomas à Kempis." Julian Grenfell passed into the Army first of all the University candidates. He was gazetted to the 1st Dragoons, as Second Lieutenant, on 15 Sept. 1909, and joined his regiment in India, whence he wrote: "The pig-sticking is beyond dreams. I can't tell you what it means to me. It is coursing with human greyhounds." And again: "The rains have come, but not real continuous rains; we go out on odd days to stick pigs in country blind with new bright grass, so that you gallop down a hidden well without any warning and without much surprise. I am afraid all other sports will fall flat after this." He became Lieutenant on 6 Oct. 1911, and in the winter of that year he went with his regiment to South Africa. He did not like Africa at first, but later he wrote: "I am getting fond of it in a way, almost against my better self," and at length he loved the veldt, with its "terrific greatness and greenness and dullness and bleakness." He had his greyhounds with him, and at this time wrote a poem "To a Black Greyhound," of which two verses are given:

Hon. J. H. F. Grenfell.

"Shining black in the shining light,
Inky black in the golden sun,
Graceful as the swallows' flight,
Light as swallow, winged one,
Swift as driven hurricane,
Double-sinewed stretch and spring,
Muffled thud of flying feet—
See the black dog galloping,
Hear his wild hoof beat.

"See him lie when day is dead,
Black curves curled on the broadest floor.
Sleepy eyes, my sleepy head,
Eyes that were aflame before,
Gentle now they turn no more,
Gentle now and softly warm,
With the fire that made them bright.
Hidden as when after storm
Softly falls the night."

He wrote from South Africa: "My ponies are like Greek sculpture, only with a neater style of galloping; just think of how tired it would make you to play eight chukkers on horses which always had four legs in the air at once. The ground," he said, " is composed of holes and stones, thinly covered by a rough grass called Prativesticula. Thus for the horseman two alternatives lie open. Either you fall over the stone into the hole; when all that is to be done is to roll the stone on top of you and write the epitaph on it. Or, if you are careless enough to come down into the hole and fall on the stone, they have to lift your body, place it back in the hole, lift the stone, clean it, roll it on top of you, etc., which means 'more work for the undertaker.' I hope you follow me?" In July, 1914, he was looking forward to spending his leave in England when he heard the first rumours of the coming war, and wrote: " Don't you think it has been a wonderful and almost incredible rally to the Empire, with Redmond and the Hindus and Crooks and the Boers and the South Fiji Islanders all aching to come and throw stones at the Germans. It reinforces one's failing belief in the Old Flag and the Mother Country, and the Thin Red Line, and all the Imperial ideas, which get rather shadowy in peace time, don't you think? But this has proved to be a real enough thing." On 26 Sept. he reached England, and went straight with his regiment to Salisbury Plain. He had two days' leave at home, and on the night of 5 Oct. the regiment left for France. His sister had become a Probationer at the London Hospital, and his younger brother had been gazetted to the Rifle Brigade, as Second Lieutenant. Julian wrote from Flanders: " We have been fighting night and day; first rest to-day for four days. The worst of it is, no sleep practically. I cannot tell you how wonderful our men were, going straight for the first time into a fierce fire. They surpassed my utmost expectations. I have never been so fit or nearly so happy in my life before. I adore the fighting, and the continual interest which compensates for every disadvantage. I have longed to be able to say that I liked it, after all one has heard of being under fire for the first time. But it is beastly. I pretended for a bit to myself that I liked it, but it was no good, it only made one careless and unwatchful and self-absorbed; but when one acknowledged to oneself that it was beastly, one became all right again, and cool. After the firing had slackened we advanced again a bit into the next group of houses, which were the edge of the village proper. I cannot tell you how muddling it is. We did not know which was our front. We did not know whether our own troops had come round us on the flanks, or whether they had stopped behind and were firing into us. And besides, a lot of German snipers were left in the houses we had come through, and every now and then bullets came singing by from God knows where. Four of us were talking and laughing in the road, when about a dozen bullets came with a whistle. We all dived for the nearest door, and fell over each other, yelling with laughter, into a very dirty outhouse. James Leckie, the Old Old Man, said, 'I have a bullet through my best Sandon twillette breeches.' We looked, and he had. It had gone clean through. He did not tell us till two days afterwards that it had gone through him too. Here we are, in the burning centre of it all, and I would not be anywhere else for a million pounds and the Queen of Sheba. The only thing is that there's no job for the cavalry. So we have just become infantry, and man the trenches. I believe we're getting entrenching tools, which is good hearing. We want them. Colonel Burn is taking this, so I've only time to write one word of love. He's off. He tells me I was reported dead. But there's life in the old dog yet! Bless you both. I have not washed for a week, or had my boots off for a fortnight. But we cook good hot food in the dark in the morning before we start, and in the night when we get back to our horses; and we take our good cold rations with us in the daytime. It is all the best fun. I have never, never felt so well or so happy, or enjoyed anything so much. It just suits my stolid health, and stolid nerves, and barbaric disposition. The fighting excitement vitalizes everything, every sight and word and action. One loves one's fellow-man so much more when one is bent on killing him. And picnicking in the open day and night (we never see a roof now) is the real method of existence. There are loads of straw to bed-down on, and one sleeps like a log, and wakes up with the dew on one's face. The stolidity of my nerves surprises myself. I went to sleep the other day when we were lying in the trenches with the shrapnel bursting within fifty yards all the time, and a noise like nothing on earth. The noise is continual and indescribable. The Germans shell the trenches with shrapnel all day and all night; and the Reserves and ground in the rear with Jack Johnsons which, at last, one gets to love as old friends. You hear them coming for miles, and everyone imitates the noise; then they burst with a plump and make a great hole in the ground, doing no damage unless they happen to fall into your trench or on to your hat. They burst pretty nearly straight upwards. One landed within ten yards of me the other day, and only knocked me over and my horse. We both got up and looked at each other, and laughed. It did not even knock the cigarette out of my mouth. . . . We took a German officer and some men prisoners in a wood the other day. One felt hatred for them as one thought of our dead; and as the officer came by me I scowled at him, and the men were cursing him. The officer looked me in the face and saluted me as he passed, and I have never seen a man look so proud and resolute and smart and confident in his hour of bitterness. It made me feel terribly ashamed of myself. About the shells: after a day of them, one's nerves are really absolutely beaten down. I can understand now why our infantry have to retreat sometimes; a sight which came as a shock to me at first, after being brought up in the belief that the English infantry cannot retreat. . . . We had been worried by their snipers all along, and I had been always asking for leave to go out and have a try myself. Well, on Tuesday, the 16th, the day before yesterday, they gave me leave, only after great difficulty. They told me to take a section with me, and I said I would sooner cut my throat and have done with it. So they let me go alone. Off I crawled through sodden clay and trenches, going about a yard a minute, and listening and looking as I thought it was not possible to look and listen. I went out to the right of our lines, where the 10th were, and where the Germans were nearest. I took about thirty minutes to do thirty yards; then I saw the Hun trench, and I waited there a long time, but could see or hear nothing. It was about ten yards from me. Then I heard some Germans talking, and saw one put his head up over some bushes, about ten yards behind the trench. I could not get a shot at him; I was too low down, and of course I could not get up. So I crawled on again very slowly to the parapet of their trench. It was very exciting. I was not sure that there might not have been someone there, or a little further along the trench. I peeped through their loop-hole and saw nobody in the trench. Then the German behind put his head up again. He was laughing and talking; I saw his teeth glistening against my foresight, and I pulled the trigger very slowly. He just grunted and crumpled up. The others got up and whispered to each other. I do not know which were most frightened, them or me. I think there were four or five of them. They could not trace the shot; I was flat behind their parapet and hidden. I just had the nerve not to move a muscle and stay there. My heart was fairly hammering. They did not come forward and I could not see them, as they were behind some bushes and trees, so I crept back inch by inch. I went out again in the afternoon, in front of our bit of the line. About sixty yards off I found their trench again, empty again. I waited there for an hour, but saw nobody. Then I went back, because I did not want to get inside some of their patrols who might have been placed forward. I reported the trench empty. The next day, just before dawn, I crawled out there again and found it empty again. Then a single German came through the woods towards the trench. I saw him fifty yards off. He was coming along, upright and careless, making a great noise. I heard him before I saw him. I let him get within twenty-five yards, and shot him in the heart. He never made a sound. Nothing for ten minutes, and then there was a noise and talking, and a lot of them came along through the wood behind the trench about forty yards from me. I counted about twenty, and there were more coming. They halted in front, and I picked out the one I thought was the officer, or sergeant. He stood facing the other way, and I had a steady shot at him behind the shoulders. He went down, and that was all I saw. I went back at a sort of galloping crawl to our lines and sent a message to the 10th that the Germans were moving up their way in some numbers. Half an hour afterwards they attacked the 10th and our right in massed formation, advancing slowly to within ten yards of the trenches. We simply mowed them down. It was rather horrible. I was too far to the left. They did not attack our part of the line, but the 10th told me in the evening that they counted 200 dead in a little bit of the line, and the 10th and us only lost ten. They have made quite a ridiculous fuss about me stalking, and getting the message through. I believe they are going to send me up to our General, and all sorts. It was only up to someone to do it, instead of leaving it all to the Germans, and losing two officers a day through snipers. All our men have started it now. It is the popular amusement." A fine soldier, Lieut. Grenfell made a special study of reconnaissance work, and his remarkable physical strength, his fearlessness and courage were well known. On 20 Nov. 1914, he was mentioned in Despatches by Field-Marshal Lord French, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: " The Honourable Julian Henry Francis Grenfell, Lieut., 1st (Royal) Dragoons. On the 15th of Nov. he succeeded in reaching a point behind the enemy's trenches and making an excellent reconnaissance, furnishing early information of an impending attack by the enemy." A friend thus described this reconnaissance in a letter written to Lord Desborough, dated 18 Nov. 1914: " We were in the trenches on a 48-hour tour of duty, and where we were, in a wood less than 100 yards from the German trenches, we were very much bothered by snipers who were doing a lot of damage. The day before yesterday Julian crept through the undergrowth right up to one of the German trenches and shot one of them dead through his loop-hole. Yesterday he crawled out in the same direction and found the trench evacuated, so he crept on some little way beyond. He put two more Germans in the bag and then came back with the most useful information that the Germans were advancing. Within half an hour they attacked the line very heavily and were repulsed with great loss. Both acts were not only extremely plucky, but showed great resource and presence of mind, not to say cunning. . . . So far he has shown that he is quite capable of taking care of himself, and more than a match for a whole lot of Germans." He was promoted Captain on 10 Dec. 1914, and was again mentioned, in Lord French's Despatches, 14 Jan. 1915. In April, 1915, Capt. Grenfell wrote the lines quoted below, of which a Professor of English literature wrote: " I don't know if you really know that Julian's poem is one of the swell things in English literature. It is safe for ever; I know it by heart, and I never learned it. It has that queer property which only the best poems have, that a good many of the lines have more meaning than there is any need for, so that new things keep turning up in it."

Digitized by Google

" INTO BATTLE.

" The naked earth is warm with spring,
And with green grass and bursting trees
Leans to the sun's gaze glorying,
And quivers in the sunny breeze;
And Life is Colour and Warmth and Light,
And a striving evermore for these;
And he is dead who will not fight;
And who dies fighting has increase.

" The fighting man shall from the sun
Take warmth, and life from the glowing earth;
Speed with the light-foot winds to run,
And with the trees to newer birth;
And find when fighting shall be done,
Great rest and fulness after death.

" All the bright company of Heaven
Hold him in their high comradeship,
The Dog Star, and the Sisters Seven,
Orion's Belt and Sworded Hip.

Digitized by Google

" The woodland trees that stand together,
They stand to him each one a friend,
They gently speak in the windy weather,
They guide to valley and ridges' end.

" The kestrel hovering by day
And the little owls that call by night,
Bid him be swift and keen as they,
As keen of ear, as swift of sight.

" The blackbird sings to him, ' Brother, brother,
If this be the last song you shall sing,
Sing well, for you may not sing another ;
Brother, sing.'

" In dreary, doubtful, wailing hours,
Before the brazen frenzy starts,
The horses show him nobler powers ;
O ! patient eyes, courageous hearts

" And when the burning moment breaks,
And all things else are out of mind,
And only Joy of Battle takes Him by the throat, and makes him blind

" Through joy and blindness he shall know,
Not caring much to know, that still
Nor lead nor steel shall reach him, so
That it be not the Destined Will.

" The thundering line of battle stands,
And in the air Death moans and sings ;
But Day shall clasp him with strong hands,
And Night shall fold him in soft wings.

J. G.

" Flanders,
" April, 1915."

These lines were sent to the " Times," but before they had appeared in print Capt. Grenfell was wounded in the head by shrapnel on 13 May, 1915. On the previous evening he was with his regiment about 500 yards behind the front line, near the Ypres–Menin Road, in support of an attack on the German trenches running south from Hooge Lake. The Royals were behind a small hill which Julian afterwards called the little hill of death. Early in the morning the Germans heavily bombarded this hill, and Julian Grenfell went to the look-out post and was knocked over by a shell which merely bruised him. He went down again and reported his observations, and then volunteered to get through with a message to the Somerset Yeomanry in the front line, which he successfully accomplished under very heavy fire. When he returned he went up the hill with his General and a shell burst four yards away, knocking them both down and wounding Julian Grenfell in the head. He said : " Go down, sir. Don't bother about me. I'm done." The General helped to carry him down, and was wounded while doing so. Julian said afterwards to a brother officer : " Do you know, I think I shall die," and when he was contradicted, remarked : " Well, you see if I don't." He was carried to the clearing station, and asked there whether he was going to die, adding : " I only want to know ; I am not in the least afraid." He was then taken to the hospital at Boulogne, and his sister came from Wimereux to nurse him, and his parents were both with him. When the surgeon asked him how long he had been unconscious after he was hit, Julian said : " I was up before the count." Mrs. Meynell says : " His strength and youth were fighting against the deadly poison of his wound. During all those eleven days when he lay there he prayed, probably unaware that he spoke aloud. Sometimes he prayed that he might be able to bear the pain. The psalms and the hymns of his childhood were said to him aloud ; that was what he liked, also George Herbert's poems." His brother arrived in France with his regiment and came to his bedside, and with those he loved around him Julian Grenfell died on the afternoon of 26 May. His younger brother wrote of him : " I love to think that he had attained that perfection for which he sought so untiringly. I seem to hear him cheering me on in the moments of stress here with even more vivid power. There is no one whose victory over the grave can be more complete." And he said also : " Death is such a frail barrier out here ; men cross it so smilingly and gallantly every day, one cannot feel it as a severing in any way. Pray that I may bear myself bravely when the burning moment breaks." On 30 July, his brother, the Hon. W. Grenfell, fell in action in a charge to take trenches near the Hooge Crater. He had gone 70 or 80 yards in the attempt, while leading his platoon, to cross the 250 yards of open ground under terrific fire. He just fell forward dead. Lieut.-Colonel Maclachlan had written to him : " Julian set an example of light-hearted courage which is famous all through the Army in France, and has stood out even above the lost lion-hearted." Julian's friend, Lord Lucas, who did not long survive him, wrote : " You know that I was fonder of Julian than of any living man, and never can anyone else be the same to me as he was. . . . I think of all the happy times we had, and of his spirits, his keenness, his skill, his intense enjoyment of everything that boy or man, sportsman or poet, loves."

" OUT OF BATTLE.

" ' Sing well, for you may not sing another ;
Brother, sing.'

" J. G."

" So let his life continue—born anew
From depths of battle to became a star !
The soul of Adonais from afar
Beacons, the Adonaides are not few.

" Sing, Blackbird Boy, the blackbird sang for you
Unwitting ; her soft notes the parents are
To yon pure lay's melodious avatar
That from shut mouth rings on unstopt and free.

" The blackbird's song !
A wiser world shall listen,
While upon soldier eyes of strangers glisten
The tears of praise, and your songs sung shall be Things to make men like kings—nay ! better, make Men's hearts like birds' hearts
(For the blackbird's sake!).

" William M. Hardinge."

JULIAN GRENFELL.

" Because of you we will be glad and gay ;
Remembering you we will be brave and strong ;
And hail the advent of each dangerous day,
And meet the great adventure with a song.
And as you proudly gave your jewelled gift,
We'll give our lesser offering with a smile,
Nor falter on that path where, all too swift,
You led the way and leapt the golden stile.
Whether new seas, new heights to climb you find,
Or gallop through the unfooted asphodel,
We know you know we shall not lag behind,
Nor halt to waste a moment on a tear.
And you will speed us onward with a cheer,
And know beyond the stars that all is well.

British Expeditionary Force, " France."

Rev. Percy W. Guinness.

GUINNESS, THE REVEREND PERCY WYNDHAM, was born 18 May, 1875, son of the Rev. R. Wyndham Guinness, M.A., Rector of Rathdrum for 44 years, and Rural Dean, and Dora Sarah, daughter of the late Dr. William Boxwell, of Abbeyleix. He was educated at Monkton Comb School ; at Emmanuel College, and Ridley Hall, Cambridge ; was ordained in 1900 ; was Curate of Aston, Birmingham, 1900–11 ; joined the Army in Jan. 1911 ; Acting Chaplain to the Forces, Aldershot, 1911–12 ; Chaplain to the Forces, Curragh, 1912–14. He served in the European War from 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915] : " The Rev. Percy Wyndham Guinness, B.A., Chaplain to the Forces, 3rd Cavalry Brigade. On the 5th Nov., at Kruistraal, when Major Dixon of the 16th Lancers was mortally wounded, he went on his own initiative into the trenches under heavy fire, and brought him to the ambulance, and on the afternoon of the same day, being the only individual with a horse in a shelled area, took a message under heavy fire from the 4th Hussars to the Headquarters of the 3rd Cavalry Brigade." He was mentioned in Despatches, 14 Jan. 1915, and also on 24 June, 1915. In the Retreat from Mons he rode twice alone through a fearfully shelled area to succour wounded men in a cave. He was Senior Chaplain to the East African Expedition, Jan. 1916, to 1919, and had to travel over 2,000 miles of communication. Major the Rev. P. W. Guinness was awarded the Military Cross.

LAMBART, RICHARD, Second Lieut., was born 26 June, 1875, son of the late Major Fred Lambart, Scots Fusiliers, and Catherine Gill, of Calderwood Castle. He was educated at Radley College, and entered the Army in Sept. 1914 ; served in the European War from 1914 ; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915] : " Richard Lambart, Second Lieut., Intelligence Corps. For conspicuously gallant conduct in obtaining very valuable information, under most difficult and dangerous conditions." He became Lieutenant in 1914. Lieut. Lambart is said to have been the first actor to ever win the D.S.O.

LEWIS, DONALD SWAIN, Lieut. (Temporary Capt.), youngest son of Capt. E. Lewis, of Guildford. He was gazetted to the Royal Engineers in Dec. 1904. In Dec. 1913, he joined the Royal Flying Corps, and was promoted Captain in Oct. 1914. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915] : " Donald Swain Lewis, Lieut. (Temporary Capt.), Royal Engineers and Royal Flying Corps. For valuable information repeatedly furnished to the Royal Artillery with regard to the position of the enemy's guns. His direction of our artillery fire whilst flying has constantly led to direct hits on the enemy's batteries and the silencing of their guns." He was killed while flying 10 April, 1916.

Digitized by Google

WELMAN, NOEL YVON LOFTUS, Capt., was born at the Barracks, Mullingar, Ireland, 8 Oct. 1889, son of Lieut.-Colonel Herbert Loftus Welman, late Royal Irish Rifles, and Annie Harriet Welman (deceased). He was educated at Charterhouse Preparatory School, Godalming; at the Grammar School, Wellingborough, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and joined the Duke of Cambridge's Own Middlesex Regt., in Feb. 1909. He served in the European War from 1914; was promoted to Captain in Dec. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Noel Yvon Loftus Welman, Capt., 1st Battn. The Duke of Cambridge's Own (Middlesex Regt). For gallant conduct on the 30th Oct. at La Boutillerie, when the heaviest attack was launched by the enemy on the platoon which he commanded. Eleven of the enemy were killed on the parapet and two others in front, Lieut. Welman accounting for three of the number himself." Capt. Welman was mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1915, and was killed in action at Loos 25 Sept. 1915.

Noel Y. Loftus Welman.

BUCKLAND, GERALD CHARLES BALFOUR, Capt., was born 18 May, 1884. He entered the Army 19 Aug. 1903; became Lieutenant, Indian Army, 19 Nov. 1905, and Captain 19 Aug. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914, as Staff Officer, Bareilly Infantry Brigade, B.E.F.; 21st Indian Infantry Brigade, Indian Expeditionary Force "D," 6 Nov. 1915, to 11 May, 1916; Brigade Major, 9th Infantry Brigade, Indian Expeditionary Force "D," 12 May, 1916, to 12 Aug. 1917; was promoted to Major 19 Aug. 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches; was wounded, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Gerald Charles Buckland, Capt., 2nd Battn. 8th Gurkha Rifles. Near Festubert on 23 Nov. he displayed great gallantry in leading a counter-attack which led to decisive results. He then, although wounded, returned and brought up reinforcements." He was also awarded the Military Cross.

DILL, ROBERT FOSTER, Capt., was the second son of the Very Rev. Marcus Dill, D.D., ex-Moderator of the Church of Scotland, of Alloway Manse, Ayr, N.B. He was educated at Marlborough and Sandhurst; obtained a commission in the Indian Army 21 Jan. 1903; became Lieutenant 21 April, 1905, and Captain in 1912. At the outbreak of the war his regiment, the 129th Duke of Connaught's Own Baluchis, arrived in France with the Lahore Division. In Oct., when fighting in the trenches he was wounded, but after a few weeks he was able to return to duty, For his brilliant conduct on that occasion he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Robert Foster Dill, Capt., 129th Duke of Connaught's Own Baluchis, Indian Army. At Hollebeke, on 31 Oct., when wounded by a shell, he continued to fight his machine-gun section until one gun was put out of action and the whole detachment of the other gun was killed." He was killed in action 11 April, 1915, and an obituary notice appeared in the "Times" of 15 April, 1915. He had married, in 1913, Margaret Douglas, daughter of General Pengelle, R.M.A.

VERNON, LIONEL DOUGLAS, Capt., was born 25 Oct. 1878. He joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, from the Militia, 20 May, 1899. He became Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901; Captain 21 Nov. 1907; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 11 Oct. 1909, to 10 Oct. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914; became Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A., June, 1915, to May, 1918; was severely wounded, and mentioned in Despatches. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Lionel Douglas Vernon, Capt., 37th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. Near Neuve Chapelle, 1 Nov., although severely wounded, laid a telephone wire to the forward trenches and continued to observe throughout the day, and by this act enabled the Battery Commander to range correctly on the enemy's trenches."

London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915.—"Admiralty, 1 Jan. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order in respect of the undermentioned Officers. To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

FRENCH, ARTHUR HARWOOD, Major, was born 16 Oct. 1876, only child of General Arthur French, C.B., Royal Marine Artillery (retired), and Mary Julia Eveleigh, daughter of Capt. Belson, Royal Engineers. He joined the Royal Marines 1 Sept. 1894, and became Lieutenant 1 July, 1895. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; was present at the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg; actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, including action at Belfast; also during operations in Cape Colony (Despatches [London Gazette, 12 March, 1901]; Queen's Medal with six clasps). He became Captain 1 April, 1901. He was Instructor, Army Signalling School, 5 Sept. 1912, to 12 Aug. 1914, and became Major 3 Nov. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914; was present at the defence of Antwerp; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "For services during operations round Antwerp. Arthur Harwood French, Major, Royal Marine Infantry, Royal Marine Brigade, Royal Naval Division." Major French afterwards served in Gallipoli. Lieut.-Col. French married, in 1912 Dorothy Maud, only daughter of Henry Nicoll, J.P., of Bullington Manor, Hants.

MEESON, EDWARD HICKMAN TUCKER, Engineer Lieut.-Commander, R.N., was born 20 Dec. 1877, son of Mr. Frederick Meeson, formerly of London, and Emily, daughter of Frederick Andrews. He was educated at Westminster School, and was trained at Keyham, 1894–99. For services in the Laurel, at the Battle of Heligoland Bight, he was promoted to Commander and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Edward Hickman Tucker Meeson, Engineer Lieut.-Commander, His Majesty's Ship Laurel." He was present at the sinking of the Blücher, and at the evacuation of both Anzac and Cape Helles. He sank with his ship, the Defence, in the North Sea on 31 May, 1916, aged 38. Engineer-Commander E. Meeson had married Gladys, daugter of Mr. George Joy, and was survived by his widow and daughter, Margaret.

LOCKYER, EDMUND LAURENCE BRAITHWAITE, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, was born 20 April, 1879, son of the late Colonel W. N. Lockyer, R.A. He was educated in H.M.S. Britannia, and joined the Royal Navy. He was Commander Instructor, Clyde Division, Royal Naval Volunteers Reserve, 1910–12; Executive and Gunnery Officer, H.M.S. Dublin, 1912–13, and retired as Lieutenant-Commander in 1913. He served in H.M.S. Carmania in the European War from 1914; was present off the coast of South America at the sinking of the German cruiser Cap Trafalgar, and for his services on that occasion was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Edmund Laurence Braithwaite Lockyer, Lt.-Cdr., His Majesty's Ship Carmania." He commanded H.M.S. Monitor M.30 at the Dardanelles, 1915–16, which ship was sunk by hostile gun-fire in May, 1916. Commander Lockyer was on Special Service, 1916–17, and was awarded a Bar to his D.S.O. He married, in 1909, Kathleen Mary, daughter of the late Major T. F. P. Hamilton, R.A., and they have one son and two daughters.

BRIGGS, EDWARD FETHERSTONE, Squadron Commander, R.N.A.S., was born 13 Feb. 1882, son of William Briggs and Florence Briggs, of Bristol. He entered the Navy in 1905; became Engineer Lieutenant-Commander. He served in the European War from 1914. He was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Edward Fetherstone Briggs, Squadron Commander, R.N.A.S. For aerial attack on Zeppelin airship sheds and factory at Friedrichshafen." When leading the raid on Friedrichshafen in Nov. 1914, he was shot down and taken prisoner. He escaped from captivity in April, 1917. He became Colonel, R.A.F., on Headquarters Staff, North-Eastern Area, York. Colonel Briggs married, in 1918, Violet, only daughter of Ernest Long, of York.

Edward F. Briggs.

BABINGTON, JOHN TREMAYNE, Flight-Comdr. R.N.A.S., was born 20 July, 1891, son of C. H. Babington, of Croan, Wadebridge. He served in the European War, 1914–15; was made Chevalier, Legion of Honour, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "John Tremayne Babington, Flight-Comdr. R.N.A.S. For aerial attack on three sheds and on the airship factory at Friedrichshafen." In 1916 he married Cecily, youngest daughter of Philip Beresford Hope, of Bedgebury, Kent.

Sidney Vincent Sippe.

SIPPE, SIDNEY VINCENT, Flight Lieut., Royal Naval Air Service, youngest son of C. H. Sippe, of Beckenham. He served in the European War from 1914; dropped bombs on the airship factory at Friedrichshafen, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1915]: "Sidney Vincent Sippe, Flight Lieut., R.N.A.S." He was also made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour. He was promoted Flight Commander, and later became Major He was given the O.B.E. in 1919. He married, in 1915, Mabel Frances, only caild of the late Gerald d'Arcy, and they have one son and one daughter.

London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915.—"War Office, 18 Feb. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to approve of the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order of the undermentioned Officers, in recognition of gallantry and devotion to duty whilst serving with the Expeditionary Force."

BOND, RICHARD LAWRENCE, Lieut., was born 10 June, 1890, at Mussoori, India, son of Major-General F. G. Bond, late R.E., and A. M. Bond (née Vivian). He was educated at Cheltenham College, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, which he entered in Jan. 1909, and joined the Royal Engineers 23 July, 1910. He served in the European War, 1914–15, in the 23rd Field Company, Royal Engineers. He was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Richard Lawrence Bond, Lieut., 23rd Field Company, Royal Engineers. For gallantry on the 10th Jan. 1915, when leading the first party of Royal Engineers in the successful attack on the Railway Embankment at Cuinchy." He was again mentioned in Despatches in 1915. He was invalided home in June, 1915; returned to the B.E.F. in April, 1917; became Captain 23 July, 1916; Brigade Major 10 July, 1917, to 31 Jan. 1919; was mentioned in Despatches in May, 1918; D.A.A.G., Reinforcements, Havre, British Armies in France, 10 July, 1917, to 31 Jan. 1919, and was awarded the Military Cross [London Gazette, 26 July, 1918]. He married, 1 Aug. 1914, at St. George's Church, Camberley, Isabelle Helewise Raymond, daughter of the late Lieut.-Colonel T. J. R. Mallock, Royal Fusiliers, and Mrs. Mallock, and they have one daughter.

Digitized by Google

CAMPBELL, THE HONOURABLE JOHN BERESFORD, Capt., son of the Earl and Countess of Cawdor; served in the European War from 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "The Hon. John Beresford Campbell, Capt., Reserve of Officers, 1st Battn. Coldstream Guards. For gallantry in the operations at Givenchy 21 to 23 Dec. 1914, when he handled his company with great efficiency."

COKE, THE HONOURABLE REGINALD, Capt., was born 20 Aug. 1876, fifth son of the 2nd Earl of Leicester and the Honourable Georgina Caroline Cavendish, eldest daughter of the 2nd Baron Chesham. He joined the Scots Guards, from which he retired, and joined the Reserve of Officers. He served in the 1st Battn. Scots Guards from the outbreak of the European War in 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "The Honourable Reginald Coke, Capt., 1st Battn. The Scots Guards, formerly Captain, Reserve of Officers, Scots Guards. For gallantry and resource in the action at Cuinchy on the 1st Jan. 1915, when he led his company with great promptitude into the fight on the embankment at a critical moment." He married, in 1907, the Honourable Doreen O'Brien, youngest daughter of the 14th Baron Inchiquin, and they have two daughters.

DAVIDSON, DOUGLAS STEWART, Lieut., was born 12 Nov. 1892, at Strawberry Hill, Twickenham, Middlesex, son of Edward Chambers Davidson, Solicitor, and Frances Mary Vertue. He was educated at Rugby School and Sandhurst; was gazetted Second Lieutenant, 1st Royal Scots Fusiliers, 20 Sept. 1911, and promoted Lieutenant 10 Aug. 1912. He served with the British Expeditionary Force in France from Aug. to Nov. 1914, and was wounded at the First Battle of Ypres. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Douglas Stewart Davidson, Lieut., 1st Battn. The Royal Scots Fusiliers. For conspicuous gallantry and ability on the 11th Nov. 1914, on the Ypres–Menin Road, in commanding his company with great success after his senior officers had been killed." He was promoted Captain 1 Oct. 1915, and served in Egypt and Gallipoli, and subsequently in Mesopotamia, with 40th Infantry Brigade, 13th Division; afterwards on the Staff as D.A.Q.M.G. He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1919; was awarded the Croix de Guerre 31 Aug. 1917, and the Military Cross [London Gazette, 27 Aug. 1917].

Douglas S. Davidson.

DOWDEN, CHARLES HENRY, Second Lieut., was born at Harmondsworth, Middlesex, 21 Oct. 1880, son of Charles and Jane Dowden. He was educated at Board Schools and Army Schools, and served in the Rifle Brigade in the ranks for 15 years. He served in the South African War, 1900–2, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. He served in the European War from 1914, and, having served through all ranks to Company Sergeant-Major, was promoted Second Lieutenant 24 Nov. 1914. He became Lieutenant 10 Feb. 1916; Captain 11 Oct. 1917; served as G.S.O., 3rd Grade, 19th Division, Sept. 1916, to Jan. 1917, and Brigade Major to 190th Brigade from Jan. 1917, to April, 1918; Temporary Major, May, 1918; served as G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 61st Division, to date. He was three times wounded; thrice mentioned in Despatches, Feb. 1915; about June, 1915, and Jan. 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Henry Dowden, Second Lieut., 2nd Battn. King's Royal Rifle Corps. For conspicuous courage and marked ability on 9 Jan. 1915, and in reconnoitring near Cuinchy quite close to the enemy's position and obtaining valuable information. During the attack next day he was wounded in the head, but continued at his post until all his men were killed or wounded." He was awarded the Military Cross [London Gazette, 9 Sept. 1915], and a Bar to his D.S.O. in Jan. 1918. He married, 16 June, 1910, at Winchester, Hampshire, Elsie May, fourth daughter of the late A. Penton, of Winchester, and they have two daughters.

HARINGTON, FREDERICK JOHN, Lieut., was born 3 Aug. 1888, in Dublin, second son of Colonel Frederick William Harington, late commanding the 2nd Battn. the Prince of Wales's Own (West Yorks Regt.), and grandson of the late General Sir John Cox, K.C.B., who commanded the Somerset Light Infantry. He was educated at Bedford School, and joined the West Yorkshire Regt. at Lichfield, as Second Lieutenant, from the Territorial Forces, 13 Dec. 1912. He joined the 2nd Battn. in Malta, March, 1913, and became Lieutenant 1 Nov. 1913. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frederick John Harington, Lieut., 2nd Battn. The Prince of Wales's Own (West Yorkshire Regt.). For conspicuous gallantry on the 18th Dec. 1914, when, accompanied by four men (all of whom were shot), he carried out a very successful attack on the enemy with bombs, under very heavy fire." He was Temporary Captain, West Yorkshire Regt., from 12 April to 9 Dec. 1915, and became Captain 10 Dec. 1915; was Acting Major, West Yorkshire Regt., 4 Oct. 1918, to 14 March, 1919; G.S.O.3, 28 May, 1917, to 3 Oct. 1918. Capt. Harington married, 10 Aug. 1917, at All Saints', Fleet, Hants, Olive Isabel, only child of Commander Berkeley St. George Deane, R.N. (retired), J.P. for County Wicklow, and Mrs. Deane, of Concordia, Fleet, Hants, formerly of Glendaragh, Newtown, Mount Kennedy, Ireland.

LAFONE, CLAUDE ALEXANDER, Capt., was born at Hanworth, Middlesex, 24 Feb. 1877, elder son of Alfred William and Harriet Lafone, of Springfield, Walton-on-Thames, Surrey. He was educated at Harrow, and joined the 1st Devonshire Regt., as Second Lieutenant, 1 Dec. 1897; became Lieutenant 9 March, 1899, and Captain 20 Dec. 1901. He served in the South African War; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including the action at Colenso; in operations of 17–24 Jan. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; in operations on Tugela Heights (14–27 Feb. 1900) and action at Pieter's Hill; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6–9 June); in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1901, to 31 May, 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with five clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Capt. Lafone went to France 8 Nov. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Claude Alexander Lafone, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Devonshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry on the night of 18 Dec. 1914, near Neuve Chapelle, in capturing a trench from the enemy." He was killed in action at Neuve Chapelle 14 March, 1915. Capt. Lafone was a keen polo-player, fox hunter and rider in point-to-points.

Claude A. Lafone

OTTLEY, GEOFFREY CLAUDE LANGDALE, Lieut., was born at Southsea, on the 20th Jan. 1896, son of Rear-Admiral Sir Charles Langdale Ottley, K.C.M.G., C.B., M.V.O., and Lady Ottley, daughter of Colonel Alexander Stewart, R.A. He was educated at Harrow, from 1910–13, and passed into Sandhurst direct from Harrow in Feb. 1914, being the first of his batch of Guards' Cadets, gaining a Prize Cadetship. He served in the European War, and was appointed to the Distinguished Service Order, for conspicuous gallantry, but did not live to personally receive the decoration. Lieut. Ottley died in the Australian Hospital at Wimereux, Boulogne, 21 Dec. 1914, aged 18 years and 11 months, a few hours only before the arrival of his father and mother. It is believed Lieut. Ottley was one of the youngest, if not the youngest, officer to receive the D.S.O. He was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch of 14 Jan. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Geoffrey Claude Langdale Ottley, Lieut., late 2nd Battn. Scots Guards. For conspicuous gallantry in endeavouring to take a portion of the enemy's trenches after a previous effort had failed. In this attempt he was severely wounded, and has since died." Lieut. Ottley's body was brought to his beloved home, to be buried at Lochaber on Christmas Day, and at his funeral the pipers played "The Flowers of the Forest" and "Lochaber No More."

Geoffrey C. L. Ottley.

The "Oban Times" for 2 Jan. 1915, says: "Lieut. Geoffrey C. L. Ottley, of the 2nd Battn. Scots Guards, whose death at the Front we deeply regret to announce, was the only child of Rear-Admiral Sir Charles and Lady Ottley, of Coruanan Lodge, Fort William, and 17, Queen's Gate Gardens, London, S.W. Born on 20 Jan. 1896, he was educated at Harrow, and joined the Royal Military College at Sandhurst in Feb. 1914, passing in first of the batch of Guards' Cadets and obtaining a prize cadetship. During the brief summer vacation which he was spending in his Scottish home, the news of the impending outbreak of war arrived, and he rejoined Sandhurst immediately, looking forward with intense eagerness to the early prospect of seeing active service. His hopes received almost immediate fulfilment, for on 1 Oct. he was gazetted to a Second Lieutenancy in the Scots Guards. For five weeks thereafter he remained in England, taking part in the stately ceremonial drills and guard mountings at St. James's and Buckingham Palace, but to his great delight he received on 7 Nov. the long-expected order to leave with a draft of about 300 other officers and men to make good casualties in the 2nd Battn of his regiment in France. Letters since received from the Front indicate not merely his efficiency and the affection and respect which his blithe spirit and light-hearted courage inspired amongst his brother-officers and the men under his command, but his own letters amid jocular references to the hardships of the campaign, declared that he would not be elsewhere for anything in the world. 'If I were brought home by force,' he wrote recently, 'I should be absolutely wretched until I got back here again into the cold and wet.' In the six weeks of his campaigning experience, the gallant jocund schoolboy had developed in character, daily growing in the habit of command. Thus, on 9 Dec., he made a reconnaissance of the enemy's position in front of his own trenches, creeping forward across the muddy, fire-swept zone to within fifteen yards of the muzzles of the German rifles, and bringing back information so valuable as to invoke a special telegram of congratulation to Lieut. Ottley from the

Digitized by Google

General Officer Commanding. On the 10th Dec. he was gazetted Lieutenant, and ante-dated to 15 Nov. On 18 Dec. came the long-looked-for opportunity. An advance having been ordered, he led his men in attack against the enemy's position, and fell actually on the parapet of the German trenches, mortally wounded. He was brought back through the great gallantry of Corpl. Mitchell of the same corps, who, though himself wounded, insisted on staying with and assisting him, in spite of Lieut. Ottley's request that the Corporal should leave him and so secure his own life. Lieut. Ottley died in the Australian Hospital at Wimereux on 21 Dec., at 5 a.m., a few hours only before the arrival of his father and mother. During his brief sojourn in the beautifully-arranged hospital he had endeared himself to all, and the happy, calm, and peaceful end illustrated once again the time-honoured maxim that has been the guiding star of so many thousands of British officers—'Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori.' To Sir Charles and Lady Ottley a pathetic tenderness will always attach to Christmas, for it was on that day that the body of their well-beloved son was brought from the scene of strife to be laid to rest amid the peace of Lochaber—a domain which had for the young officer a perfervid attachment. The special train which conveyed the funeral party to Fort William was met at the station by a contingent of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, who shoulder-high bore the coffin, palled by the Union Jack and surmounted by the sword and cap of the deceased, to the Church of St. Andrew, where it was placed in the chancel. A pipe and drum band, playing the 'Flowers of the Forest,' led the van of the cortège, and there was a gripping sadness prevailing as the procession made its way through the main street. An impressive short service was conducted in the church, which was crowded, and on its conclusion the soldiers again carried the coffin to the graveside adjoining. When it had been lowered to the ground, the customary volleys were fired, between each of which a piper played 'Lochaber No More.' Thus passed a young life nobly and gladly laid down for King and Country. It might appropriately be said of him:

"'This was the happy warrior; this was he Who every man in arms would wish to be!'

"The chief mourners were Sir Charles and Lady Ottley, Mrs. Ottley, Major Stewart, and Mr. Edward Drummond Hay, R.N."

ROBERTS, FRANK CROWTHER, Lieut., served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frank Crowther Roberts, Lieut., Worcestershire Regt. On the 3rd of Jan. 1915, Lieut. Roberts, with 25 men of the 1st Battn. Worcestershire Regt., attacked and captured by surprise, with complete success, a German sap-head situated about sixty yards in front of our lines near Neuve Chapelle." Major Roberts also received the Victoria Cross (see V.C. Volume) and the Military Cross.

WATSON, WILLIAM, Capt., was born 19 Jan. 1885, at Ruthven, Coldstream, Berwickshire, son of W. H. Watson, Esq., and Mrs. Watson. He was educated at Edinburgh Academy, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst (entered the Royal Military College, Sept. 1904); joined the 2nd Border Regt. in South Africa 22 Jan. 1906, and became Lieutenant 7 March, 1910. He was employed with the West African Frontier Force in Southern Nigeria, 4 Sept. 1912, to 21 May, 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was in charge of Machine Gun Section in First Battle of Ypres in Oct. and Nov. 1914; was Temporary Captain 15 Nov. 1914, and Captain 30 Dec. 1914. He was evacuated to England (wounded) in Dec. 1914; rejoined 2nd Battn. as Adjutant, March, 1915; severely wounded and again invalided to England, May, 1916. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Watson, Capt., 2nd Battn. Border Regt. For conspicuous gallantry on several occasions between the 18 and 24 Oct. 1914, in handling his machine guns under very heavy fire with great success. He was twice buried by shell-fire, and during the Battle of Ypres was twice wounded, but continued at his post." Capt. Watson was twice mentioned in Despatches during the European War. He was Adjutant, 3rd Reserve Battn., 17 Sept. to 20 Oct. 1916. He married, 28 Oct. 1916, at Christ Church, Mayfair, London, W., Theodora Stackhouse, widow of Capt. W. T. Stackhouse, Sherwood Foresters, and daughter of A. R. Norrington, Esq., of Plymouth, and Mrs. Norrington.

William Watson.

ROSS, ALAN CAMPBELL, Capt., was born 4 May, 1878. He joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, from the Militia, 4 March, 1899; became Lieutenant, Royal Artillery, 16 Feb. 1901; Indian Army, 21 May, 1908. He served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and, for rescuing an Indian Officer under fire, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Alan Campbell Ross, Capt., 20th Deccan Horse, Indian Army. For conspicuous gallantry at Festubert on 21 Dec. 1914, during an attack on the enemy's position, in assisting to rescue a wounded Indian Officer under a most destructive fire." He was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915; served on the Staff in France to 4 March, 1918, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919.

HOLT, FELTON VESEY, Capt., was born 23 Feb. 1886, in London, son of Vesey G. M. Holt, Banker, 3, Whitehall Place, S.W., and of Mount Mascal, Bexley, and Mabel Mary Holt, eldest daughter of the late Walter Drummond. He was educated at Eton, and joined the Army in Sept. 1905; was promoted to Lieutenant 11 Jan. 1908; became Lieutenant, Royal Flying Corps, 17 April, 1913, and Captain, Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry, 25 July, 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Felton Vesey Holt, Capt., The Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry and Royal Flying Corps. For engaging single-handed a group of twelve German aeroplanes which were attacking the town of Dunkirk. He was subsequently joined by two of our own biplanes, which resulted in one of the German machines being brought down and its pilot and observer being captured." Capt. Holt's D.S.O. was an immediate award. He was several times mentioned in Despatches (once for the defence of London during air raids), and was also awarded the Brevet of Major for these services 1 Jan. 1917. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 20 March, 1916, to 31 March, 1918, and was employed under the Air Ministry 11 April, 1918. He was created a C.M.G. in 1919.

Felton Vesey Holt.

London Gazette, 19 Feb. 1915.—"Admiralty, 19 Feb. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointment to the Distinguished Service Order . . . in respect of the undermentioned Officer, in recognition of services mentioned in Despatch by the Admiral Commanding the East Coast Mine Sweepers" (details below).

BOOTHBY, HUBERT, Lieut., R.N.R. "The following Memorandum [London Gazette, 19 Feb. 1915] has been furnished by the Admiral Commanding the East Coast Mine Sweepers, detailing the recent mine-sweeping operations off Scarborough:—From the 19th to the 31st Dec. sweeping operations were conducted by the East Coast Mine Sweepers with the object of clearing the minefield which had been laid by the enemy off Scarborough. At the beginning there was no indication of the position of the mines, although, owing to losses of passing merchant ships, it was known that a minefield had been laid. In order to ascertain how the mines lay, it was necessary to work at all times of tide, with a consequent large increase in the element of danger. The following officers are specially noticed for their services during the operations: Lieut. H. Boothby, R.N.R., H.M.S. Pekin. . . . When Trawler No. 99 (Orianda), in which he was serving, was blown up by a mine on the 19th Dec., Lieut. Boothby successfully got all his crew (except one who was killed) into safety. Lieut. Boothby was again blown up on 6 Jan. 1915, in Trawler No. 450 (The Banyers)." He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Feb. 1915]: "Lieut. H. Boothby, R.N.R."

London Gazette, 19 Feb. 1915.—"Admiralty, 19 Feb. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order. To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order . . . Capt. Cecil Francis Kilner, R.M.L.I. (Flight Commander) and Lieut. Charles Humphrey Kingsman Edmonds, R.N. (Flight Lieutenant).

Admiralty Memorandum on the combined operations by H.M. Ships and Naval Seaplanes on the 25th Dec. 1914. On the 25th Dec. 1914, an air reconnaissance of the Heligoland Bight, including Cuxhaven, Heligoland and Wilhelmsbaven, was made by naval seaplanes, and the opportunity was taken at the same time of attacking with bombs points of military importance. The reconnaissance involved combined operations by light cruisers, destroyers and seaplane-carriers, under Commodore Reginald Y. Tyrwhitt, C.B., and submarines acting under the orders of Commodore Roger Keyes, C.B., M.V.O. The vessels detailed for the operations arrived at their rendezvous before daylight, and as soon as the light was sufficient the seaplanes were hoisted out and despatched. The following Air Service officers and observers took part in the reconnaissance. . . . At the beginning of the flight the weather was clear, but on nearing the land the seaplanes met with thick weather, and were compelled to fly low, thus becoming exposed to a heavy fire at short range from ships and shore batteries. Several machines were hit, but all remained in the air for over three hours, and succeeded in obtaining valuable information regarding the disposition of the enemy's ships and defences. Bombs were also dropped on military points. In the meanwhile German submarines, seaplanes and Zeppelins delivered a combined attack upon the light cruisers, destroyers and seaplane-carriers, but were driven off. Flight Commanders Kilner and Ross and Flight Lieutenant Edmonds regained their ships. . . . An expression of their Lordships' appreciation has been conveyed to Commodore Keyes (Commodore S.), Commodore Tyrwhitt (Commodore T.), and to Captain Sueter (Director of the Air Department), for their share in the combined operations which resulted in this successful reconnaissance.

KILNER, CECIL FRANCIS, Capt., was born 8 Oct. 1883, son of W. A. Kilner, of Kemsing, Kent. He joined the Royal Marines 1 Sept. 1902; became Lieutenant 1 July, 1903, and Captain 1 Sept. 1913. Capt. Kilner served in the European War from 1914, was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, as above mentioned. He was employed under the Admiralty 31 Oct. 1914, to 2 Jan. 1918; was Temporary Major from 1 Jan. 1916, to 30 Dec. 1917; was employed under the Air Ministry from 3 Jan. 1918. He was promoted to Wing Commander, and was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

Digitized by Google

EDMONDS, CHARLES HUMPHREY KINGSMAN, Flight Lieut., Royal Naval Air Service, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edmonds, of Lymington, Hants. He served in the Balkan War, 1911–13; was at the Central Flying School, 1912. He served in the European War from 1914, took part in the Cuxhaven Raid in Dec. 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, as above mentioned. He served in Gallipoli in 1915, and was mentioned in Despatches; was promoted to Wing Commander 31 Dec. 1917; received the French Croix de Guerre with Palm, 1918; became an Officer of the Crown of Italy, 1918. He married, in 1917, Lorna Karem Chadwick Osborn, daughter of Colonel George Osborn, R.N., and granddaughter of the late Robert Chadwick, J.P., of Sydney, New South Wales.

London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915.—"War Office, 18 Feb. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the undermentioned rewards for services rendered in connection with operations in the field. To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

GATHORNE-HARDY, THE HONOURABLE JOHN FRANCIS, Major and Brevet Lieut.-Colonel, was born in London 14 Jan. 1874, second son of the Right Hon. John Stewart Gathorne-Hardy, 2nd Earl of Cranbrook, and the Countess of Cranbrook (Cicely Margaret Wilhelmina, daughter of the late Joseph Ridgway). He was educated at Cheam, Eton and Sandhurst (Sword of Honour at Sandhurst, 1894), and was gazetted to the Grenadier Guards 10 Oct. 1894, becoming Lieutenant 1 Jan. 1898. On 2 May, 1900, he was promoted to Captain; served in the South African War from 1900 to 1902; was Special Service Officer, including employment as Assistant Press Censor, Cape Town, and on the Staff. Took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River and Zand River; attached to Imperial Yeomanry; also in Cape Colony and Orange River Colony, July, 1901, to May, 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901, and 29 July, 1902]; was given the Brevet of Major 22 Aug. 1902, and received the Queen's and King's Medals. He was Superintendent of Gymnasia, Home District, 22 Oct. 1902, to 7 March, 1904; was at the Staff College, 1905–6; Brigade Major, 1st Guards Brigade, 1 Jan. 1908, to 30 Sept. 1911; was promoted to Major 9 Oct. 1909; General Staff, War Office, 9 June, 1913, to 31 March, 1914; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 26 Nov. 1913. He served in the European War in France, as General Staff Officer, 2nd Grade, from 6 Aug. 1914, to 24 March, 1915, and as General Staff Officer, 1st Grade, from 25 March, 1915, to 2 Jan. 1916; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "The Honourable John Francis Gathorne-Hardy, Major and Brevet Lieut.-Colonel, Grenadier Guards." He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel 15 July, 1915; was Temporary Brigadier-General, General Staff, 3rd Jan. 1916, to 8 Oct. 1918; was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1916; was four times mentioned in Despatches, and was promoted to Major-General 3 June, 1919; was Major-General, General Staff, British Forces in Italy, 9 Oct. 1918, to 20 Jan. 1919; was created a C.B. in 1918, and a C.M.G. in 1919. He married, in the Guards' Chapel, 10 Dec. 1898, Lady Isobel Stanley, daughter of the 16th Earl of Derby, and they have one daughter, Elizabeth His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Hon. J. F. Gathorne-Hardy.

SAWYER, HENRY THOMAS, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 12 Aug. 1871. He joined the Army Veterinary Corps; served in Chitral, 1895, with the Relief Force (Medal and clasp); served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the advance on Kimberley; was present during the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River and Zand River; in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, Nov. 1899, to Feb. 1900; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. to 31 May, 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps, and was promoted Veterinary Captain 29 Nov. 1900. He became Major 7 Jan. 1906; was Assistant Director-General, Army Veterinary Service, 1 April, 1910, to 31 March, 1914; became Lieutenant-Colonel 25 April, 1914. He was Assistant Director of Veterinary Services, Northern Command, from 20 May to 4 Aug. 1914; became Assistant Director of Veterinary Services, Aldershot Command; Deputy Director of Veterinary Services 14 Dec. 1914, to 13 March, 1918, and 12 Dec. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel H. T. Sawyer served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Thomas Sawyer, Lieut.-Colonel, Staff. For services in connection with operations in the field."

DE LA VOYE, ALEXANDER EDWIN, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 16 Nov. 1871. He was gazetted to the Suffolk Regt. 18 June, 1892; was transferred to the Army Service Corps 1 Oct. 1893, and became Lieutenant 30 Sept. 1894. He served in the Nile Expedition, 1898 (two Medals), and became Captain 6 Oct. 1898. Capt. De La Voye served in the South African War, 1899–1902, as D.A.A.G. (6 April, 1901, to 25 June, 1902); took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; served during the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1902; also during the operations in Orange River Colony, Jan. to 31 May, 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; was given the Brevet of Major 29 Nov. 1900, and received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. On 3 Sept. 1905, he was promoted Major. From 1 Oct. 1910, to 4 Aug. 1914, Major De La Voye was Deputy Assistant Director of Supplies and Transport, Irish Command. He served in the European War from 1914; was D.A.Q.M.G. 5 Aug. 1914, to 4 Jan. 1915; A.A. and Q.M.G. 23 March, 1915, to 14 Feb. 1916, and D.A.Q.M.G., 1st Australian and New Zealand Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, British Armies in France, 15 Feb. 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 15 Feb. 1916. He was six times mentioned in Despatches for his services in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Alexander Edwin De La Voye, Lieutenant-Colonel, Staff." He was created a C.M.G. in 1916, and a C.B. in 1918. He married, in 1902, Gladys Irene, daughter of the late John E. Stephens, and they have three daughters. The D.S.O. was given him "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BARTHOLOMEW, ARTHUR WOLLASTON, Major, was born 5 May, 1878, at Park House, Reading, son of Arthur Churchill Bartholomew, Esq., and of Clare St. George Wollaston. He was educated at Marlborough, and Trinity College, Oxford; joined the Royal Field Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 26 May, 1900. He became Lieutenant 19 March, 1902; Captain 1 March, 1911, and Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was Adjutant, 15th Brigade, R.F.A. (originally 45th Brigade, R.F.A.), from March, 1910, to April, 1913; was Instructor, School of Army Signalling, Poona, 1911. He was on active service in the European War from 15 Aug. 1914; was Staff Capt., 5th Divisional Artillery, 5 to 26 Aug. 1914; Brigade Major, 5th Divisional Artillery, 26 Aug. 1914, to 11 Jan. 1916. He became D.A.A.G., R.A., 14th Corps, 12 Jan. 1916; G.S.O.2, R.A., 14th Corps, 28 Aug. 1917; G.S.O.1, R.A., G.H.A., Italy, 10 March, 1918, to 16 Feb. 1919; G.S.O.2, Aldershot Command, 17 Feb. 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel in Jan. 1917, and created a C.M.G. in Jan. 1918; a C.B. in 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Arthur Wollaston Bartholomew, Major, Royal Field Artillery." On 7 July, 1906, at Bangalore, India, he married Helen May Ethel, elder daughter of the late Major-General W. W. Anderson. His D.S.O. was given "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GOSSET, FRANCIS WILLIAM, Major, was born at the House of Commons, London, 20 Oct. 1876, son of Francis Russell Gosset, Deputy Serjeant-at-Arms, House of Commons, and of Mary Snell Dalglish. He was educated at Marlborough College; the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and at the Staff College, Camberley. He joined the Army 2 Nov. 1895; served in the South African War from 1899–1902, on the Staff. He was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including actions at Colenso, Spion Kop, Vaal Kranz and Pieter's Hill; in Natal, including action at Laing's Nek; in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to April, 1902, and May, 1902; in Orange River Colony, April and May, 1902; took part in the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 20 Aug. 1901]; awarded the Queen's Medal with five clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Lieut. Gossett became Captain 23 Aug. 1901; was Adjutant, R.H.A., from 1907–9; at the Staff College, 1909–11; became Major 15 Feb. 1912; was G.S.O., 3rd Grade, War Office, Jan. 1912, to Aug. 1914, and 2nd Grade from Aug. to Oct. 1914. He served in the European War, as G.S.O., 2nd Grade, with the British Expeditionary Force, from 5 Oct. until 31 Oct. 1914, when he was severely wounded at Ypres; was mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Francis William Gosset, Major, Royal Artillery." From 27 Jan. to 29 June, 1915, he was G.S.O.2, War Office; from 30 June to 23 Aug. 1915, G.S.O.2, 32nd Division, New Armies; G.S.O.1, British Armies in France, 19 June to 12 July, 1916; G.S.O.1, 39th Division, British Armies in France, 13 July, 1916, to 10 Oct. 1918; became Lieutenant-Colonel 21 Aug. 1916; was G.S.O.1, 62nd Division, British Armies in France, 11 Oct. 1918. He was given the Order of Danilo, 3rd Class, Dec. 1916; was mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1917; created a C.M.G.; mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1918; given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919. Major Gosset married, 16 July, 1914, at St. Margaret's, Westminster, Mary Rokeby Maddock, only child of the late Mr. Frederick Trickett, and granddaughter of the late Sir Herbert Maddock, Deputy Governor of Bengal and President of the Council of India. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

KEARSLEY, ROBERT HARVEY, Major, was born 28 March, 1880, son of Major Robert Wilson Kearsley, J.P., of 116, Eaton Square, London, S.W. He was educated at Harrow, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the 5th Dragoon Guards 11 Feb. 1899. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, with his regiment in the Siege of Ladysmith, and later as A.D.C. to Major-General R. S. S. Baden-Powell 2 July to 22 Oct. 1900; was employed with the South African Constabulary 22 Oct. 1900, to 6 May, 1903; took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including action at Lombard's Kop; was present at the defence of Ladysmith, including sortie of 7 Dec. 1899, and action of 6 Jan. 1900; in the Tranvsaal, 1900; in Natal, 1900; again in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, 1900. He received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He became Lieutenant 27 June, 1900, and Captain 14 April, 1904, and was Adjutant, 5th Dragoon Guards, 16 July, 1906, to 15 July, 1909. He was promoted Major 6 March, 1912; graduated at the Staff College, Camberley, 1913; was Brigade Major, 3rd Cavalry Brigade, Irish Command, 4 Oct. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was Brigade Major 5 Aug. 1914, to 8

Digitized by Google

March, 1915. He was G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 9 March to 13 July, 1915; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, and G.S.O., 1st Grade, 1st Canadian Division, 14 July, 1915. On 5 Aug. 1917, he became Brigadier-General, General Staff, and was appointed to the 6th Corps, British Armies in France. He has been several times mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Robert Harvey Kearsley, Major, 5th Dragoon Guards." He was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; created an Officer of the Order of the Crown of Italy in 1917, and a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in Jan. 1918. From 1 March, 1919, he was Brigadier-General, General Staff, Staff College. Capt. Kearsley married, in 1908, Evelyn Molly, daughter of Samuel Arthur Peto, of Downs Court, Sandwich. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GREEN, JAMES EDWARD, Major, was born 11 Jan. 1874. He joined the 1st Battn. The East Lancashire Regt. 2 Dec. 1892, and became Lieutenant 18 June, 1895. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1902; was promoted to Captain 5 June, 1900. He took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including action at Rietfontein; at the defence of Ladysmith, including action of 6 Jan.; during the operations in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal 29 Nov. 1900, to Sept. 1901; in Orange River Colony, Sept. 1901, to April, 1902; also during the operations in Cape Colony, April to May, 1902; was Commandant at Kromellenburg and at Wolvehoek. He received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Capt. J. E. Green was Adjutant, Volunteers, from 1 Aug. 1902, to 31 July, 1907, and became Major 23 Sept. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "James Edward Green, Major, on Staff." He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 26 Sept. 1915, to 15 April, 1917; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, East Lancashire Regt., 25 April to 5 June, 1917; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 4 Jan. to 22 June, 1918; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, East Lancashire Regt., 26 June to 31 Dec. 1918; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, East Lancashire Regt., 1 Jan. 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GRANT, CHARLES JOHN CECIL, Major, was born 16 Aug. 1877, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel Sir Robert Grant, G.C.B. He joined the Coldstream Guards 20 Feb. 1897; became Lieutenant 18 May, 1898; served in the South African War, 1899–1902; was present at the advance on Kimberley, including action at Belmont (wounded); took part in the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); in the Orange River Colony, Nov. 1900; in Orange River Colony, Jan. 1902; also in Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; Transport Officer to a Column and performed duties of Railway Staff Officer. He was wounded; received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was Adjutant, Coldstream Guards, from 1 July, 1902, to 30 June, 1905, and became Captain 3 Oct. 1903. Capt. Grant passed the Staff College; was Brigade Major, Brigade of Guards, London District, 10 July, 1909, to 2 Feb. 1912; G.S.O., 3rd Grade, War Office, 3 Feb. 1912, to 28 July, 1913; was promoted Major 28 Oct. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles John Cecil Grant, Major, on Staff." He was also given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel, and became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel and G.S.O., 1st Grade, 12th Division, B.E.F., 4 Dec. 1915, to 14 Jan. 1917; G.S.O.1, 3rd Army, British Armies in France, 15 Jan. to 20 Oct. 1917; commanded 1st Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 21 Oct. 1917, to 30 March, 1918; Brigadier-General, General Staff, attached to G.H.Q., French Army, 31 March, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and received the Legion of Honour in 1916. In 1905 he married Lady Sybil Myra Caroline Primrose (author of "Samphire," 1912, and "The Chequer Board," 1912), elder daughter of the 5th Earl of Rosebery, and they have one son. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

DARELL, WILLIAM HARRY VERELST, Major, was born 23 Jan. 1878, second son of Sir Lionel Edward Darell, 5th Bart., of Richmond Hill, Surrey, and Helen Frances, only child of the late Edward Marsland, of Henbury Park, Cheshire. He was educated at Eton and Sandhurst; joined the Coldstream Guards 8 Sept. 1897; became Lieutenant 18 Jan. 1899. Lieut. Darell served in the South African War from 1899–1902, and took part in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont, Enslin, Modder River and Magersfontein; served during operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Oct. 1900; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, Nov. 1900; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900; again during operations in the Transvaal, Nov. to Dec. 1900, and in Cape Colony, Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902. He received the Queen's Medal with five clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was promoted Captain 29 Nov. 1903. He became Major 29 Nov. 1913. Major Darell passed the Staff College; served in the European War from 1914, as D.A.A.G., 5 to 27 Aug. 1914, and D.A.Q.M.G. from 28 Aug. 1914, to 2 July, 1915; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Harry Verelst Darell, Major, on Staff." He was A.A. and Q.M.G., Guards Division, B.E.F., and British Armies in France and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, from 3 July, 1915, and Temporary Brigadier-General 24 Dec. 1916, to 8 April, 1919; D.A.A. and Q.M.G.; D.A.G., 4th Army Corps, British Armies in France, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919. He was created a C.M.G. in 1918. In 1907 Capt. Darell married Jeffie, daughter of Emerson W. Bainbridge, and they have one son and one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

DANIELL, FRANCIS EDWARD LLOYD, Major, was the youngest son of Major F. F. Daniell, late Gordon Highlanders. He was born 19 Dec. 1874, and was educated at the Philberds, Maidenhead; at Malvern College, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst. He obtained his commission in Sept. 1895, and was promoted Captain, March, 1901. Capt. Daniell served in the occupation of Crete in 1897, and in 1898 took part in the Sudan Expedition, when he was present at the Battle of Atbara, being mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 24 May, 1898], and receiving the British Medal and the Egyptian Medal with clasp. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901, as Special Service Officer, afterwards on Staff; took part in the operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to May, 1901; also in Cape Colony, May to Sept. 1901 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). In 1908 he saw service on the North-West Frontier of India, taking part in the operations in the Zakka Khel and the Mohmand countries, for which he received the Medal and clasp. He was Adjutant of the 1st Battn. Seaforth Highlanders, 1902 to 1906. He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, Dec. 1913. Lieut.-Colonel Daniell served in the European War from 1914. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Francis Edward Lloyd Daniell, Major, 1st Battn. Seaforth Highlanders." He served as a G.S.O., 1st Grade. Lieut.-Colonel Daniell fell in action about 4 March, 1916. In 1907 he had married Maud Esmee, younger daughter of General H. W. Duperior, Royal Engineers, late Director-General of Military Works in India. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

FISHER, BERTIE DREW, Major, was born 13 July, 1878. He was educated at Marlborough (1892–95), and was gazetted to the 17th Lancers 23 May, 1900. He served in the South African War from 1900 to 1902; was present at the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in the Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Caledon River (27 to 29 Nov.); again in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902. He received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He became Lieutenant 29 July, 1901, and was Adjutant, 17th Lancers, 1 Nov. 1904, to 31 Oct. 1907. He was promoted Captain 7 Sept. 1905; passed the Staff College, and was G.S.O., 3rd Grade, War Office, from 13 Oct. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. He became Major 7 Jan. 1914, and was G.S.O., 2nd Grade (temporary), War Office, from 5 Aug. to 15 Sept. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was Brigade Major, 6th Cavalry Brigade, 20 Sept. 1914, to 3 May, 1915. Major Fisher was mentioned three times in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Bertie Drew Fisher, Major, on Staff." He was G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 4 May to 11 June, 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Leicestershire Yeomanry, 7 July to 27 Aug. 1915; G.S.O., 1st Grade, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, 28 Aug. 1915, to 17 Jan. 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916; was Brigade Commander, 8th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, from 12 April, 1918; Lieutenant-Colonel, 17th Lancers, 24 Feb. 1919; was created a C.M.G. in 1919; received the Croix d'Officier, Legion of Honour, and a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BROWN, EDWARD, Major, was born 22 Oct. 1876, at Bangor, County Down, Ireland, son of Henry Brown, of Cunningham, County Down, Ireland, and Zillah Brown. He was educated privately, and joined the Army Veterinary Department 9 Nov. 1898; served during the South African War of 1899–1902, as Senior Veterinary Officer, 11th Division; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony (May to 29 Nov. 1900), including actions at Biddulphsberg and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); served during the operations in Cape Colony, south of the Orange River, Nov. 1899, to Feb. 1900; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, July, 1901, to May, 1902; in Orange River Colony, Dec. 1900; also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal, Sept. and Oct. 1901. He received the Queen's Medal with five clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He became Captain 9 Nov. 1903, and Major 2 June, 1914. Major Brown served in the European War, as Assistant Director of Veterinary Services, 7th Division, B.E.F., 31 Aug. 1914, to 24 Feb. 1915; as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A.V.C., 21 July, 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches twice; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edward Brown, Major, Army Veterinary Corps." Lieut.-Colonel Brown married, in 1919, Mary Ethel, second daughter of the Very Rev. W. T. B. Hayter, M.A., Dean of Gibraltar, and of Maud, youngest daughter of Sir Thomas Proctor Beauchamp, Bart. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Archibald Fraser Home.

HOME, ARCHIBALD FRASER, Major (Temporary Colonel), was born 14 Sept. 1874, at Kasanti, India, eldest son of Colonel Frederick Jervis Home, C.S.I., late R.E., and Constance Stanley (who died in 1894), eldest daughter of J. S. M'Gowan. He was educated at Aldenham School, and joined the 11th Hussars 20 Feb. 1896, as Second Lieutenant, becoming Lieutenant 9 Oct. 1899. He became Captain 12 Nov. 1904; was Officer in Charge of Musketry Duties, Southern Command; Captain, attached General Staff (graded Brigade Major), Southern Command, from 8 Sept. 1905, to 15 Jan. 1909; Brigade Major, 3rd Cavalry Brigade, Irish Command, 6 May, 1912, to 31 Sept. 1913; G.S.O., 2nd Grade, Staff College, 1 Oct. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914; became Major 3 June, 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 5 Aug. to 9 Oct. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches 9 Dec. 1914, and 17 Feb. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Archibald Fraser Home, Major (Temporary Colonel)." He was also mentioned in Despatches 22 June, 1915, and 1 Jan. 1916, and on another occasion; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 14 Jan. 1916, and of Colonel; was made a Commander of the Legion of Honour 6 Nov. 1916, and was mentioned a sixth time in Despatches 4 Jan. 1917; created a C.M.G. in 1918, and a C.B. in 1919. Brigadier-General A. F. Home retired in May, 1919. He married, in London, 17 Nov. 1900, Violet, daughter of the late W. K. D'Arcy, Esq., of Stanmore Hall, Stanmore, and their children are: Douglas, born 7 Aug. 1901, and Esther. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

RAWLINS, STUART WILLIAM HUGHES, Major, was born 11 May, 1880, son of William Donaldson Rawlins, Esq., K.C., M.A., and Elizabeth Margaret, only daughter of the late Charles King. He was educated at Eton, and joined the Royal Marine Artillery 1 Jan. 1898, and the Royal Artillery 3 May, 1900, and became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901. He served in the South African War in 1902; was present at operations in the Orange River Colony and Cape Colony in May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was employed with the King's African Rifles 3 Nov. 1903, to 2 Nov. 1908; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 6 Dec. 1909, to 5 Dec. 1912; became Captain 1 April, 1910. He passed the Staff College. Lieut.-Colonel Rawlins served in the European War from 1914; was Assistant Embarkation Staff Officer (graded Staff Captain) from 5 Aug. to 3 Sept. 1914; was Brigade Major 4 Sept. 1914, to 25 Aug. 1915; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was ten times mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Stuart William Hughes Rawlins, Major, Staff." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916. Lieut.-Colonel Rawlins was D.A.A.G., 10 Nov. 1915, to 29 Feb. 1916; was G.S.O.2, 4th Army, B.E.F., 1 March to 7 June, 1916; G.S.O.2, 10 July, 1916, to 2 April, 1919; was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; received the 1914 Star, and the French and Belgian Croix de Guerre; is Chevalier of the Legion of Honour and Commandeur of the Order of Leopold, and was created a Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel Rawlins married, in Nov. 1910, Dorothy Pepys, daughter of the late J. R. Cockerell, Madras Civil Service, and they have one son, Stuart Theodore Pepys. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SERGISON-BROOKE, BERTRAM NORMAN, Major, was born 20 July, 1880, in London, son of Arthur Basil Brooke (deceased), who was the third son of Sir Arthur Brooke, Bart., of Colebrooke, Brookeborough, Fermanagh. He was educated at Eton College, and joined the 3rd Battn. Grenadier Guards, as Second Lieutenant, 12 Aug. 1899. He served in South Africa, 1899–1902, and was present during operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); served during the operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony, Dec. 1900, to May, 1902. He received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps; became Lieutenant 14 Dec. 1900; was Adjutant, Grenadier Guards, 1 April, 1905 to 9 March, 1908; became Captain 10 Nov. 1907; was employed with the Egyptian Army 13 March, 1908, to 2 Nov. 1910. He passed the Staff College. Capt. Brooke served in the European War; was Assistant Embarkation Staff Officer (graded Staff Captain) 5 Aug. to 17 Sept. 1914; was Staff Captain 18 Sept. to 14 Nov. 1914; became Major 11 Nov. 1914, and went out with the 7th Division as Brigade Major, 1st Guards Brigade, 1 Nov. 1914, to 14 Nov. 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Bertram Norman Brooke, Major, Grenadier Guards." He was Brigade Major, 2nd Guards Brigade, 18 Aug. to 25 Nov. 1915; G.S.O.2, 5th Corps, 26 Nov. 1915, to 26 Jan. 1916; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Grenadier Guards, Jan. to 15 Sept. 1916, when he was wounded; Brigade Commander, 2nd Guards Brigade, British Armies in France, 22 Aug. 1917. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918. "Truth" said: "Major B. N. Sergison-Brooke, of the Grenadier Guards, steps into General Ponsonby's shoes, and becomes a Brigadier-General at the age of thirty-seven. He has been in the thick of many fights, and has had four mentions during the war, besides getting the D.S.O." He married, 8 July, 1915, at St. Margaret's, Westminster, Prudence, eldest daughter of the late Capt. C. Sergison, of Cuckfield Park, Sussex, and they have one daughter, Patience Ann. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MAXWELL-SCOTT, WALTER JOSEPH, Capt., was born 10 April, 1875, eldest son of the Honourable Joseph Constable-Maxwell (third son of Baron Herries of Terregles) and of the Honourable Mrs. Maxwell-Scott (Mary Monica, great-granddaughter of Sir Walter Scott, and daughter of the late J. R. Hope Scott, Q.C., and Charlotte Harriet Jane Lockhart, daughter of John Gibson Lockhart). He joined the Scottish Rifles, from the 3rd Royal Scots Militia, 24 March, 1897; served on the North-West Frontier of India, in the Tirah Campaign, 1897–98 (Medal with clasp). He became Lieutenant 28 Dec. 1898. He served in the South African War, 1899 to 1902; was present at the operations in Natal, 1899, including actions at Rietfontein and Lombard's Kop; at the defence of Ladysmith; during operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901, including defence of Forts Itala and Prospect. He became Captain 22 June, 1901; received the Queen's South African Medal with two clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was Adjutant, Scottish Rifles, 29 Oct. 1902, to 28 Oct. 1905. Capt. Maxwell-Scott passed the Staff College in India; was G.S.O., 3rd Grade, War Office, 16 Oct. 1911, to 30 Nov. 1913; Brigade Major, 6th Infantry Brigade, Aldershot Command, 1 Dec. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was Brigade Major, 6th Infantry Brigade, 5 Aug. 1914, to 27 Feb. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Walter Joseph Maxwell-Scott, Capt., Staff." He became G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 22nd Division, 3 March, 1915; was promoted Major, 11 March, 1915, and became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel and G.S.O., 1st Grade, 22nd Division, 23 Oct. 1915. He was Brigadier-General, General Staff, 9th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 25 Dec. 1917, to 8 Nov. 1918; Brigadier-General, General Staff, 7th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 9 Nov. to 26 Dec. 1918; Brigadier-General, General Staff, 19th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 27 Dec. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel W. J. Maxwell-Scott received the Serbian Order of Kara Georg with Swords in 1916, and the Légion d'Honneur (Croix d'Officier), 1917. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916; the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1918; was five times mentioned in Despatches. He married, in 1918, Mairi Richmond, third daughter of the late Lieut.-Colonel Steuart Macdougall, of Lunga. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MOORE, CLAUDE DOUGLAS HAMILTON, Major, was born 9 Feb. 1875, son of Dr. Francis and Sophie S. Hamilton Moore. He is a Master of Arts of Cambridge (Trinity Hall), and has passed the Staff College. He joined the Royal Warwickshire Regt. 4 May, 1898; became Lieutenant 28 Dec. 1898, and Captain 16 Nov. 1901; was Adjutant, 2nd Battn. Royal Warwickshire Regt., 1 July, 1904, to 30 June, 1907. He was Garrison Adjutant (graded Staff Captain), Irish Command, 10 July, 1908, to 21 Jan. 1910; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., North China, from 14 Dec. 1912, to Aug. 1914. Capt. Hamilton Moore served in the European War from Aug. 1914; was Temporary Major, Royal Warwickshire Regt., from 25 Oct. to 18 Dec. 1914; promoted Major 19 Dec. 1914. He was D.A.Q.M.G. from 2 Feb. to 14 April, 1915; A.A. and Q.M.G. 15 April to 4 July, 1915; A.Q.M.G. 5 July, 1915, to 7 Feb. 1916; D.A. and Q.M.G., 9th Army Corps, 8 Feb. to 4 Oct. 1916; commanded 157th Infantry Brigade, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 5 Oct. 1916. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1917. He received the 5th Class of the Order of the Rising Sun of Japan, for war services at Tsingtau; the Legion of Honour (France), for operations in the Dardanelles; the 3rd Class of the Order of the Nile, for the fighting in Egypt and Palestine, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Claude Douglas Hamilton Moore, Major, Royal Warwickshire Regt.," and a Companion of St. Michael and St. George, Jan. 1918. He was eight times mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

JAMES, ALFRED HENRY COTES, Capt., was born 30 Aug. 1873. He was educated at Sherborne, and at Merton College, Oxford, (B.A.), and entered the South Staffordshire Regt., as a Second Lieutenant, 15 May, 1897, becoming Lieutenant 15 Sept. 1899. He was Adjutant from 14 Aug. 1901, to 13 Aug. 1904. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; served as Adjutant, 1st Battn. South Staffordshire Regt., from 14 Aug. 1901; also in the Transvaal in July, 1901; and again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to March, 1902, attached to the Army Service Corps (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901, and 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 21 April, 1902; was Garrison Adjutant, Eastern Command, 1 April, 1908, to 31 March, 1912. Capt. James served in the European War, 1914–18. He was Assistant Provost-Marshal, 3rd Army Corps, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 27 Oct. 1915; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Alfred Henry Cotes James, Capt., Staff." He became Major 26 May, 1915, and was Provost-Marshal, 3rd Army, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 28 Oct. 1915, to 2 Aug. 1918 (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Dec. 1915, to June, 1918); became Provost-Marshal, Forces in Great Britain, 4 Aug. 1918, with the temporary rank of Brigadier-General. For his services he was twice mentioned in Despatches; was created M.V.O. in 1915, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918. He married in 1910, Edith Mary Bray, and has one son. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

DRYSDALE, WILLIAM, Capt., was born 4 Nov. 1876, at Pitteadie, Kirkcaldy, N.B., youngest son of the late William Drysdale, Esq., of Kilrie, Fifeshire, and of Mrs. Drysdale (née Georgina Begbie). He was educated at Loretto, and worthily upheld the traditions of the school, both in work and sport, throughout his life. At the Royal Military College he won the First Prize for riding. He entered the Royal Scots 5 Sept. 1896; became Lieutenant 30 Aug. 1898, and Captain 19 Nov. 1902, and was Adjutant of Volunteers, Dec. 1903, to Dec. 1906. He was for many years in India and Burma, where he gained a reputation as a fine cricketer and polo player. When a Lieutenant in the Royal Scots, he was awarded a Medal for his plucky attempt to rescue a drowning comrade 24 Nov. 1902.

William Drysdale

Digitized by Google

At the Staff College in 1908–9, Capt. Drysdale had a distinguished career, being elected Captain of the cricket and hockey teams. He won the Staff College Point-to-Point, Golf and Tennis Tournaments. On leaving the Staff College he was appointed D.A.A. and Q.M.G. to the Wessex Division, Southern Command (May, 1910, to April, 1912), and from thence he went as Brigade Major to the 15th Infantry Brigade, Irish Command, at Belfast (April, 1912, to April, 1914). On the outbreak of war he went out as Brigade Major (Aug. 1914) to 21st Infantry Brigade, 7th Division, and served with great distinction. He became Major 27 Nov. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Drysdale, Capt., Staff." He received his decoration for gallant conduct throughout the terrible experience of the 7th Division in the First Battle of Ypres. Capt. Drysdale showed an unsurpassed example of fearlessness and cheerful courage, refusing to quit his brigade when wounded. After many months' hard fighting, he was made G.S.O.2 to the 16th and then to the 37th Division. On the 1st of Oct. 1915, he was given command of the 7th Battn. Leicestershire Regt., and was given his Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel in the spring of 1916. He took part in, and was wounded at, the storming of Bazentin-le-Petit 14 July, 1916, and had only just returned to his battalion when he was killed in action on the 29th Sept. His General wrote: "He was a splendid officer, fearless and always cheery. He was the best man I knew for making other men fight." An officer of the battalion says: "Without exaggeration his loss is the biggest blow the battalion has yet received. He will never be forgotten by the regiment as long as there is any regiment left." Lieut.-Colonel Drysdale had married, 19 Jan. 1904, Mary Louisa, daughter of Sir J. Muir Mackenzie, K.C.S.I. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

PAKENHAM, GEORGE DE LA POER BERESFORD, Capt., was born 4 Dec. 1875, in Armagh, Ireland, son of Major Charles Pakenham, late Adjutant, 3rd Battn. Royal Irish Fusiliers, and Blanche Harrison, of Singapore. He was educated at the United Services College, Westward Ho! and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst; was gazetted to the Indian Staff Corps, as Second Lieutenant (unattached), 16 Jan. 1895, and joined the 17th Bengal Infantry 28 March, 1896; became Lieutenant 16 April, 1897, and was transferred to the 39th Garhwal Rifles in Oct. 1897; was promoted Captain 16 Jan. 1904, and exchanged into the Border Regt. 6 Dec. 1904. He passed through the Staff College (1907–8). He was Brigade Major, 14th Infantry Brigade, Irish Command, 30 May, 1909, to 29 May, 1913. On mobilization, 5 Aug. 1914, he became G.S.O., 3rd Grade, London District, and was employed in this capacity till 3 Sept. 1914. From 3 Sept. 1914, to 18 Feb. 1915, he was Brigade Major, 2nd Infantry Brigade, 1st Division, B.E.F.; was mentioned in Despatches, Feb. 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "George de la Poer Beresford Pakenham, Capt., Staff." He was G.S.O., 3rd Grade, 12th Division, B.E.F., from 5 March to 31 Oct. 1915; became Major, 1 May, 1915; was G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 33rd Division, B.E.F., from 1 Nov. 1915, to 27 Sept. 1916; was mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1916; was G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 7th Corps., B.E.F., from 28 Sept. to 22 Oct. 1916; G.S.O., 1st Grade, 56th Division, 23 Dec. 1916, to 2 April, 1919, and Lieutenant-Colonel, whilst so employed. He was a third time mentioned in Despatches on 1 Jan. 1917. On 3 June, 1917, he was mentioned in Despatches, and given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel; was mentioned in Despatches in Dec. following, and once more on 3 June, 1918, when he was created a C.M.G. From April to July, 1919, he was employed as G.S.O., 2nd Grade, Southern District, Ireland. He was appointed to the command of the 2nd Battn. The Border Regt. with effect from 18 May, 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Pakenham married, 23 Feb. 1905, at Old Charlton, Kent, Emilie Elsie, fourth daughter of the late W. Fowler, Esq., of Broadlands, Prince's Park, Liverpool, and their children are: Raymond Beresford, born 31 Dec. 1907, and William Antony Beresford, born 24 Nov. 1911. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

G. de la P. B. Pakenham.

THORPE, GERVASE, Capt., was born 10 Oct. 1877, son of the late Colonel James Thorpe, of Coddington Hall, Nottinghamshire, and Ardbrecknish, Argyll. He was educated at Eton, and joined the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, 8 Sept. 1897; was promoted Lieutenant 16 July, 1899. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, and was present in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Modder River and Magersfontein; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg 17 to 26 Feb. (wounded); operations in the Transvaal, April, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; was Station Staff Officer (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 5 Oct. 1904. Capt. Thorpe served in the European War; was D.A.Q.M.G., Military Landing Officer, British Expeditionary Force, 5 Aug. to 6 Sept. 1914; A.D.C. to the G.O.C., 3rd Division, B.E.F., 7 Sept. to 14 Oct. 1914; Adjutant, Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, 1 Nov. 1914, to 10 Feb. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Gervase Thorpe, Capt., Staff." He was Brigade Major, 5th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 11 Feb. to 8 Sept. 1915; was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915; was G.S.O.2, G.H.Q., B.E.F., 9 Sept. 1915, to 18 March, 1916; G.S.O.1, 46th Division, 14 June, 1916, to 20 Oct. 1917; G.S.O.1, 3rd Army, British Armies in France, 21 Oct. 1917, to 6 June, 1918; Temporary Brigadier-General, Brigade Commander, 17th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 7 June, 1918, to 16 Jan. 1919; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding the 3rd Battn. Royal Highlanders, 12 May, 1919. He was eight times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and of Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was created a C.M.G. in 1918. He married, in 1917, Margaret, daughter of the late James Burt-Marshall, of Luncarty, Perthshire. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

DILLON, ERIC FITZGERALD, Capt., was born 4 April, 1881, at 47, Oakley Street, Chelsea, S.W., son of the Honourable Conrad Adderly Dillon (younger son of Arthur, 16th Viscount Dillon), and of Ellen Louisa, daughter of Sir H. Dashwood, Bart., of Kirkington. He was educated at Rugby, and joined the King's Own Lancashire Militia, and then the Army Service Corps 1 July, 1900. He served in the South African War, 1900–1; was present in the operations in Cape Colony and Orange River Colony, Feb. to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Ladybrand (2 to 5 Sept.), Bothaville and Caledon River (27 to 29 Nov.); operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Aug. 1901 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He became Lieutenant 1 Nov. 1901, and Captain 1 Aug. 1905; passed through the Staff College, Camberley. Capt. Dillon was transferred to the Royal Munster Fusiliers 23 Sept. 1908; was specially employed at the War Office 9 May, 1912, to 12 May, 1913; was General Staff Officer, 3rd Grade, at the War Office, 19 May, 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914. Serving in the European War, he was G.S.O., 3rd Grade, 5th Division, 6 Aug. 1914, to 29 April, 1915, and was in the Retreat from Mons. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Eric Fitzgerald Dillon, Capt., Staff." He was Brigade Major, 84th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 30 April to 12 June, 1915; was promoted Major 18 May, 1915; G.S.O.2, War Office, 19 July to 5 Aug. 1915; Brigade Major, 84th Infantry Brigade, British Expeditionary Force, 6 to 11 Aug. 1915; G.S.O.2, 7th Division, British Expeditionary Force, 12 Aug. 1915, to 14 April, 1916; G.S.O.2, 3rd Army, B.E.F., 15 April to 8 May, 1916; G.S.O.2, Liaison Officer with the French Army, 9 May to 27 Dec. 1916; G.S.O., British Mission to G.H.Q., French Army, 28 Dec. 1916, to 11 Aug. 1918; G.S.O., 32nd Division, British Armies in France, 3 Sept. to 30 Dec. 1918; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 31 Dec. 1918, to 8 May, 1919; Private Secretary to the C.-in-C., British Army of the Rhine, 9 May, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; is Chevalier and Officer of the Legion of Honour; Officier of the Order of Leopold, and has the French and Belgian Croix de Guerre. His chief recreation is hunting. Capt. Dillon married, 4 June, 1907, at Dewlish, Dorset, Norah Juanita Mabel, only child of Brigadier-General Charles Edward Beckett, C.B., late 3rd Hussars, and Louisa Augusta (died 1900), youngest daughter of the late Field-Marshal Sir J. Michel, G.C.B., of Dewlish, Dorset, and their children are: Michael Eric, born 13 Aug. 1911, and Pamela Louisa Elinor, born 15 Aug. 1915. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GRAHAM, CUTHBERT AUBREY LIONEL, Capt., was born 1 April, 1882, son of James Edward Duncan Graham. He was educated at King's School, Rochester, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and joined the Royal Artillery 6 Jan. 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901, and Captain 1 April, 1908. He commanded the Malay States Guides, Mountain Battery, 16 June, 1908, to 16 Sept. 1910, and was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 5 Feb. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War, as Staff Captain, 4th Divisional Artillery, British Expeditionary Force, 5 Aug. 1914, to 28 Feb. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Cuthbert Aubrey Lionel Graham, Capt., Staff." He was Brigade Major, No. 2 Group, Heavy Artillery Reserve, B.E.F., 6 March, 1915, to 12 March, 1916; became Major 11 June, 1915; commanded the 18th Battery until May, 1916, when he was invalided. He was specially employed at the War Office in Oct. 1916; G.S.O.3, War Office, 1 Nov. 1916, to 27 June, 1917; D.A.A.G., War Office, 14 Nov, 1917, to 26 May, 1918, and D.A.A.G. 27 May to 23 Oct. 1918, proceeding to North Russia in June, 1918. He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel commanding a column, Oct. 1918, and Temporary Brigadier-General commanding the Dwina Force 30 Jan. 1919. He was mentioned in Despatches four times in France and two in North Russia; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, for services in North Russia, and also received the Croix de Guerre. He married, in 1911, Josephine Margaret, daughter of the late Sir Joseph Terry, of York, and they have one son, John, born 27 July, 1912. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GRAHAM, CHARLES PERCY, Capt., was born 12 July, 1881. He entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Unattached List, 28 July, 1900, and joined the Indian Army 17 Oct. 1901. He was promoted Lieutenant 1 June, 1903; Captain 28 July, 1909, and was transferred to the Welsh Regt. 22 Nov. 1913. Capt. Graham served in the European War, being employed from 5 Aug. 1914, to 27 May, 1915, as Assistant Provost-Marshal of the 1st Division, B.E.F. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Percy Graham, Captain, Staff." He served as A.P.M., 6th Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 28 May, 1915, to 19 June, 1917, becoming Major 8 Jan. 1917; was A.P.M., Lines of Communication, British Forces in Italy, 4 Dec. 1917, to 15 May, 1918; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from June, 1917; Provost-Marshal, 3rd Army, British Armies in France, 3 Aug. 1918, to 2 April, 1919; became Deputy Provost-Marshal, Southern Command, 25 May, 1919. Major Graham was created a C.B.E. in 1919. He is married, and has one son. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

REID, WALTER RICHARD, Capt., was born 11 April, 1880, son of Inspector-General Walter Reid, Royal Navy. He was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 26 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 15 Jan. 1903; was

Digitized by Google

Adjutant, Territorial Force, 22 June, 1908, to 31 Oct. 1911; was promoted to Captain 9 May, 1911, and was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 8 Nov. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. Capt. Reid served in the European War, 1914; was employed as Staff Captain, R.A., 3rd Division, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 14 Nov. 1915. He was promoted Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Walter Richard Reid, Capt., Staff." He was D.A.A.G., 13th Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 15 Nov. 1915, to 30 Oct. 1916, D.A.A.G., 4th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 1 April to 27 Aug. 1917; became G.S.O.2, 4th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 28 Aug. 1917. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918, and was twice mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

DAVIES, CLAUDE MARTIN, Capt., was born 23 Oct. 1881, son o Byam Martin Davies, Esq. He joined the Rifle Brigade 4 Dec. 1901 was promoted Lieutenant 1 July, 1905, and Captain 6 Oct. 1911 passed through the Staff College; was Brigade Major, 12th Infantry Brigade, Eastern Command, 30 May, 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War, 1914–18, in France, Gallipoli and Egypt; was Brigade Major, 12th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 31 March, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Claude Martin Davies, Capt., Staff." He subsequently held the following appointments: G.S.O.3, 3rd Army, Central Force, Home Defence, 12 April to 2 July, 1915; Special Appointment, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force in July, 1915; G.S.O.3, 8th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 5 July to 17 Aug. 1915; G.S.O.2, 52nd Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 18 Aug. 1915, to 20 April 1916; G.S.O.1, 52nd Division, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 21 April to 7 Nov. 1916. He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1916, and became Major 4 Dec. 1916; was G.S.O.1, with Frontier Force, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 8 to 30 Nov. 1916; G.S.O.1, 73rd Division, Home Forces, to 31 Dec. 1917; G.S.O.1, 47th Division, British Armies in France, 20 Feb. to 15 July, 1918; became G.S.O.1, 58th Division, British Armies in France, 16 July, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and was three times mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BAIRD, JOHN LAWRENCE, Major, was born in London 27 April, 1874, eldest son of Sir Alexander Baird, Bart, of Urie, Lord Lieutenant of Kincardineshire, and the Hon. Annette Palk, daughter of Baron Haldon (who died in 1884). He joined the Diplomatic Service; was Attaché at Vienna, 1896; Cairo, 1898; Abyssinia, 1899; Private Secretary to Sir William Garstin, Under-Secretary for Public Works in Egypt, 1900–2; Acting Agent and Consul-General in Abyssinia, 1902; Political Officer, British East Africa, and Abyssinian Frontier Survey, 1902–3. He served in the Somali Campaign, as Political Officer on Staff of Colonel Rochfort, with the Abyssinian Army, 1903–4 (C.M.G., 1904); Despatches; Medal and clasp); Second Secretary, Paris, 1904–6; Buenos Ayres, 1906–8. He joined the 1/2nd Scottish Horse (Yeomanry) in 1906, and, on the outbreak of the European War, he went out with the Expeditionary Force to France 12 Aug. 1914, as Staff Captain in the Intelligence Corps. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]; received the Order of Leopold, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Lawrence Baird, C.M.G., Major, Scottish Horse Yeomanry." He was transferred to the War Office, Dec. 1915, as G.S.O., 3rd Grade, and became Parliamentary Member of the Air Board in May, 1916, and Parliamentary Secretary to the Air Board in 1917; Under Secretary of State for the Royal Air Force, 1918; Vice-President of Air Council, 1918. He is a J.P., D.L., and has been Unionist Member for the Rugby Division of Warwickshire since 1910. He married, in 1905, Lady Ethel Keith-Falconer, eldest daughter of the 10th Earl of Kintore, and they have two sons and two daughters. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BURKE, CHARLES JAMES, Capt. and Brevet Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), was born 9 March, 1882, youngest son of the late Mr. C. C. Burke, of Ballinhone House, Armagh. He served in the South African War of 1899–1902; was present in operations in the Transvaal (Queen's Medal with two clasps). He joined the Royal Irish Regt., as Second Lieutenant from the Militia, 26 Sept. 1903; became Lieutenant 15 June, 1904; was employed with the West African Frontier Force 22 July, 1905, to 6 Dec. 1909; became Captain 22 Dec. 1909. He took up flying in 1910, and was employed in connection with the Aeroplanes and Balloon School 22 Nov. 1910, to 31 March, 1911, and flew the first aeroplane purchased by the British Government. He served with the Air Battn. Royal Engineers, Digits Formation, 1 April, 1911, to 12 May, 1912; joined the Royal Flying Corps 12 May, 1912. During these periods he was twice injured in aeroplane accidents 7 Jan. 1911, and 1 Aug. 1912. He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1913. He served in the European War from 1914, and was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. of that year; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 9 Nov. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles James Burke, Capt. and Brevet Major (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), Royal Irish Regt." He was appointed Commandant of the Central Flying School 1 Feb. 1916. Lieut.-Colonel C. J. Burke was killed in action 9 April, 1917, while commanding a battalion of the East Lancashire Regt. He was a Member of the Royal United Service Institution and Meteorological Society, and an Associate Fellow of the Aeronautical Society. He married Beatrice Osborn, third daughter of W. Shakspeare, of 42 Prince's Gardens, S.W., and Yately, Hants. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services (R.F.C.) in connection with operations in the field."

SALMOND, JOHN MAITLAND, Capt. and Brevet Major, was born 17 July, 1881, son of Major-General Sir William Salmond, K.C.B., and Emma Mary Hoyle, youngest daughter of William Fretwell Hoyle, of Hooton Levet Hall, Maltby, Yorkshire. He was educated at Wellington and Sandhurst. He joined the Army 8 Jan. 1901, as Second Lieutenant (Unattached), and became Lieutenant, Royal Lancaster Regt., 9 March, 1901. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, being present in the operations in the Transvaal, Jan. 1901, and Feb. to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was employed with the West African Frontier Force 14 Nov. 1903, to 20 June, 1905; became Captain, Royal Lancaster Regt., 26 June, 1910, and Captain, Royal Flying Corps, 12 Nov. 1912. Capt. Salmond was Instructor (graded Flight Commander), Central Flying School, Royal Flying Corps, 12 Nov. 1912, to 20 May, 1913, and Instructor (graded Squadron Commander), Central Flying School, Royal Flying Corps, 31 May, 1913, to 20 April, 1914; was given the Brevet of Major 22 June, 1914. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Maitland Salmond, Capt. and Brevet Major, Royal Lancaster Regt., Royal Flying Corps." On 13 Feb. 1915, he was gazetted Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel (Wing Commander), and on the 23rd he took command of the Administrative Wing, R.F.C., South Farnborough. He became Major 8 Jan. 1916, and became Brigade Commander 1 Feb. 1916, then taking over the organization of the Training Brigade, Royal Flying Corps, Home Establishment, entirely reorganizing the system. He was promoted to the rank of Major-General 22 June, 1917, and four months later was appointed Director-General of Military Aeronautics at the War Office, becoming at the age of 36 a Member of the Army Council. On 17 Jan. 1918, he took command of the Royal Flying Corps, British Armies in France (vice Major-General H. M. Trenchard), and later on the Rhine, subsequently taking command of the Inland Area, Great Britain, with Headquarters later at Uxbridge, Middlesex. Air Vice-Marshal Sir J. M. Salmond was created a C.M.G. in 1917, a C.V.O., 1918, and a K.C.B., 1919; was five times mentioned in Despatches; is Officer of the Legion of Honour; Commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy; Commander of Order of Leopold (Belgium); belongs to the Order of the White Eagle (Russia), and has the American Distinguished Service Medal. He is a widower, and has one daughter.

John M. Salmond.

The following telegrams were exchanged between the Air Ministry and General Salmond, G.H.Q., France:—

"The Air Council congratulate you and all ranks of R.N.A.S., R.F.C., and Australian Flying Corps on the splendid work carried out during this great battle. We are all following their great deeds, and know that they will keep it going.—AIR MINISTRY."

"Very many thanks for Air Council's congratulations, which are much appreciated by all concerned. All ranks have their tails well up, and the superiority of British over enemy airmen has never been more marked.—GENERAL SALMOND."

His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MUSGRAVE, HERBERT, Capt. (Temporary Major), was born 11 May, 1876, youngest son of the late Sir Anthony Musgrave, G.C.M.G., and Jeanie Lucinda Field. He was educated at Harrow; became Second Lieutenant, Royal Engineers, 1 March, 1898, and Lieutenant 1 March, 1899. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont, Enslin, Modder River and Magersfontein; in the Orange Free State, Feb. 1900, including operations at Paardeberg; in the Transvaal; in Orange River Colony, June to Nov. 1900, including action at Wittebergen; in the Transvaal, June, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; again in Orange River Colony, Dec. 1900, to June, 1901; also during the operations in Cape Colony, Feb. to April, 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. and 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps); was employed with the South African Constabulary, 3 June, 1901, to 20 Sept. 1904; became Captain, Royal Engineers, 1 March, 1905, and Royal Flying Corps 30 April, 1913. He passed through the Staff College; was D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Malta, 8 Aug. 1908, to 8 Aug. 1912. He was Deputy Assistant Director of Military Aeronautics, War Office (temporary), 5 Aug. to 14 Sept. 1914; was promoted Major, Royal Engineers, 30 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Musgrave, Capt., Temporary Major, Royal Engineers, attached Royal Flying Corps." He became D.A.Q.M.G. 4 March, 1915; was four times mentioned in Despatches, and was wounded. Major Musgrave returned to France 27 Dec. 1917, to the Staff of the 2nd Corps, and fell in action 3 June, 1918. In 1915 Major Musgrave married Georgeanna, only daughter of Mark Hopkins, of Pau, France, and they Herbert Musgrave.

Digitized by Google

had one daughter, Jeanie Lucinda, and one son, Herbert William Dudley, born after his father's death. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

William H. C. Mansfield.

MANSFIELD, WILLIAM HENRY CHARLES, Lieut. (Temporary Captain), was born 3 Oct. 1887, and was gazetted to the Shropshire Light Infantry 9 Oct. 1907, being promoted to Lieutenant 24 July, 1912. He served in the European War from 1914–17; became Lieutenant, Royal Flying Corps, 28 April, 1914, and was Temporary Captain from 7 Dec. 1914, to 9 June, 1915. Capt. Mansfield was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Henry Charles Mansfield, Lieut. (Temporary Capt.), Shropshire Light Infantry, Royal Flying Corps." He became Captain 10 June, 1915; was Temporary Major, March, 1916, to Oct. 1917, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Oct. 1917, to March, 1918; was employed under the Air Ministry from 1 April, 1918; became Squadron Commander, Royal Flying Corps. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

HARVEY-KELLY, HUBERT DUNSTERVILLE, Lieut., was born 9 Feb. 1891. He joined the Royal Irish Regt. 5 Oct. 1910; became Lieutenant 23 Oct. 1912, and Lieutenant, Royal Flying Corps Reserve, 14 Aug. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Hubert Dunsterville Harvey-Kelly, Lieut., Royal Irish Regt., Royal Flying Corps." He became Captain 23 May, 1915; Squadron Commander, Royal Flying Corps, and Temporary Major 30 Jan. 1916. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MAPPLEBECK, G. W., Lieut., served in the European War. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "G. W. Mapplebeck, Lieut., The Liverpool Regt." His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GURNEY, THOMAS CLAUD, Capt., was born 9 Aug. 1880, son of the late Charles Henry Gurney. He joined the 1st Dragoons 11 Aug. 1900, and was promoted Lieutenant 22 June, 1901. He served in the South African War, 1901–2 (as A.D.C. to Brigadier-General 5 May to 14 July, 1902, and as Adjutant, Imperial Yeomanry, 24 Oct. 1901, to 31 March, 1903); was present in the operations in the Transvaal, May to Aug. 1901, and March to 31 May, 1902; in Orange River Colony, Aug. 1901, to March, 1902; also in Cape Colony, May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He reverted to Second Lieutenant on joining the 2nd Life Guards 23 Jan. 1904; became Lieutenant 2 Sept. 1905; was Adjutant, Imperial Yeomanry, 24 Oct. 1907, to 31 March, 1908; Adjutant, Territorial Forces, 1 April, 1908, to 23 Oct. 1911, and was promoted Captain 6 March, 1909. Capt. Gurney served in the European War from 1914 to 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Thomas Claud Gurney, Capt., 2nd Life Guards." He became Major 12 Jan. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 27 Aug. to 7 Sept. 1915. On 25 March, 1919, he retired from the Army with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. He married, in 1906, Muriel Frances, eldest daughter of the late Charles Percy Sykes, of West Ella Hall, Yorkshire. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Charles Beck Hornby.

HORNBY, CHARLES BECK, Capt., was born 7 Feb. 1883, son of the late Colonel John Frederick Hornby, 12th Lancers, and Mary Ellen Hornby, of Little Ness, Shrewsbury. He joined the 4th Dragoon Guards 8 May, 1901; became Lieutenant 14 Oct. 1903, and Captain 10 Oct. 1909. He was Adjutant, 4th Dragoon Guards, 21 Jan. 1911, to 20 Jan. 1914. Capt. Hornby served in the European War in 1914 and 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Beck Hornby, Capt., 4th (Royal Irish) Dragoon Guards." He was promoted Major 5 Aug. 1915; was specially employed at the War Office 17 to 31 Oct. 1916; G.S.O.3, War Office, 1 Nov. 1916, to 22 May, 1917; specially employed, War Office, 23 May to 16 July, 1917. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was awarded the Croix de Guerre, Jan. 1917. Major Hornby married, in 1914, Dorothy, daughter of the late C. W. C. Henderson, of The Riding, Hexham, and they have two daughters: Pamela Innocence, and Adriane Virginia Mary. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BALFOUR, EDWARD WILLIAM STURGIS, Capt., was born 6 Dec. 1884, second son of Edward Balfour, J.P., D.L., of Balbirnie, Markinch, N.B., and Isabella Weyman Hooper, of Boston, U.S.A. He was educated at Eton, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Royal Artillery 29 July, 1904; was promoted Lieutenant 29 July, 1907, and was transferred to the 5th (Princess Charlotte of Wales's) Dragoon Guards 11 March, 1908, becoming Captain 6 March, 1912. He was Adjutant of the 5th Dragoon Guards 16 July, 1912, to 10 May, 1915. Capt. Balfour served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edward William Sturgis Balfour, Capt., 5th (Princess Charlotte of Wales's) Dragoon Guards." He subsequently held the following Staff appointments, viz.: Staff Captain, 7th Cavalry Brigade, B.E.F., 11 May to 8 July, 1915; Brigade Major, 7th Cavalry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 9 July, 1915, to 31 March, 1917; G.S.O.2, 1st Cavalry Division, British Armies in France, 1 April, 1917, to 19 April, 1918; G.S.O.2, Irish Command, 1 June, 1918, to 16 Feb. 1919. He was awarded the Military Cross in 1917, and also received the O.B.E. Capt. Balfour married Ruth, daughter of the Right Hon. Gerald William Balfour, P.C., and of Lady Betty, daughter of the 1st Earl of Lytton, and they have one son and one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Herbert Combe.

COMBE, HERBERT, Major, was born 30 March, 1878, seventh son of Charles Combe, J.P., D.L., of Cobham Park, Surrey, and Marianne (who died in 1900), only daughter of Capt. Inglis, R.N. He was educated at Wellington College, and joined the 3rd (King's Own) Hussars 10 Jan. 1899, as Second Lieutenant; became Lieutenant 21 March, 1900. He served in the South African War, taking part in operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, Jan. to April, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Captain 11 May, 1907. Capt. Combe was Adjutant, Territorial Force, Bedfordshire Yeomanry, from 13 March, 1910, to 12 March, 1913; became Major 3 Dec. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914; was wounded in Oct. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Combe, Major, 3rd (King's Own) Hussars." He became Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, commanding Leicestershire Yeomanry, and commanding the 15th Hussars 5 April, 1918. He was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. [London Gazette, 26 Aug. 1915]. On 12 Aug. 1908, at Teignmouth, South Devon, he married Amy Kathleen, daughter of the late G. M. Rudkin, of Teignmouth, and they have one son, Patrick Heddon Harvey. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

FREEMAN-MITFORD, THE HONOURABLE CLEMENT BERTRAM OGILVY, Major, was born 14 Dec. 1876, at 100, Cheyne Walk, Chelsea, S.W., son of Algernon Bertram Freeman-Mitford, 1st Baron Redesdale, and Lady Clementine Gertrude Helen Ogilvy, daughter of the 7th Earl of Airlie. He was educated at Eton and Cambridge; joined the Army in Nov. 1899; was promoted Lieutenant 3 Oct. 1900, and served in the South African War with the 10 Hussars, 1899–1901. He took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, including actions at Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Elands River; in Orange River Colony, including action at Wittebergen; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to July, 1901, and operations in Cape Colony, Aug. 1901 (twice wounded, slightly and severely; Queen's Medal with four clasps). He was Adjutant of the 10th Hussars from 14 May, 1904, to 13 May, 1907; was promoted Captain 10 Oct. 1904, and Major 7 Aug. 1912. Major the Hon. C. B. O. Freeman-Mitford served in the European War from 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "The Honourable Clement Bertram Ogilvy Freeman-Mitford, Major, 10th (Prince of Wales's Own Royal) Hussars." He was dangerously wounded in the First Battle of Ypres 23 Oct. 1914, and was killed in action 13 May, 1915, in the Second Battle of Ypres. On 25 Nov. 1909, at the Private Chapel, Cortachy Castle, Kirriemuir, he married Lady Helen Ogilvy, daughter of the 10th Earl of Airlie, and they had two daughters: Rosemary Anne Mitford, and Clementine Mabell Kitty Mitford. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Hon. C. H. G. Mulholland.

MULHOLLAND, THE HONOURABLE CHARLES HENRY GEORGE, Capt., was born 19 Aug. 1886, at Strangford, County Down, Ireland, son of Lord Dunleath, D.L., J.P., County Down, R.E. (retired), and Norah, only daughter of the late Hon. Somerset R. H. Ward, and granddaughter of the 3rd Viscount Bangor. He was educated at Eton and Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the 11th Hussars 19 Sept. 1906; became Lieutenant 16 April, 1909; Adjutant, 11th Hussars, 1 Jan. 1914, and Capt. 14 Nov. 1914. He served in the European War, and was present at the battles of Mons, the Marne, the Aisne, and the First Battle of Ypres, being very severely wounded at Messines 31 Oct. 1914. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette,

Digitized by Google

18 Feb. 1915]: "The Hon. Charles Henry George Mulholland, Capt., 11th (Prince Albert's Own) Hussars." He was Brigade Major, 3rd Cyclist Brigade, at Woodbridge, Suffolk, and Clanmorris, County Mayo, 15 June, 1917, to 3 April, 1919; was awarded the O.B.E., Dec. 1914; became Military Secretary to H.E. the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland 1 Aug. 1919. Capt. the Hon. C. H. G. Mulholland's polo handicap is 6, and he played for his regiment in 1913 and 1914. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

HOBSON, GERALD WALTON, Major, was born 20 June, 1873, eldest son of the late Richard Hobson, D.L., J.P., of The Marfords, Bromborough, Cheshire, and of Mary Eleanor, daughter of J. Chadwick, J.P., D.L., of Woodville, nr. Stockport. He was educated at Elstree and Harrow and Sandhurst, and joined the Army 5 Oct. 1892; became Lieutenant 9 Aug. 1893; Captain in 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901. He was present in the advance on Kimberley, including the action at Magersfontein; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg, actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein and Karee Siding; actions at Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Pretoria, Johannesburg and Diamond Hill; operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, Aug. 1900, including action at Eland's River; operations in Orange River Colony, July, 1900, including action at Wittebergen; operations in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to April, 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901], and received the Queen's Medal with seven clasps. He became Major 7 April, 1906, and retired from the 12th Lancers 25 March, 1908. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1919; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Gerald Walton Hobson, Major (Reserve of Officers), 12th (Prince of Wales's Royal) Lancers)." He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in Jan. 1915, and Lieutenant-Colonel in Reserve of Officers Sept. 1919; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Hobson married, in Oct. 1908, Winifred Hilda, daughter of the late J. Gardiner Muir, D.L., J.P., of Farmingwoods Hall, Thrapston, Northamptonshire. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Gerald Walton Hobson.

BRYANT, CHARLES EDGAR, Capt., was born 6 April, 1885, and entered the Army (12th Prince of Wales's Royal Lancers) 28 Jan. 1905; became Lieutenant 30 May, 1907; Captain 27 July, 1914 (12th Lancers and 7th Hussars). Capt. Bryant served in the European War, 1914–17; was Adjutant of the 12th Lancers 27 July, 1914, to 3 June, 1916. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Edgar Bryant, Capt., 12th (Prince of Wales's Royal) Lancers." Capt. Bryant joined the Royal Flying Corps 13 Nov. 1916. He was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. [London Gazette, 18 July, 1917]: "Charles Edgar Bryant, D.S.O., Capt., Lancers and Royal Flying Corps. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has displayed the utmost gallantry and skill in leading photographic reconnaissances. In spite of overwhelming opposition by hostile aircraft, he has never failed to carry out his difficult task." He was Temporary Major, Royal Flying Corps, from 9 July, 1917, to 31 March, 1918, and was employed under the Air Ministry from 1 April, 1918. He married, in 1919, Mrs. Lionel Platt. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

PILKINGTON, FREDERICK CARLISLE, Major, was born 17 Feb. 1872, son of George Pilkington, of Stoneleigh, Woolton, Liverpool, and 64, Cadogan Place, London, S.W., and of Frances Ellen Carlisle. He was educated at St. David's, Reigate; Eton, where he was in the Eleven in 1890, and was the winner of school events for athletics; and at Trinity Hall, Cambridge. He was in the winning team in the Inter-Regimental Polo Tournament, India, in 1903. He joined the 15th Hussars, from the Militia, 12 Dec. 1894; became Lieutenant 6 Nov. 1895, and Captain 13 Dec. 1899. He was Adjutant, West Somerset Yeomanry, 14 Jan. to 31 March, 1908, and Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 April, 1908, to 24 March, 1911, and was promoted to Major 25 March, 1911. He served in the European War from 16 Aug. 1914, to the end of the war; commanded Divisional Mounted Troops of the 1st Infantry Division. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frederick Carlisle Pilkington, Major, 15th (The King's) Hussars." He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding 15th Hussars, 11 May, 1915, and was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding Corps Mounted Troops in Italy from 14 Dec. 1917, to 18 June, 1918; was employed under the Air Ministry from 31 Aug. 1918, attached to the Royal Air Force, as Commandant, No. 9 (Observation) School of Aeronautics; became Substantive Lieutenant-Colonel 10 Oct. 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Pilkington was four times mentioned in Despatches (Oct. 1914, Feb. and Dec. 1915, and Nov. 1917). He married, 18 March, 1900, at Bombay Cathedral, Ethel Hay, daughter of Henry Burrows, of Dee Park, Woolton, Liverpool, and they have one daughter, Joy Frances. Their only son, Eric Bryan, died in 1917. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Frederick C. Pilkington.

NELSON, CHARLES, Capt., was born 28 Nov. 1877, son of the late Sir Montague Nelson and Mary Caroline, Lady Nelson, daughter of F. Wallis, Esq., F.R.C.S. He entered the Army 22 May, 1900, as a Second Lieutenant in the 15th Hussars, becoming Lieutenant 1 Feb. 1903. He served with the New Zealand Forces 5 Aug. 1907, to 31 Jan. 1909; became Captain, 15th Hussars, 1 Oct. 1908. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1916. He was wounded, twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Nelson, Capt., 15th (The King's Hussars)." Capt. Nelson was G.S.O.3, 1st Army, British Armies in France, 25 June to 16 Aug. 1916; A.D.C. to the Commander-in-Chief, East Indies, 1 Oct. 1916, to 28 Aug. 1917. He married, in 1910, Meta, daughter of the late Louis Schuster, and they have one son. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

ECCLES, CUTHBERT JOHN, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 2 Feb. 1870, at Southampton, son of Major-General Cuthbert Eccles and Amy Neat Eccles. He was educated privately; enlisted 10 July, 1890, and served in the ranks for four years. He became Second Lieutenant, 16th Lancers, 1 Aug. 1894; Lieutenant 4 Nov. 1896, and Captain 9 Nov. 1899. Capt. Eccles served in the South African War, 1900–2, as Assistant Provost-Marshal. He was slightly wounded; was present at the advance on Kimberley; at the Relief of Kimberley. He took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg; operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, Aug. to Nov. 1900, including action at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); operations in Cape Colony, north of Orange River; operations in Orange River Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to June, 1901; operations in Cape Colony, June, 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted to Major 9 June, 1909. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1917. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, 16th Lancers, 24 Sept. to 10 Nov. 1914, and Lieutenant-Colonel 19 Dec. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Cuthbert John Eccles, Lieut.-Colonel, 16th (The Queen's) Lancers." He was twice wounded and twice mentioned in Despatches. He retired from the Army 19 Dec. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel C. J. Eccles has the Spanish Order of Merit, presented to him by H.M. the King of Spain, on the occasion of His Majesty's wedding, Colonel Eccles being one of the mission of the 16th Lancers who went to Madrid to represent that regiment. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Cuthbert John Eccles.

PARSONS, ALFRED WOODIS, Major, was born 17 June, 1878, at Oxford, son of the late John Parsons, of Tubney, Abingdon, Berks, and of The Old Bank, Oxford (profession, Banker), and of Mrs. Parsons. He was educated at Rugby, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and joined the 19th (Queen Alexandra's Own) Hussars 7 May, 1898, as Second Lieutenant. He served with his regiment in South Africa (1899–1902), during the Siege of Ladysmith, and throughout the campaign. He took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including actions at Rietfontein and Lombard's Kop; took part in the Defence of Ladysmith, including sortie of 7 Dec. 1899, and action of 6 Jan. 1900; in Natal (March to June, 1900), including action at Laing's Nek; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast and Lydenberg; in Orange River Colony (May to 29 Nov. 1900); again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; and again during operations in Orange River Colony, May, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901, and 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps. He became Lieutenant 23 June, 1900; Captain 1 Jan. 1905; was Adjutant, 19th Hussars, 1 Jan. 1905, to 19 Feb. 1907; was promoted to Major 20 Jan. 1912; to Lieutenant-Colonel 9 Oct. 1918; was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 April, 1908, to 13 March, 1910. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was mentioned in Despatches five times; awarded the Légion d'Honneur (Croix de Chevalier); created a C.M.G., and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Alfred Woodis Parsons, Major, 19th Hussars. In recognition of services in connection with operations in the field."

Alfred Woodis Parsons.

COOK, GEORGE TREVOR ROPER, Major, was born 11 Aug. 1877, son of George Ward Cook, of Hoylake. He was gazetted to the 3rd Dragoon Guards 8 Sept. 1897; became Lieutenant 28 May, 1898. Lieut. Cook served in the South African War, 1899–1902. He took part in the operations in the Transvaal, May and July, 1901; in Orange River Colony, Feb. to Aug. 1901 in Cape Colony, Feb. 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps).

Digitized by Google

He was promoted to Captain 18 Dec. 1900. He was Adjutant, Imperial Yeomanry, from 2 Feb. 1907, to 31 March, 1908, and Adjutant, Territorial Force, from 1 April, 1908, to 5 Sept. 1911; became Major, 3rd Dragoon Guards, 6 Sept. 1911, and was transferred to the 20th Hussars 18 Oct. 1913. Major Cook served in the European War from 1914. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "George Trevor Roper Cook, Major, 20th Hussars." He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel 9 Sept. 1915. Lieut.-Colonel G. T. R. Cook was killed in action 26 March, 1918. In 1902 he had married Alice, youngest daughter of A. J. Dorman, Esq., of Nunthorpe, Yorkshire, and they had one son and four daughters. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

LITTLE, ARTHUR CAMPDEN, Major, was born 2 Feb. 1880, son of Frederick Campden Little, Esq. He was educated at Eton. He became Second Lieutenant, 20th Hussars, in Jan. 1901; served in the South African War, 1900 and 1901–2; was severely wounded. He took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to June, 1900; also in Cape Colony, Jan. to March, and June to Aug. 1900; in the Transvaal and again in Orange River Colony, Jan. to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He was promoted Lieutenant 23 Sept. 1902; was Adjutant, 20th Hussars, 7 May, 1907, to 6 May, 1910, and became Captain 13 March, 1911, from which date he was an Adjutant in the Territorials until 12 March, 1914. He served in the European War; became Major 5 Sept. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Arthur Campden Little, Major, 20th Hussars." He commanded his regiment, and was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 10 April, 1918, to 8 April, 1919. He was four times mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. [London Gazette, Feb. 1918]. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Arthur Campden Little.

SCLATER-BOOTH, THE HONOURABLE WALTER DASHWOOD, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 15 Feb. 1869, in London, son of the 1st Lord Basing (deceased). He was educated at Wellington College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and joined the Royal Artillery 23 July, 1887, as Second Lieutenant; became Lieutenant 23 July, 1890; Captain 23 Feb. 1898, and Major 4 April, 1903. He served in the European War, in command of L Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, during the Retreat from Mons; became Lieutenant-Colonel 30 Oct. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches in Nov. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "The Honourable Walter Dashwood Sclater-Booth, Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Horse Artillery (L Battery)." The decoration was awarded for action with L Battery near Andriegnes, 24 Aug. 1914, when attached to the 2nd Cavalry Brigade. He was wounded on 1 Sept. following this at Nery. He became Commandant, School of Instruction for R.H. and R.F.A., Lynd, 18 May, 1915; Temporary Colonel 4 Feb. 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 3 Oct. 1916; Colonel 30 Oct. 1918; retired with the honorary rank of Brigadier-General in Nov. 1919. He was created a C.B. in June, 1917, and a C.M.G. in Jan. 1918. His elder brother, the late Brigadier-General Lord Basing, C.B., was also a distinguished soldier, and his nephew, the present Lord Basing (the Honourable J. L. Sclater-Booth) is a Captain in the 1st Royal Dragoons. Brigadier-General the Hon. W. D. Sclater-Booth married, 24 June, 1913, at St. Peter's, Eaton Square, S.W., Miss Burdon, eldest daughter of Colonel Rowland Burdon, of Castle Eden, County Durham, and they have two daughters, Eleanor Mary and Nora Frances. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Hon. W. D. Sclater-Booth.

GILLSON, GODFREY, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 15 Dec. 1867. He entered the Royal Artillery 13 Nov. 1889, and was promoted Lieutenant 13 Nov. 1892. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–9 (Medal and clasp). He was employed with the Egyptian Army 14 Aug. 1899, to 3 Nov. 1907, and was with the Nile Expedition, 1899, in the first advance against the Khalifa (Egyptian Medal and clasp). He became Captain 17 Jan. 1900, and Major 22 Nov. 1906; Lieutenant-Colonel 30 Oct. 1914. Lieut.-Colonel G. Gillson served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Godfrey Gillson, Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Horse Artillery." He was Brigadier-General, Royal Artillery Cavalry Corps, B.E.F., 9 Sept. 1915, to 11 March, 1916; Brigadier-General, Royal Artillery, 39th Division, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 22 March, 1916, to 10 Oct. 1917; Brigadier-General, Royal Artillery, 10th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 11 Oct. 1917, to 15 Sept. 1918; Brigadier-General, Royal Artillery, Southern Command, 30 Dec. 1918, to 12 April, 1919; became Deputy Director of Remounts 13 April, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1917 was created a C.M.G. in 1918 and received the 3rd Class Order of Danilo. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

JELF, WILFRID WYKEHAM, Major, was born at Halifax, Nova Scotia, 22 July, 1880, son of the late Colonel Richard Henry Jelf, C.M.G., R.E., formerly Governor, Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and Margaret Jelf. He was educated at Cheam School and Eton, and joined the Army 25 Nov. 1899; was promoted Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902. He took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1901, and April, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; and in the operations in Orange River Colony, March and April, 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept, 1901]; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 1 April, 1908. He was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 20 Oct. 1908, to 19 Jan. 1912; became Major, 30 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War, being employed as Staff Captain, Royal Artillery, 1st Cavalry Division, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 21 March, 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Wilfrid Wykeham Jelf, Major, Royal Horse Artillery." The decoration was awarded for services whilst Staff Officer to the Royal Horse Artillery, 1st Cavalry Division. He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in Jan. 1917, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918. From 26 April to 20 July, 1918, he was Chief Instructor (General Staff Officer), Royal Military Academy (temporary), becoming Second-in-Command (temporary), 21 July, 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches five times, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. He married, 26 July, 1906, Cicely Helen, daughter of the late John George Child and Helen Child, and sister of Sir Hill Child, Bart., D.S.O., M.V.O., and their children are: Richard Hill Jelf, born 2 July, 1910; Lilah Margaret Jelf, born 13 Oct. 1911, and Roderick Wilfrid Roylance Jelf, born 22 July, 1914. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Wilfrid Wykeham Jelf.

HARRIS, OSCAR MARK, Major, was born 17 March, 1879, son of Henry Harris. He was educated at University College, London, and was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 22 Dec. 1898; became Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901. He served in the South African War, 1900–2. He was present at the Relief of Kimberley; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May), and Zand River; served during the operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; also in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Rhenoster River and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July) (Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted to Captain 27 June, 1906. He was employed with the West African Frontier Force from 11 April, 1908. He served in the European War from 1914; became Major 30 Oct. 1914. Major Harris was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Oscar Mark Harris, Major (N Battery), Royal Horse Artillery." He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 26 April, 1916, to 24 May, 1917; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 16 July, 1917, to 10 Oct. 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and was mentioned in Despatches in 1915, 1916, 1917 (twice), 1918 and 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Harris married, on 20 Oct. 1910, the Honourable Marjorie Ruth Addington, second daughter of the 3rd Viscount Sidmouth. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

STOCKDALE, HERBERT EDWARD, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 22 June, 1867, at Mears Ashby Hall, Northampton, son of Henry Minshull Stockdale, J.P., D.L., and Sarah Emily Stockdale. He was educated at Temple Grove, East Sheen; Wellington College, Berkshire, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich (was in the Royal Military Academy Eleven and Fifteen), and joined the Royal Artillery 16 Feb. 1886, as Lieutenant; became Captain 1 June, 1896; Major 16 March, 1901. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; with the 9th and 11th Divisions, in the advance on Pretoria and Koomatie Poort. He was present at the actions of Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River, Johannesburg, Diamond Hill and Belfast, and served from March to Dec. 1901, with Sir H. Plumer's Column in the Eastern Transvaal and Orange River Colony. He was Divisional Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 10 Sept. 1900, to 15 March, 1901, and became Major 16 March, 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901], and received the Queen's Medal with six clasps. He became Lieutenant-Colonel 17 Aug. 1913; served in the European War under Sir J. French up to Jan. 1915; was present in the Retreat from Mons, the battles of Le Cateau, the Marne and the Aisne, and the First Battle of Ypres. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Edward Stockdale, Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Field Artillery." The decoration was awarded for general good service during operations in 1914, and not for any one particular action, Lieut.-Colonel Stockdale served under Sir Ian Hamilton until 28 Oct. 1915, and under Sir Charles Munro until 9 Jan. 1916; became Temporary Brigadier-General 3 Sept, 1915. In the Gallipoli Campaign he was present at the landing at Helles, April, 1915; the operations at Helles, 1915, and the evacuation, 9 Jan. 1916. He was promoted Colonel 17 Aug. 1917; was under Sir William Marshall from Nov. 1917, to Nov. 1918; retired 18 April, 1919, and was granted the honorary rank of Brigadier-General. He was created a C.M.G. in 1916, and a C.B. in 1919, and was five times mentioned in Despatches. On 4 Feb. 1909, at the church of St. John the Divine, Kennington, S.E., Major Stockdale married Margaret Frances, elder daughter of the Rev. Canon J. T. Bartlet, Honorary Canon of Lincoln, and they have a daughter, Margaret Mary. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

George Herbert Sanders.

SANDERS, GEORGE HERBERT, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 14 Sept. 1868, at Binstead, Isle of Wight, son of Arthur Sanders, Barrister-at-Law, and Isabella Sanders (both deceased). He was educated at Harrow (The Grove, 1882); joined the Artillery 17 Feb. 1888, and became Lieutenant 17 Feb. 1891. He became Captain 18 May, 1898. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, with the 19th Battery, R.F.A., and as Assistant Press Censor; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to March, 1901, and July to Dec. 1901; also in Orange River Colony, Jan. to May, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Major 15 Nov. 1903. Major Sanders served in the European War, and commanded 122nd Battery, R.F.A., from the beginning of the war; became Lieutenant-Colonel 30 Oct. 1914, commanding the 28th Brigade, R.F.A. He was slightly wounded, Nov. 1914; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "George Herbert Sanders, Lieut.-Colonel (28th Brigade), Royal Field Artillery." Lieut.-Colonel G. H. Sanders became Temporary Brigadier-General 14 Sept. 1915, and was C.R.A., 2nd Division, until the end of the war. He was mentioned in Sir Douglas Haig's Despatch, dated War Office, 13 June, 1916, and on five other occasions during the Great War; became C.R.A., Light Division, Army of the Rhine. He was created a C.M.G. in 1917; was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.B. in Jan. 1919, and was awarded the French Croix de Guerre in Dec. 1919. He married, at Caversham, Oxfordshire, 9 Sept. 1897, Vivien Lifford, eldest daughter of the late Honourable Arthur Plunket, and their sons are: Geoffrey Arthur Plunket Sanders, born 18 July, 1899, and Denis Coghill Sanders, born 5 Aug. 1903. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

CARTWRIGHT, GARNIER NORTON, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 7 May, 1868, son of R. N. Cartwright, of Ixworth Abbey, Suffolk. He joined the Royal Artillery 17 Feb. 1888; became Lieutenant 17 Feb. 1891; Captain 1 July, 1898, and Major 9 Dec. 1903. Major Cartwright served in the European War from 1914; became Lieutenant-Colonel 30 Oct. 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Garnier Norton Cartwright, Lieut.-Colonel, 55th Battery, Royal Field Artillery." He was Temporary Brigadier-General, Royal Artillery, 1st Division, B.E.F., British Armies in France, from 15 Oct. 1915, to 19 Oct. 1917. He was created a C.M.G. in 1917. He married, in 1909, Isabel, daughter of the late T. J. Masters, of Llanelly Hall, Llantrisant. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Edward John R. Peel.

PEEL, EDWARD JOHN RUSSELL, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 31 Aug. 1869, at The Gerwyn, Wrexham, North Wales, second son of Archibald Peel, J.P., D.L. (son of General the Right Honourable Jonathan Peel), and Lady Georgiana Adelaide, daughter of the 1st Earl Russell. He was educated at Eton and Woolwich, and joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 27 July, 1889, becoming Lieutenant 27 July, 1892, and Captain 13 Dec. 1899. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; took part in the operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899; in the Orange Free State, March to May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; also in the Transvaal, May, 1900, including action near Johannesburg (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was promoted to Major 11 Feb. 1906; served in the European War from 1914. Major Peel commanded the 54th Battery, R.F.A., from Mons to the Battle of Ypres, where he was wounded. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edward John Russell Peel, Lieut.-Colonel (54th Battery), Royal Field Artillery." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 30 Oct. 1914, and in the following spring went out with the 29th Division, in command of an Artillery Brigade, to Gallipoli, and served with that division until they evacuated the Peninsula on 8 Jan. 1916. He was again mentioned in Despatches, and promoted to Temporary Brigadier-General in April of that year, and posted to the 59th Division, as C.R.A. In Easter week he was sent with the division to Ireland, to quell the Sinn Fein Rebellion; was transferred to the 58th Division, and proceeded to France in Jan. 1917. In Jan. 1918, he was created a C.M.G., and later relinquished his temporary appointment of Brigadier-General and was given the command of the 87th R.F.A. Brigade, in the 19th Division. Lieut.-Colonel Peel served with the 19th Division through the retreat of the 3rd Army in March, 1918; was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O., for gallantry and devotion to duty in action [London Gazette 16 Sept. 1918]: "This officer was in command of the brigade during ten days' operations. Although the enemy were close up to him in a village he kept his batteries in action under a ridge, handling them with consummate skill. It was owing to his personal influence with the brigade that the guns were saved, being withdrawn from under the nose of the enemy one by one as opportunity occurred by night. Throughout the operations he kept the men together and cheerful, and they fought splendidly." He was appointed C.R.A. (Temporary Brigadier-General) to 19th Division in Sept. 1918. Brigadier-General E. J. R. Peel played cricket and polo for the Royal Artillery; won the Army Point-to-Point in Ireland in 1898, and in England in 1908, on both occasions riding his own horse; has been a Steward of the Grand Military Meeting, and of the Royal Artillery Races. His favourite recreations are hunting, riding, steeplechasing, polo and cricket. On 13 June, 1901, in London, he married Mary Louisa Drummond, daughter of Edgar Atheling Drummond, of Cadland, Hampshire, and their children are: John, born in 1907; Peter, born in 1908, and Rosemary. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

METCALFE, SYDNEY FORTESCUE, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 1 April, 1870, son of the late Fenwick Metcalfe and Mrs. Metcalfe, of Woodside, Albury, Guildford. He was educated at Bath College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. He joined the Royal Artillery 26 July, 1889; became Lieutenant 27 July, 1892. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action of Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900) and action at Pieter's Hill; operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900 (Queen's Medal and four clasps). He became Captain 1 Jan. 1900, and Major 1 Aug. 1906; was Instructor (1st Class), School of Gunnery, 1 April, 1908, to 30 Sept. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914 (1914 Star), going to France with the 3rd Division in Aug. 1914. He was wounded in Oct. 1914, and sent home. He became Lieutenant-Colonel 30 Oct. 1914; was Major-Instructor in Gunnery, School of Gunnery (temporary), 13 Dec. 1914, to 14 March, 1915. He was Chief Instructor in Gunnery, School of Instruction for Royal Horse and Royal Field Artillery (temporary), 15 March to 18 April, 1915. He was posted to command the 83rd Brigade, R.F.A., 18th Division, with which he returned to France in July, 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Sydney Fortescue Metcalfe, Lieut.-Colonel, 23rd Brigade, Royal Field Artillery." He was Brigadier-General, R.A., 18th Division, British Armies in France, 31 May, 1916, to 6 July, 1917; Brigadier-General, R.A., 17th Army Corps, 7 July to Oct. 1917; was employed under the Ministry of Munitions 9 Jan. to 8 April, 1918; was Brigadier-General, R.A., 11th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 9 April to 18 Dec. 1918; G.O.C., R.A., Eastern Command, 1 Dec. 1918; C.R.A., 4th Division, Nov. 1919. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; created a C.M.G. 1 Jan. 1918, and was four times mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

PACKARD, HENRY NORRINGTON, Major, was born 12 March, 1870. He entered the Royal Artillery, as a Second Lieutenant, 25 July, 1890, and was promoted Lieutenant 25 July, 1893, and Captain 13 Feb. 1900. He was employed as D.A.A.G., R.A., India, 3 Jan. 1902, to 2 Jan. 1907; became Major 1 April, 1908, and was D.A.A. and Q.M.G., West Lancashire Division, Western Command, 1 April, 1910, to 31 March, 1914. Serving in the European War, Major Packard was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 19 Oct. 1914], and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Norrington Packard, Major, Royal Engineers." He fell in action 12 April, 1916. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

LLOYD, HORACE GIESLER, Major, was born 26 Nov. 1872, at Highgate, son of Frederick Giesler Lloyd, Esq., and Elizabeth Lloyd (both deceased). He was educated at Clifton College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 12 Feb. 1892, becoming Lieutenant 12 Feb. 1895. He served in the Chitral Campaign in 1895, and received the Indian Frontier Medal with clasp; became Captain 15 March, 1900. He was Divisional Adjutant, R.A., from 30 Aug. 1900, to 31 March, 1901, and Adjutant, R.A., from 1 April, 1901, to 29 Aug. 1904. He was promoted Major 8 June, 1909, and was Commanding Officer of a company of Gentlemen Cadets 1 Jan. 1908, to 31 Dec. 1911. Major Lloyd served in the European War continuously as Battery and Brigade Commander, and C.R.A., from the time when he landed in France on 23 Aug. 1914, to 23 March, 1918. He was present at Le Cateau, and for his services in that action was mentioned in Despatches, Jan. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Horace Giesler Lloyd, Major, 29th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery." He became Lieutenant-Colonel 16 May, 1915; was mentioned in Despatches

Horace Giesler Lloyd.

Digitized by Google

in Jan. 1916; Jan. 1917, and Jan. 1918. He became a Temporary Brigadier-General 3 Jan. 1917 (C.R.A., 8th Division), and was transferred to the Home Forces, March, 1918; appointed C.R.A., 64th Division, 1 July, 1918. He returned to France 23 Oct. 1918, as C.R.A., 24th Division, remaining till the cessation of hostilities 11 Nov. 1918. He was created a C.M.G. 1 Jan. 1918. He married, 23 Sept. 1903, at Camberley, Annette Rose, daughter of Colonel C. H. Ewart, Indian Army, and they have a daughter, Annette Lena. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

WILSON, LANCELOT MACHELL, Major, was born 23 July, 1873, at Bolton-by-Bowland, Clitheroe, Yorkshire, son of the Rev. Canon Wilson, J.P., of Taitlands, Stamforth, Yorkshire, and Catherine, daughter of Henry Remington, Esq., of Aynsome, Cartmel, Lancashire. He was educated at Sedbergh School, and at the Royal Academy, Woolwich, and joined the Royal Artillery 1 April, 1893; became Lieutenant 1 April, 1896, and Captain 28 May, 1900. He served at Tirah, 1897–98; took part in the operations in the Bara Valley 7 to 14 Dec. 1897 (Medal with two clasps); served in China, 1900; at the Relief of Pekin; in the actions of Peitsang and Yangtsun (Medal with clasp); served in the South African War, 1902; took part in the operations in Cape Colony (Queen's Medal with two clasps); was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 12 Sept. 1905, to Sept. 1908, and became Major 23 April, 1910; was Instructor (1st Class), School of Gunnery, 20 Feb. 1912, to 31 March, 1913. He was Major Instructor, School of Gunnery, 1 April to 4 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Lancelot Machell Wilson, Major, Royal Field Artillery (27th Brigade)." He was Major Instructor, School of Gunnery (temporary), 27 Feb. 1915, to 19 Feb. 1916; became Lieutenant-Colonel 15 Nov. 1915, and was Chief Instructor in Gunnery, School of Instruction for Royal Horse and Royal Field Artillery, 20 Feb. 1916, to 30 May, 1917. He served in France from May, 1917, to July, 1918, and was Deputy Director, Royal Artillery, War Office, 16 Aug. 1918, to 30 April, 1920. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1917; was three times mentioned in Despatches, and was created a C.M.G. in Jan. 1919. Colonel Wilson married, 20 Aug. 1914, at Newport, Isle of Wight, Lilian Stewart (who died in 1917), youngest daughter of the late Colonel J. Richardson, K.H.D., I.M.S. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

ATLAY, HUGH WORDSWORTH, Major, was born 3 Jan. 1873, sixth son of James, sometime Bishop of Hereford, and brother of the late J. B. Atlay, the author. He was educated at Honiton and Cheltenham, and proceeded to the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, in 1890; was gazetted Second Lieutenant 26 June, 1893; Lieutenant 26 June, 1896, and Captain 18 June, 1900. He served in the South African War, with the Natal Field Force, from Dec. 1899, to Dec. 1900; was A.D.C. to Major-General Commanding R.A. 24 May, 1900, to 16 Jan. 1901. He took part in the Relief of Ladysmith, being present at the action at Spion Kop, and also served in the actions at Vaal Kranz, Tugela Heights and Pieter's Hill (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 8 Oct. 1907, to 11 May, 1910; was promoted Major 12 May, 1910.

Hugh Wordsworth Atlay.

Major Atlay served in the European War from 1914, commanding the 54th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Hugh Wordsworth Atlay, Major, 15th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery. For services in connection with operations in the field." He was killed in France on 11 April, 1915, aged 42 years.

PATERSON, PHILIP JOSEPH, Major, was born 26 Sept. 1874. He joined the Royal Artillery 14 July, 1896; became Lieutenant 14 July, 1899. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901; took part in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont, Enslin, Modder River and Magersfontein; in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg 17 to 27 Feb.; actions at Poplar Grove and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including action at Pretoria; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, including action at Zilikat's Nek; again during operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Nov. 1901 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He became Captain 28 Jan. 1902. Capt. Paterson was promoted to Major 16 Jan. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914–18. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Philip Joseph Paterson, Major (2nd Battery), Royal Field Artillery." He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 31 Dec. 1915, and Lieutenant-Colonel 8 May, 1917; was created a C.M.G. in 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Paterson married, in 1905, Ethel Stawell, fourth daughter of Alexander Edward S. Heard, of Coolmain Castle, County Cork. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

LIVINGSTONE-LEARMONTH, JOHN ERIC CHRISTIAN, Major, was born 25 Aug. 1876. He joined the Royal Field Artillery 21 Sept. 1896, and was promoted Lieutenant 21 Sept. 1899. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; took part in the advance on Kimberley; in the Orange River Colony, Feb. to May, 1900; in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including actions near Pretoria (4 June) and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); also in operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Oct. 1900 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Captain 1 Feb. 1902 was Adjutant, R.A., 29 April, 1905, to 8 March, 1908; became Major 8 March, 1913. Major Livingstone-Learmonth served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Eric Christian Livingstone-Learmonth, Major (8th Brigade), Royal Field Artillery." He was D.A.A.G., G.H.Q., British Expeditionary Force, 5 Jan. 1915, to 2 Jan. 1916; A.A.G., G.H.Q., B.E.F., British Armies in France, 3 Jan. 1916, to 9 Nov. 1917; was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 31 May, 1917; became Temporary Brigadier-General, A.G.'s Branch, A.G.'s and Q.M.G.'s Staff, British Armies in France, 10 Nov. 1917. He was also given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and of Colonel 3 June, 1918; was created a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour in 1915, and in 1919 was created a C.M.G. He was six times mentioned in Despatches. He married, in Oct. 1901, Eleanor, second daughter of the late Capt. Villiers Sankey Morton. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

ROCHFORT-BOYD, HENRY CHARLES, Major, was born at Birr, Queen's County, Ireland, 13 Oct. 1877. He was the only surviving son of Colonel Charles Augustus Rochfort-Boyd, C.M.G., late R.E., of Belvedere House, Farnborough, Hants, by his first wife, Adeline, daughter of the late Mountifort Longfield, D.L., of Castle Mary, County Cork, and grandson of the late G. A. Rochfort-Boyd, D.L., of Middleton Park, Westmeath. He was educated at Summerfield; Wellington; Charterhouse and Woolwich, and passed out on the Artillery List from the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, in 1897. He joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 1 Sept. 1897; served with distinction in the South African War, 1899–1900; was present at the actions of Belmont, Enslin Siding, Modder River, Magersfontein and Paardeberg, and was twice mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 26 Jan. 1900, and 10 Sept. 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with three clasps. He became Lieutenant 1 Sept. 1900, and Captain 2 March, 1904. In Aug. 1914, he went with his battery to France in the 2nd Division; was wounded at Mons, narrowly escaped capture at Landrecies; rejoined his battery on the Aisne, and moved north with it to the First Battle of Ypres, where the support it gave to the Guards on the critical 21 and 23 Oct. earned the special thanks of the G.O.C. On 11 Nov., while observing in an advanced sap-head, he was passed on both sides by the Prussian Guards, advancing silently through the mist, but slipping behind them, succeeded in warning his brigade, with far-reaching consequences. He was again wounded in Jan. 1915, and for a third time severely in Feb., on the same day that he was awarded the D.S.O. He was appointed Major 10 Oct. 1914; mentioned in Despatches in Nov. 1914; Nov. 1916, and April and Nov. 1917. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Charles Rochfort-Boyd, Major, Royal Field Artillery (9th Battery)." When he recovered from his wound, Major Rochfort-Boyd returned to the front, and in Feb. 1916, was promoted Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in the Royal Field Artillery, and saw much severe fighting. In Nov. 1916, he was transferred to command the Royal Horse Artillery of a Cavalry Division. Lieut.-Colonel Rochfort-Boyd died at Rouen 4 Dec. 1917, of wounds received in action, aged 40 years. Three days earlier, during the German attack on Cambrai, he had ridden forward to select an artillery position, and came under fire of a concealed machine gun at short range; his horse was killed, and he was taken prisoner, very severely wounded in three places, but succeeded in escaping after dark and reached the British outposts. He was a fine rider to hounds, and was for four seasons Master of the Royal Artillery Drag Hunt. Lieut.-Colonel Rochfort-Boyd had married, 1 June, 1908, Dorothy, daughter of Arthur Nicholson, Esq., of Brighton, and they had one son, Charles, born 9 April, 1912. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Henry C. Rochfort-Boyd.

CORNES, HUGH, Major, was born 23 Oct. 1879, at Teddington-on-Thames, son of Frederick Cornes, Esq., and of Alice Cornes (née Bull). He was educated at Clifton College, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 23 Dec. 1898. He served in the South African War, as a Subaltern, 1900; was present in operations in Cape Colony and the Orange Free State, Jan. to May, 1900 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901, and Captain 5 April, 1907. He was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, (Territorial Force), 1 Oct. 1913, to 29 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch 18 Oct. 1914; became Major 30 Oct. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Hugh Cornes, Major [Divisional Ammunition Column), Royal Field Artillery." He was posted to home establishments, Jan. till July, 1915, and embarked again for France, July, 1915. Major Cornes was mentioned in Despatches by Sir Douglas Haig 3 Jan. 1917, and became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel. He married, 17 Aug. 1910, at Teddington, Katherine Elizabeth, daughter of George H. Harding Weale, Esq. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

RIDDELL, JOHN BALFOUR, Major, was born 20 May, 1890, son of the late Colonel R. V. Riddell, R.E. He was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 23 Dec. 1898; became Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901, and Captain 27 May, 1907. He was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 1 Sept. 1911, to 29 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1917; was promoted to Major 29 Oct. 1914. He was twice mentioned in Despatches and created a

Digitized by Google

Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Balfour Riddell, Major, 42nd Brigade, Royal Field Artillery." Major Riddell was G.S.O.2 (Staff Officer to Major-General, Royal Artillery), 2nd Army, British Expeditionary Force, 21 Feb. to 3 June, 1916, and became Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Artillery, 7 July, 1916. He married, in 1908, Margaret, youngest daughter of the late J. W. Smith, and they have one son and two daughters. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

FINLAYSON, ROBERT GORDON, Major, was born 15 April, 1881, son of the late David Finlayson, of 27, The Grove, Boltons, S.W. He joined the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 17 March, 1900; became Lieutenant 3 March, 1901; was Lieutenant, Imperial Yeomanry, 3 April to 31 July, 1902; became Captain 20 Oct. 1908; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 22 Jan. to 29 Sept. 1910, and 22 July, 1912, to 29 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Staff Captain, Royal Artillery, 7th Division, 14 Nov. 1914, to 26 Feb. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Robert Gordon Finlayson, Major, Royal Field Artillery." He was Brigade Major, R.A., 3rd Division, B.E.F., 27 Feb. 1915 to 29 Feb. 1916; D.A.A.G., 1st Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 1 March, 1916, to 17 Feb. 1917; was G.S.O.1, with the Special Mission to Russia, 19 March, 1917, to 20 Jan. 1918. He served as Deputy Commander of the North Russian Expeditionary Force 24 May, 1918, to 29 Jan. 1919 (temporary Brigadier-General). He was mentioned four times in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and was created a C.M.G. in 1918. He married, in 1912, Mary Leslie, daughter of James Richmond, of Kippenross, Dunblane, and they have two sons. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Robert G. Finlayson.

MUIRHEAD, MURRAY, Major, was born 1 Jan. 1878, son of John and Charlotte Jane Muirhead, of Dumfries. He was educated at Bedford Grammar School, and Pembroke College, Cambridge, and joined the Army 28 March, 1900, becoming Lieutenant 3 April, 1901. He served several years in India. He was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 20 May, 1908, to 7 Nov. 1910, and was promoted to Captain 19 April, 1909. Capt. Muirhead married, 9 June, 1900, at Otley, Yorkshire, Violet Edith Spence, only daughter of Albert Carter Spence, of Weston Manor, Otley, and they have a daughter, Masha Violet Otley. He was specially employed at the War Office from 12 Nov. 1912, to 11 Feb. 1913, and from that date to Feb. 1914, was in Russia, learning the language, of which he afterwards became an interpreter. Capt. Muirhead served in the European War from 1914 until its conclusion, in France, being in its early stages a Battery Commander in the 3rd Division, and receiving his Majority 30 Oct. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches in Feb. 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Murray Muirhead, Major, Brigade Ammunition Column, Royal Field Artillery." He was Brigade Major, 47th Division, 19 April, 1916, to 16 Jan. 1917; Staff Officer on the 18th Corps Staff 17 Jan. to 22 Nov. 1917, and afterwards served as Brigade Commander in the 9th Division, with which he went to the Rhine. He was mentioned in Despatches twice in 1917 and twice in 1918, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, and was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. (an immediate award in the field). His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

CARRUTHERS, JAMES, Major, M.V.O., was born 17 July, 1876, eldest son of the late Peter Carruthers, of Portrack, Dumfries. He was educated at Craigmount, Edinburgh, and Edinburgh University, and entered the Royal Artillery 12 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 12 Oct. 1901, and Captain 14 Nov. 1910; was created an M.V.O. in 1910; was A.D.C. to the Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief, Union of South Africa, 15 April, 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918; became Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "James Carruthers, M.V.O., Major, 134th Battery, Royal Artillery." Major Carruthers was Staff Captain, Ministry of Munitions, 20 July, 1916, to 30 Sept. 1917; Deputy Assistant Director of Artillery, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 10 March, 1918, to 2 April, 1919. He married, in 1915, Violet Rosa, youngest daughter of the late Charles Markham, of Tapton House, Chesterfield. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

NEWLAND, ARTHUR EDWARD, Major, was born 26 May, 1879, and was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 12 May, 1900. He served in the South African War, 1900–1; was Assistant Press Censor 19 April to 25 July, 1900; took part in the operations in Orange Free State, March to April, 1900; in Cape Colony, April to July, 1900; in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to Nov. 1901; also during operations in the Orange River Colony, Jan. 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Lieutenant 7 Nov. 1901; served in Somaliland, 1908–9 (Despatches); with the King's African Rifles, 27 May, 1908, to 25 June, 1911; was promoted Captain 16 Nov. 1910. Capt. Newland served in the European War, 1914–15. He was promoted Major 30 Oct. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Arthur Edward Newland, Major, Royal Field Artillery, 30th Brigade (Howitzer)." He became Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, 4th Canadian Division, 22 Nov. 1916; was acting Lieutenant-Colonel 28 Oct. 1917, to 4 July, 1918; Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, 69th Division, Forces in Great Britain, 5 July to 17 Oct. 1918; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 18 Oct. 1918, to 28 Jan. 1919. He married, in 1911, Alice Mary, eldest daughter of Richard Burke, of Grove Fethard, County Tipperary, and they have one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded for services in connection with operations in the field."

DAVIDSON, LESLIE EVAN OUTRAM, Capt., was born 23 Sept. 1882, son of the late Duncan Davidson, of Inchmarle. He was educated at Marlborough, and entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery, 24 May, 1902; was promoted Lieutenant 24 May, 1905. He served in the European War in 1914 and 1915; was promoted Captain 30 Oct. 1914; was mentioned in Despatches twice, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Leslie Evan Outram Davidson, Capt., Royal Artillery." He became Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 17 Feb. 1915, and Major 23 Feb. 1916. Major Davidson married, in 1914, Matilda Rome, daughter of Lionel Maitland-Kirwan, R.N., of Collin, Castle Douglas. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

EARLE, ERIC GREVILLE, Second Lieut., was born at Sangor, Central Provinces, India, 24 Feb. 1893, son of Lieut. Cecil Arthur Earle, R.F.A. (died at Sangor 27 July, 1897), and Mrs. C. A. Earle (formerly Lizzie Isabella (Betty) Scott), of Earles Court, Camberley, Surrey. He was educated at Lockers Park, Hemel Hempstead, Herts, 1902–5; at Wellington College, 1905–10, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. He left Wellington in Dec. 1910, where he was in the 1st Fifteen, 1910; in the 3rd Eleven, 1910, and a Colour-Sergeant in the Rifle Corps, with which he attended the funeral of King Edward VII. at Windsor. He passed direct into Woolwich in Feb. 1911, and passed out in July, 1912; was in the 2nd Fifteen, and ran for Woolwich against Sandhurst in the Mile in 1912 (the year that Sandhurst won every event). He was gazetted to the R.F.A. 19 July, 1912. He joined the 37th Battery, at Bulford, 9 Sept. 1912; moved to Kildare, Ireland, with them in Nov. 1912, and was stationed there until they sailed for France on 27 Aug. 1914. His pursuits in Ireland were hunting, cricket and football. He played for Monkstown Rugby Football Club, and for Kildare garrison team in the Army Cups; ran for the 8th Brigade, R.F.A. in the Irish Command Cross-country Championship, and in the Irish Command Athletic Meetings, 1911 and 1912. He landed in France 19 Aug. 1914; was present at Mons, 24 Aug., and le Cateau, 26 Aug. At the latter place he was wounded three times, one wound causing the loss of the left eye. He was one of a party of volunteers who assisted the late Major (then Capt.) D. Reynolds, V.C., to save a gun under fire. Lord Ernest Hamilton says that "the work of the artillery all along the line was magnificent, and deeds of individual heroism were innumerable. The 37th Battery, for instance, kept up its shrapnel fire on the advancing line of Germans till they were within 300 yards of its position. Then Capt. Reynolds, with some volunteer drivers, galloped up with two teams and hitched them on to the two guns which had not been knocked out. Incredible as it may appear, in view of the hail of bullets directed at them, one of these guns was got safely away." ("The First Seven Divisions," page 68). For his share in this deed Second Lieut. E. C. Earle was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Eric Greville Earle, Second Lieut., (8th Brigade) Royal Field Artillery." He was discharged from hospital in Dec. 1914, and joined a Division of the New Army; became Adjutant, R.A., Jan. 1915, and Staff Captain, R.A., 3 March, 1915, and accompanied the Division to France, July, 1915. He was promoted to Lieutenant in July, 1915; was present at the operations of 25 Sept. 1915; at the Third Battle of Ypres, June, 1916, and at the Battle of the Somme, Sept. and Nov. 1916. He became Captain in Nov. 1916, and returned to regimental duty at his own request, Jan. 1917. He was present at minor operations in the Somme area, Jan. and Feb. 1917, and was appointed Acting Major, Feb. 1917; commanded D/91 Battery, R.F.A. in the advance on the Somme front during March and April, 1917; also in the Fourth Battle of Ypres, July 31 to 18 Oct. (capture of Pilkem, Langemarck and Koekuit), Battles of Cambria, 20 and 30 Nov.; retreat from St. Quentin, 21 to 30 March, 1918; Battle of Lassigny (under the French), on 30 March, 1918, when he commanded a composite R.F.A. Brigade; Battle of Villers Bretonneux, 24 April, 1918, when he received two wounds, and was invalided home. In addition to receiving the D.S.O. he became Chevalier de l'Ordre de Léopold, Aug. 1917; received the Belgian Croix de Guerre, March, 1918, and has the 1914 Star; was mentioned in Despatches four times: Nov. 1914; Feb. 1915; Jan. 1916, and Jan. 1917. He married, on 17 Jan. 1918, Noel, youngest daughter of Edward Downes-Martin and the late Mrs. Helen Downes-Martin (Irwin), of Killoskehane Castle, County Tipperary. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Eric Greville Earle.

TYRRELL, GERALD ERNEST, Major, was born in India 31 Oct. 1871, son of Lieut.-General Francis Hardinge Tyrrell, Madras Infantry (retired), and Mary, daughter of General J. S. Halliday. Having passed through Woolwich, he entered the Royal Artillery 12 Feb. 1892, and served successively with the garrison, field and mountain batteries of the arm. He became Lieutenant 12 Feb. 1895, and saw a considerable amount of service on the North-West Frontier of India, with the Malakand Field Force, the Utman Khel Column, the Buner Field Force and the Tirah Expedition. He was present at the attack and capture of the Tanga Pass, and received the Medal and three clasps. He was promoted Captain 1 Jan. 1900. After the Tirah Campaign he became A.D.C. to Sir William Lockhart, then Commander-in-Chief in India, and after that General's death was given an appointment on the Viceregal Staff by Lord Curzon. Capt. Tyrrell was Vice-Consul at Van from 21 April, 1902, to 31 March, 1906; was employed at Drama, under the Murzteg programme, as British officer with the Macedonian Gendarmerie, 23 Aug. 1907, to 13 June, 1909, and received a gold medal for conspicuous bravery. In 1910 he was appointed Military Attaché (General Staff Officer) at Constantinople and Athens (4 Dec. 1909, to 14 Aug. 1911). He was Military Attaché (General Staff Officer), Constantinople, 15 Aug. 1911, to 3 Dec. 1913. While holding this appointment he went as British representative with the Turkish Headquarters Staff to the Balkans. He had qualified as a first-class interpreter in Turkish and French. He became Major 2 Sept. 1913. Major Tyrrell served in the European War from 1914. He was twice mentioned in Despatches for his services while commanding a heavy battery at the front, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Gerald Ernest Tyrrell, Major, Royal Garrison Artillery (108th Heavy Battery)." He was invested by the King at Buckingham Palace, 6 July, 1915. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from 27 Jan. to 31 Dec. 1915, and was a Member of the British Military Mission at the General Headquarters of the Belgian Army, for which he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel (1 Jan. 1916); was again mentioned in Despatches, and made an Officer of the Order of Leopold. He was transferred in Sept. 1915, to the General Headquarters Staff of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, Chief of the Intelligence Department, and served successively in Gallipoli, Egypt and Salonika, and was again mentioned in Despatches. In Sept. 1916, he was recalled to France, and there contracted the illness which proved fatal on 17 May, 1917. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

HOLBROOKE, PHILIP LANCELOT, Major, was born 25 Nov. 1872, at Brighton, son of the late Rev. Frederick George Holbrooke, Rector of Kimpton, Hants, late Lieutenant in the Army. His grandfather was Bernard Holbrooke, Capt., 14th Light Dragoons, who was present at the landing in Egypt under Abercrombie; his great-grandfather was Capt. Bernard Holbrooke, who was present at the Siege of Belleisle, and his great-great-grandfather was Capt. Holbrooke, Royal Navy. He was educated at Felstead School, Essex, and joined the Army 25 May, 1892; became Lieutenant 25 May, 1895, and served in the South African War from Dec. 1899, to the end of the war, with a 5-inch Gun Battery, R.G.A. He was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, Tugela Heights, and in operations in the Transvaal, Orange River Colony and Cape Colony; was afterwards in command of D (1) Section, Pom-poms (two Medals with eight clasps). He became Captain 1 Feb. 1900. He was Adjutant at Plymouth, 1903–6; Instructor in Gunnery at Shoeburyness 16 May, 1908, to 15 May, 1912; commanded 100th Company, R.G.A., in Malta, 1912–14; became Major 6 Aug. 1913; Instructor in Gunnery 1 April, 1914, till the outbreak of war. Major Holbrooke served in the European War from 1914–18, in France. He was mentioned in Despatches, Feb. 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Philip Lancelot Holbrooke, Major (4th Siege Battery), Royal Garrison Artillery." The decoration was awarded for good work while in command of the 4th Siege Battery, in the First Battle of Ypres, at the Aisne, and in Flanders. Major Holbrooke was brought home from France to train new Siege Batteries for six months, until Aug. 1915. He returned to France, Aug. 1915, and was Brigade-Major, 4th Heavy Artillery Reserve Group, Loos, Aug. to Nov. 1915. (Major Holbrooke has been a Siege Artillery Specialist for years.) He served as Staff Officer to the Major-General, R.A., Salonika Army, Nov. 1915, to Aug. 1916. He was again mentioned in Despatches in July, 1916, and was awarded the Russian Order of St. Stanislas, 3rd Class; commanded the 37th Heavy Artillery Group from Aug. 1916; was mentioned in Despatches, Jan. 1917, and given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel, Jan. 1917. He became Lieutenant-Colonel 1 May, 1917, and was Temporary Brigadier-General, Royal Artillery, Heavy Artillery, British Salonika Force, 4 Oct. 1917, to 1 May, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1918, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. He married, at Kimpton Church, 3 Oct. 1903, Eleanor Slade Gully, of Trevenan, Cornwall, Lady of the Manor of Trevenan, daughter of Capt. Slade Gully. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

HILDEBRAND, ARTHUR BLOIS ROSS, Major, was born 6 April, 1870. He entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Royal Engineers, 14 Feb. 1890; was promoted Lieutenant 14 Feb. 1893; Captain 5 Dec. 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in Natal, 1899; Defence of Ladysmith; operations in Natal (March to June, 1900); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900 (Despatches [London Gazette, 9 July 1901]; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was from 1 Aug. 1909, to 31 July, 1913, Chief Instructor at the Royal Military Academy, becoming Major 14 Feb. 1910. Major Hildebrand served in the European War, 1914–18; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Arthur Blois Ross Hildebrand, Major, Royal Engineers." He was given, in the same Gazette, the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel. He subsequently held the following Staff appointments: Deputy Director of Army Signals, 2nd Army, British Expeditionary Force, British Armies in France, 6 Feb. 1916, to 17 Nov. 1917; Deputy Director of Army Signals, British Forces in Italy, and 2nd Army, British Armies in France, 18 Nov. 1917, to 15 May, 1918 (promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 15 Jan. 1918); Chief Signal Officer, British Armies in France, 16 May to 11 Nov. 1918; Deputy Director of Army Signals, Forces in Great Britain (temporary Brigadier-General), 22 Nov. 1918. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1917; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and a C.B. in 1919, and was twice mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SINGER, CHARLES WILLIAM, Major, was born at Cheltenham, 3 July, 1870, son of Vice-Admiral Morgan Singer and of Fanny, daughter of General Robert Burn, R.A. He was educated at Felsted School; joined the Royal Engineers 14 Feb. 1890, and became Lieutenant 14 Feb. 1893. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98 (Medal and two clasp); Tirah, 1897–8, including the actions of Chagru Kotal and Dargai (clasp). He became Captain 14 Feb. 1901; was Instructor, Royal Military Academy, 15 Sept. 1902, to 11 Sept. 1904, and Officer, Company of Gentleman Cadets (Class A), Royal Military Academy, 12 Sept. 1904, to 14 Sept. 1907. He became Major 14 Feb. 1910. Major Singer served in the European War from Aug. 1914, in France and Belgium. He commanded the 17th Field Company, Royal Engineers, 5th Division, until July, 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles William Singer, Major, Royal Engineers." He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 16 July, 1915; was C.R.E., 50th Northumbrian Division, July, 1915, to April, 1917; became Temporary Brigadier-General 3 April, 1917; was Chief Engineer, 15th Corps, 3 April, 1917, to 11 Nov. 1918; then Chief Engineer, 10th Corps, until Sept. 1919, when he was appointed Engineer-in-Chief, British Army of the Rhine. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916; became Lieutenant-Colonel 15 March, 1918; was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; was created a C.M.G. in 1916, and was seven times mentioned in Despatches. He was also awarded the French Croix de Guerre and the Legion of Honour (Chevalier). He married, 28 July, 1898, Jessie Harriet Margaret, second daughter of Osmond de Haviland Stewart, of the family of Appin, Argyllshire, and their children are: Charles Morgan, born 10 Jan. 1900, and Jean Dorothea. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Charles William Singer.

HOWARD, FREDERICK GEORGE, Major, was born 19 Jan. 1872, son of Colonel Frederick Howard, Royal Artillery. He was educated at Haileybury, and Oxford Military College, and entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Royal Engineers, 12 Feb. 1892, becoming Lieutenant 12 Feb. 1895. Took part in the operations in Chitral, 1895, with the Relief Force; Assistant Field Engineer, Lines of Communication (12 May to Aug. 1895) (Medal with clasp). Served at Tirah, 1897–98; was present during operations in the Bazar Valley, 25 to 30 Dec. 1897 (two clasps). He was promoted Captain 23 Nov. 1902, and was A.M.S. and A.D.C. to the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, Malta, 4 Feb. 1911, to 11 Feb. 1912; was promoted Major 12 Feb. 1912; was created an M.V.O.; commanded the 57th Field Company, Royal Engineers. He served in the European War, and for his services was mentioned in Despatches by Sir John French, 19 Oct. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frederick George Howard, M.V.O., Major, Royal Engineers." He was killed in action in Flanders 19 Oct. 1915. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SANDYS, EDWARD SETON, Major, was born 17 Sept. 1872, at Tilbury Port, Essex, third son of Major E. W. Sandys, late R.A., of Fulford House, York. He was educated at Marlborough (1887–89, B1), and at the Royal Military Academy. He joined the Army 12 Feb. 1892; became Lieutenant 12 Feb. 1895; was A.D.C. to Lieutenant-General, India, 23 May, 1902, to 28 Oct. 1903. He was promoted Captain 17 Jan. 1903, and Major 12 Feb. 1912. He served from the commencement of the European War. He was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edward Seton Sandys, Major, Royal Engineers." He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 4 Oct. 1915, and was mentioned in Despatches, Jan. and Dec. 1916, and Nov. 1917, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel on 1 Jan. 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Edward Seton Sandys.

BROWNE, FREDERICK MACDONNELL, Major, was born 8 Aug. 1873, at Cananore, India, son of the late Ven. J. F. Browne, Archdeacon of Madras, and of Mrs. Browne, of 12, Park Street, Bath. He was educated at Newton College, Newton Abbot, Devon. He joined the Royal Engineers, 22 July, 1892; became Lieutenant 22 July, 1895. He served in China, was wounded at the Battle of Tientsin, 1900, and received the Medal for the Relief of Peking. He was promoted Captain 22 July, 1903, and Major 22 July, 1912. He acted as Instructor of Survey at the R.I.E. College, Cooper's Hill, after which he served for a time in India, and was sent to France in Sept. 1914. He served with the 38th Field Company, Royal Engineers, in the European War, and was mentioned in the Despatch from Field-Marshal Sir John French, dated 30 Nov. 1915, and published in the London Gazette dated 1 Jan. 1916, for "gallant and distinguished service in the field." He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frederick MacDonnell Browne, Major, Royal Engineers." Major A. E. Sandbach wrote of Major Browne:

Digitized by Google

" I was his Chief Engineer in Ireland, and also in France, and saw him frequently, and admired his work and his character." Major Browne died of wounds at Chocques Military Hospital, 1 Oct. 1915. His D.S.O. was awarded " for services in connection with operations in the field."

MOORE, HERBERT TREGOSSE GWENNAP, Major, was born 12 March, 1875. He joined the Royal Engineers 17 Aug. 1894; became Lieutenant 17 Aug. 1897; served in the South African War, 1899–1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; during the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900), and action at Pieter's Hill; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); also in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted Captain 1 April, 1904. Capt. Moore was Assistant Commissioner, Yola-Cross River Boundary Commission, 17 Aug. 1907, to 6 Oct. 1909. He served in Southern Nigeria in 1908 (Despatches). He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He became Major 17 Aug. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: " Herbert Tregosse Gwennap Moore, Major, Royal Engineers." He became Temporary Colonel 19 June, 1916, and was employed from then until 15 May, 1918, as Deputy Director of Army Signals, 1st Army, British Armies in France, becoming Chief Signal Officer, British Armies in France, 16 May, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. He married, in 1907, Hilda, daughter of the late Griffiths Phillips, of The Pines, Whitchurch. His D.S.O. was awarded " for services in connection with operations in the field."

DAY, HAROLD ERNEST, Capt., was born 16 Dec. 1880, son of Colonel F. J. Day, late Royal Engineers, and of Mrs. Day (formerly Randall). He joined the Royal Engineers 6 Jan. 1900. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, March to Nov. 1901; in Orange River Colony, Nov. 1901; also in Cape Colony, Nov. 1901, to March, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He became Lieutenant 6 Jan. 1903, and Captain 6 Jan. 1909. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: " Harold Ernest Day, Capt., Royal Engineers." He was created an M.V.O., 1915, and Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur, 1916. He served as Temporary Major from Feb. 1916, until promoted to Substantive rank 2 Nov. 1916; was employed under the Air Ministry from 14 Oct. 1918; was mentioned in Despatches four times. Major Day married, in 1913, Dorothy Culling, daughter of F. C. Carr-Gomm, Esq., J.P., and they have one daughter, Elizabeth Culling. His D.S.O. was awarded " for services in connection with operations in the field."

Harold Ernest Day.

PRICKETT, CHARLES HENRY, Capt., was born 23 July, 1881, at his grandfather's house, The Avenue, Bridlington, son of Marmaduke Prickett, M.D. (retired) (born 14 April, 1844), of Cranbourne Lodge, Winkfield, Berkshire, and Alice, daughter of Charles Mortlock, Esq. He was educated at Mr. Baily's School, Limpsfield Common; at Marlborough (which he entered in 1895), and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich (which he entered in Jan. 1899), passing 12th in the examination for Woolwich. He passed third in the Woolwich Examination; was appointed Second Lieutenant in the Royal Engineers 2 May, 1900, and joined his corps at Chatham on 18 May, 1900. In Dec. 1901, he was ordered out to South Africa, to take part in the Boer War under General Plumer, and later under General William Kitchener. He received the Queen's Medal with four clasps. When peace was declared he was placed in charge of the R.E. Telegraph Section, then at Pretoria, and acted as Telegraph Officer for General Stephenson. He became Lieutenant 2 May, 1903. In Oct. 1906, he returned home, and was sent to Bulford Camp, Salisbury Plain. He became Captain 2 May, 1910. When the European War broke out Capt. Prickett was ordered to France. He went out to the Front 16 Aug. 1914; joined General Smith-Dorrien's Force, and took part in the Retreat from Mons. General Smith-Dorrien wrote to Lady Smith-Dorrien: " Charles Prickett is in splendid health, and doing magnificent work." On 19 Oct. 1914, Capt. Prickett's name was mentioned by General French in his Despatch, among officers specially commended for their services in the field. In Feb. 1915, he was again mentioned by General French in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: " Charles Henry Prickett, Capt., Royal Engineers." In Feb. 1915, he was summoned home, and appointed Divisional Signalling Camp Instructor in the New Army of Lord Kitchener, and was sent to several camps to give instruction, and lastly to the camp of Shefford, near Hitchin. On 14 Jan. 1916, he was sent to Salonika, and stationed at the Headquarters of the 16th Corps, on the hills overlooking the river Struma. He was mentioned thrice more in Despatches, and became Major 18 Oct. 1916, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 6 Nov. 1916; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918, and given the Serbian Order of the White Eagle, 4th Class, 1 Nov. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel Prickett is fond of all games, and a good rider. When he was stationed at Bulford Camp he won the Military Steeplechase there in April, 1909, for a silver cup given by Sir Ian Hamilton. He was married, by special license, at Amesbury, on 11 Aug. 1914, to Margaret Kemp, third daughter of the late James Kemp and of Mrs. Kemp, living at Oakhurst, Woodhay, Newbury. His D.S.O. was awarded for " services in connection with operations in the field."

LEATHAM, ROBERT EDWARD KENNARD, Capt., was born 23 Feb. 1885, only son of Arthur William Leatham and Mary Elise, only daughter of the late Henry Martyn Kennard, of Croft-y-Bwla, County Monmouth. He joined the Grenadier Guards 2 March, 1904; became Lieutenant 8 April, 1906, and Captain 22 March, 1913. Capt. Leatham served in the European War from 1914 to 1917. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: " Robert Edward Kennard Leatham, Capt., Grenadier Guards." He was promoted Major 9 July, 1916; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Machine Gun Guards, April to May, 1918; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Guards' Machine Gun Regt., 10 May, 1918, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919. He married, in 1916, Menda, daughter of the late Ambrose Ralli, and widow of Lord Arthur Vincent Hay, and they have one son. His D.S.O. was awarded " for services in connection with operations in the field."

RASCH, GUY ELLAND CARNE, Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: " Guy Elland Carne Rasch, Capt., Grenadier Guards." His D.S.O. was awarded " for services in connection with operations in the field."

HEPBURN-STUART-FORBES-TREFUSIS, THE HONOURABLE JOHN FREDERICK, Major, was born 14 Jan. 1878, son of Lord and Lady Clinton. He served in the South African War as a Trooper in the Imperial Yeomanry. He was gazetted to the Irish Guards 10 July, 1901, becoming Lieutenant 2 Aug. 1902, and held many Staff appointments, viz.: A.D.C. to the Temporary Commander, 4th Army Corps; A.D.C. to the G.O.C.-in-C., Eastern Command, 6 June, 1904, to 31 Oct. 1907; A.D.C. to the G.O.C.-in-C., South Africa, 1 Nov. 1908, to 8 Oct. 1909; Adjutant, Irish Guards, 2 Dec. 1909, to 1 June, 1913 (promoted Captain 26 Oct. 1909); Officer of a Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, 18 Sept. 1913, to 21 Jan. 1914; Adjutant, Royal Military College, 22 Jan. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was promoted Major 3 Sept. 1914, and in Dec. was gazetted Temporary Lieutenant Colonel of the Irish Guards. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: " The Honourable J. F. Hepburn-Stuart-Forbes-Trefusis, Major, The Irish Guards." He was promoted Brigadier-General 16 Aug. 1915, and was killed in action on Sunday, 24 Oct. 1915. An appreciation of Brigadier-General the Hon. J. F. Trefusis was contributed to the " Times " of 29 Oct. 1915, by a brother officer in the Brigade of Guards: " ' Jack Tre,' to give him the name by which he was known in the Brigade of Guards, was probably one of the youngest of our Brigadier-Generals. Born in 1878, he first saw service as a Trooper of Yeomanry in the South African War, and in 1901 obtained a commission in the newly-formed Irish Guards. After some three years of regimental duty, he served as A.D.C. to Lord Methuen, who then commanded the 4th Army Corps, and subsequently accompanied his General to South Africa and Malta. In 1909 he returned to the regiment, and the same year was promoted Captain, and appointed Adjutant. After serving for four years in that capacity he was selected as a ' Company Officer ' at the Royal Military College, where, at the beginning of 1914, he took up the duties of Adjutant, a post which he held until the outbreak of the present war. His battalion, when he rejoined it upon the Aisne on 18 Sept. 1914, had already suffered heavily. During the retreat the Commanding Officer and the Second-in-Command had been killed, and the Adjutant being temporarily incapacitated by wounds, Trefusis was, on his arrival, immediately chosen to take his place. As Adjutant he took part in the withdrawal from the Aisne, and in the encounters which have been officially described as the First Battle of Ypres. So heavy had been the toll among the senior officers in these operations that, on 24 Nov. 1914, Trefusis, who had been gazetted Major in the previous Sept., found himself in command of the remnants of his sorely tried battalion. The condition of affairs when he assumed command was one which called for the exercise of those qualities which he possessed in an eminent degree. The battalion had lost heavily, both in officers and men, and was exhausted by a protracted struggle against overwhelming odds. Although the enemy's attacks had been driven off for the moment, there was little cause for elation in the military situation. The weather, moreover, was miserably wet and cold, and the general surroundings were depressing in the extreme. Those who served under him at this trying period would doubtless be the first to declare that it was mainly the example set by their Commanding Officer that enabled them so quickly to regain confidence, and to be ready once again to carry out whatever task might be set them. It was characteristic of his keenness and of his devotion to the Service that, on the occasion of his taking 72 hours' leave, he should spend one morning of his brief holiday among the cadets at Sandhurst, and another in visiting the reserve battalion of his regiment at Warley. In all the operations undertaken by the Guards Brigade during the winter campaign—and notably in the successful affair of 1 Feb. 1915—he commanded his battalion with marked distinction. On 17 May the Irish Guards were again in action, and again on this occasion suffered heavy losses. The brilliant qualities of their young Colonel had meanwhile not passed unnoticed. Early in the year he had been mentioned in Despatches, and had been awarded the D.S.O. Nor was further promotion long in coming. On 16 Aug. he bade farewell to his battalion, and took up the command of the 20th Brigade in the famous 7th Division. His leading of his brigade in the successful attack upon Loos still further enhanced his reputation. But this was the last operation of importance in which he was destined to participate. From the desperate fighting which marked the last days of Sept. he emerged scathless, only to fall on 24 Oct. in some affair the details of which are still unknown. In him the country has lost an officer of the highest merit and a most gallant gentleman." His D.S.O. was awarded " for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

DYSON, HARRY GO BERNARD, Major, was born 1 June, 1869, son of William H. Dyson. He joined the Royal Scots 9 Nov. 1889; became Lieutenant 16 Jan. 1893, and Captain 2 Jan. 1897. Capt. Dyson was D.A.A.G., India, 22 April, 1903, to 18 Sept. 1905, and from 19 Sept. 1905, to 4 Dec. 1907; promoted Major 27 March, 1907. Major Dyson served in the European War from 1914; was in command of the 11th Battn. Royal Scots, 19 Aug. to 9 Oct. 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Harry H. Bernard Dyson, Major, the Royal Scots (Lothian Regt.)." He was attached General Staff (graded G.S.O., 2nd Grade), Reserve Centre, Western Command, 29 June, 1915, to 19 Jan. 1916, and became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 3 Feb. 1916, commanding the 2nd Battn. Royal Scots. He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 7 Aug. 1916. He was wounded; twice mentioned in Despatches, and was awarded the O.B.E. He married, in 1910, Nora, second daughter of Alfred J. Whittell, of Woodside, Llandaff. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

LONGBOURNE, FRANCIS CECIL, Capt., was born 20 June, 1883, son of Charles R. V. Longbourne (deceased) and Caroline E. A. Longbourne, of Highmead, Guildford. He served in the South African War, 1900–2; was present in operations with the Mounted Infantry in Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to March, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He joined the Queen's Regt., as Second Lieutenant, from the Militia, 30 April, 1902. He became Lieutenant 13 Aug. 1904; was employed with the Mounted Infantry in the West African Frontier Force 15 Nov. 1911, to 29 July, 1914; became Captain 2 March, 1913. Capt. Longbourne served in the European War from 12 Aug. 1914, to the conclusion of the war, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Francis Cecil Longbourne, Capt., The Queen's Regt." Capt. Longbourne served for a month as Temporary Major, The Queen's Regt., and as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel for 18 months. He was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1916, and promoted Major 4 Dec. 1916. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and held the temporary rank of Brigadier-General 23 Sept. 1917, to 30 Oct. 1918, while commanding the 171st Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France. He became a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour 22 May, 1917, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. He was mentioned in Despatches eight times. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Francis Cecil Longbourne.

PARKER, ROBERT GABBETT, Major, was born 4 Dec. 1875, at Bally Valley, Killaloe, County Clare, Ireland, son of Robert Gabbett Parker, Esq., D.L., and Louisa Parker. He was educated at Clifton College and Sandhurst; joined the King's Own Royal Lancaster Regt. 26 Feb. 1896, as Second Lieutenant, and became Lieutenant 10 June, 1897. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; and during the operations on Tugela Heights 14 to 27 Feb. 1900 (wounded 22 Feb.); in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek; in Orange River Colony, June, 1900; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1901; also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901. He was twice mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. and 10 Sept. 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with six clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was promoted Captain 27 Feb. 1900; was Adjutant, Militia, 30 Jan. 1902, to 29 Jan. 1905; passed the Staff College, 1908; attached General Staff (graded Brigade Major) 22 Aug. 1909, to 3 Sept. 1911; became Major 26 June, 1910; was Commander of a Company of Gentleman Cadets (G.S.O.), Royal Military College, 4 Sept. 1911, to 21 Aug. 1913. Major Parker served in the European War from 1914–18; was present at the Battle of Le Cateau 26 Aug. 1914; the Battle of the Marne (severely wounded 8 Sept. 1914). He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Robert Gabbett Parker, Major, The King's Own (Royal Lancaster Regt.)." He became Lieutenant-Colonel 13 Oct. 1915; was G.S.O.1, Ripon Training Centre, 14 Jan. to 11 April, 1916; was specially employed at the War Office 28 April to 3 June, 1916; G.S.O.1, Thames and Medway Defences, 1 July, 1916, to 28 Feb. 1917; was G.S.O.1, 41st Division, British Armies in France, 3 May, 1917, to 28 Feb. 1918, and was present at the Battle of Messines 7 June, 1917; the Third Battle of Ypres, July to Sept. 1917; operations in Italy, Nov. 1917, to Feb. 1918. He became Brigadier-General, General Staff, 4th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 19 March, 1918; was present in operations in France round Bapaume 21 March to 5 April, 1918, and the advance into Belgium 21 Aug. to 11 Nov. 1918. He was three times more mentioned in Despatches; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and also awarded the French Croix de Guerre, and made an Officer of the Crown of Italy, 1918, and was made a C.B. in 1919. He became Colonel 13 Oct. 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Robert Gabbett Parker.

SOMERVILLE, WILLIAM ARTHUR TENNISON BELLINGHAM, Capt., was born 8 Aug. 1882, son of Bellingham Arthur Somerville and Margaret, youngest daughter of William Clinch. He joined the 1st Battn. The King's Own Royal Lancaster Regt. 8 May, 1901; became Lieutenant 7 April, 1904, and Captain 1 Feb. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914, and was Adjutant, Royal Lancaster Regt. 11 Aug. 1914, to 31 July, 1915. Capt. Somerville was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Arthur Tennison Bellingham Somerville, Capt., The King's Own (Royal Lancaster Regt.)." Capt. Somerville was G.S.O., 3rd Grade, 4th Division, B.E.F., 1 Aug. 1915, to 16 Jan. 1916, and Brigade Major, 11th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., from 17 Jan. to 14 July, 1916. He was promoted Major 3 May, 1916; was G.S.O.2, 4th Division, British Armies in France, 15 July, 1916, to 11 May, 1917; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Lancaster Regt., July to Dec. 1917; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Machine Gun Corps, Dec. 1917; was Temporary Colonel, July to Oct. 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

W. A. T. B. Somerville.

BOOTH, RAYMOND MITCHELL ST. JOHN, Capt., was born 31 Dec. 1879, youngest son of the late William C. Booth, of Oran, Catterick, N.B. He was educated at a private school, and entered the Army 4 Dec. 1901. He served in South Africa, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, June, 1901; served during operations in Orange River Colony, March to June, 1901, and April to 31 May, 1902; also in Cape Colony, March, 1901 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He became Lieutenant 28 Aug. 1904; was employed with the King's African Rifles 24 Sept. 1908, to 23 Sept. 1913; became Captain 14 Sept. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914, being present in the Retreat from Mons; the engagements up to 11 Nov. 1914, and from 13 to 31 May, 1915. He was twice wounded; mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Raymond Mitchell St. John Booth, Capt., The Northumberland Fusiliers." Capt. Booth was Brigade Major, 7th Provincial Infantry Brigade, Central Force, Home Defence, Home Forces, 30 Dec. 1915, to 24 June, 1916; Brigade Major, 10th Reserve Infantry Brigade, New Armies, 22 July, 1916, to 25 March, 1917; was promoted Major 8 May, 1916. He became Brigade Major, attached Headquarters Units. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BURNARD, CHARLES FRANCIS, Capt., was born 12 April, 1876, at Plymouth, second son of Robert Burnard, Esq., J.P., F.S.A., of Stoke Rectory, near Teignmouth. He was educated privately, and at Jesus College, Cambridge; joined the 1st Battn. The Royal Warwickshire Regt. 18 April, 1900, and became Lieutenant 22 Jan. 1901. He served in the South African War with Mounted Infantry, 1901–2, being present during the several operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, Dec. 1901, to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). Lieut. Burnard was employed with the West African Frontier Force 1 Dec. 1906, to 9 June, 1910, and was promoted Captain 23 March, 1910. He served in the European War, 1914–19. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, for work in the Retreat from Mons [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Francis Burnard, Capt., Royal Warwickshire Regt." He was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915, and joined the Labour Corps 6 March, 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Charles Francis Burnard.

DONE, HERBERT RICHARD, Major, was born 23 Sept. 1876, youngest son of Richard Done and Louisa Doubeny. He was educated at Harrow and Sandhurst, and joined the Norfolk Regt. 5 Sept. 1896; became Lieutenant 5 Feb. 1898. He served in the South African War from 1900 to 1902, employed with Mounted Infantry; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; during operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including action near Pretoria; also in Orange River Colony, July, 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 7 Dec. 1904; was Adjutant, Norfolk Regt., 7 Dec. 1904, to 6 Dec. 1907; was employed with the Egyptian Army 7 Jan. 1909, to 6 Jan. 1913; became Major 1 June, 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was present at Mons and the Retreat, the First Battle of Ypres, the Somme, the Third Battle of Ypres, and the final attack against the Austrians and the advance into Austria. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from 23 Dec. 1914, to 14 Dec. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb.

Digitized by Google

1915]: "Herbert Richard Done, Major, The Norfolk Regt." Lieut.-Colonel Done was Temporary Brigadier-General 15 Dec. 1915, to 2 April, 1919, and commanded the 145th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 15 Dec. 1915, to 20 Nov. 1916; the Portsmouth Special Reserve Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 30 Nov. 1916, to 7 March, 1917, and the 144th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France; British Force in Italy 8 March, 1917, to 2 April, 1919. He was 10 times mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1915, and of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. [London Gazette, 20 Oct. 1916]. He married, in Nov. 1916, Elsie, daughter of the late Samuel Kingan, of Glenganagh, County Down. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field," and the Bar to the D.S.O. "for conspicuous good service in action. He handled his brigade with great skill during two attacks, and showed great determination."

JOHNSTON, ROBERT HECTOR, Capt., was born 19 Dec. 1877, son of H. H. Johnston and J. M. Johnston (née Nelson). He was educated at Haileybury College, and joined the Lincolnshire Regt. 4 Jan. 1899; became Lieutenant 11 July, 1900; Captain 5 Nov. 1905, and was employed with the King's African Rifles 11 July, 1907, to 11 July, 1912, and served in Somaliland, 1908 to 1910 (Medal and clasp). He served in the European War from 1914–18, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Robert Hector Johnston, Capt., The Lincolnshire Regt." He was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915. Major Johnston was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, in command of a service battalion of the Lincolnshire Regt., 18 Nov. 1915, to 9 Dec. 1916; held a special appointment as Second-in-Command of an Officer Cadet Battalion 3 March to 14 Dec. 1917; was Brigade Major, British Honduras, 15 Dec. 1917, to 27 Dec. 1918; became Brigade Major, Milford Haven Garrison, 14 Feb. 1919. He married, 20 Dec. 1916, Kathleen Hariot, youngest daughter of the late W. F. Robinson, and they have one son, Robert Alan, born 15 April, 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Robert Hector Johnston.

HOSKYNS, HENRY CHARLES WALTER, Capt., was born 28 June, 1875. He entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Lincolnshire Regt., 21 Sept. 1898, and became Lieutenant 11 June, 1900. He served in the South African War, 1900; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg, actions at Poplar Grove, Karee Siding, Vet River and Zand River; also during the operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was employed with the West African Frontier Force from 30 Nov. 1901, to 20 Dec. 1906, being promoted Captain 22 Dec. 1905. Capt. Hoskyns served in the European War. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 19 Oct. 1914], and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Charles Walter Hoskyns, Capt., Lincolnshire Regt. For services in connection with operations in the field." He was killed in action 25 Sept. 1915.

TATCHELL, EDWARD, Capt., was born 17 Aug. 1870, son of E. R. Tatchell, Esq., and Mrs. Tatchell. He was educated at Marlborough, and Trinity College, Cambridge; joined the Lincolnshire Regt. 9 Sept. 1893. He served in the Nile Expedition, 1898; was mentioned in Despatches; received the Queen's Medal with clasps for "Atbara" and "Khartum," and the Khedive's Medal. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900, employed with the Mounted Infantry; was present in operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); operations in Orange River Colony (May to 18 Nov. 1900), including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July). He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901], and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. He became Captain 2 Jan. 1903; retired 19 Sept. 1908, and joined the Reserve of Officers. Capt. Tatchell served in the European War from 1914 to 1917. He was mentioned in Despatches; severely wounded, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edward Tatchell, Capt. (Reserve of Officers), The Lincolnshire Regt." He was subsequently promoted Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel. He married, 7 Aug. 1902, at Ootacamund, India, Helen, daughter of Henry Irwin, Esq., C.I.E., and Mrs. Irwin. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

CLIFFORD, HENRY FREDERICK HUGH, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 13 Aug. 1867, second son of the late Major-General the Hon. Sir Henry Clifford, V.C. He entered the Suffolk Regt. 11 Feb. 1888; became Lieutenant 25 Feb. 1891; Captain 13 Oct. 1897. He served in the South African War of 1899, taking part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April and May, 1900; operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including action at Pretoria; operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including actions at Colesberg (1 to 6 Jan.); operations in Cape Colony, north of Orange River; operations in the Transvaal, Dec. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; operations in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. to Dec. 1900 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). From Aug. 1902, to Jan. 1905, he was A.D.C. to Lieut.-General Sir William Butler, G.O.C. Western District, and he was promoted Major 7 June, 1910. Major Clifford served in the European War from 1914; was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel 3 Sept. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Frederick Hugh Clifford, Lieut.-Colonel, The Suffolk Regt." In the following May he was reported wounded, and on 29 May was appointed to the command of a brigade. He fell in action on 11 Sept. 1916. Brigadier-General H. F. H. Clifford was a brother of Sir Hugh Clifford, Governor of the Gold Coast, whose only son, Lieut. H. G. F. Clifford, was reported "missing, believed killed," on 1 July, 1916. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

DE LA PRYME, WILLIAM HENRY ASTLEY, Capt., was born 20 Feb. 1880, at 86, Gloucester Place, Portman Square, London, W., son of Charles de la Pryme, Esq., of Wistow Lodge, Huntingdon, and Mrs. de la Pryme (formerly Miss Cubitt, of Fritton House, Great Yarmouth). He was educated at Christ's College, Cambridge, and joined the Royal Warwickshire Regt., as Second Lieutenant, 4 May, 1901. He became Lieutenant, Royal Warwickshire Regt., 27 Dec. 1903, and West Yorkshire Regt. 5 Feb. 1908, and was promoted Captain 16 April, 1910. He was Adjutant, West Yorkshire Regt., 27 June, 1912, to 26 June, 1915. Capt. de la Pryme proceeded to France early in Sept. 1914, with the 6th Division, as Adjutant of the 1st Battn. (The Prince of Wales's Own) West Yorkshire Regt. He was mentioned in Despatches in Feb. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Henry Astley de la Pryme, Capt., The Prince of Wales's Own, West Yorkshire Regt." The decoration was awarded for services in the Battle of the Aisne and in the First Battle of Ypres. He was promoted Major 4 May, 1916; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, to command the 9th Suffolks (Service Battalion), in France, 14 Nov. 1915, and commanded it until 14 May, 1916, on which date he received wounds in both legs, necessitating the amputation of the right one. He afterwards held the following Staff appointments at the War Office: Staff Captain 18 June, 1917, to 7 Feb. 1919; Deputy Assistant Military Secretary 8 Feb. to 23 March, 1919, when he was appointed D.A.A.G. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

ANDERSON, DESMOND FRANCIS, Capt., was born 5 July, 1885, only son of the late Frank H. Anderson. He joined the Devon Regt. 28 Jan. 1905; was promoted Lieutenant 20 Aug. 1908; became Captain, East Yorkshire Regt., 28 Aug. 1910; Adjutant 30 July, 1912, to 29 May, 1915. He served in the European War, 1914–17, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Desmond Francis Anderson, Capt., The East Yorkshire Regt." He was promoted Temporary Major 1 Sept. 1915. Major Anderson held the following Staff appointments: G.S.O.3, 5th Army Corps, B.E.F., 30 May, 1915, to 9 Feb. 1916; Brigade Major, 36th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 10 Feb. 1916, to 14 Jan. 1917; G.S.O.2, 8th Division, British Armies in France, 15 Jan. to 18 July, 1917; G.S.O.2, War Office, 19 July, 1917, to 22 Feb. 1918; G.S.O.2, 5th Division, British Armies in France, 10 March to 29 June, 1918; G.S.O.2, 1st Army Corps, British Armies in France, 30 June to 5 Aug. 1918; G.S.O.1 (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), 25th Division, British Armies in France, 6 Aug. 1918, to 22 April, 1919; G.S.O.2, War Office, 23 April, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1917, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. In 1915 he married Mary Hope Prisca, second daughter of the Rev. S. W. Wentworth Wilkin, C.F., of York, and they have one son. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BROWN, HENRY ROBERT SEGUIER, Capt., was born 6 July, 1872, at 1, Charles Street, Lowndes Square, London, S.W., son of Henry William Seguier Brown (deceased), H.M. Civil Service, and E. J. Edwards. He was educated at Charterhouse, and joined the East Yorkshire Regt. from the East Yorkshire Militia 5 Dec. 1895; became Lieutenant 11 May, 1898. He served in the South African War, 1900–2. He took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, including action at Houtnek (Thoba Mountain); served during operations in Orange River Colony, including actions at Biddulphsberg and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); in the Transvaal, Feb. to March, 1901; again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1901, and March, 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 16 Jan. 1902; retired 27 May, 1911, and joined the Reserve of Officers. He served in the European War from 1914, with the 1st Battn. The East Yorkshire Regt., until June, 1915, and afterwards commanded the Segregation Camp at Etaples for nearly two years. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Robert Seguier Brown, Capt., Reserve of Officers, East Yorkshire Regt. For services in connection with operations in the field." He became Major in the Reserve of Officers 1 Sept. 1915.

Henry R. S. Brown.

ALLASON, WALTER, Major, was born 18 March, 1875, in London, son of Mr. Alfred Allason, of 29, Randolph Crescent, W., and Elizabeth T. Allen. He was educated abroad and privately, and joined the 1st Bedfordshire Regt. 9 Dec. 1896, becoming Lieutenant 25 June, 1898. He served in South Africa, 1899–1900, and was present in the operations round Colesberg and in the Orange Free State; took part in the operations in Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; also in the Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; served in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–

Digitized by Google

1900, including actions at Colesberg (1 Jan. to 12 Feb.) (Queen's Medal and two clasps). He became Captain 22 Jan. 1902, and Major 16 Oct. 1913. Major Allason served in the European War; was present at Mons, Le Cateau, the Marne, the Aisne, Givenchy (14 Oct.), Neuve Chapelle (Oct. 27), Ypres (Nov.), Hill 60 (April, 1915) and the Somme (1916). He was wounded four times; mentioned in Despatches four times, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Walter Allason, Major, Bedfordshire Regt." He was Brigade Major, 13th Reserve Infantry Brigade, New Armies, 24 Aug. 1915, to 14 April, 1916; G.S.O.2, Catterick Reserve Centre, 15 April to 21 June, 1916; became Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Bedfordshire Regt. 17 July, 1916. He was awarded a Bar to his D.S.O. [London Gazette, 14 Nov. 1916]: "Walter Allason, D.S.O., Major (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), Bedfordshire Regt. He executed an attack with the greatest initiative and resource, thereby enabling a strong enemy position to be captured. He handled his battalion with great skill throughout the operations." He became Brigade Commander, 52nd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 14 April, 1918; was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; was appointed to command the 51st Bedfordshire Regt. on the Rhine in April, 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Allason has won the Plunging Competition four times. He played Water Polo for Middlesex, and represented the South v. North of England. He won the "Officers' Cup" at Aldershot Rifle Meeting in 1911. On 18 Aug. 1908, at St. Peter's, Cranley Gardens, London, W., he married Katherine Hamilton Poland, of 4 Cresswell Gardens, South Kensington, S.W., and their children are: Dolores Celina, and James Harry, born 6 Sept. 1912. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

FOSS, CHARLES CALVELEY, Capt., was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Calveley Foss, Capt., The Bedfordshire Regt. For services in connection with operations in the field." Since awarded the V.C. (See V.C. Volume.)

MACREADY, JOHN, Capt., was born 10 April, 1887, only surviving son of J. F. C. H. Macready, F.R.C.S. He was gazetted to the Bedfordshire Regt. 4 May, 1907; became Lieutenant 14 June, 1908; was Adjutant 18 April, 1912, to 7 June, 1915; became Captain 22 Jan. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914–18. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Macready, Capt., The Bedfordshire Regt." Capt. Macready became Deputy A.M.S. (graded D.A.A.G.) 8 June, 1915. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

John Macready.

GORDON, HERBERT, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 30 June, 1869. He entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Leicestershire Regt., becoming Lieutenant 1 April, 1891, and Captain 1 Jan. 1898. He was employed with the Egyptian Army 12 Nov. 1900, to 11 Nov. 1910, serving as A.A.G. from May, 1905, to 27 Dec. 1908. He served in the Soudan, 1900–2; was present at the re-occupation of the Bahr-el-Ghazal Province (Egyptian Medal with clasp); served in the Soudan, 1905; took part in the operations against the Nyam Nyam Tribes in the Bahr-el-Ghazal Province (Despatches [London Gazette, 18 May, 1906]; clasp to Egyptian Medal). He was promoted Major 26 June, 1907. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was Lieutenant-Colonel, Leicestershire Regt., 11 Nov. 1914, to 10 Nov. 1918; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Gordon, Lieut.-Colonel, Leicestershire Regt." On 8 Nov. 1915, he became Temporary Brigadier-General and Brigade Commander, 70th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and promoted to substantive rank 11 Nov. 1918; was mentioned in Despatches; was created a C.M.G. in 1917, and a C.B. in 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

TIDSWELL, EDMUND SAMUEL WAITE, Capt., was born 24 Aug. 1881, only son of the late Rev. S. W. Tidswell, of Dover Court, Essex. He joined the 1st Battn. The Leicestershire Regt., as Second Lieutenant, 4 June, 1904; became Lieutenant 29 Dec. 1906, and Captain 14 Oct. 1912. He was Adjutant, Leicestershire Regt., 14 Oct. 1912, to 28 June, 1915. Capt. Tidswell served in the European War from 1914 to 1917. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edmund Samuel Waite Tidswell, Capt., The Leicestershire Regt." Capt. Tidswell was Brigade Major, 81st Infantry Brigade, British Expeditionary Force, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 29 June, 1915, to 20 Aug. 1916; G.S.O.2, 16th Army Corps, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, British Salonika Force, 21 Aug. 1916, to 12 Jan. 1918; became G.S.O.1, 26th Division, British Salonika Force, 13 Jan. 1918 (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel). He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1917, and was awarded the O.B.E. He married, in 1918, Patricia, only child of the late Lieut.-Colonel R. C. Pierce, 1st Battn. Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MOSS-BLUNDELL, BRYAN SEYMOUR, Capt., was born 14 March, 1878, at Hessle, East Yorkshire, son of John Seymour Moss-Blundell, of Tranby Rise, Hessle. He was educated at Rugby and Dulwich College, and joined Alexandra, Princess of Wales's Own (Yorkshire) Regt., 29 Dec. 1900, becoming Lieutenant 29 May, 1903, and Captain 29 July, 1906. He was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 20 May, 1909, to 19 March, 1912. Capt. Moss-Blundell served in the European War from 1914; was present at the First and Third Battles of Ypres and the Battle of Neuve Chapelle. He was mentioned in Despatches 5 Feb. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Bryan Seymour Moss-Blundell, Capt., Alexandra, Princess of Wales Own (Yorkshire) Regt." He was promoted Major 29 Dec. 1915; was Brigade Major, 3rd Line Group, West Riding Division, Central Force, Home Defence, Home Forces, 7 Oct. 1915, to 11 July, 1916; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., D.A.A.G., 57th Division, Home Forces, British Armies in France, 12 June, 1916, to 5 Dec. 1918; A.A. and Q.M.G., 57th Division, British Armies in France, 6 Dec. 1918, to 4 April, 1919; became D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Headquarters Tank Group, British Army of the Rhine, 5 April, 1919. He was awarded the O.B.E. in 1918, and the Legion of Honour (Chevalier), March, 1920. On 17 July, 1907, at Wynberg, Cape Colony, Major Moss-Blundell married Kate Beatrice, daughter of Templar Horne, Surveyor-General, Cape Colony, and they have one son, John Seymour, born July, 1911. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GRIFFIN, CHRISTOPHER JOSEPH, Major, was born 24 Dec. 1874, fifth son of Patrick Griffin, of Woodhill Terrace, Tivoli, Cork. He joined the Army 28 Sept. 1895; became Lieutenant 6 April, 1898. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop (severely wounded); in the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900); in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; again in the Transvaal, Jan. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted Captain 26 Jan. 1900, and Major 1 Sept. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914–18; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 2 Jan. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Christopher Joseph Griffin, Major, The Lancashire Fusiliers." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916; became Temporary Brigadier-General; commanded the 103rd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 25 April to 28 Aug. 1917, and the 7th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 29 Aug. 1917, to 1918. He was wounded; mentioned in Despatches; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. He married, in 1919, Ruby, daughter of Capt. A. C. Ward, D.S.O. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SPOONER, ARTHUR HARDWICKE, Capt., was born in Liverpool 27 May, 1879, son of the Ven. Archdeacon George Hardwicke Spooner and Edith Spooner, daughter of the late Peter Swinton Boult, of Mossley Hall, Liverpool. He was educated at Haileybury College, and joined the 3rd South Lancashire Regt. (Militia) 30 Dec. 1899, and the Lancashire Fusiliers 21 April, 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901, as Station Staff Officer and Railway Staff Officer; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, Feb. to April, 1900, and again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to April 1901; operations in Cape Colony, April to July, 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Lieutenant 19 April, 1901; was Lieutenant, West African Regt., 27 Dec. 1904, to July, 1907. He became Captain 1 April, 1910, and Adjutant, Lancashire Fusiliers, 13 July, 1912. He served in the European War from 1914, and was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, Dec. 1914. Capt. Spooner was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Arthur Hardwicke Spooner, Capt., The Lancashire Fusiliers." He was created a C.M.G., Jan. 1918. He was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 3 Oct. 1915. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and was mentioned in Despatches 8 Dec. 1914; 17 Feb. 1915; 1 Jan. 1916; 4 Jan. and June, 1917; Jan. and June, 1918. He became a Temporary Brigadier-General 30 July, 1916, and was in command of the 183rd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 30 July, 1916, to 29 Sept. 1918; in command of the 223rd Mixed Brigade and 191st Infantry Brigade, Forces in Great Britain, 1 Nov. 1918, to 20 March, 1919. He was awarded a Bar to his D.S.O. [London Gazette, June, 1918]: "R. H. Spooner, C.M.G., D.S.O., Major and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel (Temporary Brigadier-General), Lancashire Fusiliers. He commanded his brigade in very difficult positions with consummate coolness and skill, and on every occasion displayed great initiative and resource. The clever handling of his brigade bettered the situation on the front of two divisions." He married (1st), on 16 Nov. 1907, Rosalie Augusta Pile (who died in 1908), youngest daughter of H. A. Pile, of Warleigh, Barbadoes; and (2ndly), on 24 Jan. 1912, Violet Hamilton Robarts, elder daughter of the late Lieut.-Colonel C. J. Robarts, late Indian Army, and of Mrs. Robarts, of Fleet, Hants, and they have four daughters: Marjorie Hilda, Veronica Joan, Patricia Margaret, and Lois Heather Barbara. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Arthur H. Spooner.

WILLIAMS, OLIVER DE LANCEY, Major, was born 5 Nov. 1875. He joined the 2nd Battn. The Royal Welsh Fusiliers, 10 Oct. 1894; became Lieutenant 9 Sept. 1896. He served in the South African War from 1889 to 1900; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso, and during operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900); in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to Sept. 1900; also in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, including action at Ruidam (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He became Captain 4 Feb. 1903, and Major 19 April, 1913. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1917; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 27 Nov. 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Oliver de Lancey Williams, Major, The Royal Welsh Fusiliers." Major Williams was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 8 June, 1915; became Temporary Brigadier-General, 92nd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 9 June, 1916. He was created a C.M.G. in 1917, and given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

CONNELL, JAMES CHARLES WALTER, Capt., was born 11 March, 1877. He entered the King's Own Scottish Borderers, as Second Lieutenant, 15 May, 1897. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98, with the Tirah Expeditionary Force (Medal with clasp). He became Lieutenant 1 Jan. 1898, and again saw active service in the South African War in 1902; was present in operations in the Transvaal (Queen's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 9 Oct. 1901. Capt. Connell was Adjutant, Volunteers, 23 Oct. 1903, to 28 Jan. 1905; Adjutant, Volunteers, 3 July, 1907, to 31 March, 1908; Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 April, 1908, to 31 March, 1911, and Adjutant (attached General Staff), Officers' Training Corps, 8 July, 1913, to 4 Sept. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914; was Temporary Major, King's Own Scottish Borderers, from 11 Sept. to 10 Dec. 1914; became Major 11 Dec. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "James Charles Walter Connell, Capt., The King's Own Scottish Borderers." Major Connell became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 11 Oct. 1915, commanding the 7th Battn. K.O.S.B., and from Dec. the 6th Battn. K.O.S.B., till invalided at the end of Oct. 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches, Dec. 1916, and was Second-in-Command of a Cadet Battalion from 20 Dec. 1917, to 6 Nov. 1918, when he was placed in command of the Young Soldiers' Battalion, Durham Light Infantry. He married (1st), in 1903, Mary Blanche (who died in 1904), daughter of E. W. Lake, of Westgate House, Bury St. Edmunds, and (2ndly), in 1910, Maude Kathleen, youngest daughter of the late Henry Scrymgour-Wedderburn, of Wedderburn. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BLAND, CHARLES ERNEST WILLIAM, Capt., was born at New Wandsworth, Surrey, 21 Aug. 1881, son of the late Capt. Horatio Bland, K.O.S.B., and Mrs. Bland, of Stretton House, near Alfreton, Derbyshire. He was educated at Marlborough and Sandhurst, and joined the King's Own Scottish Borderers 20 Jan. 1900. He served in the Boer War, and was present at the actions at Vet River and Zand River; those near Johannesburg and Pretoria, and at Zillikat's Nek, and in operations in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to July, 1901; in Orange River Colony, July, 1901, to May, 1902, and Cape Colony, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 9 March, 1908, and retired 10 April, 1910, being gazetted to the 3rd (Reserve) Battalion of his regiment. On the outbreak of the European War he rejoined; was attached to the 2nd Battn., with which he went to the Front. He was twice mentioned in Despatches by Field-Marshal Sir John French, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Ernest William Bland, Capt., The King's Own Scottish Borderers." He was killed in the action around Ypres 23 April, 1915, and is believed to have been buried near Pilkem. How Capt. C. E. W. Bland obtained the D.S.O. is described in a letter written by his Major: "The actual event which gained him the D.S.O. was when we were holding trenches in front of Ypres in Nov. 1914. His trench was several times attacked by Prussian infantry, as well as being subjected to very heavy fire from Minenwerfer and artillery, but he stuck to it and defended his trench with great bravery." Capt. Bland was well known in the hunting field, and was frequently out with the Cottesmore and Belvoir packs. He had married, at Maynooth, 22 Oct. 1910, Isabella, daughter of William Brown-Lecky, Esq., of Eccleville, County Tyrone, and had a daughter, Patricia, who was born 24 April, the day after her father was killed. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Charles E. W. Bland.

STORMONTH-DARLING, JOHN COLLIER, Capt., was born 9 Feb. 1878, at Kelso, Roxburghshire, son of Patrick Stormonth-Darling, of Lednathie, Forfarshire (deceased), and Mrs. Katharine Scott Stormonth-Darling, of Edenbank, Kelso. He joined the Militia Battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers in 1899, and obtained a commission as Second Lieutenant in the same year, in the 2nd Scottish Rifles, in which —and in Gough's Mounted Infantry—he served throughout the South African War of 1899–1902 with great distinction as Railway Staff Officer. He took part in the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, Nov. 1900; again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to June, 1901, and Nov. 1901, to April, 1902; in Orange River Colony, June to Sept. 1901, and Nov. 1901; also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 17 Jan. 1902]; received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He thereafter served in the 2nd Battn. in South Africa and in this country and Malta, till his promotion to a Captaincy 12 March, 1912, when transferred to the 1st Cameronians, then in Glasgow. He served as Adjutant to both battalions. In the European War, Capt. Stormonth-Darling was in most of the heavy fighting during and after the Retreat from Mons. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Collier Stormonth-Darling, Capt., The Cameronians (Scottish Rifles)." In the following Sept. he had his Majority, and in Dec. was given command of the 9th Battn. Highland Light Infantry (Glasgow Highlanders), and was killed, when taking his battalion into action, 1 Nov. 1916, and the news of his death was received in Kelso on the following Sunday. His two younger brothers, Capt. Robert Stormonth-Darling, Yeomanry, and Major P. Stormonth-Darling, Black Watch, also served in the European War. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

RIDDELL-WEBSTER, THOMAS SHERIDAN, Capt., was born 12 Feb. 1886, son of the late J. Riddell-Webster, Esq., of Priors Gate, St. Andrews, Scotland, and Mrs. Riddell-Webster. He was educated at Harrow and Sandhurst, and joined the Cameronians (Scottish Rifles) 16 Aug. 1905; became Lieutenant 30 Sept. 1909, and Captain 24 Oct. 1913. He served in the European War from 1914–1917, proceeding to France 14 Aug. 1914, with the 1st Cameronians; was Staff Captain in the 19th Infantry Brigade 3 Nov. 1914, to 16 July, 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1914, and 18 Feb. 1915], and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Thomas Sheridan Riddell-Webster, Capt., Scottish Rifles." He became D.A. and Q.M.G., 7th Division, 17 July, 1915; was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1916, and was appointed A.A. and Q.M.G., 41st Division, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 9 July, 1917. He was further mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1916; 1 Jan. 1917; 1 Jan. and 3 June, 1918]. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

STEWARD, GODFREY ROBERT VIVEASH, Capt., was born 2 Aug. 1881, at Manchester, son of Major-General Edward Harding Steward, C.M.G., R.E., and Mrs. Steward (née Jessie Baskerville). He was educated at Wellington College, Berkshire, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and became Second Lieutenant, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, 6 Dec. 1899. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; was present at Tugela Heights, the Relief of Ladysmith, and at the operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony (severely wounded; Queen's South African Medal with four clasps; King's South African Medal with two clasps). He became Lieutenant 15 March, 1901, and Captain 29 April, 1905. Capt. Steward served in the European War from Aug. 1914, as Company Commander, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers; was Adjutant, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, 1 Nov. 1914, to 3 Sept. 1915. He was very severely wounded 14 May, 1915; mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1915, and recommended for the D.S.O. for the following acts: (1) Covering the straightening of the line south of Messines on 31 Oct. 1914; (2) Leading the counter-attacks which drove the enemy out of Ploegsteert Wood, where they had gained a footing, on 8 and 10 Nov. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Godfrey Robert Viveash Steward, Capt., R. Inniskilling Fusiliers." Capt. Steward was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915, and became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, in command of a Service Battalion, Northumberland Fusiliers, 29 Sept. 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches, and given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917. Lieut.-Colonel Steward subsequently held the following Staff appointments: Instructor, Senior Officers' School, Aldershot, 1 April to 6 July, 1917; Labour Commandant, 2nd Army Corps, British Armies in France, 1 Sept. 1918, to 6 March, 1919; Labour Commandant, 5th Army Corps, British Armies in France. He was created a C.B.E. in 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BOWRING, EDWARD LANGLEY, Capt., was born 11 Sept. 1882, youngest son of the late Sir Charles Clement Bowring and Lady Bowring, of Park Grange, Derby. He entered the Army 5 Jan. 1901, as a Second Lieutenant in the Worcestershire Regt.; became Lieutenant 21 Dec. 1901. He served in South Africa, 1901–2; was present in the operations in Orange River Colony, Aug. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He became Captain 1 Oct. 1908. Capt. Bowring served in the European War from 1914 to 1916; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edward Langley Bowring, Capt., The Worcestershire Regt." He was employed as A.P.M., 51st Division, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 24 June, 1915, to 17 Nov. 1916, attaining his Majority 26 Oct. 1915, and became A.P.M., Northern Command, 29 Nov. 1916 (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel). He was awarded the O.B.E. Major Bowring married, in 1915, Laura Fraser, daughter of the late W. Fraser Biscoe, and they have one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Edward L. Bowring.

CORNISH-BOWDEN, JAMES HUBERT THOMAS, Major, was born at Newton Abbot, Devon, 2 Aug. 1870, son of the late Admiral William Cornish-Bowden, of Laire, Newton Abbot, and Mrs. Cornish-Bowden, elder daughter and co-heiress of the late James Cornish, of Black Hall, Devon, sometime Member of Parliament for Totnes, and High Sheriff of Devon. James Cornish-Bowden was educated at Newton College, and became Second Lieutenant in the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry 22 March, 1892, and was promoted Lieutenant 5 Sept. 1893. Lieut. Cornish-Bowden accompanied the Tirah Expedition to the North-West Frontier of India (1897–98), and received the Medal with two clasps. He obtained his Captaincy 19 Feb. 1900, and was Adjutant to the Indian Volunteers from 15 Oct. 1900, to 14 Oct. 1905. He was promoted Major 19 Feb. 1908. Major Bowden served in the European War from 1914 to 1919. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "James Hubert Thomas Cornish-Bowden, Major, The Duke of York's Light Infantry." On 6 Feb. 1916, he became Staff Captain, G.H.Q., British Expeditionary Force; on 24 April, 1916, D.A.A.G., G.H.Q., B.E.F., British Armies in France, and on 7 June, 1917, Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel and A.A.G., G.H.Q., British Armies in France. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. He married, in Calcutta Cathedral, 12 June, 1915, Margaret E., youngest daughter of the late John Gaskoin, and they have a son and a daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

WOODHAM, CHARLES BURNETT, Capt., was born 14 Dec. 1874. He entered the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, as a Second Lieutenant, 28 Sept. 1895, and was promoted Lieutenant 22 July, 1898, and Captain 12 Oct. 1901. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, on the Staff; was Brigade Signalling Officer from 12 Feb. to 12 March, 1900; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; also in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He again saw active service in the European War. He was mentioned in Despatches by Sir John French [London Gazette, 19 Oct. 1914], and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Burnett Woodham, Capt., The Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry." His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field." He was killed in action 15 June, 1915.

UMFREVILLE, HARRY KIRWAN, Capt., was born 22 Sept. 1871, at Ingress Abbey, Greenhithe, Kent, son of S. E. Umfreville, of Ingress Abbey, Greenhithe, Kent, and of Emma Annette Maryon Umfreville (formerly Wilson). He was educated at Brighton College, and joined the Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regt. in April, 1892, and the Duke of Wellington's West Riding Regt. 7 Dec. 1895. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901, in the Mounted Infantry. He took part in the operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, Feb. 1900; in the Orange Free State, May, 1900, including actions at Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; in Orange River Colony, June to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July), Witpoort and Bothaville; again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Aug. 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches twice; received the Queen's South African Medal with five clasps. He became Captain 1 Feb. 1902. Capt. Umfreville retired 15 July, 1911. He rejoined 6 Aug. 1914, and served in the 2nd Battn. of his regiment in the Expeditionary Force in the European War. He was on active service from 1914–17; was three times mentioned in Despatches, and, for commanding the 2nd Duke of Wellington's Regt. during the Battle of the Aisne and the First Battle of Ypres, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Harry Kirwan Umfreville, Capt. (Reserve of Officers), The Duke of Wellington's (West Riding Regt.)." "They never lost a trench or failed to regain one when lost by other units." He commanded the battalion from 13 Sept. 1914; was wounded, and commanded the 10th West Yorkshire Regt. from 29 March, 1915; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel; also commanded the 6th Lancashire Fusiliers and the 8th Somerset Light Infantry. He married, in Dec. 1902, at Clonevan, County Wexford, Ireland, Enid, daughter of Capt. R. D'Olier George, J.P., D.L., late 7th Dragoon Guards, of Cahore Gorey, County Wexford, Ireland, and they had two sons: Charles D'Olier, born in 1906; Michael, born in 1908, and a daughter, Enid. His D.S.O. was awarded for "services in connection with operations in the field." He was killed in action 15 June, 1915.

Harry K. Umfreville.

Baptist Johnston Barton.

BARTON, BAPTIST JOHNSTON, Capt. (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), was born 21 Oct. 1876, son of the late Colonel Baptist Johnston Barton, D.L., A.D.C., of Greenfort, and Mrs. Barton, of Portsalon, County Donegal. He is a Deputy Lieutenant. He was educated at Foyle College and Sandhurst, and joined the Duke of Wellington's West Riding Regt. 5 Sept. 1896, becoming Lieutenant 20 Oct. 1899, and Captain 29 March, 1902. Capt. Barton retired from the Army 9 Sept. 1911. He served in the European War from 1914–18; was three times mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Baptist Johnston Barton, Capt., Reserve of Officers, The Duke of Wellington's West Riding Regt." He became Major, Reserve of Officers, Birthday Honours List, 3 June, 1915; was promoted Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 18 May, 1917; commanded a Territorial Force Battalion of the Yorkshire Light Infantry; was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. [London Gazette, Jan. 1916]. He married, in 1908, Kathleen Maude, daughter of Egbert de Hamel, of Middleton Hall, Warwickshire, and they have one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

WARREN, GEORGE ERNEST, Major, was born 18 Jan. 1871, son of the late George K. Warren, formerly of British Guiana, and Fairlawn, Market Harborough. He was educated at St. John's College, Cambridge, and at Sandhurst, from which he was commissioned in The Border Regt. 19 Nov. 1892. He became Lieutenant 6 May, 1896, and Captain 21 June, 1902. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, on the Staff, being employed as Assistant Provost-Marshal 7 March to 30 Oct. 1902, and was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and the action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and the action at Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900) and action at Pieter's Hill; operations in the Orange Free State, April and May, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, June, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to Nov. 1900; operations in Orange River Colony, May, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, May, 1900; operations in the Transvaal from 30 Nov. 1900. For his services he received the Queen's Medal with five clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He served as Adjutant of Volunteers 8 May, 1903, to 31 May, 1908, and was promoted Major 29 Oct. 1914. Major Warren served in the European War, 1914–19, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Border Regt., 29 Nov. to 18 Dec. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "George Ernest Warren, Major, The Border Regt." He was mentioned in Despatches. Major Warren married, in 1903, Norah Ingate, widow of H. G. T. Ingate Warren, and daughter of W. J. Roche, of Belfast, and they have one son, William Rollo George de W., born 30 Dec. 1907. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GREEN, EDGAR WALTER BUTLER, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 27 Aug. 1869. He entered the Royal Sussex Regt. 29 March, 1890; became Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1891; was Adjutant, Royal Sussex Regt., 24 Nov. 1897, to 4 Oct. 1900; was promoted to Captain 2 Feb. 1899. He served in the South African War, 1900–2, as Adjutant, 1st Battn. Royal Sussex Regt., to 4 Oct. 1900; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July) and Ladybrand (2 to 5 Sept.): also during the operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony (Despatches [London Gazette 10 Sept. 1901]: Queen's Medal with four clasps and King's Medal with two clasps). From 10 July, 1902, to 11 March, 1903, he was Staff Officer, Orange River Colony, and he became Major 2 Feb. 1907. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel 31 Oct. 1914; commanded the 45th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 12 Oct. 1915, to 12 April, 1916, and the Dover Special Reserve Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 16 March, 1917, to 7 May, 1918; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edgar Walter Butler Green, Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Sussex Regt." He was appointed Officer in Charge of Records, No. 4 District, Shrewsbury, from 25 March, 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

PALK, THE HONOURABLE LAWRENCE CHARLES WALTER, Major, was born 28 Sept. 1870, second son of the late Lord Haldon and the Honourable Constance Mary Barrington, daughter of the 7th Viscount Barrington, of Palazzo Capomazza, Naples. He was educated at Wellington College, and enlisted in the 8th Hussars in 1890. After four years' service in the ranks, during which he rose to the rank of Sergeant, he obtained a commission in the Hampshire Regt. 4 July, 1894, in which he became Lieutenant 24 July, 1897, and Captain 11 Nov. 1900. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, as Station Commandant 10 to 24 May, 1901; in operations in the Transvaal, April, 1901, to Feb. 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He also saw service in India. When the European War broke out he went to the Front from India, with the 1st Battn. Hampshire Regt., and was awarded the Legion of Honour for gallantry in the Retreat from Mons. He was present at Le Cateau, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "The Honourable Lawrence Charles Walter Palk, Major, The Hampshire Regt." The decoration was given for gallantry at the Battle of Le Cateau, and during the Retreat from Mons. Lieut.-Colonel the Hon. L. C. W. Palk was killed in action 1 July, 1916, while commanding his battalion at the Battle of the Somme during the attack on Beaumont Hamel. He was three times mentioned in Despatches. He was an extremely popular officer. On one occasion in the retreat he was asked whether he knew the song the men were singing, and answered: "No, how should I?" "Why, that's your

The Hon. L. C. W. Palk.

Digitized by Google

tune—'We'll follow Charlie,'" was the reply. When leading his men he habitually carried nothing but a stick. He was a good horseman, a lover of sport and a keen student of military history. One who knew him well, wrote: "He invariably made it his business to befriend young officers on joining; he took his boys, as he called them, about with him anywhere, influencing them for good and keeping them from harm. He judged his fellow men shrewdly, and if he never suffered fools gladly, his nature led him always to take a charitable view of even the lamest of dogs he chanced to meet." His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SAVAGE, MORRIS BOSCAWEN, Capt., was born 14 March, 1879, only son of Lieut.-Colonel H. B. Savage, R.M.A. (son of Colonel John Morris Savage, R.H.A., the latter being the son of Sir John Morris Boscawen Savage, Royal Marines), and E. M. Collyer, his wife. He followed in the steps of his ancestors, who had served in the Army since the Battle of the Boyne, by joining the Army 20 May, 1899, as a Second Lieutenant in the South Staffordshire Regt. He served for eight years in India, and for four years in South Africa; became Lieutenant 12 May, 1900; Captain 22 Jan. 1908; was Adjutant of the 2nd Battn. South Staffordshire Regt. 1 March, 1909, to 29 Feb. 1912; employed with the Egyptian Army 28 March, 1912, to 27 March, 1914. Capt. Savage served in the Great War, and took part in the Retreat from Mons; was present at the Battle of the Marne, the Aisne, and the First Battle of Ypres, where he was wounded 25 Oct. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Morris Boscawen Savage, Capt., South Staffordshire Regt. For good handling of a company during the Retreat from Mons, the Battle of the Marne, the Aisne, and the First Battle of Ypres, and especially for the skilful handling of his company on 21 Sept. 1914, when he moved up to help the Wiltshire Regt., and assisted them to reoccupy their trenches at Chavonne." In March, 1915, he was appointed Staff Captain of the 110th Infantry Brigade, and proceeded again to France with his Brigade in July, 1915. He became Major 1 Sept. 1915; in Dec. 1915, he was appointed D.A.A and Q.M.G. of the 9th (Scottish) Division, and was present with that division during the operations on the Somme in 1916. In Feb. 1917, he was posted to the 19th Corps as D.A.A.G., and took part in the Battle of Arras and the Third Battle of Ypres. In Aug. 1917, he was appointed A.A. and Q.M.G. of the 6th Division, and was present with that Division at the Battle of Cambrai. He was five times mentioned in Despatches (1914, 1915, 1917, and twice in 1918); was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel for services in the field 3 June, 1918, and was created a C.B.E. in 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Savage married, at Alverstoke, Hants, 26 June, 1915, Helen Elise Tovil, and they have one son, Patrick Morris Boscawen, born 21 Aug. 1916. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SAUNDERS, CYRIL, Major, was born 26 Feb. 1875, at Canterbury, Kent, son of Brigadier-General A. A. Saunders. He was educated at the Elizabeth College, Guernsey, and entered the Army 28 Sept. 1895, as a Second Lieutenant in the Dorsetshire Regt.; became Lieutenant 26 Feb. 1898. He served in the South African Campaign, as Railway Staff Officer, 27 June, 1900, to 3 Aug. 1902, and also with the Mounted Infantry. He was present at the Relief of Kimberley; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including the operations at Paardeberg (17 to 27 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including the actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including the actions at Colesberg (1 Jan. to 12 Feb.); operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; operations in Cape Colony and Orange River Colony, June, 1901. He was twice mentioned in Despatches [London Gazettes of 4 May, 1900, and 10 Sept. 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was promoted Captain 7 April, 1902; was an Adjutant in the Territorial Force 8 March, 1910, to 7 March, 1913; became Major 3 June, 1914. Major Saunders took part in the European War, serving with the 1st Battn. The Dorsetshire Regt. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Cyril Saunders, Major, 1st Battn. The Dorsetshire Regt." He was Commandant, School of Instruction; Staff Officer, 1st Class, Royal Flying Corps (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), 28 Sept. 1916, to 22 April, 1917; was acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Rank Corps, 13 March to 20 May, 1918; was placed on half-pay 17 Jan. 1919. Lieut.-Colonel C. Saunders was twice mentioned in Despatches, and wounded twice. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

LILLY, CHARLES OTTO, Lieut., was born 18 Jan. 1890, son of Charles Edward Lilly, of 1, Park Village West, Regent's Park, London, N.W.1. He was educated at St. Paul's School, and Jesus College, Cambridge, and entered the Dorset Regt. 19 Sept. 1911, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 10 Aug. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was wounded; mentioned in Despatches 12 Oct. 1914; 18 Feb. and 5 May, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Otto Lilly, Lieut., 1st Battn. Dorsetshire Regt." He was promoted Captain 1 Oct. 1915; served from 6 Oct. 1915, to 13 April, 1916, as G.S.O., 3rd Grade; was with the Machine Gun Corps from 17 May, 1916, to 7 Aug. 1917; R.F.C. and R.A.F. 10 Aug. 1917, to 28 Aug. 1919. Won Public Schools Boxing Championships, Middle-Weights, 1907, 1908. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

RITCHIE, WILLIAM BUCHANAN, Major, was born 16 Sept. 1877, and was commissioned from the Militia in the Prince of Wales's Volunteers (South Lancashire Regt.) 25 Feb. 1899; was promoted Lieutenant 26 May, 1900, and Captain 1 Dec. 1904. Capt. Ritchie first saw service in the Great War. After serving for a period as Temporary Major, he became Major 11 Dec. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Buchanan Ritchie, Major, South Lancashire Regt." He subsequently served as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, South Lancashire Regt., Sept. 1915, to March, 1916; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Lancaster Regt., April, 1916, to March, 1918, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel to May, 1918; became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, South Lancashire Regt., 24 June, 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches for his services in the war. He became Camp Commandant 14 March, 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MURRAY, JAMES THOMAS CROKATT, Major, was born 25 July, 1873. He entered the Army as a Second Lieutenant in the Black Watch (Royal Highlanders) 21 Oct. 1893, in which he became Lieutenant 1 April, 1898, and Captain 16 Feb. 1901. He first saw active service in the South African War, taking part in operations in Orange River Colony, Dec. 1901, to May, 1902, for which he received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. In 1908 he was engaged in fighting on the North-West Frontier of India, in the Mohmand country, and received the Medal and clasp. He was from 28 Jan. 1910, to 15 Feb. 1911, Adjutant, Territorial Force. He was promoted Major 25 Feb. 1911. Major Murray served in the European War from 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches 19 Oct. 1914, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "James Thomas Crokatt Murray, Major, Royal Highlanders." Major Murray was killed accidentally on 16 Feb. 1915, two days before the award of his D.S.O. was gazetted. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MOFFITT, FREDERICK WILLIAM, Capt., was born at Woolston, Southampton, 14 June, 1872, son of Surgeon-Major Andrew Moffitt, A.M.S., and H. C. Moffitt (née Gordon), his wife. He was educated at Haileybury College, and joined the Army 8 Oct. 1890, with a commission in the Essex Regt.; was promoted Lieutenant 20 Feb. 1895. He served with the 4th Brigade, with the Tirah Expeditionary Force, as Transport Officer (Medal and clasp), in 1898. He became Captain 11 May, 1900; saw active service in South Africa, 1900–2, acting as Company Commander in the 1st Essex Regt., in the advance on Pretoria and subsequent operations until Peace was declared. He was present at actions on the Vet River, Zand River, at Johannesburg, Diamond Hill, Belfast, Frederickstadt, also taking part in operations in the Eastern Transvaal and the Orange River Colony. He was twice mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901, and 29 July, 1902]; was promoted Brevet Major 22 Aug. 1902; awarded the Queen's Medal with five clasps and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was Staff Captain, 5th Division, Irish Command, 16 Jan. 1909, to 1 April, 1912, and D.A.Q.M.G., 5th Division, Irish Command, 2 April, 1912, to 15 Jan. 1913. Major Moffitt again saw active service in the European War from 1914, serving with the 2nd Battn. Essex Regt. during the Retreat and subsequent advance. He was present at the actions at Le Cateau, Marne, passage of the Aisne, Meterin, taking part in the operations round Ploegsteert and Armentières. He was severely wounded when holding back the enemy with half a company when Le Gheer village was temporarily lost 21 Oct. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frederick William Moffitt, Capt., The Essex Regt." He was promoted Major 4 May, 1915, and was A.A.G., Southern Command, 20 Jan. 1915, to 1 July, 1916, and G.S.O.1, Australian Training Centre, Salisbury Plain, 2 July, 1916, to 7 Dec. 1917, for both of which appointments he held the temporary rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Frederick W. Moffitt.

WILLIAMS-FREEMAN, FRANCIS CLAVERING PEERE, Capt., was born 22 Feb. 1876. He entered the Army 5 Sept. 1896, as a Second Lieutenant in the Royal Warwickshire Regt., and was promoted Captain 16 Nov. 1901. He served in South Africa, 1900–2, being employed as Adjutant, Mounted Infantry Battn., 21 Feb. to 31 Dec. 1901. He was present at the Relief of Kimberley; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including the actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria. He was mentioned in Despatches twice [London Gazette, 7 May and 10 Sept. 1901], and received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Capt. Williams-Freeman retired 8 Jan. 1913. He rejoined at the outbreak of hostilities in Europe. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Francis Clavering Peere Williams-Freeman, Capt. (Reserve of Officers), The Northamptonshire Regt." Capt. Williams-Freeman subsequently became Major (Reserve of Officers). His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

FINCH, HERBERT MARSHALL, Major, was born at Sonning, Berkshire, 10 May, 1866, eldest son of the Rev. Thomas Ross Finch and Caroline Mary, third daughter of William Marshall. He was educated at Winchester, and joined the King's Own Shropshire Light Infantry (Militia) 31 Jan. 1885, being gazetted a Lieutenant in the Royal Berkshire Regt. 10 Nov. 1886, in which he was promoted Captain 25 Aug. 1897. He was Adjutant of the Royal Berkshire Regt. 5 Aug. 1899, to 4 Aug. 1903.

Digitized by Google

He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, as a Railway Staff Officer and as Adjutant, and was present in operations in the Orange Free State, April and May, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Nov. 1900; operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July and Aug. 1900, including actions at Zilikat's Nek; operations in Orange River Colony, May to July, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899 to 1900; operations in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to July, 1901; operations in Cape Colony, July, 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Brevet of Major, 29 Nov. 1900; Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Major 12 Sept. 1906; commanded the Depôt at Reading from 1907 to 1911, and when the war broke out in Aug. 1914, was Second-in-Command of the 1st Battn. He went to France with the Expeditionary Force 12 Aug. 1914; was slightly wounded during the First Battle of Ypres, and invalided home. He was mentioned in Despatches by Field-Marshal Sir John (now Lord) French for gallant and distinguished service in the field, and for gallantry at the First Battle of Ypres; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Marshall Finch, Major, Royal Berkshire Regt." He returned to the front 2 May, 1915, to command the Second Battn., being promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 30 April, 1915, and was killed in action at Fromelles on the 9th, while gallantly leading his battalion. He was buried there behind the British lines. Lieut.-Colonel Graham, C.B., 1st Royal Berkshires, wrote: "I can only tell you what you already know—that is, what an irreparable loss his will be to the Army, and to the regiment in particular. You have a great consolation in feeling that he fell as he would wish to, 'gallantly leading his battalion in attack,'" and Major G. P. Hunt: "This war has taken so many of our best, but I know there is no one who will be more missed than your husband. Everyone admired him so much." Second Lieut. N. West wrote: "The situation was so terrible, and, in fact, the whole affair that morning had arisen to such a parlous condition, some details may possibly have missed me. However, when the General sent for me and told me to take the front line on, and I started over that bullet-swept area, I did not notice the Colonel; but as I was crawling back to our own trenches, I saw him lying near our wire; he had certainly been hit, but told me his leg was numbed and that he was unable to use it. He was lying in a small hole in the ground where he was fairly safe, and I can see him now plucking the grass round him, and telling me he thought he had better endeavour to get in, as his wound was not painful, but he could not use his leg. I looked everywhere, and thought out everything; it would have been madness to try and pick him up and carry him into the old fire trench; the only possible thing to do was for him to wait where he was while I got a party to sap out to him (i.e., about eight to ten yards). This I told him, and then made for the fire trench as quickly as I could, and just managed to get in by the skin of my teeth; both my arms were out of action. I went to find the best place to start the sap and to get extra shovels, when, to my horror, his head suddenly appeared over the parapet, and before another second passed a bullet hit him in the head and killed him instantly." A friend also wrote: 'It is with great grief I write to sympathize with you in your terrible loss. Since the war began we have heard endless tales from everyone who was with him of his courage and calmness. The regiment can ill afford to lose such a brilliant soldier, and not only that, I am sure it will be a personal grief to every one who knew him—however slightly. Later on it may help you to know how universally admired and loved your husband was by all his men, as well as his brother officers." Private T. Barlow, 1st Royal Berkshires, in speaking of the action at Marseilles, said: "We lost a lot of men in this engagement, but we were told afterwards that the retaking of the bridge had saved a lot of lives. I shall never forget the coolness of Major Finch in this attack; he walked about in a perfect hail of bullets, giving his men confidence, and I can safely say it was he who saved the situation that night," and a friend wrote on his return to the front: "Finch is a fine man—out with his beloved Berkshires again, a splendid lot." He married, at Bermuda, 20 April, 1895, Florence Kathleen (Pierremont, South Farnborough), elder daughter of Lieut.-Colonel Edward Crozier Sibbald Moore, C.R.E., Bermuda, and had four children: Frank Marshall, born 15 Jan. 1899; Harold Du Pré, born 29 Aug. 1903; Edward Ross, born 25 Aug. 1911, and Florence Mary Earnshaw. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Herbert Marshall Finch.

TULLOCH, RICHARD MURRAY GREGORIE, Capt., was born 20 May, 1878, youngest son of Major-General Sir Alexander Bruce Tulloch, K.C.B., C.M.G., and of Arabella, daughter of the late Stephen Herlis. He joined the Army 8 Sept. 1897, as a Second Lieutenant in the Royal West Kent Regt., in which he was promoted Lieutenant 28 Jan. 1899. He served in the South African War from 1900 to 1902, taking part in operations in the Orange Free State, April to May, 1900; operations in the Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Biddulphsberg and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, Sept. Oct. and Nov. 1901; operations in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Sept. 1901, and Nov. 1901, to April, 1902; operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal, Sept. and Oct. 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 20 Jan. 1904, and was Adjutant of the Royal West Kent Regt. from 16 Nov. 1907, to 13 Aug. 1909, and Adjutant of Special Reserve 31 Aug. 1910, to 21 Jan. 1912. Capt. Tulloch served in the European War from 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Richard Murray Gregorie Tulloch, Capt., Royal West Kent Regt." He was promoted Major 26 May, 1915, and was G.S.O.3 and G.S.O.2, Training Centre, Ripon, June, 1915, to April, 1916; G.S.O., 64th Division, Home Forces, Sept. 1916, to March, 1917; G.S.O.2, 11th Army Corps, British Armies in France, May to July, 1917; held a special appointment as Chief Instructor at the Instructional School, Berkhampsted, 7 May to 22 July, 1918; was appointed G.S.O.2, School for Training Instruction, Berkhampsted, 23 July, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and twice mentioned in Despatches. Major Tulloch married, in 1916, Eleanor Margaret, only child of W. Malcolm Corrie, of Biarritz, and they have one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BUCHANAN-DUNLOP, HENRY DONALD, Capt., was born 24 July, 1878, son of Lieut.-Colonel H. D. Buchanan-Dunlop, late Royal Artillery, and Sabina Woolston. He was educated at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and entered the Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regt. 16 Feb. 1898, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 8 March, 1900, and Captain 19 March, 1904. Capt. Buchanan-Dunlop served in the European War from 1914; was Adjutant, Royal West Kent Regt., from 2 Nov. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Donald Buchanan-Dunlop, Capt., Royal West Kent Regt." He was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal West Kent Regt., 13 Sept. 1915, to 11 Sept. 1916, and Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 5 Dec. 1916, to 29 May, 1917; was appointed Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Machine Gun Corps, 27 Dec. 1917. He was five times mentioned in Despatches (Feb. 1915, Jan. and July, 1916, June, 1917 and Jan. 1918); was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

TREVOR, HERBERT EDWARD, Major, was born in London 16 Dec. 1871, eldest son of Colonel G. H. Trevor, C.S.I., and of Mrs. Trevor, daughter of Colonel E. K. Elliot, B.S.C. He was educated at Winchester College, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst; entered the Army 14 Sept. 1892, in the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 26 March, 1894, and Captain 9 Oct. 1899. He was employed as D.A.A.G., Cork District, 1900–1, and as Adjutant, 1st Battn. King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, April, 1901, to April, 1905; Officer of a Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, Camberley, Feb. 1906, to Jan. 1910; Brigade Major, Northumberland Infantry Brigade, Northern Command, April, 1911, to April, 1912; was promoted Major 14 June, 1912; was Brigade Major, 6th London Infantry Brigade, London District, April, 1912, to Feb. 1913. Major Trevor saw active service in the European War, with the 2nd Battn. King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, Aug. to Oct. 1914, and was present in action from Mons to the First Battle of Ypres; acted as Brigade Major, 142nd Infantry Brigade, from Nov. 1914, to Oct. 1915, with the Central Force, Home Defence, and with the British Expeditionary Force. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Edward Trevor, Major, King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry." He commanded a Service Battn. of his regiment from 30 Nov. 1915, to 2 July, 1916, and was Temporary Brigadier-General while commanding the 103rd Infantry Brigade in France, July, 1916, to April, 1917, and Aug. to Nov. 1917, and while commanding the East Anglian Reserve Brigade, Nov. 1917, to April, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917. He was mentioned in Despatches five times, and created a C.M.G. in 1918. Lieut.-Colonel H. E. Trevor married, at Limerick, 17 April, 1902, Aileen Ismenia, daughter of the late Robert Hardinge Massy. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

HEATHCOTE, CHARLES EDENSOR, Major, was born 8 April, 1875, son of Lieut.-Colonel C. L. Heathcote, late Durham Light Infantry, and Eleanor, youngest daughter of S. P. Austin, of Sunderland. He was educated at Bedford School, and entered the Army 7 March, 1894, as a Second Lieutenant in the Yorkshire Light Infantry, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 30 Jan. 1898 and Captain 23 April, 1900. Capt. Heathcote served as Superintendent of Gymnasia, Malta, from Jan. 1900, to Aug. 1902, and was employed with the West African Frontier Force 18 June, 1904, to 1 Sept. 1909, serving in the Onitsha Hinterland Expedition, 1904–5; the Bende-Onitsha Hinterland Expedition, 1905–6 (Despatches [London Gazette, 18 Sept. 1906]; Medal with clasp); Southern Nigeria, 1906 (Despatches [London Gazette, 13 March, 1908]); Southern Nigeria, 1908, in command (Despatches [London Gazette, 21 Dec. 1909]; clasp). He was employed as Superintendent of Gymnasia, Eastern Command, 6 March, 1911, to 5 Aug. 1914, and was promoted Major 11 Nov. 1913. He took part in the European War, serving with the Second Battn. of his regiment, from August to 31 Oct. 1914, as a Company Commander, then as Second-in-Command, and finally in command, and was present at the Battles of Mons, Le Cateau, the Marne, the Aisne, and the First Battle of Ypres (dangerously wounded at Messines). He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Edensor Heathcote, Major, The King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry." On returning to the front, Major Heathcote was Second-in-Command of the 2nd King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, and at the Second Battle of Ypres in April, 1915, and in command of the 1st Battn. in the same battle from May to Sept., when he became Commanding Officer of the 4th Lincolnshire Regt. He commanded them at Loos and the capture of the Hohenzollern Redoubt, and afterwards in Egypt at the Suez Canal Defences, and in France on the Vimy Ridge, until May, 1916. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916; was Temporary Brigadier-General commanding the 7th Infantry Brigade, May to Sept. 1916, taking part in operations on Vimy Ridge, May, 1916, and the First Battle of the Somme; commanded the 9th King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry at the Somme, Sept. 1916 (invalided); commanded the 7th Leicestershire Regt., Jan. to May, 1917, in the Battle of Arras. In May, 1917, he was ordered to Egypt to command a Brigade, and on 1 Sept. took over the command of the 231st Infantry Brigade. With it he was in action at the battles of Beersheba and Sheria; operations west of Jerusalem; the capture of Jerusalem; operations astride the Nablus Road. The brigade then went to the Western Front, and was engaged in operations south of Merville, Aug. 1918; the Third Battle of the Somme and the attack on the Hindenburg Line, east of Ronssoy and Templeux-le-Guerard; the operations resulting in the reoccupation of Aubers Ridge and Lille, the capture of Tournai, and advance to the Dendre at Ath. He was six times mentioned in Despatches, awarded the Order of the Nile, 3rd Class, and was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and a C.B. in 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Heathcote married, in 1909, May, second daughter of the late Edmund Severne, of Wallop, Shropshire, and Thenford, Northants, and they have two sons: Gilbert Gresley, born 24 May, 1911, and John Severne, born 17 April, 1913. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Charles E. Heathcote.

Digitized by Google

LUARD, EDWARD BOURRYAU, Major, was born 20 Sept. 1870, son of Lieut.-General R. G. A. Luard, C.B. He was educated at Sherborne and Clifton Colleges, and at Sandhurst, and entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Shropshire Light Infantry 2 May, 1891; was promoted Lieutenant 11 Feb. 1894, and Captain 11 Aug. 1900. He served in South Africa, 1899–1902; on the Staff, being present in operations in the Transvaal from 1900 to 1902; was Signalling Officer 9 June to 4 Sept. 1901, (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was promoted Major 11 Feb. 1910. Lieut.-Colonel Luard served in the European War; was present at the Marne, Sept. 1914; Armentières, 1914–15; Ypres, 1915–16. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edward Bourryau Luard, Major, Shropshire Light Infantry." He was Lieutenant-Colonel commanding the 1st King's Shropshire Light Infantry 6 Aug. 1915; was mentioned in Despatches 14 Jan. and 30 Nov. 1915, and 30 April, 1916. He died of wounds 24 April, 1916. Lieut.-Colonel Luard had been awarded the Gold Medal for services rendered during the plague at Hong-Kong in 1894. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

OSBORNE, HENRY PERCY, Major, was born 3 Sept. 1877. He entered the Army, from the Militia, as a Second Lieutenant in the Middlesex Regt. 4 Jan. 1899, and became Lieutenant 14 March, 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900, being present at the Relief of Ladysmith; operations of 17 to 29 Jan. 1900, and the action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900; operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb.); operations in Natal, March and April, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He became Captain 12 Oct. 1901; graduated at the Staff College, Camberley. He served in the European War from 1914; was promoted Major 8 Oct. 1914, and for his services was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Percy Osborne, Major, Middlesex Regt." He was Brigade Major, 55th Infantry Brigade, New Armies and British Expeditionary Force, 19 April to 19 Oct. 1915; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel commanding the 12th Battn. Middlesex Regt. 20 Oct. 1915, to 21 June, 1916; G.S.O.3, Australian Training Centre, 25 June, 1916, to 14 Aug. 1917; G.S.O.2, 3rd British Division in France, 7 Oct. 1917, to 1 Jan. 1918; Lieut.-Colonel Osborne commanded the 9th Battn. Cheshire Regt. in the Army of Occupation in Germany. He was twice mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Henry Percy Osborne.

PHILIPS, LEWIS FRANCIS, Major, was born 4 Oct. 1870, son of John William Philips, of Heybridge, Staffordshire, and of Olivia, daughter of the Rev. William Dodsworth, D.D. He was educated at Winchester, and entered the Army 9 July, 1890, as a Second Lieutenant in the King's Royal Rifle Corps; was promoted Lieutenant 15 Feb. 1893, and Captain 18 May, 1898. He served in the South African War, 1899 to 1902, on the Staff (as Assistant Provost-Marshal 15 April, 1901, to 4 Feb. 1902), and took part in the Relief of Ladysmith, including the action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and the action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900), and the action at Pieter's Hill; operations in Natal, March to June, 1900, including the action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June). For his services he was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; was given the Brevet of Major 22 Aug. 1902; received the Queen's Medal with six clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was G.S.O.2, Northumbrian Division, Northern Command, 30 April, 1908, to 30 April, 1910; G.S.O.2, Canadian Forces, 27 July, 1911, to 30 Nov. 1912. He again saw active service in the European War, serving as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Nov. 1914, to 10 Sept. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915], for services at the First Battle of Ypres in particular: "Lewis Francis Philips, Major, The King's Royal Rifle Corps." He became Temporary Brigadier-General 11 Sept. 1915; was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 18 Dec. 1915; commanded the 70th Infantry Brigade 11 Sept. to 9 Nov. 1915; the 189th Infantry Brigade 26 May, 1916, to 30 Oct. 1917; was appointed Base Commandant, Rouen (graded as Brigadier-General), 31 Oct. 1917; appointed to command the 1st Battn. King's Royal Rifle Corps 1 Aug. 1919; placed on half-pay, with the rank of Colonel 18 Dec. 1919, and appointed to the command of the Hampshire Infantry Brigade 1 March, 1920. Brigadier-General Philips was mentioned in Despatches, and created a C.M.G. in 1917 and a C.B.E. in 1919. He married, in 1909, Margaret Aline, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel A. H. Macdonald-Moreton, late Coldstream Guards, and they have a son, Norman, born 24 March, 1916, and two daughters, Anne and Margaret. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Lewis Francis Philips.

JELF, RUDOLF GEORGE, Major, was born in Aldershot Camp 19 Aug. 1873, son of the late Colonel R. Jelf, C.M.G., of the Royal Engineers, and Mrs. Margaret Jelf, daughter of Professor Blunt, of St. John's College, Cambridge. He was educated at Eton, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and obtained his first commission in the 1st Battn. King's Royal Rifle Corps 4 Oct. 1893. He took part in the Relief of Chitral, 1895 (Medal and clasp); was promoted Lieutenant 28 March, 1896. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, taking part in operations in Natal in 1899, including the actions at Talana and Lombard's Kop; the Defence of Ladysmith, including the action of 6 Jan. 1900; operations in the Transvaal, Jan. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps; King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 13 Jan. 1901; was Adjutant of Volunteers 2 Sept. 1902, to 31 Aug. 1905; A.D.C. to the Viceroy of India 19 July, 1907, to 31 March, 1911; was promoted Major 4 Nov. 1910. Major Jelf again saw active service in the European War from 1914 to 1919 on the Western Front. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Rudolf George Jelf, Major, King's Royal Rifle Corps." He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, King's Royal Rifle Corps, 15 June to 25 Sept. 1915; Brigade Commander, 73rd Infantry Brigade, 26 Sept. 1915, to 24 Nov. 1916; Brigade Commander, 86th Infantry Brigade, 30 April, 1917 (both in France); Brigade Commander, 1st London Reserve Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 6 March, 1918. For his services in the war he was five times mentioned in Despatches, was made Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. Lieutenant-Colonel R. G. Jelf married, in 1919, Kathleen, youngest daughter of W. Rowe Green. His favourite recreations are hunting, fishing, shooting and golf. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

OPPENHEIM, AUGUSTUS CHARLES, Capt., was born 12 Jan. 1883, youngest son of the late Henry Maurice William Oppenheim, of 16, Bruton Street, W., and Mrs. Henry Oppenheim. Educated at Eton, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, he entered the King's Royal Rifles 22 Oct. 1902, and was promoted Lieutenant 4 June, 1907. He was appointed Adjutant of the 5th Battn. London Regt. (London Rifle Brigade) 1 Jan. 1913; was promoted Captain 25 Sept. 1914. Serving in France with the 5th Battn. London Regt. until severely wounded 13 May, 1915 he was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Augustus Charles Oppenheim, Capt., 2nd Battn. King's Royal Rifle Corps." He returned to his regiment in Dec. 1915, and became Acting Major and Second-in-Command in Jan. 1916; was Brigade Major, 48th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 26 June to 2 Aug. 1916; Officer of a Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, 26 Sept. 1917, to 6 May, 1918; Commander of a Company 7 May, 1918; promoted Major 22 Oct. 1917. Major Oppenheim married, in 1913, Audrey Beatrix, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel A. H. M. Moreton, of Hill Grove, Bembridge; they have one son and two daughters. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

ROWAN, PERCY STEWART, Capt., was born 16 Sept. 1882. He was gazetted to the Wiltshire Regt. 5 Jan. 1901; became Lieutenant 13 June, 1903, and Captain 15 April, 1909; was Adjutant, Wiltshire Regt., 20 Sept. 1911, to 2 March, 1915; was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 6 April, 1918, to 31 March, 1919; specially employed at the War Office 3 March to 2 July, 1915; G.S.O.3, 32nd Division, B.E.F., 21 Feb. to 15 July, 1616; G.S.O.2, 32nd Division, British Armies in France, 17 July, 1916, to 16 Jan. 1917; G.S.O.2, 5th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 17 Jan. to 25 July, 1917; G.S.O.2, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 26 July, 1917, to 19 March, 1918; G.S.O.2, 14th Division, British Armies in France, 20 March to 5 April, 1918; G.S.O.1, 37th Division, British Armies in France, 6 April to 9 July, 1918; G.S.O.1, 64th Division, Forces in Great Britain, 18 July, 1918, to 31 March, 1919. He served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Percy Stewart Rowan, Capt., Wiltshire Regt. For services in connection with operations in the field."

EVANS, WILFRED KEITH, Capt., was born 28 July, 1878, son of Ernest Richard Evans, F.R.C.S. He was educated at Uppingham, and entered the Army 21 April, 1900, from the Militia, as a Second Lieutenant in the Manchester Regt. He served in the South African Campaign from 1900 to 1902, taking part in operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900. He was employed with the Mounted Infantry. He received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He became Lieutenant 13 Feb. 1901; was Adjutant of the Manchester Regt. 3 May, 1906, to 2 May, 1909; was promoted Captain 18 Dec. 1907. Capt. W. K. Evans served in the European War with distinction. He was again Adjutant, Manchester Regt., 30 Oct. 1914, to 1 Aug. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Wilfred Keith Evans, Capt., The Manchester Regt." Capt. Evans held a special appointment with the 2nd Army for a fortnight in July, 1915; was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915; served as G.S.O. 3, 2nd Army, Aug. 1915, to July, 1916, and commanded a service battalion of the 11th Cheshire Regt. from July, 1916, to Sept. 1917. He was promoted Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917, and gained a Bar to his D.S.O. [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1917]: "Wilfred Keith Evans, D.S.O., Temporary Lieut.-Colonel, Manchester Regt., commanding Battn. Cheshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his battalion with great dash and initiative to their objective, capturing many guns and prisoners. He also repulsed strong hostile counter-attacks, and showed great coolness and promptitude in rallying and reorganizing troops who had been driven back through his line. His fine personal example saved a critical situation." He was Brigade Commander, 182nd Infantry Brigade, France, 25 Sept. 1917, with the rank of Temporary Brigadier-General. He was mentioned in Despatches, and made an Officer of the Legion of Honour, and in 1919 was created a C.M.G. Lieut.-Colonel Evans married, in 1913, Gladys Irene, daughter of the Rev. J. G. Leonard, M.A., Vicar and Rural Dean of Dalton-in-Furness, and they have two sons: Michael Patrick Ernest and Nigel Keith, and one daughter, Delia Mary Katharine. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

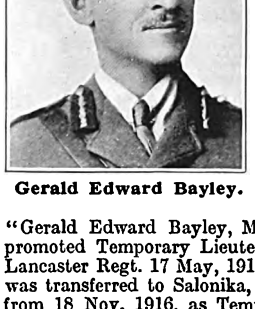
Wilfred Keith Evans.

EWALD, FERDINAND CHARLES TRACY, Capt., was born 12 June, 1876. He entered the North Staffordshire Regt. 5 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 24 March, 1901; Captain 17 March, 1909, and Major 1 Sept. 1915; was employed with the West African Frontier Force 27 June, 1908, to 29 Nov. 1912; Adjutant, Special Reserve, from 9 Sept. 1915; attached General Staff 5 March to 14 April, 1916; Major, General Staff, 15 April to 4 Oct. 1916; G.S.O.3, Southern Command, 5 Oct. 1916, to 26 May, 1918; Brigade Major, 21st Indian Infantry Brigade, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, from 27 May, 1918; attached General Staff, Southern Command, for Musketry Duties. He served in the European War in 1914 and 1915; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Ferdinand Charles Tracy Ewald, Capt., North Staffordshire Regt." Major Ewald married, in 1916, Eleanor Dulce, daughter of the late Major-General T. J. Maclachlan, R.H.A., and widow of Capt. A. de V. Maclean. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BAYLEY, GERALD EDWARD, Major, was born at Nuwara, Eluja, Ceylon, 6 March, 1874, fifth son of the late Capt. Francis Bayley, Agent P. and O. Company, Colombo, Ceylon, and his wife, Lucy Matilda, daughter of the late Surgeon-General Atkinson, of Crawley Rise, Camberley. He was educated at Totteridge Park, and at Rugby School, and joined the 2nd Battn. York and Lancaster Regt., from the 3rd Battn., 12 Dec. 1894; was promoted Lieutenant 10 Nov. 1897, and Captain 12 May, 1902. He was employed with the Ceylon Volunteers from 28 Nov. 1902, to 31 Jan. 1908, as Adjutant; was present at the Coronation of King George, gaining the Coronation Medal, and was promoted Major in the York and Lancaster Regt. 1 July, 1912. Major Bayley served in the European War from 1914. He was in France from 6 Sept. 1914, to 25 Oct. 1915, and for his services there he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Gerald Edward Bayley, Major, York and Lancaster Regt." He was promoted Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel to command the 1st York and Lancaster Regt. 17 May, 1915; went to Egypt in Nov. 1915, and in Dec. was transferred to Salonika, where he remained until May, 1918, serving from 18 Nov. 1916, as Temporary Brigadier-General in command of the 65th Brigade. He went through the campaign unwounded, but spent a fortnight in hospital with malaria in Sept. 1917. He came home on a tour of duty, and took over the command of the West Riding Reserve (T.F.) Brigade 23 May, 1918, a position which he held until 16 April, 1919, when the brigade was disbanded. He was then given command of the 2nd Battn. York and Lancaster Regt., and served in Mesopotamia. He was four times mentioned in Despatches (Jan. 1915 and 1916, Jan. and Dec. 1917); was promoted Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; created a C.M.G. 1 Jan. 1917, and was made an Officer of the Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus. He is also the holder of Royal Humane Society's Silver Medal, awarded for brave conduct after the wreck of R.I.M.S. Warren Hastings 14 Jan. 1897. Lieut.-Colonel Bayley married, at the Chapel Royal, Savoy, 23 Aug. 1917, Marjorie Singleton Powell, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Powell, of Pocklington, Yorks, and they have a daughter, Geraldine Diana, born 22 Feb. 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."



Gerald Edward Bayley.

BLUNT, ALLAN ST. JOHN, Capt., was born 27 Oct. 1880, third son of the late Colonel Arthur Blunt. He joined the York and Lancaster Regt. 6 Dec. 1899, and became Lieutenant 29 July, 1901. He served in South Africa, 1899–1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and the action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and the action at Vaal Kranz, and operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 29 Feb.) and action at Pieter's Hill; operations in Natal (March to June, 1900), including the action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); operations in the Transvaal, May to Dec. 1901; operations in Orange River Colony, Dec. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps; King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted Captain 9 Sept. 1908, and served as Adjutant of the York and Lancaster Regt. from 12 March, 1910, to 11 March, 1913. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Allan St. John Blunt, Capt., York and Lancaster Regt." He was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and retired from the Service 20 March, 1919. Lieut.-Colonel A. St. J. Blunt married, in 1914, Doris Elizabeth, daughter of the late John G. Stephen. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BAILLIE, HUGH FREDERICK, Capt., was born 30 March, 1879, son of the late General Duncan J. Baillie, of Loch Loy, and Anna, daughter of the Rev. C. A. Burnaby, of Somerby Hall, Leicestershire. He was educated at Wellington College, and joined the Seaforth Highlanders (The Ross-shire Buffs) (The Duke of Albany's) 3 Aug. 1898, and became Lieutenant 24 Feb. 1900. He served with the 2nd Seaforth Highlanders in South Africa, 1899–1902; was present in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Magersfontein (wounded); operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including the actions at Paardeberg, Poplar Grove and Dreifontein; operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including the actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); operations in the Transvaal, March to Aug. 1901; operations in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1901; operations in Cape Colony, Feb. to March, 1901, and Aug. 1901, to May, 1902. He was employed with Lovat Scouts (Imperial Yeomanry) from Oct. 1901, to May, 1902; was awarded the Queen's Medal with five clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was attached to the West African Frontier Force from 14 March, 1903, to 17 Dec. 1904, and again saw active service in Northern Nigeria, in operations in the Bassa Provinces, against the Okpotos (Medal with clasp); was promoted Captain 5 Aug. 1904; was D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Highland Division, Scottish Command, 6 June, 1909, to 5 June, 1913. Capt. Baillie served in the European War from 1914, with the 2nd Seaforth Highlanders, and took part in the Retreat from Mons and subsequent advance to the Aisne, also in operations in Flanders, Oct. 1914, when he was wounded (23 Oct.). He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Hugh Frederick Baillie, Capt., Seaforth Highlanders." Subsequently Capt. Baillie held various Staff Appointments with the British Expeditionary Force in France. He was G.S.O.3, 15th Division, B.E.F., Feb. to Nov. 1915; was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915, and was G.S.O.2, 13th Corps, Nov. 1915, to Jan. 1916; G.S.O.2, 51st Division, Jan. to June, 1916; G.S.O.2 (Supernumerary), June to Sept. 1916; G.S.O.2, 15th Division, Sept. 1916, to Feb. 1917; G.S.O.2, 3rd Corps, Feb. to May, 1917; G.S.O.1, 15th Division (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), May, 1917, to July, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; served as G.S.O.1, British G.H.Q., France, July to Aug. 1918; Assistant Director of Staff Duties, G.H.Q. (Temporary Colonel), Aug. 1918, to April, 1919; was appointed G.S.O.1, Highland Division, British Army on the Rhine, 2 April, 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Hugh Frederick Baillie.

GRANT, JOHN PATRICK, Major, was born 18 July, 1872. He joined the Army in 1892; became Captain, 1899, and retired in 1904. He entered the 3rd Reserve Battn. Seaforth Highlanders. He served in the Chitral Campaign in 1895 (Medal with clasp); in the South African War, 1899–1902; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Major Grant served in the European War in 1914 and 1915; was mentioned in Despatches and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Patrick Grant, Major, 3rd Reserve Battn. Seaforth Highlanders. For services in connection with operations in the field."

CAMPBELL, THE HONOURABLE ERIC OCTAVIUS, Lieut. The "Times," of 15 June, 1918, says: "Lieut.-Colonel the Hon. Eric O. Campbell, D.S.O., Seaforth Highlanders, who died in hospital in London of cerebral hæmorrhage on 4 June, was the youngest son of the third Earl Cawdor, and uncle of the present peer. He was born in 1885, and after going to Eton, passed into the Army through the Militia, being gazetted to the Seaforth Highlanders on 20 Dec. 1905. At the outbreak of the war he went to France as Adjutant of the 2nd Battalion; was awarded the D.S.O. on 18 Feb. 1915, and was wounded at St. Julian on 25 April, 1915. He was employed as Brigade Major from 3 Jan. to 24 Sept. 1916, his services being rewarded with a Brevet Majority on 3 June, 1916. He was in hospital in France towards the end of 1916, and on return to duty in Nov. went to the 2nd Battn., but resumed the appointment of Brigade Major to the 44th Infantry Brigade on 22 Jan. 1917. He returned to regimental duty on 27 May, 1917, and for a short time commanded the 2nd Battn. On 20 Oct. 1917, he was given command of another battalion of the Seaforth Highlanders, which he retained till the middle of May, 1918, when a breakdown in health, due to nearly four years' active service, compelled him to go to hospital. He arrived home on 25 May, having been reported wounded, but returned to duty immediately, as he was only bruised by a fragment of a shell. In the Gazette of 24 May he was mentioned in Despatches for the third time, and a Bar to his D.S.O. was awarded in the Gazette of 3 June, the day before his death." The London Gazette notice (18 Feb. 1915) of his D.S.O. is: "The Honourable E. O. Campbell, Lieut., The Seaforth Highlanders. For services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

Hon. Eric O. Campbell.

BURNETT, JAMES LAUDERDALE GILBERT, Capt., was born 1 April, 1880, at Rattray House, Peterhead, eldest son of Sir Thomas Burnett, 12th Baronet, of Leys. He was educated at Wellington, and at the Royal Military College, and joined the 2nd Gordon Highlanders in 1899. He proceeded to South Africa at once, where he served as R.T.O. 18 Oct. to 12 Nov. 1900, and 4 Jan. to 7 April, 1901; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Reit Vlei; operations in the Transvaal, April to Sept. 1901, and Oct. 1901, to May, 1902; operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. 1901. He became Lieutenant 31 Jan. 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901, for "coolness and resource on occasion of a train being derailed and attacked by Boers near Naboomspruit, Aug. 1901," and was also awarded the Queen's Medal with two clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps (Laing's Nek and Belfast). He was promoted Captain 22 Jan. 1906. He saw much active service in the European War from 1914, serving with the British Expeditionary Force in France and Belgium. He was severely wounded; mentioned in Despatches, and for services at the First Battle of Ypres was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "James Lauderdale Gilbert Burnett, Capt., Gordon Highlanders." He was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915; was an Officer of and in command of a Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, Sandhurst, May, 1915, to Oct. 1916, and was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel, 1st Gordon Highlanders, 8 Jan. 1917, and while commanding the battalion was again mentioned in Despatches, the following award being announced in a Supplement of the London Gazette, 17 Sept. 1917: "Bar to D.S.O.—Lieut.-Colonel James Lauderdale Gilbert Burnett, D.S.O., Gordon Highlanders. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in commanding his battalion during the attack and capture of a position. The success of the attack was greatly due to his leadership and the confidence with which he inspired his men." He was promoted Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and was Brigade Commander, 186th Infantry Brigade, in France 3 Dec. 1917, to 1919. He was created a C.M.G. and given the Brevet of Colonel in 1919, and was made an Officer of the Legion of Honour. He was appointed Instructor, Senior Officers' School, Woking, 1920. Colonel Burnett's favourite recreations are shooting and fishing. He married, in 1913, Sybil Aird, youngest daughter of the late William Crozier Smith, of Whitehill, St. Boswells, N.B. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

CRAIG-BROWN, ERNEST, Major, was born 20 June, 1871, eldest son of T. Craig-Brown, of Selkirk, and Mrs. T. Craig-Brown. He was educated at Merchiston Castle School, Edinburgh, and was first commissioned 20 Feb. 1895, in the West India Regt., in which he was promoted Lieutenant 16 Aug. 1897. He served in Sierra Leone, 1898, in the Karene Expedition (Medal with clasp; severely wounded), and was transferred to the Cameron Highlanders 13 April, 1898. He was promoted Captain 27 Dec. 1899, and served in the South African War, 1900–2, taking part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); operations in the Transvaal, May, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; operations in Cape Colony, Nov. 1900, to May, 1901, and May, 1902. He served as Station Commandant, afterwards as Staff Officer to the Commandant, Matjiesfontein, and subsequently performed the duties of Commandant, Matjiesfontein, from 9 Nov. 1900, and received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was specially employed at Army Headquarters, July to Sept. 1908, and served as G.S.O.3, Army Headquarters, and at the War Office till 13 July, 1912. He was specially employed 14 July to 31 Dec. 1912; was D.A.A.G., Guernsey and Alderney, 4 Feb. to 4 Aug. 1914. At the beginning of the European War (5 Aug. to 24 Sept. 1914) he was G.S.O.2, Guernsey Defences and of the 17th Division. He became Major 17 Sept. 1914, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel of a battalion in his regiment 21 Jan. to 10 May, 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches, Feb. 1915; June, 1915; Jan. 1916; June, 1917, and June, 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Ernest Craig-Brown, Major, The Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders." From 25 June, 1915, to 24 March, 1916, he was D.A.Q.M.G., 47th Division; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Cameron Highlanders, 26 March, 1916, to 31 Jan. 1917; Temporary Brigadier-General, 56th Infantry Brigade, 1 Feb. to 5 Sept. 1917, and for his services was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 14 Nov. 1917, to 31 Oct. 1918, and on 1 Nov. 1918, became Temporary Colonel and Base Commandant of the British Salonika Force. Lieut.-Colonel Craig-Brown married, in 1903, Constance Ellen, youngest daughter of the late Henry Guinness, of Stillorgan, County Dublin, and they have one son, Alan Guinness, born 7 April, 1912, and two daughters: Jean Mary, born 14 Aug. 1904, and Bridget Constance, born 3 Oct. 1908. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

HILL-DILLON, STEPHEN SEARLE, Lieut., was born 27 Nov. 1887, son of John Dillon, late of Lyncombe Rise, Bath, late Governor of H.M. Prison, Liverpool. He was educated at Sandhurst, and was commissioned in the Royal Irish Rifles 9 Oct. 1907, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 22 April, 1909. He was Adjutant, Royal Irish Rifles, 27 Nov. 1913, to 19 Oct. 1914. Lieut. Dillon saw active service in the European War, and was Temporary Captain, Royal Irish Rifles, 20 Dec. 1914, to 14 March, 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Stephen Searle Dillon, Lieut., Royal Irish Rifles." He was promoted Captain 15 March, 1915, and subsequently held the following appointments: Special appointment as Special Service Officer 2 June, 1915, to 18 March, 1916; G.S.O.3, 5th Army Corps, April to Aug. 1916; G.S.O.2, 5th Army Corps, Aug. 1916, to Nov. 1917; G.S.O.2, American Staff College, France, Nov. 1917, to April, 1918; G.S.O.2, 6th Division, April to June, 1918; G.S.O.2, 2nd Army Corps, June to Sept. 1918; G.S.O.2, 4th Army Corps, Nov. 1918, to 5 Feb. 1919; G.S.O.2, Irish Command, 6 Feb. 1919. He was three times mentioned in Despatches, and was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1918. Major Hill-Dillon (additional name of Hill assumed in 1916) married, in 1916, Gladys Muriel, daughter of the late Frances Heslop Hill, of Redenham, Hants, and Shroton, Dorset, and they have one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

ELKAN, CLARENCE JOHN, Capt., was born in London 15 May, 1877, son of John Elkan, M.V.O., Member of the Common Council of the City of London, of 40, Hanover Gate Mansions, Regent's Park, N.W., and of Harriet Elkan (died 19 April, 1915). He was educated at the City of London School, and enlisted in the Hampshire Regt. 24 July, 1893. He served in China, 1900, and was granted a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Royal Irish Fusiliers, for specially meritorious services there in May, 1902, also receiving a Medal. He served in West Africa, as Subaltern, Gold Coast Regt.; as Assistant Commandant, Northern Territories Constabulary; as District Commissioner, Gold Coast, and was promoted Captain 3 Aug. 1912. Lieut.-Colonel Elkan retired R. I. Fusiliers 18 Feb. 1914, but rejoined the same year as Captain, 87th Royal Irish Fusiliers, proceeding to France with the battalion, which was part of the 4th Division, and remaining with it until appointed to the Staff in July, 1915. He was commanding a double company of his battalion at the time that he received mention in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Clarence John Elkan, Capt., 87th Royal Irish Fusiliers." He was promoted Major, Reserve of Officers, 13 May, 1915, and served as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, employed as A.Q.M.G., General Headquarters, France, and A.Q.M.G., Headquarters, Lines of Communication, France. He was mentioned in Despatches in June, 1916, in Dec. 1917, and Jan. and June, 1919; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and promoted Substantive Lieutenant-Colonel in the Reserve of Officers 1 May, 1919. He was also made Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, and in 1919 was awarded the O.B.E. His chief recreations are reading and golf. Lieut.-Colonel Elkan married, in London, 3 March, 1915, Gladys, daughter of William Dagnell, of Cape Town, South Africa. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM NATHANIEL STUART, Major, was born at Tipperah, Bengal, 8 May, 1874, son of the late Nathaniel Stuart Alexander, Bengal Civil Service, of Aghadoey, Coleraine, County Londonderry, and of Dora, daughter of Edward Currie. He was educated at Rugby, and joined the Army 7 March, 1894, with a commission in the Connaught Rangers, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 31 May, 1897; was employed with the Egyptian Army 1 Aug. 1900, to 31 May, 1901; became Captain 9 Oct. 1901. He served in South Africa, 1902, taking part in the operations in Orange River Colony, Feb. 1902, and in Cape Colony, Feb. to 31 May, 1902, for which he received the Queen's Medal with three clasps. He became Major 4 March, 1914, and took part in the European War from 1914, with the British Expeditionary Force in France and Belgium, and, for his share in the campaign from the action of Mons to the end of the First Battle of Ypres, was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Nathaniel Stuart Alexander, Major, Connaught Rangers." Major Alexander also served in France from March to May, 1915, and from July, 1915, to 24 Feb. 1917, was employed on the Staff. He was in Gallipoli, July, 1915, until Jan. 1916; in Egypt, from Jan. to March, 1916; in Mesopotamia, March to June, 1916, and went to France in Sept. 1916. He served there on the Staff until 24 Feb. 1917, when he was given the command of the 7th Border Regt., which he held until 22 Sept. 1918. He remained in France until Oct. 1917, and then commanded battalions of the Training Reserve until April, 1918. He served in France again from April to July, 1918, and returned to the Connaught Rangers 23 Dec. 1918; subsequently Major Alexander commanded the 2nd Battn. Somerset Light Infantry on the North-West Frontier of India. He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1918 (New Year's Honours List)]. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

PAYNE, ROBERT LESLIE, Capt., was born 7 May, 1880. He entered the Connaught Rangers, as Second Lieutenant, from the Militia, 18 Oct. 1899, in which he was promoted Lieutenant, 17 Feb. 1901. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, and was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including actions at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900), and action at Pieter's Hill; operations in Natal, March to April, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, April, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, April, 1900; operations in Orange River Colony, May to June, 1901, and Feb. to March, 1902; operations in Cape Colony, Feb. to May, 1901, and June, 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Lieutenant, Connaught Rangers, 17 Feb. 1901, and Captain 8 Feb. 1906.

Robert Leslie Payne.

Capt. Payne saw active service in the European War from 1914.. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Robert Leslie Payne, Capt., 1st Battn. The Connaught Rangers." He became Major 1 Sept. 1915, and was Staff Service Brigade Major, 3rd Line Group, North Midland Division, 10 Jan. to Sept. 1916; D.A.Q.M.G., 4th Division, France, 5 Oct. to 31 Dec. 1916. Major R. L. Payne married, in 1914, Lilian Mary, daughter of Thomas Duncan. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

HYSLOP, HENRY HUGH GORDON, Major, was born 9 Oct. 1873, son of the late Colonel Maxwell Hyslop, 93rd Highlanders, and Elizabeth Lumsden, of Auchindoir, Aberdeenshire. He was educated at Monkton Combe College, near Bath, and at Sandhurst, from which he joined the 2nd Battn. Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, 10 Oct. 1894. He was promoted Lieutenant 3 April, 1897, and served with the Tochi Field Force, 1897–98 (Medal with clasp). He became Captain 13 April, 1901; took part in the South African War, 1902, serving as Station Staff Officer, and taking part in operations in the Transvaal, Jan. to 31 May, 1902, with the 1st Battn. Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was appointed Superintendent of Gymnasia, India, 5 Oct. 1904, a position which he held for four years, accompanying the British Mission to Bhutan in 1907. Lieut.-Colonel Hyslop saw active service in the European War from Aug. 1914; was promoted Major 3 Nov. 1914, and for his services was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Hugh Gordon Hyslop, Major, 2nd Battn. Princess Louise's (Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders)." He took part in the Retreat from Mons, including actions at Mons, Le Cateau and Néry; was present at the Battles on the Marne and the Aisne, and afterwards in the advance on Armentières, fighting on the Aubers Ridge and in the First Battle of Ypres. He afterwards took part in the following operations: the Battle of Loos, Sept. 1915; the Battle of the Somme, 1916; the taking of Beaumont Hamel, Nov. 1916; Vimy Ridge, March, 1917; Arras, April and May, 1917; the Third Battle of Ypres, 1917; the Battle of Cambrai, Nov. 1917; the German attack of March and April, 1918, and the advance in Belgium, Oct. and Nov. 1918. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in command of a Territorial Force Battn. 9 Nov. 1915, to 25 Aug. 1917; was promoted Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917; was Temporary Brigadier-General 26 Aug. 1917, to 30 Aug. 1919, commanding the 59th Infantry Brigade in France, Aug. 1917, to April, 1918; the 2nd Reserve Training Brigade, Home Forces, April to Oct. 1918; the 26th Infantry Brigade, France, Oct. to Dec. 1918, and was Commandant of the Army Area in Germany, Dec. 1918, to Aug. 1919. He was four times mentioned in Despatches, and has the 1914 Star. His chief amusements are golf, tennis and rackets, in all of which he has represented his regiment; he has done a good deal of big game shooting in India and Thibet. Lieut.-Colonel Hyslop married, in 1904, Beryl, daughter of J. C. White, C.I.E., and they have two sons: Hugh John Maxwell, born on 12 May, 1905, and Gordon Maxwell, born on 19 March, 1909. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

WATSON, RONALD MACGREGOR, Capt., was born 30 June, 1887, son of Colonel R. S. Watson, of Leigh Grove, Surbiton. He was commissioned in the 2nd Battn. The Royal Dublin Fusiliers 4 May, 1907; became Lieutenant 18 Dec. 1909; was Adjutant, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, 12 Feb. 1913, to 2 Jan. 1916; became Captain 5 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War, as Staff Captain, 10th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 3 Jan. to 31 March, 1916; as Brigade Major, 98th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 1 April, 1916, to 5 July, 1917; as G.S.O.2, 21st Division, British Armies in France, 6 July, 1917, to 16 March, 1918; as G.S.O.2, 6th Army Corps, British Armies in France, from 17 March, 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1917, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Ronald Macgregor Watson, Capt., Royal Dublin Fusiliers." Major Watson married, in 1918, Irene Gertrude Hallett (who died in 1919), youngest daughter of George Wood, of Woodlands, Gravesend. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SALMON, GEOFFREY NOWELL, Major, was born at Naples 26 Nov. 1871, son of the late Admiral of the Fleet Sir Nowell Salmon, V.C., G.C.B., and Emily Augusta, daughter of the late Erasmus Saunders, of Westbrook, Upwey, Dorset. He was educated at Sherborne, and joined the Army, from the Militia, 2 June, 1894, as a Second Lieutenant in the Rifle Brigade, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 26 May, 1897, and Captain 31 Aug. 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, with the 1st Mounted Infantry, from 23 Nov. 1900, to 31 Dec. 1901, as Assistant Provost-Marshal, and from 1 Jan. 1901, to 31 Aug. 1902, employed under the Director of Military Intelligence. He took part in the Relief of Kimberley; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.), actions at Poplar Grove and Dreifontein; operations in the Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; operations in Cape Colony, Jan. 1901, to 31 May 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902] and received the Queen's South African Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Capt. Salmon was employed as Adjutant and Commandant, Mounted Infantry, Malta, 12 Sept. 1904, to 1 Jan. 1906, and was Second-in-Command of the 5th Mounted Infantry Battn. in South Africa 13 Oct. 1906, to 12 Oct. 1910. He became Major 3 July, 1912, and subsequently commanded three battalions of Mounted Infantry at Longmoor successively. He saw active service in the European War, with the 1st Battn. Rifle Brigade, Aug. to Dec. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Geoffrey Nowell Salmon, Major, Rifle Brigade." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 28 Sept. 1915, and commanded the 4th Battn. Rifle Brigade in Salonika from Dec. 1915, to May, 1917. From Feb. 1918, to the Armistice he was attached to the American Expeditionary Force, receiving for his service the American Distinguished Service Medal. He was four times mentioned in Despatches, and was created a C.M.G. 1 Jan. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel Salmon married, at Malta, 3 March, 1917, Gwladys Mary, eldest daughter of Mrs. Francis Lawson, of Pieta, Malta. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Geoffrey Nowell Salmon.

HAIG, ROLAND CHARLES, Major, was born in Kensington, London, W., 1 Feb. 1873, only son of Charles Edward Haig, M.A., of Pen-Ithon, Radnorshire, and Janet Stein Haig, of Cameron House, Windygate, Fife, N.B. He was educated at Winchester College, and at Sandhurst, from which he joined the Army 14 Nov. 1894, with a commission in the 16th Lancers. He was promoted Captain, 7th Dragoon Guards, in 1900, and served in the South African War in 1900, taking part in operations in the Orange Free State, April to May, 1900, including the action at Zand River; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including the actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, March, 1900. He was awarded the Queen's Medal with clasps for "Cape Colony," "Orange River Colony," "Johannesburg" and "Diamond Hill." He retired from the 7th Dragoon Guards 10 Oct. 1903, and was appointed Captain, 7th Battn. Rifle Brigade, Special Reserve, April, 1907. Becoming Major, 6th Rifle Brigade, 5 Aug. 1914, he proceeded to France, and served right through the European War up to July, 1918, with the exception of Aug. to Oct. 1917, when he was home wounded. He was Second-in-Command, 2nd South Staffordshire Regt., 1 Jan. to April, 1915, He was Second-in-Command of the 2nd Battn. Rifle Brigade, April and May, 1915; O.C. a Division of Mounted troops, May, 1915, to May, 1916; Major commanding 3rd Corps, Cyclist Regt., June, 1916; Lieutenant-Colonel commanding the 2nd Battn. Berkshire Regt., July, 1916, to Aug. 1917. From Nov. 1917, to June, 1918, he was Temporary Brigadier-General in command of the 24th Infantry Brigade, and was gassed at Berry-au-Bac. He received the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel, and was mentioned in Despatches six times; is now Temporary Brigadier-General commanding No. 1 Sub-District, Midland District, Irish Command. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Roland Charles Haig, Major, 6th Rifle Brigade, attached to 1st King's Royal Rifles." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order: Direct reward for services on 4 March, 1917. He was awarded a Second Bar to the Distinguished Service Order: Direct reward for services in Somme Retreat, March, 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Roland Charles Haig.

HARGREAVES, ALAN KNYVETON, Capt., entered the Rifle Brigade 11 Aug. 1900; became Lieutenant 15 Jan. 1902, and Captain 24 March, 1910. He served in the South African War, 1902; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, Jan. to 31 May, 1902; also in Cape Colony, Jan. 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). Capt. Hargreaves served in the European War from 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Alan Hargreaves, Capt.,

Digitized by Google

The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own). For services in connection with operations in the field." He was killed in action 9 May, 1915.

LIDDELL, GEOFFREY WILLIAM, Capt., was born 23 Nov. 1884, only surviving son of the late Edward Henry Liddell. He was educated at Eton, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and was commissioned in the Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own) 4 June, 1904, in which he became Lieutenant 3 Oct. 1907, and Captain 21 Sept. 1913. He served as Adjutant of the Rifle Brigade from 17 July, 1912, to 16 July, 1915. Capt. Liddell saw active service in the European War from 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Geoffrey William Liddell, Capt., 1st Battn. The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own)." He was G.S.O.3, 69th Division, Central Force, Home Defence, 29 Sept. to 10 Dec. 1915; Officer and Commander of a Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, Sandhurst, 11 Dec. 1915, to 6 May, 1918; became Acting Major of a Service Battn. of the Rifle Brigade 8 June, 1918, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Rifle Brigade, 17 Sept. 1918. He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1919. He married, in 1915, Mary Sophia, daughter of the late Charles Lyon Liddell, and they have one son and one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

RILEY, HAMLET LEWTHWAITE, Capt., was born 20 Oct. 1882, son of Hamlet Riley and Anne, his wife, eldest daughter of the late William Lewthwaite. He was educated at Eton, and at Magdalen College, Oxford. He was commissioned in the Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own) 3 March, 1906, in which he was promoted Lieutenant 9 Feb. 1910, and served as Adjutant in India 21 Feb. 1910, to 20 Feb. 1914. He saw active service in the European War, being promoted Captain the day after the outbreak of war. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Hamlet Lewthwaite Riley, Capt., The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own)." He served as Staff Captain, 25th Infantry Brigade, in France, Sept. and Oct. 1915; was Temporary Major of the 12th (Service) Battn. of the Rifle Brigade, Oct. 1915, to June, 1916; and was awarded the Montenegrin Order of Danilo, 4th Class, in 1916, and promoted Brevet Major 2 June, 1916. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel commanding the 12th Service Battn. of his regiment, June, 1916, to Dec. 1917, and was then appointed Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in the Machine Gun Corps; commanded the 20th Battn. 1918–19. He was three times wounded, and five times mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

LONGMORE, JOHN CONSTANTINE GORDON, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 8 Aug. 1870, son of Surgeon-General Sir Thomas Longmore, C.B., and Lady Longmore. He was educated at Westward Ho! and was commissioned in the East Lancashire Regt., from the Militia, 9 April, 1892. He was promoted Lieutenant 23 Sept. 1893, and was transferred on 1 Oct. of that year to the Army Service Corps, in which he became Captain 1 April, 1898. Capt. Longmore served in the South African War, 1899–1901, on the Staff, being employed from 10 June, 1901, to 23 Feb. 1902, as D.A.A.G. He was present in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont and Modder River; operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, and operations in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Dec. 1901, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. He was promoted Major 28 Oct. 1904; was employed as Deputy Assistant Director Supplies and Transport, Southern Command, 1 April, 1910, to 14 Feb. 1913, and became Lieutenant-Colonel 15 Feb. 1913. He served in the European War from Aug. 1914, continuously. He was with the 3rd Division until 9 Oct. 1914, and was A.A. and Q.M.G. of the Cavalry Corps from 10 Oct. 1914, to 30 Oct. 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 9 Dec. 1914], and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "John Constantine Gordon Longmore, Lieut.-Colonel, Army Service Corps." He was again mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 22 June, 1915], and from 30 Oct. 1915, to 8 March, 1916, was D.A.Q.M.G. (Temporary Brigadier-General), Cavalry Corps, receiving another mention in Despatches 1 Jan. 1916. He was D.A.Q.M.G., 8th Corps, 9 March to 3 Sept. 1916, and D.A. and Q.M.G., Cavalry Corps, 4 Sept. 1916, to 1 April, 1919. He was mentioned again in Despatches [London Gazette, 4 Jan. 1917], and created a C.M.G., 1915; was promoted Colonel, Feb. 1917; given the Gold Order of Merit of Montenegro, March, 1917, and created a C.B.E. in 1919. He married, in 1897, Nita, daughter of the late Thomas Davis. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

MASTER, ARTHUR GILBERT, Lieut.-Colonel, was born in Inverness Terrace, London, W., 6 June, 1867, fourth son of Charles Gilbert Master, C.S.I. and Emma Caroline, eldest daughter of Thomas Onslow, Esq., Madras Civil Service. He was educated at Clifton College, and at Exeter College, Oxford, taking the degrees B.A. (1889) and M.A. (1906). He obtained his first commission in the West India Regt. 4 March, 1891; was promoted Lieutenant 5 April, 1893; transferred to the Army Service Corps 1 Oct. 1893, and became Captain 1 April, 1898. Capt. Master took part in the South African War, 1899 to 1902, serving as D.A.A.G. from 17 Jan. to 14 Dec. 1902. He was present in the advance on Kimberley, including action at Belmont, Enslin, Modder River and Magersfontein; operations in the Orange Free State, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, 1900, including action at Frederickstad (17 to 25 Oct.); operations in Orange River Colony, 1900, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1902; operations in the Orange River Colony, Jan. to 31 May, 1902, and for his services was awarded the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He attained his Majority 21 Sept. 1904, and was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 26 Sept. 1913. He saw active service in the European War from 1914 to 1918; was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. 1914, and Jan. 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Arthur Gilbert Master, Lieut.-Colonel, Army Service Corps." He retired from the Service 6 May, 1919. He married, at Fulford, York, 7 Oct. 1897, Elizabeth, second daughter of Edward Hotham Newton, J.P., D.L., of Fulford Park, York, and they have one son, Edward Streynsham, born 29 Jan. 1900, and two daughters: Audrey Margaret, born 5 Oct. 1898, and Hilary Elizabeth, born 15 Aug. 1905. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BURRARD, HARRY GEORGE, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 18 April, 1871, fourth son of the late Sidney Burrard. He was commissioned in the Lancashire Fusiliers, from the Militia, 9 Sept. 1893, from which he transferred to the Army Service Corps 1 April, 1895. He became Lieutenant 29 March, 1896. He served in West Africa, 1897–98 [Medal with clasp), and was employed on the Gold Coast, 1898–99. He was promoted Captain 1 April, 1900, and served in the South African War, 1899–1902, taking part in operations in Natal in 1899; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900; operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, June, 1901, to May, 1902; operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal, Sept. and Oct. 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. 1901]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Major 26 Sept. 1908. Major Burrard again saw active service in the European War from 1914 to 1918, with the Army Service Corps in France. He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 12 Dec. 1914. For his services he was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Harry George Burrard, Lieut.-Colonel, Army Service Corps." He was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1918, and was appointed A.D.C. to His Majesty the King 3 June, 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

STEWART, HERBERT ARTHUR, Major, was born 18 May, 1878, son of Arthur Stewart, of Rusher Road, Horsham, and Ellen Margaret Emma Stewart. He was educated at Portsmouth Grammar School, and was commissioned from the Militia 4 Jan. 1899, in the Suffolk Regt., from which he was transferred to the Army Service Corps 12 Feb. 1900, and was promoted Lieutenant 12 Feb. 1901, and Captain, Army Service Corps, 27 Aug. 1902. Capt. Stewart served in the South African War, 1899–1902, and was present in operations in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; operations in the Orange River Colony, May, 1901; operations in the Cape Colony, Aug. 1901, and May, 1902. He received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 Aug. 1911, to 31 July, 1914. He again saw active service in the European War from Aug. 1914, to the conclusion of hostilities, becoming Major the day war broke out. He was one of the very few British officers who entered Mons on Sunday, 23 Aug. 1914. For his services with the 3rd Division during the First Battles of Neuve Chapelle and Ypres in Oct. and Nov. 1914, he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Arthur Stewart, Major, Army Service Corps." He was employed with the 1st Army as Deputy Assistant Director of Supplies from Feb. 1915, until 25 Feb. 1916, when he was promoted Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, and was Assistant Director of Supplies, Lines of Communication, France, from 1916 to 1918. He was awarded the O.B.E. in 1919. He is the author of "From Mons to Loos" (1916). He was a Member of the Regimental Polo Team, and also represented his regiment in Association and Rugby Football, and was a keen rider to hounds. Major H. A. Stewart married, in 1907, Janet Bertha, daughter of F. M. Passow, and they have three sons. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

HARDING, GEORGE, Major, was born 28 Aug. 1877, eldest son of the late Henry J. Harding, of Nore View, Mountrath, Ireland. He was educated privately, and was commissioned in the Leinster Regt., from the Militia, 21 April, 1900, from which he was transferred to the Army Service Corps 1 May, 1901, and became Lieutenant 1 May, 1902. He served in the South African War, 1899 to 1902, being appointed to the Staff and employed as Transport Officer from 11 April, 1900, to 30 April, 1902. He took part in operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Karee Siding, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Reit Vlei and Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Frederickstad (17 to 25 Oct); operations in Orange River Colony (May to 29 Nov. 1900); operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900. For his services he was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901], and was awarded the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He attained his Captaincy 1 Nov. 1905, and his Majority 30 Oct. 1914. Major Harding saw active service in the European War, with the 5th Division, from 1914 to 1916, and was present at the Retreat from Mons and the advance to the Aisne, including the Battle of the Marne. He then served in Flanders, including the battles at La Bassée, Festubert, Neuve Eglise, and the First and Second Battles of Ypres. In Oct. 1915, he proceeded with the First Military Mission to Italy and Sicily, and returned invalided to England in May, 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]. He held the temporary appointment of Deputy Assistant Director of Supplies and Transport, Aldershot Command, from 9 March, 1917, to 30 April, 1918, when he was promoted Acting Lieutenant-Colonel. He held the appointment of Assistant Director of Supplies and Transport, Scottish Command, from 4 Oct. 1918, to 9 Nov. 1919. He was awarded the 1914 (Mons) Star, the General Service Medal and the Allies Medal. His favourite recreations are shooting, fishing and golf. Major Harding married, in 1911, Hope, eldest daughter of Sir William Quartus Ewart, Bart., J.P. and D.L. of Glenmachan, Strandtown, Belfast, and they have two sons: George William Cecil, born July, 1916, and Henry Christian, born Dec. 1919. The London Gazette notice of his D.S.O. is: "George Harding, Major, Army Service Corps. For services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

BEARNE, LEWIS COLLINGWOOD, Major, was born 5 April, 1878, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel L. E. and Mrs. Bearne. He was educated at Newton College, and served in the South African War, 1900–2, at first with Lumsden's Horse, then with a commission attached to the Regulars. Subsequently he became Second Lieutenant in the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry 27 July, 1901, and was transferred, 1 Oct. 1902, to the Army Service Corps, to which he had been attached up till Aug. 1901. He took part in operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Karee Siding, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including action near Johannesburg and Pretoria; operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1901, and Sept. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; operations in Cape Colony, Feb. to Aug. 1901. He received for his services the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps, and was for a period a prisoner in the Boers' hands. He became Lieutenant, A.S.C., 27 July, 1904; Captain 1 Jan. 1911, and Major 30 Oct. 1914. Major Bearne again saw active service in the European War from 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Lewis Collingwood Bearne, Major, Army Service Corps." He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from July to Nov. 1916. On 22 Oct. of that year he (with Private A. E. Usher) gained the Albert Medal in recognition of his gallantry in saving life. The official account reads: "On 22 Oct. 1916, a French motor lorry, loaded with 3,000 lbs. of aeroplane bombs, caught fire in the middle of a camp of the Serbian Army. Efforts to beat out the flames proved ineffectual, and after the fire had been burning for seven or eight minutes, and the bomb cases were already involved, Major Bearne and Usher ran up with extinguishers. Both immediately crawled underneath the lorry, and eventually succeeded in extinguishing the flames, thus averting a serious disaster at the risk of their own lives. Major Bearne was severely burnt about the head and arms." His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

BATEMAN, HERBERT RAYMOND, Major, was born 28 Oct. 1876, son of the late Colonel D. F. Bateman, I.M.S. He was educated at a private school; in H.M.S. Conway, and finally at St. Thomas's Hospital; entered the Army, 29 Nov. 1900, as a Lieutenant in the Royal Army Medical Corps, in which he became Captain 29 Nov. 1903. He served from 1908 to 1910 as a member of the Uganda Sleeping Sickness Commission of the Royal Society, and was promoted Major 29 Aug. 1912. He served in the European War from Aug. 1914, to the Armistice. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Herbert Raymond Bateman, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Army Medical Corps, from 15 May, 1917, until promoted to substantive rank 10 Oct. 1918. After the war he became Acting Colonel and A.D.M.S., 38th Division in France, in Feb. 1919, and reverted to Lieutenant-Colonel on vacating the appointment in April, 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

EVANS, CHARLES ROBERT, Major, was born 14 March, 1873. He entered the Royal Army Medical Corps 4 Dec. 1899, and served in the South African War, taking part in the operations in the Orange Free State and Cape Colony, Feb. to April, 1900, and receiving the Queen's Medal with two clasps. He was promoted Captain 4 Dec. 1902, and Major 4 June, 1911. Major Evans again saw active service in the European War, 1914–16. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from 13 Oct. 1914, to 28 Feb. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Robert Evans, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He became Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915; promoted Acting Colonel, May, 1918, and Colonel 3 June, 1919. He was mentioned in Despatches. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

GOODBODY, CECIL MAURICE, Major, was born 12 Nov. 1874, son of W. R. Goodbody, of Tullamore, King's County, and of Emily Davis, of Langport, Somerset. He was educated at Merchant Taylors'; Whitgift, and St. Thomas's Hospital, and joined the Indian Medical Service, as Lieutenant, 27 Jan. 1900, and served on the North-West Frontier of India in Waziristan, 1901 and 1902, receiving the Medal and clasp. He became Captain 27 Jan. 1903, and Major 27 July, 1911. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918; was present with the Indian Corps, 1914 to 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Cecil Maurice Goodbody, Major, Indian Medical Service." He was employed as A.D.M.S., Advanced Section, Lines of Communication, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, until 4 Feb. 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; was mentioned in Despatches, and in 1918 was made a C.I.E. Colonel C. M. Goodbody married, in Sept. 1902, Edith Isabel, daughter of the late Alexander Saunderson, of Oakhill Park, Liverpool. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Lawrence W. Harrison.

HARRISON, LAWRENCE WHITAKER, Major, was born 2 April, 1876, youngest son of the late Jonathan A. Harrison, M.D., J.P., of Haslingdon, Lancashire. He was educated at Manchester Grammar School and Glasgow University, graduating as M.B., Ch.B. in 1897, and entered the Royal Army Medical Corps, as Lieutenant, 17 Nov. 1899, and saw active service in the South African War, 1900–2, being present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and the action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and the action at Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights 14 to 27 Feb. 1900, and the action at Pieter's Hill; operations in Natal, March to June, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); operations in the Transvaal, November, 1900, to 31 May, 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He became Captain 17 Nov. 1902, and Major 17 May, 1911. Colonel Harrison served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Lawrence Whitaker Harrison, M.B., Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915, and was given the Brevet of Colonel 26 Dec. 1917, on becoming Honorary Physician to His Majesty the King. He was mentioned in Despatches, and has the Mons Star. Colonel Harrison is the author of articles on Surgery, Bacteriology and Hygiene. He has written 20 papers on subjects relating to the diagnosis and treatment of venereal diseases (1910–18); "The Diagnosis and Treatment of Venereal Diseases in General Practice" (1918); part author of "Gonococcal Infections;" "Manual of Venereal Diseases, by Officers of the Royal Army Medical Corps;" and "A System of Syphilis, by D'Arcy Power and J. Keogh Murphy" (papers on Microbiology, Serum Diagnosis and Treatment of Syphilis). He retired from the Army 17 Nov. 1919, and is now a Special Medical Officer in the Ministry of Health; Adviser in Venereal Diseases to the Ministry of Health, and Director of the Venereal Department, St. Thomas's Hospital, S.E.1. He married, 7 March, 1905, at St. Jude's Church, Kennington, S.E.1, Mabel Alice, youngest daughter of the late Colonel E. J. Fairland, A.M.S., and they have two sons: Gerald Fairland, born 4 Jan. 1906, and Douglas Edwin, born 16 Jan. 1910, and two daughters: Elizabeth Rosamund and Rosemary Julia Violet. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

NORRINGTON, HENRY LAWRENCE WEEKES, Major, was born at Clifton, Bristol, 16 Aug. 1872, son of Frederick Norrington and Clara Terrell Weekes. He was educated at Clifton College, and became a Lieutenant in the Royal Army Medical Corps 28 July, 1897. He served in the Nile Expedition, 1898–99, receiving the Medal and the Egyptian Medal. He was promoted Captain 28 July, 1900, and Major 28 Jan. 1909; was present at the International Occupation of Scutari, Albania, in 1914. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918, commanding No. 13 Stationary Hospital; No. 14 General Hospital, and with the 11th Division. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, for work as O.C., No. 13 Stationary Hospital at Boulogne, in 1914 and 1915 [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Henry Lawrence Weekes Norrington, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915, and retired 16 April, 1919. Lieut.-Colonel H. L. W. Norrington married, in June, 1899, at Blacklands, Wiltshire, Ethel Victoria May, daughter of General James Morris Topping and Mrs. Topping, and their children are: Guy Stanley, R.N., born 3 May, 1900; Charles Patrick, born 31 Oct. 1901, and Sybil Beryl, born 18 Sept. 1902. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Henry L. W. Norrington.

STEPHENS, FREDERICK ARCHER, Major, was born 5 Jan. 1872. He was educated at Sherborne, and King's College, London, for the medical profession. He joined the Royal Army Medical Corps, as a Lieutenant, 14 Nov. 1900, and served in the South African War as a Civil Surgeon. He was present in operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, July to 29 Nov. 1900; operations in the Transvaal, Dec. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to May, 1901. He received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Lieut. Stephens was promoted Captain 14 Nov. 1903; was a Territorial Adjutant 15 June, 1908, to 31 Oct. 1911; was promoted Major 14 Nov. 1912. He served in the European War with the original Expeditionary Force from 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frederick Archer Stephens, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He afterwards served with the Serbian and British Armies in Macedonia, and was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel from Sept. to Dec. 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SYMONS, FRANK ALBERT, Major, was born in April, 1869, son of the late John Hughes Symons, of Halifax, Nova Scotia. He was educated for the medical profession; took the degrees of M.B., C.M.Edinburgh, 1891, and joined the Royal Army Medical Corps, as Captain, 30 Jan. 1896 (after three years' previous service). He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1900, and was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including the action at Colenso; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to March, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Major 30 Oct. 1904. Major Symons served in the European War from 1914 to 1917, leaving England for France as Commanding Officer of No. 1 Casualty Clearing Station. He was mentioned by Viscount French in his Despatches in Oct. 1914, and twice again later, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frank Albert Symons, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel in March, 1915, and Temporary Colonel the following Nov. He was also created a C.M.G. Lieut.-Colonel Symons was subseqnently appointed Assistant Director of Medical Services. He fell in action 30 April, 1917. He had married, in 1900, Dorothy, second daughter of the late Edmund Grove Bennett, of The Close, Salisbury. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Digitized by Google

CRAWFORD, VINCENT JAMES, Major, was born 28 March, 1877, third son of the late Sir Thomas Crawford, K.C.B., late Director-General, Army Medical Department, and Jane, daughter of Major-General Edwards, late 18th Royal Irish. He was educated at Guy's Hospital, and was commissioned Lieutenant in the Royal Army Medical Corps 27 July, 1899. He served in South Africa, 1900–2, taking part in operations in the Orange Free State, 1900; operations in Orange River Colony, 1900; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River (Queen's Medal and King's Medal with two clasps each). He was promoted Captain 27 July, 1902, and Major 28 Jan. 1911. He served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Vincent James Crawford, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He became Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915, and was again mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1916. Lieut.-Colonel Crawford married (1st) on 8 Feb. 1903, Ethel Mercy (who died at sea 3 Jan. 1914), daughter of Mr. G. Beck, and (2ndly) 17 March, 1917, at Clones Parish Church, Eileen Kathleen, daughter of the late Samuel Kidd Jackson and Mrs. Jackson, of Cara, Clones, Ireland. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

FOX, ARTHUR CLAUD, Major, was born 23 April, 1868, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel W. S. Fox, I.M.S., and Mrs. Fox, of 95, Dorset Road, Bexhill-on-Sea. He was educated at Hampstead, and studied at the London Hospital for the medical profession, gaining the degrees M.R.C.S. and L.R.C.P.London, 1891. He joined the Royal Army Medical Corps; became Captain 29 Jan. 1897, and Major 29 Oct. 1905. He saw active service in the European War from 1914; was present at Ypres and Armentières. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Arthur Claud Fox, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He was gazetted Lieutenant-Colonel in March, 1915, and was reported missing, believed drowned, 15 April, 1917. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Arthur Claud Fox.

ORMSBY, GILBERT JOHN ANTHONY, Major, was born 16 Sept. 1876, only son of Sir Lambert H. Ormsby, Kt., a well-known surgeon, and his wife, the late Anastatia, only daughter of John Dickenson. His father was Lieutenant-Colonel and Honorary Consulting Surgeon of the New Zealand Expeditionary Force. G. J. A. Ormsby received his first commission as Lieutenant in the Royal Army Medical Corps 28 Jan. 1899. He served in South Africa from 1899 to 1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900) and action at Pieter's Hill; operations in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); operations in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 28 Jan. 1902, and Major 28 Jan. 1911. He served in the European War, 1914–18. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Gilbert John Anthony Ormsby, M.D., Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He became Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915, and was Temporary Colonel while serving as A.D.M.S. 12 July, 1917, to 30 May, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1918, and became A.D.M.S., 34th Division, British Armies in France (Acting Colonel), 13 Nov. 1918. Colonel Ormsby married, in 1904, Alice, daughter of George Pirie, and they have one son and one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

RUTHERFORD, NATHANIEL JOHN CRAWFORD, Major, was born 6 Nov. 1874. He was educated at Dublin; entered the Royal Army Medical Corps 28 Jan. 1899, and served in South Africa, 1899–1902; was in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont, Enslin, Modder River and Magersfontein; Relief of Kimberley; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Karee Siding, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal, May and June, 1900, including action near Johannesburg; operations in Orange River Colony, June and July, 1900, including action at Rhenoster River; operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to June, 1901; operations in Cape Colony, June, 1901, to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 28 Jan. 1902, and Major 28 Jan. 1911. Major N. J. C. Rutherford served in the European War from 1914 to 1917. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Nathaniel John Crawford Rutherford, M.B., Major, Royal Army Medical Corps." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915, and was appointed D.A.D., Medical Service. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

WILSON, HARRY THEODORE, Capt., was born 2 March, 1879, son of J. Minden Wilson. He was educated at Bedford School, and St. Bartholomew's Hospital; joined the Royal Army Medical Corps, as Lieutenant, 30 July, 1904, and was promoted Captain 30 Jan. 1908. Capt. Wilson saw active service in the European War from 1914 to 1917; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Harry Theodore Wilson, M.R.C.P., L.R.C.S., Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps." He was promoted Major 1 July, 1915; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 16 Nov. 1915; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Oct. 1915. He married, in 1906, Vivien, daughter of Colonel William Wylie Norman. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

WALSHE, SARSFIELD JAMES AMBROSE HALL, Capt., was educated at Edinburgh University and Royal College of Surgeons for the medical profession, and took the degrees M.B. and Ch.B. When the European War broke out he was Captain in the R.A.M.C., Special Reserve. He was on active service from 1914 to 1915; was mentioned in Despatches, and also created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Sarsfield James Ambrose Hall Walshe, Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps." He became Captain in the R.A.M.C., Regular Army, 6 Feb. 1918. Capt. Walshe is the author of "The Effect on Mental State of Minor and Major Attacks in Epileptic Insanity" (1912). He held the appointment of House Surgeon at Torbay Hospital. He is married, and has a son. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Sarsfield J. A. H. Walshe.

POTTS, EDMUND THURLOW, Capt., was born 8 June, 1878. He was educated at the University and Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh (M.D.), and was formerly Resident Medical Officer, Hospital for Sick Children, Newcastle; Chalmers Hospital, Edinburgh, and the Infectious Diseases Hospital, Edinburgh. He entered the Army, as a Lieutenant in the Royal Army Medical Corps, 31 July, 1905; was promoted Captain 31 Jan. 1909. He served from 1914 to 1918 in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Edmund Thurlow Potts, M.D., Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps." Capt. Potts was promoted to Major 15 Oct. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 4 Nov. 1917, to 30 March, 1919, while employed as A.D.M.S., 4th Army, British Armies in France; was created a C.M.G. in 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

SMITH, WILLIAM DUNLOP, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 14 Aug. 1865. He took part in the expedition to Dongola in 1896, as Special Service Officer, for which he was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 3 Nov. 1896], and received the 4th Class Medjidieh and the Egyptian Medal; also in the Nile Expedition of 1898, including the Battle of Khartoum, for which he was again mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 30 Sept. 1898], and received the Medal as well as a clasp to the Egyptian Medal. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1902. He was a Special Service Officer (including service with the Bechuanaland Protectorate Regt.), and was present in operations in the Transvaal, June, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, east and west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Rhenoster Kop; operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony; operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to March, 1901; operations in the Orange River Colony, May, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; operations in Cape Colony, March to April, 1901. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps, and for his services was promoted Veterinary Captain. He became Major 7 Jan. 1906; Lieutenant-Colonel 13 Oct. 1913; was A.D.V.S., Curragh, from 13 Oct. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. He served in the European War, as A.D.V.S., B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 5 Feb. 1915. For his services he was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "William Dunlop Smith, Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Army Veterinary Corps." He was appointed A.D.V.S., 1st Army, B.E.F., 6 Feb. 1915; served as D.D.V.S., Lines of Communication, B.E.F., and British Armies in France, 29 Sept. 1915, to 13 Aug. 1916; became Temporary Colonel 4 Oct. 1916, on receiving the appointment of D.D.V.S., Indian Expeditionary Force "D"; Temporary Brigadier-General, D.D.V.S., Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, 5 Nov. 1917; Acting Colonel, D.D.V.S., 28 Sept. 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was made a C.M.G. in 1917. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

William Dunlop Smith.

Digitized by Google

BURNS-LINDOW, ISAAC WILLIAM, Major, was born at Hazel Holme, Cumberland, 10 June, 1868, son of Jonas Lindow Burns-Lindow, Esq., J.P., D.L., of Irton Hall and Ehen Hall, Cumberland, and Mary (who died in 1904), eldest daughter of the late M. H. Quayle, of Crogga, Isle of Man. He was educated at Christ Church, Oxford, and received his first commission 9 Jan. 1892, in the 8th Hussars, in which he was promoted Captain 1 March, 1898. Capt. Burns-Lindow served in the South African War, 1900–1, and was severely wounded. He was present in operations in Cape Colony, 1900; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; operations in Orange River Colony, May, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, May to June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Diamond Hill; operations in the Transvaal, including the action at Belfast (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He retired from the 8th Hussars 21 Dec. 1904, and in 1905 joined the South Irish Horse. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. 1914, and again when his Companionship of the Distinguished Service Order was gazetted, 18 Feb. 1915: "I. W. Burns-Lindow, Major, South Irish Horse." He was also mentioned in Despatches in Feb. and June, 1916, and was promoted Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Cavalry Special Reserve. He is an M.F.H., South Union. He married, 11 Feb. 1896, at Ormesby, Norfolk, Madelaine Harriette Mary Theresa, daughter of Colonel George Wilson Boileau, of Old Catton, Norfolk, and Fanny E., daughter of General M. Kynoett. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

KENNARD, WILLOUGHBY ARTHUR, Capt., was born 20 May, 1881. He joined the 13th Hussars 21 March, 1900, being promoted Lieutenant 22 Feb. 1902. He saw active service in South Africa from 1899 to 1902, during which he was present in operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Sept. 1901; Oct. 1901, to April, 1902, and May, 1902; operations in Orange River Colony, April to May, 1902; operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He became Captain 13 Dec. 1906, and took an appointment as a Territorial Force Adjutant 9 April, 1912. Capt. Kennard served in the European War from 1914 to 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Willoughby Arthur Kennard, Capt., 13th Hussars." He was severely wounded, and died in Oct. 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

WATT, ALEXANDER FITZGERALD, Major, was born 13 Nov. 1872, eldest son of the late Alexander Y. Watt and Georgina, his wife, of Cadogan Gardens, London, S.W. He was educated privately, and at Jesus College, Cambridge. He saw active service in the South African War in 1900, being present in operations in Orange River Colony, May to Aug. 1900, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July) (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was A.D.C. to the Inspector-General of the Forces, 1907–12, and Private Secretary to the Chief of the Imperial General Staff, 1912–14. He served in the European War as A.D.C. to the Commander-in-Chief, British Armies in France; was twice mentioned in Despatches; enrolled as a Knight of the Legion of Honour, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Alexander Fitzgerald Watt, Major, Staff A.D.C. to the Field-Marshal Commander in-Chief, British Armies in the Field." Major Watt was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel in Dec. 1915. He was employed as A.D.C. to the Commander-in-Chief, Home Forces, 1916–18, and was appointed Comptroller of the Household, Viceregal Lodge, Dublin, in 1918; appointed Hon. Attaché to His Britannic Majesty's Legation in Vienna, 1920. Lieut.-Colonel Watt's regiment is the Yorkshire Hussars (Yeomanry). His favourite recreations are hunting, shooting, fishing and motoring. He is patron of one living. He married, in Oct. 1903, Georgina, only child of the late Augustine Robert Whiteway, Barrister-at-Law, of Hemingford Grey, Hunts, and they have one daughter. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Alexander Fitzgerald Watt.

DUNDAS, PATRICK HENRY, Major, was born 17 Oct. 1871, in Calcutta, son of Donald William Dundas, of the Bengal Police. He was educated at Denstone, and joined the Army, as a Second Lieutenant on the Unattached List, 3 Sept. 1892, being appointed to the Indian Staff Corps 5 Jan. 1894. He was promoted Lieutenant 3 Dec. 1894; served on the North-West Frontier of India, Tochi, 1897–98 (Medal with clasp), and in China, 1900 (Medal). He was promoted Captain, India, 3 Sept. 1901; was Staff Captain, India, to 31 Jan. 1909; Brigade-Major, India, 1 Feb. 1909, to 8 June, 1911; was promoted Major 3 Sept. 1910. He served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Patrick Henry Dundas, Major, Indian Army." He was Brigade Major, 47th Infantry Brigade, New Armies, British Expeditionary Force, 3 July, 1915, to 16 March, 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches in Feb. 1916; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel from 11 July, 1917, to 2 Sept. 1918; promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 3 Sept. 1918; appointed Administrator Commandant, Euphrates Section, Lines of Communication, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, 24 Feb. 1918. His regiment is the 6th Jat Light Infantry. He was given an O.B.E. in 1919. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

DAVIDSON-HOUSTON, CHARLES ELRINGTON DUNCAN, Major, was born 21 Jan. 1873, son of the late Rev. B. C. Davidson-Houston, M.A., Rector of St. John's, Dublin. He was commissioned Second Lieutenant on the Unattached List 28 June, 1893, and joined the Indian Staff Corps 28 Sept. 1895. He served in three campaigns on the North-West Frontier of India, viz.: 1897–98 (Tochi) (Medal and clasp); 1901–2 (Waziristan) (clasp); 1902, operations against the Darwesh Khel Waziris, in which he was slightly wounded. He was promoted Captain, Indian Army, 28 June, 1902, and Major 28 June, 1911. He served in the European War, receiving the temporary rank of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 Nov. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Charles Elrington Duncan Davidson-Houston, Major, Indian Army." He fell in action 25 Sept. 1915, near Neuve Chapelle. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

C. E. D. Davidson-Houston.

NORIE, FRANK HAY, Major, was born in Madras, India, 8 March, 1870, son of the late Major-General Evelyn Medows Norie, Indian Staff Corps, and Anne Katherine (Edwards), his wife. He was educated at Fettes College; joined the 1st Hampshire Regt. 4 March, 1891, and was transferred in 1895 to the 42nd Gurkhas. He first saw active service as Assistant Commandant of the Apa Tanang Expedition in 1896, being mentioned in Despatches. He became Captain, 6th Gurkhas, in 1901; served in the Zakka Khel Expedition in 1908, and in the Mohmund Expedition in the same year; was promoted Major 4 March, 1909, and retired from the Service 4 March, 1912. On the outbreak of the European War he volunteered for active service, and accompanied the British Expeditionary Force to France, where he was attached to the 2nd King Edward's Own Gurkhas. He was severely wounded at Neuve Chapelle 2 Nov. 1914, and for gallantry in this action was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 18 Feb. 1915]: "Frank Hay Norie, Major, attached 2nd King Edward's Own Gurkhas." Major Norie served throughout the European War. He married, at Edgbaston, 26 July, 1908, Rachel Eveline, daughter of John and Frederica Sanders, and they have one daughter, Kathleen Mary, born 18 Jan. 1910. His D.S.O. was awarded "for services in connection with operations in the field."

Frank Hay Norie.

London Gazette, 10 March, 1915.—"War Office, 10 March, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry whilst serving with the Expeditionary Force."

MACNAGHTEN, ERNEST BRANDER, Major and Brevet Lieut.-Colonel, was born 11 Sept. 1872, son of the late Colonel W. H. Macnaghten, C.B., and Alice Ellen, daughter of Lieut.-General M. J. Brander, I.S.C. He entered the Royal Artillery, as a Second Lieutenant, 9 Nov. 1892, and became Lieutenant 9 Nov. 1895. He was employed with the West African Frontier Force 16 Feb. 1898, to 21 March, 1900, serving with the expedition to Dama (Medal with clasp). He again saw active service in South Africa, 1899–1902. He became Captain 18 April, 1900, and was on Special Service with the Rhodesian Field Force 24 April, 1900, to 14 April, 1901; was present in operations in Rhodesia 11 Oct. 1899, to 25 April, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). From 16 Jan. 1903, to 17 June, 1904, he was Transport Officer with the Somaliland Field Force, and commanded the 2nd Somali Camel Corps from 16 July, 1903, receiving for his services in the Somaliland operations mention in Despatches by Brigadier-General Manning 17 Aug. 1903; by Sir G. C. Egerton 30 May, 1904, and in the London Gazette of 2 Sept. 1904 (Medal and clasp). Serving in 1906 in Northern Nigeria, he was again mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 2 July, 1907]. Capt. Macnaghten was Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, India, 18 Dec. 1909; received promotion to Major 18 Dec. 1909; was employed as Instructor, School of Gunnery, 1 Oct. 1912, to 31 March, 1913, and Major Instructor, School of Gunnery, 1 April, 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. He served with distinction in the European War, 1914–18. He was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel

Ernest B. Macnaghten.

Digitized by Google

18 Feb. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "Ernest Brander Macnaghten, Major and Brevet Lieut.-Colonel, 30th Battn. Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry and ability on 25 Jan. 1915, during the attack by Germans on the village of Givenchy. Whilst exposed to very heavy fire he obtained valuable information as to the enemy's position." From 27 Feb. to 3 April, 1915, he was Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, 1st Army, B.E.F.; from 4 April to 17 Aug. 1915, G.S.O.2 (Staff Officer to Major-General, Royal Artillery, 1st Army), British Armies in France. He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 5 Oct. 1915, and held the temporary rank of Brigadier-General 24 April, 1916, to 23 April, 1919, commanding Royal Artillery 15th Division, British Armies in France, 24 April, 1916, to 7 Oct. 1918, and the 12th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 8 Oct. 1918, to 23 April, 1919. He was created a C.M.G. in 1917, and was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918. He married, in 1906, Yvonne Marie, daughter of the late Surgeon Colonel J. A. Forester, Royal Horse Guards, and they have one son and four daughters.

MACALPINE-LENY, WILLIAM HARLEY, Major, was born at Dalswinton 28 Nov. 1880, son of the late W. Macalpine-Leny, of Dalswinton, Dumfries, and Duror, Argyllshire, and his wife, daughter of Walter Long, of Preshaw, Hants. He was educated at Marlborough College, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, joining the Army 24 June, 1899, and receiving promotion 16 Feb. 1901. He took part in the operations in the Aden Hinterland, 1902–3, and was promoted Captain 13 May, 1904. From 1 Jan. 1906, to 12 Nov. 1908, he was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, and from 13 Nov. 1908, to 13 Nov. 1913, Adjutant in the Territorial Force, becoming Major 30 Oct. 1914. Major Macalpine-Leny was serving at Malta on the outbreak of the European War, whence he proceeded to France. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "William Harley Macalpine-Leny, Major, 115th Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery. For conspicuous ability and courage at Wulverghem on 24 and 27 Jan., when he succeeded in destroying houses occupied by the enemy by the fire of his battery, during which period he had to observe the firing of his guns from a very exposed position." He served as Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918. He was four times mentioned in Despatches. Lieut.-Colonel Macalpine-Leny is a member of the I.Z. and Free Foresters Cricket Clubs, and for several years played cricket for Dorsetshire and hockey for Dorset County and the West of England. Capt. Macalpine-Leny married, at St. Jude's Church, South Kensington, 16 June, 1908, Anna Felicia, daughter of the Rev. L. B. Weldon, D.D., Canon of Salisbury, and granddaughter of Sir Anthony Weldon, Baronet, of Rohinderry, Queen's County, and Kilmory, Kildare, Ireland, and also of Sir Crocker Barrington, Baronet, of Glenstal, Limerick, and they have one son, Kenneth Harley, born 20 Oct. 1909.

W. H. Macalpine-Leny.

FOULKES, CHARLES HOWARD, Major, was born 1 Feb. 1875, son of the Rev. Thomas Foulkes and Tessie Fischer. He was educated at Warminster Grammar School and at Bedford Modern School, and entered the Royal Engineers, as a Second Lieutenant, 27 Feb. 1894, becoming Lieutenant 27 Feb. 1897. He served in the operations in Sierra Leone, 1898–99 (Medal with clasp), and in the South African War, on the Staff, employed as Intelligence Officer (graded as Staff Captain), 15 July to 9 Sept. 1900; operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including the operations at Paardeberg; actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Karee Siding, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill; operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, including action at Elands River; operations in Orange River Colony, including actions at Bethlehem, Wittebergen and Witpoort; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900, including action at Colesberg (Queen's Medal with six clasps). He was Assistant Commissioner, Anglo-French Boundary Commission, east of the Niger, 4 Oct 1902, to 2 July, 1904, and took part in the Kano-Sokoto Campaign in Northern Nigeria in 1903 (Medal with clasp); became Captain 1 April, 1904, and Major 27 Feb. 1914. He saw active service for the fourth time in the European War from 1914–18. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette of 10 March, 1915]: "Charles Howard Foulkes, Major, Royal Engineers. For conspicuous gallantry in assisting to rescue a wounded man under heavy fire, and for very valuable services rendered at Cuinchy, in placing in a state of defence the position which was captured from the enemy on 6 Feb. 1915." He held a special appointment (G.S.O.1) at G.H.Q., British Expeditionary Force, 27 May, 1915, to 16 Jan. 1916; was Brigade Commander (graded as A.A.G.) of a Special Brigade, Royal Engineers, B.E.F., 17 Jan. to 19 May, 1916; and Brigade Commander (graded as Brigadier-General), Special Brigade, Royal Engineers, British Armies in France, 20 May, 1916, to 16 June, 1917, and was promoted Temporary Brigadier-General on receiving the appointment of Director of Gas Services, British Armies in France, 17 June, 1917. For his services in the European War, Brigadier-General Foulkes was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel (1 Jan. 1917) and Colonel (1 Jan. 1919); was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a C.M.G. in 1918. He had the 1914 Star, the Legion of Honour, the French Croix de Guerre (with Palm), the Belgian Ordre de la Couronne (Commandeur) and Croix de Guerre, and the American Distinguished Service Medal. He has played in international hockey for Scotland. He married, in 1904, Dorothea Fanny, eldest daughter of Herbert Oakey, and they have three sons.

WINGATE, MALCOLM ROY, Lieut., was born 28 Aug. 1893, at Whitehill, Newton Abbot, second son of General Sir Francis Reginald Wingate, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., Sirdar of the Egyptian Army, High Commissioner of Egypt, and Catherine Leslie, his wife, daughter of the late Capt. Joseph Sparkhall Rundle, Royal Navy. He was educated at Locker's Park, Hemel Hempstead, and at Winchester, passing 17th into Woolwich from Winchester in 1911. He passed out 10th in Dec. 1912, obtaining a commission in the Royal Engineers as Second Lieutenant. He joined at Chatham in April, 1913, the School of Military Engineering. On mobilization at the commencement of the European War in 1914 he was appointed to the 26th Field Company, Royal Engineers (1st Division, Expeditionary Force, Border Camp, Major H. Pritchard). He proceeded to France on the 14th Aug.; was in the Retreat from Mons; took part in operations on the Marne and Aisne, and at Ypres, fighting with his Field Company in all the fierce actions of that period. He was mentioned in Despatches in Feb. and March, 1915; was awarded the Military Cross [London Gazette, 19 Feb. 1915], and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "Malcolm Roy Wingate, Lieut., 26th Field Company, Royal Engineers. For conspicuous gallantry on numerous occasions under dangerous conditions, especially at Givenchy on 27 Jan. 1915, when he led a small party and blew in the head of the enemy's sap at the White House." In Aug. 1915, he was appointed to the Staff as Staff Captain to the Engineer-in-Chief at General Headquarters in France, where he remained until 1917. During that time he was awarded the Croix de Guerre. He considered, however, that his place was at the front, and he asked to be allowed to return to a field company, which was eventually permitted. He was again mentioned in Despatches in May and Dec. 1917, and was given the Brevet of Major on 1 Jan. 1918, after considerably less than five years' service. He was commanding the 459th Field Company when he fell in action 21 March, 1918, aged twenty-four, when leading his men forward to their battle positions during the enemy's attack. A correspondent writes: "His strength of character was concealed under a singularly quiet, courteous and unassuming manner. He was resolute of purpose, punctilous in the discharge of his duty and fearless in carrying it out."

Malcolm Roy Wingate.

LEIGH-BENNETT, ARTHUR, Capt., was born 25 Nov. 1885, and was educated at Winchester. He joined the Coldstream Guards, as a Second Lieutenant, 28 Jan. 1905, and was promoted Lieutenant 22 Jan. 1907. He took part in the European War; was promoted Temporary Captain 15 Nov. 1914; was mentioned in Despatches; gained the Military Cross, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "Arthur Leigh-Bennett, Capt., 2nd Battn. Coldstream Guards. For conspicuous gallantry at Cuinchy on 1 Feb. 1915. Leading his men with great ability against the enemy, he stopped their advance, and eventually captured their position." He was killed in action in France 3 Oct. 1915.

CAUTLEY, WILLIAM OXENHAM, Major, was born at Gosport 7 Oct. 1875, elder son of Capt. William Tompson Cautley and Emily Marian Oxenham. Major Cautley came of military stock, his grandfather being Major-General George Cautley, 8th Bengal Cavalry, who served through both of the Oudh Campaigns in the forties, and his father, a Captain in the 1st South Staffordshire Regt., died on active service in 1883, leaving his four orphan children to the care of their uncle, the Rev. Proby L. Cautley, Vicar of Quainton, Bucks. The subject of this notice was educated at Bradford College, and distinguished himself in athletics. He entered first the 3rd Hussars through the Militia (3rd Battn. Suffolk Regt.); he rejoined the Suffolks on the outbreak of the South African War. He volunteered for service abroad on the outbreak of the European War, and proceeded to France in Oct., and went up to Ypres. During the first month he was attached to the 1st Sussex Regt., and then for the remainder of the time to the 1st Northamptonshires. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "William Oxenham Cautley, Major, The Suffolk Regt., attached 1st Northamptonshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry on 22 Dec. 1914, near La Quinque Rue, where he handled his men with great skill, under very critical circumstances." The Specia Brigade Order issued by Brigadier-General C. B. Westmacott on Christmas Day, 1914, gives high praise to the Northamptons and to Major Cautley: "The Brigadier-General desires me to take this opportunity of congratulating D Company, 1st Battn. Northamptonshire Regt., on its gallant and steady behaviour during the action of 22 Dec. The manner in which, under the command of Major Cautley, of the 3rd Battn. Suffolk Regt., it resisted the German William O. Cautley.

Digitized by Google

counter-attack, and the steadiness with which it finally withdrew in the face of superior numbers, and eventually occupied a position in the rear to cover a gap made in the line, was worthy of all praise, and adds fresh laurels to the fine record of the old 48th. The Brigadier-General has heard of numerous individual gallant exploits in this engagement, and congratulates himself on having such a fine body of men as the 1st Northants in his brigade. He desires that this order be read out to the battalion on parade." An officer of the Northants writes: "The Commander-in-Chief, Lord French, saw the 1st Battn. of the Northamptonshire Regt. on parade, and delivered an appreciative address to them. He congratulated all ranks on its splendid performances during the campaign, and said that he was proud to have such a fine body of men as the 1st Northants under his command. He wished to express to each man how much he appreciated their gallant conduct, behaviour and endurance." Major Cautley was again mentioned in Despatches on 23 June, 1915. He fell in action on 9 May, 1915, near Richbourg, while leading the 1st Northants Regt. against the German trenches. Wounded in the right arm, he had been already attended to when he was struck by another bullet, death being instantaneous. In Battalion Orders, issued by Lieut.-Colonel Massey Lloyd, 3rd Suffolks, 20 May, appears the following: "It is with deep regret that the Commanding Officer has to announce the death of Major W. O. Cautley, D.S.O., killed in action. Major Cautley, by the keen interest he always took in the welfare of the battalion, endeared himself to all ranks, and in the end brought a great distinction not only to himself, but to the battalion to which he was so devoted. The Commanding Officer has lost a personal friend, and the Suffolk Regt. a brilliant soldier." He had married, 10 April, 1901, at St. Catherine's, Blairgowrie, Scotland, Agnes, second daughter of Charles Hill-Whitson, late Scots Greys, of Park Hill, Blairgowrie, and they had three children: Beatrice Sylvia Aimée; Marian Agnes, and William Hill, born 1906.

SALMON, HUGH MAXWELL BROOME, Capt., was born 6 June, 1888, at St. Leonards-on-Sea, son of Mordaunt Broome Salmon, (late) 3rd Queen's Own Bombay Light Cavalry (who took part in the Battle of Maiwand and siege of Kandahar, and was recommended for the V.C. He was killed at polo at Neemuch, on 30 Dec. 1887, his rank at the time of his death being that of Captain), and his wife, Maud Ethel, daughter of Colonel G. Hancock, of the Bombay Staff Corps, now Mrs. Vicars, of Avondale, Eastbourne. Hugh Salmon was educated at Wellington College, where he was in the 1st XV., 1904–5, and in the Gym. Pair, 1905, and at Sandhurst (entered Jan. 1907), where he was in the 1st XV., 1907. He became Second Lieutenant, 1st Battn. The 24th Regt. (South Wales Borderers), 22 Feb. 1908, and Lieutenant 1 April, 1911. He served in the European War from 1914. At the First Battle of Ypres, "the bombardment of Givenchy-les-Bassée Spur commenced about 7.30 p.m. on the 25th Jan. 1915, and ceased at 8.30 a.m. The Germans attacked in waves five times. I was in support," says Capt. Salmon, "at Windy Corner, and took up my company as reinforcement during the bombardment. At about 10 a.m. the Welsh Regt. were broken through and suffered very severely. The enemy put up a barrage of high explosive over Givenchy village and the road from Windy Corner. I took up a party of Royal Welsh Fusiliers (T.) and posted them where required, and received a machine-gun bullet through the leg while doing it. A platoon of my company, assisted by a company of the Black Watch, retook the Welsh trenches. Givenchy Spur was held this day by the 3rd Brigade. It was never held by any previous attack." For these services Capt. Salmon was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "Hugh Maxwell Broome Salmon, Capt. (temporary), 1st Battn. King's Own Scottish Borderers. For conspicuous courage at Givenchy on 25th Jan. 1915. Although wounded, he brought up men from the local reserves under heavy fire on two occasions, and remained throughout the day with his company in action." He was made Captain 24 Jan. 1915; was wounded at the First Battle of Ypres, 2 Nov. 1914; at Givenchy-les-Bassée 25 Jan. 1915, and was mentioned in Despatches, Feb. 1915, for the First Battle of Ypres. On 28 Dec. 1916, at Tewkesbury Abbey, Capt. Salmon married Violet Lucy, daughter of James Shapland Sargeaunt, Esq., of Tewkesbury Park, Tewkesbury.

TRAVERS, HUGH MORTIMER, Capt., was born at Calcutta on 2 Sept. 1873, son of Lieut.-Colonel Joseph Oates Travers, Leicestershire Regt., Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, a distinction which he received for the Crimean Campaign. Capt. Travers came of a distinguished military family, his grandfathers having been General Sir Robert Travers, of the Rifle Brigade, and Major-General Sir Henry Marion Durand, R.E., K.C.S.I., C.B. Sir Robert Travers was one of six brothers, four of whom were in the Rifle Brigade and two in the Navy, and the six brothers had amongst them twenty-four sons, all of whom went into the Army. At one time Sir Robert and three of his brothers and two of Mrs. Travers' first cousins were in the Rifle Brigade. The Travers crest is a cockle-shell, showing that the family took part in the Crusades, and their name is carved at Battle Abbey, and is in Battle Abbey Roll. They are descended from Baron Robert de Travers, who, in 1067, married the heiress of Nateby, in Lancashire. Another ancestor, Admiral Sir Eaton Travers, was engaged with the enemy over one hundred times, and was eight times mentioned for his gallant conduct. Hugh Mortimer Travers was educated at Wellington College, and was gazetted in the 1st Leicestershire Regt. from the Militia in Dec. 1896, joining the battalion at the Cape in 1897, where he remained till 1902. He took part in the South African War; was promoted Lieutenant in Oct. 1899, and was present with his battalion at Talana Hill; in the retreat from Dundee; at the actions of Lombard's Kop; in the siege of Ladysmith; in Sir Redvers Buller's advance on Lydenberg, and under General Sir John French in the Eastern Transvaal. In the last thirteen months of the war he was on an armoured train. For his services in this campaign he received the thanks of Lord Kitchener, and the Queen's Medal with two clasps. He also held the Coronation Medal. He was promoted Captain, and was selected for the Egyptian Army, but retired in 1907, as he had contracted blackwater fever. He joined the 5th Battn. Royal Munster Fusiliers in Nov. of that year. When the European War broke out he was attached to a battalion of the Regular Army, and was present at the Battle of the Aisne; at La Bassée and Givenchy, at all of which he did exceedingly well. Capt. Travers was killed in action on 8 Nov. 1914, being shot through the head in a bayonet charge, in which he gallantly led his men, near Hooge, a small village near Ypres. For his conduct in this action he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "Hugh Mortimer Travers, Capt., 5th (attached 3rd) Battn. Royal Munster Fusiliers. For conspicuous gallantry and ability on 8 Nov. near Ypres, in organizing an attack and recapturing a trench from the enemy, and subsequently for leading a second attack and capturing another position fifty yards nearer to the front. Capt. Travers was killed while maintaining his post on this occasion." The Adjutant of his battalion, in a letter, said that he "died the death of a soldier and a very gallant gentleman," and a sergeant described his deed as "the coolest deed I have ever seen. It was gloriously brave." Capt. Travers was engaged to Wilhelmina Annette, daughter of Surgeon-General Sir William Taylor, M.D., K.C.B., and Lady Taylor, and the marriage had been postponed because Capt. Travers had to leave for the front at twenty-four hours' notice.

LANG, ERIC CHRISTIAN, Lieut., was born 26 Sept. 1888. He was educated for the medical profession (M.B.), joining the Royal Army Medical Corps, as Lieutenant, 26 July, 1912. He served in the European War, 1914–18, attached to the 1st Battn. Leicestershire Regt. He was mentioned twice in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "Eric Christian Lang, Lieut., Royal Army Medical Corps, attached 1st Battn. The Leicestershire Regt., For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on two occasions, especially on 9 Feb. 1915, at Rue du Bois, in rescuing a severely wounded officer under very difficult circumstances while in full view of the enemy." He became Captain 30 March, 1915; was Acting Major, Jan. to April, 1918, and Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, April, 1918, to March, 1919.

SHAW, EDWARD WINGFIELD, Lieut., was born at Anerley, London, S.E., 19 Feb. 1895, youngest son of Colonel George Jocelyn Shaw, Indian Army (retired), and great-grandson of the late Sir Frederick Shaw, 3rd Baronet, of Bushy Park, Dublin. He was educated at Lancing and Dulwich Colleges, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, joining the Middlesex Regt. 26 Aug. 1914. He was sent to France as Lieutenant, 1st Middlesex Regt., and got his Temp.-Captaincy within a month. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 March, 1915]: "Edward Wingfield Shaw, Lieut. (Temporary Captain), 1st Battn. (The Duke of Cambridge's Own) Middlesex Regt. For conspicuous gallantry on 30 Oct. 1914, at La Boutillerie. In leading a part of his platoon to recover a lost trench he was wounded and compelled to retire, but collecting another party, he went forward again to the attack and entered the enemy's trench, being wounded a second time in so doing. As a result of the action the trench was recovered, 30 of the enemy being killed or wounded and the remainder taken prisoner." Subsequently, and on recovering from his wounds, which were slight, he rejoined the 3rd Battn. of his regiment in France in Feb. 1915, and took part in the various operations near Ypres, being again mentioned in Despatches 18 June, 1915. He came home to England on sick leave in Sept. 1915, and rejoined the 1st Battn. of his regiment in France in Feb. 1916. He served continuously with his units until he was wounded, 28 Oct. 1916, while leading his company in an attack on Les Bœufs. He was moved to the base hospital at Rouen, and died 7 Dec. 1916. He was buried in St. Séver Cemetery, Rouen.

Edward Wingfield Shaw.

London Gazette, 3 March, 1915.—"Admiralty, 3 March, 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointment to the Distinguished Service Order to the undermentioned Officer, in recognition of services mentioned in Vice-Admiral Beatty's Despatch 3 March, 1915."

PETERS, FREDERIC THORNTON, Lieut., served in the European War, and took part in the action in the North Sea on Sunday, 24 Jan. 1915. He was on board H.M.S. Meteor during this engagement. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 March, 1915]: "Frederic Thornton Peters, Lieut., Royal Navy." Lieut. Peters was on active service from 1914–17. He died of wounds 7 Dec. 1916.

Dudley Graham Johnson.

London Gazette, 16 March, 1915.—"War Office, 16 March, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to appoint the undermentioned Officer to be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order."

JOHNSON, DUDLEY GRAHAM, Capt., served in the Great War at Tsingtau in 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 March, 1915]: "Dudley Graham Johnson, Capt.,

Digitized by Google

South Wales Borderers." He became Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, and in 1919 was awarded the Victoria Cross (see Victoria Cross Volume). His D.S.O. was awarded "for conspicuous ability in the night of 5–6 Nov. 1914, during the operations against the German positions at Tsingtau, and for great gallantry in rescuing several wounded men whilst exposed to heavy fire."

London Gazette, 27 March, 1915.—"War Office, 27 March, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the following Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty whilst serving with the Expeditionary Force."

BIRD, ARTHUR JAMES GLOVER, Capt., was born 4 Feb. 1883, at Jhelum, India, son of C. P. Bird, Esq., retired Indian Civil Service. He was educated at Cheltenham College, and obtained his first commission in the Royal Engineers 21 Dec. 1900; was promoted Lieutenant 21 Dec. 1903. He saw active service on the North-West Frontier of India, 1908, taking part in operations in the Zakka Khel country; operations in the Mohmand country, engagements at Matta and Kargha (Medal with clasp); was promoted Captain 21 Dec. 1910. Capt. Bird served in the European War from 1914 to 1918. For his services in France until Dec. 1915, he was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 27 March, 1915]: "Arthur James Glover Bird, Capt., Royal Engineers (No. 4 Company, 1st King George's Own Sappers and Miners), Indian Army. For conspicuous ability, gallantry and great initiative during the past four months. His great energy and zeal in organizing the work of barricade construction at all critical points immensely increased the power for resistance. His very effective work was most noticeable during the critical period in the firing line from 19 to 23 Dec. 1914." He was sent to Mesopotamia in 1915; was promoted Major 2 Nov. 1916; was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; became acting Lieutenant-Colonel 27 May, 1918.

Arthur J. G. Bird.

CARMICHAEL, GEORGE IVAN, Capt. (Temporary Major), was born 24 Aug. 1888. He entered the Royal Artillery 18 Dec. 1908, as a Second Lieutenant, and was promoted Lieutenant 18 Dec. 1911; joined the Royal Flying Corps 11 March, 1913, and became Temporary Captain 1 May, 1914. Capt. Carmichael served in the European War from 1914 to 1918 with the Royal Flying Corps. He became Captain (Royal Artillery) 18 Dec. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 27 March, 1915]: "George Ivan Carmichael, Capt., Royal Artillery and Royal Flying Corps. For conspicuous gallantry, daring and ability throughout the campaign. On 11th instant he destroyed the rails at Menin railway station by dropping a bomb weighing 100 lbs. thereon from a height of only 100 feet. On the return journey his engine was damaged by a bullet, which necessitated his flying at a height of less than 200 feet. Capt. Carmichael has also rendered valuable services in observing artillery fire." He was Temporary Major, March, 1915, to Feb. 1917; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Feb. 1917, to March, 1918; was employed with the Royal Flying Corps until 31 March, 1918. He was employed from 1 April, 1918, under the Air Ministry, and was promoted Major, Royal Artillery, 20 May, 1918; was awarded the Air Force Cross in 1919. He married, in 1915, Kathleen Mary Foxon, youngest daughter of W. Casterton Smelt, of Braeside, Rosslyn Hill, N.W. They have one son.

MOORE, EDMUND HUGH, Lieut., was born at Horningsham, Wiltshire, 16 July, 1885, son of the Rev. William Moore (B.A. Oxon.), Rector of Mereworth, Kent. He was educated at Radley College, at Mareschal College, at Aberdeen University, and at London Hospital, and is an M.B. and B.Ch. He joined the Royal Army Medical Corps 9 Aug. 1914, and accompanied the British Expeditionary Force to France on 23 Aug. 1914, leaving a Base Hospital for the front within a fortnight. He served as Medical Officer to the Connaught Rangers, and later to the 2nd Leicestershire Regt. till wounded and sent back to England. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 27 March, 1915]: "Edmund Hugh Moore, M.B., Lieut., Royal Army Medical Corps. For conspicuous gallantry on 23 Feb. 1915, near Richebourg l'Avoué, in going over with another officer and a stretcher-bearer to within 150 yards of the enemy and attending to a severely wounded soldier. The stretcher-bearer was then wounded, and Lieut. Moore remained in attendance on him, undoubtedly saving his life. On the next day this officer again went with the greatest gallantry to the assistance of a wounded man under the aimed fire of the enemy. He dressed the man's wounds and was immediately afterwards wounded himself." He was incapacitated for six months as the result of his wounds, and after a short spell of light duty in England went out to Gallipoli. After the evacuation of the Peninsula he was invalided home, and returned to the Somme Front in Nov. 1916; served till 1917; subsequently became Captain, and in the course of the war was twice wounded and once gassed. His chief recreations are music and motoring.

Edmund Hugh Moore.

POLLARD, GEORGE CHAMBERS, Major, first saw active service in the South African War, 1900–1, and was present in operations in the Orange Free State, May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May), and Zand River; operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, including actions at Belfast 26 and 27 Aug.) (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He served with distinction in the European War, 1914–18; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 27 March, 1915]: "George Chambers Pollard, Major, 1st (The Newcastle) Northumbrian Field Company, Royal Engineers. For conspicuous gallantry on the night of the 10th Feb. 1915, in assisting to carry a severely wounded officer into cover whilst exposed to continuous heavy fire. Major Pollard has been exposed almost daily to heavy rifle and shell fire in attending to his duties, and has shown a fine example of self-sacrifice and devotion to duty in all difficulties and dangers." Invested by the King 22 Sept. 1916. He was wounded; five times mentioned in Despatches, and was created a C.M.G. in 1918.

PRETYMAN, GEORGE FREDERICK, Lieut., was born 8 Sept. 1891, son of Maj.-Gen. Sir G. T. Pretyman, K.C.M.G., C.B. Educated at Wellington College; gazetted to the Somerset L.I. 25 March, 1911; Lieutenant 5 Aug. 1914; Captain 25 March, 1917. He became Wing Commander and Lieut.-Col. R.A.F.; mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1918, and the O.B.E. 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 27 March, 1915]: "George Frederick Pretyman, Lieut., T. Capt., Somerset Light Infantry and R.F.C. For great gallantry, ability and initiative on numerous occasions, especially on the 12th inst. The clouds being low he had to fly very low for a considerable period all along the German positions to ascertain their movements, being exposed the whole time to a very heavy fire. On the 13th inst. he blew up the centre of a train at Don Station, damaged a building outside which a battalion of the enemy were forming up and drove off a German aeroplane." He married Maureen, daughter of Colonel E. S. Heard.

London Gazette, 10 April, 1915.—"Admiralty, 10 April, 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order of the undermentioned Officers, in recognition of their services as mentioned."

NUNN, WILFRID, Capt., served on the Staff, Royal Naval War College, 1911–12; War Staff Officer, 1912. He served in the European War, 1914–16, receiving a decoration for each of three years of service. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 April, 1915]: "Wilfrid Nunn, Commander (now Capt.), Royal Navy" (for services during the operations in the Shatt-el-Arab, Dec. 1914, resulting in the capture of Qurnah). For services at Amara he was mentioned in Despatches, and he received the Naval General Service Medal, Persian Gulf clasp, 1914. He subsequently served in Mesopotamia, as Commander of the Tigris Flotilla, and was made a C.M.G. in 1916, and a C.B. in 1917, for his work on the Tigris. He was several times mentioned in Despatches, Sir Percy Lake mentioning him as follows: (M.P. 14 Oct. 1916): "Nunn . . . and other officers of the Royal Navy have afforded us the able assistance which we have become accustomed to receive from them." He commanded H.M. Ships Aurora and Curlew in the Harwich Force, July, 1917, to April, 1919; the C.S.I. was given him in 1919. He has the 1914–15 Star.

DAVIES, RICHARD BELL, Squadron Commander, Royal Naval Air Service, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 April, 1915]: "Richard Bell Davies, Squadron Commander, Royal Naval Air Service. For services rendered in the aerial attack on Dunkirk." For his later services Wing Commander R. B. Davies was awarded the Victoria Cross (see Victoria Cross Volume).

PEIRSE, RICHARD EDMUND CHARLES, Flight Lieutenant, was born in 1892, only son of Admiral Sir Richard Peirse, Naval Member of the Central Committee, Board of Invention and Research (1914–18), and of Blanche, his wife, daughter of the Rev. E. J. Wemyss Whittaker. He was educated at Monkton Combe School, and King's College, London. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1918; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 10 April, 1915]: "Richard Edmund Charles Peirse, Flight Lieutenant, Royal Naval Air Service. He repeatedly attacked the German submarine station at Ostend and Zeebrugge, being subjected on each occasion to heavy and accurate fire." He became Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Air Force; was awarded the Air Force Cross; was appointed Senior Air Officer, Atlantic and Home Fleet. Lieut.-Colonel R. E. C. Peirse married, in 1915, Joyce, youngest daughter of Armitage Ledgard, of Manor House Thorner, Yorkshire. They have one daughter.

Richard E. C. Peirse.

Digitized by Google

PALMES, GEORGE BRYAN, Lieut.-Commander, served in the European War, 1914–15. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, for services in command of the torpedo boat O 43, during the operations on the Suez Canal, Feb. 1915 [London Gazette, 10 April, 1915]: "George Bryan Palmes, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy." He was promoted Commander in 1917.

London Gazette, 15 April, 1915.—"War Office, 15 April, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointments of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty whilst serving with the Expeditionary Force."

NEWCOME, HENRY WILLIAM, Major, was born 14 July, 1875. He was educated at Marlborough (1888–92, C 3 House), and entered the Army 14 June, 1895, as a Second Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery, and was promoted Lieutenant 15 June, 1898. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900, being employed as A.D.C. to the Major-General Commanding Royal Artillery, Natal, 20 March to 23 May, 1900. He was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including the action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and the action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and the action at Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb.), and the action at Pieter's Hill; operations in Natal, March to June, 1900, including the action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.), and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.). He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. 1901), and received the Queen's Medal with six clasps. He became Captain 14 March, 1901; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 7 Jan. 1902, to 6 Jan. 1905; Instructor, Ordnance College, 26 Feb. 1909, to 27 Oct. 1912; was promoted Major 21 Aug. 1911, and was Major Instructor, School of Gunnery, 1 April to 3 Aug. 1914. Major Newcome served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for distinguished work in reports and especially at Givenchy [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "Henry William Newcome, Major, 47th Battery, Royal Field Artillery." From 18 Aug. 1915, to 9 Feb. 1916, he was G.S.O.2 (Staff Officer to Major-General, Royal Artillery), 1st Army, B.E.F. (wounded twice; Despatches, three times); from 10 Feb. to 9 July, 1916, G.S.O.1 (Staff Officer to Major-General, Royal Artillery), G.H.Q., B.E.F. and British Armies in France; was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 1 June, 1916. He served also in 1916, as Lieutenant-Colonel Instructor, Gunnery School, Salisbury Plain (Despatches); became Temporary Brigadier-General 13 May, 1917, Royal Artillery, 21st Division, British Armies in France, which appointment he held until 4 Nov. 1918; on 5 Nov. 1918, was appointed Commandant, Chapperton Down Artillery School. He was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919.

GAULT, ANDREW HAMILTON, Major, was born in England 18 Aug. 1882, son of the late A. F. Gault, of Montreal, and Louisa S. Gault (Harman), his wife. He was educated at the Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, and at the McGill University. He took part in the Boer War of 1899–1902, as a Subaltern in the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, serving in operations in the Transvaal and Cape Colony (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He became Captain Corps Reserve, Royal Highlanders of Canada, 14 Oct. 1905. He was Consul-General for Sweden in Canada, 1909–11, and a member of the Council of the Montreal Board of Trade, 1911–13; a Director of the Montreal Cottons, Ltd.; the Trent Valley Woollen Mills; the Crescent Company; Van Allen Co. Ltd.; Gordons Ltd., and other companies. He is president of Gault Bros. Co. and Gault Realties Ltd. Major Gault raised and equipped Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry for active service in the European War (1914–16). He was wounded, was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "Andrew Hamilton Gault, Major, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. For conspicuous gallantry at St. Eloi on 27 Feb. 1915, in reconnoitring quite close to the enemy's position, obtaining information of great value for our attack, which was carried out next day. On 28 Feb. Major Gault assisted in the rescue of the wounded under most difficult circumstances, while exposed to heavy fire." In 1919 he was given an O.B.E. Lieut.-Colonel Gault's favourite recreations are hunting, polo, shooting and fishing. He married, in 1904, Marguerite, daughter of the Honourable G. W. Stephens.

CROZIER, BAPTIST BARTON, Major, was born 17 July, 1878, son of the Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of All Ireland, the Most Reverend Dr. Crozier. He entered the Army, with a commission in the Royal Arlery, 22 Dec. 1898, and was promoted Captain 16 Feb. 1901. He served in the South African War, 1900–1, and was present in operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; operations in Orange River Colony (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was promoted Captain 18 Sept. 1907; was a Territorial Force Adjutant 18 May, 1908, to 17 May, 1911; became Major 30 Oct. 1914. Major Crozier served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "Baptist Barton Crozier, Major, Royal Field Artillery. Rendered valuable service in observing our artillery fire during the actions of 10 and 11 March, 1915, at Givenchy, whilst exposed to the enemy's heavy rifle fire and our own shrapnel. Has been conspicuous for gallantry and coolness throughout the campaign." Major Crozier subsequently held the following appointments, viz.: Brigade Major, R.A., 3rd Australian Division, 10 July to 6 Aug. 1916; Brigade Major, R.A., 24th Division, British Armies in France, 9 Sept. to 30 Oct. 1916; D.A.A.G. (Staff Officer to G.O.C., Royal Artillery), 13th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 31 Oct. 1916, to 11 Feb. 1917; D.A.A.G. (Staff Officer to G.O.C., Royal Artillery), 2nd Army, British Armies in France, 12 Feb. to 27 Aug. 1917; G.S.O.1, 2nd Army, British Armies in France, 28 Aug. to 16 Nov. 1917; G.S.O.1, British Forces in Italy, 11 Nov. 1917; afterwards G.S.O.1, 2nd Army, British Armies in France, until 25 Nov. 1918; G.S.O.1, Staff College, 1 March, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917; was mentioned in Despatches, and in 1918 was made a C.M.G. In 1917 he became an Officer of the Crown of Italy, and in 1918 Chevalier of the Legion of Honour. He married Ethel Elizabeth, eldest daughter of W. Humphrys, J.P., of Ballyhaise House, County Cavan. They have one son and one daughter.

DENNE, WILLIAM HENRY, Major, was born 15 July, 1876, son of the late Rev. R. H. Denne and Mrs. Denne, of Brimpsfield, Gloucestershire. He was educated at Cheltenham College. He was in the Eleven for two years, and afterwards played cricket and hockey for the Bedfordshire Regt. He entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant, 1 Dec. 1897; was promoted Lieutenant 18 April, 1899. He served in the South African War, employed with the Mounted Infantry, and was present in operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; operations in the Orange River Colony, March to 29 Nov. 1900, including the actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July) and Witpoort; operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including actions at Colesberg (1 Jan. to 12 Feb.); operations in the Transvaal, Jan. 1901, to May, 1902; operations in Orange River Colony, 30 Nov. to Dec. 1900. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 25 April, 1902]; received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Lieut. Denne was Adjutant of the Bedfordshire Regt. 6 Dec. 1905, to 5 Dec. 1908; was promoted Captain 22 July, 1906, and was Staff Captain, No. 9 District, Eastern Command, 1 April, 1912, to 4 Oct. 1914; became Major 31 Oct. 1914. He again saw active service in the European War. He became Major in the third month of the war, and rejoined his regiment in Nov., after serving for a few weeks in France as Staff Captain. He served as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from 19 Dec. 1914, to 12 Jan. 1915, and was mentioned in Despatches in Dec. 1914. He was wounded at Neuve Chapelle, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for his services there [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "William Henry Denne, Major, 2nd Battn. The Bedfordshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry at Neuve Chapelle on 12 March, 1915, when he led a party of twenty men in a counter-attack under the most severe fire. All the twenty men were shot down, and he himself was seriously wounded." The G.C.O. said he desired to express his appreciation of the steady conduct of the 2nd Battn. The Bedfordshire Regt., and particularly of the gallant action of Major Denne and his small party, who had made a devoted counter-attack on the enemy in order to assist a neighbouring battalion. Major Denne was invested by the King at Queen Alexandra's Hospital for Officers, Highgate, N. 5 June, 1916. He never recovered from his wounds, and died in this hospital 21 Feb. 1917. He had married, on 12 July, 1912, at All Saints' Church, Glazebury, Lancashire, Ethel Fleetwood, second daughter of the Rev. George Feather, Vicar of Glazebury.

NICOL, WILFRED EDWARD, Capt., was born 16 Oct. 1882. He was educated at Winchester, and entered the Grenadier Guards, as a Second Lieutenant, 11 Aug. 1900. He served in operations in Cape Colony, Jan. to 31 May, 1902, receiving the Queen's South African Medal with two clasps. He was promoted Lieutenant 12 April, 1904; was employed from 10 Aug. 1907, to 14 March, 1909, with the Macedonian Gendarmerie; became Captain 11 July, 1908, and was employed with the Turkish Gendarmerie 15 March, 1909, to 10 July, 1911. Capt. Nicol served in the European War. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "Wilfred Edward Nicol, Capt., Grenadier Guards. For gallantry and ability at Neuve Chapelle, from 10 to 14 March, 1915, when he was largely instrumental in the capture of the great number of prisoners by reason of his able handling of the hand grenade company." He was subsequently promoted Major, and died 1 Oct. 1915, of wounds received on 29 Sept. 1915.

SAUNDERS-KNOX-GORE, WILLIAM ARTHUR CECIL, Capt., was born 26 May, 1888, at Bangalore, India, son of Colonel W. A. G. Saunders-Knox-Gore, of Belleek Manor, Ballina, D.L. County Mayo, J.P. Counties Mayo and Sligo, late Royal Artillery, serving during the European War in the Royal Field Artillery. He was educated at Harrow, shooting in the Harrow Eight in 1905, when the School won the Ashburton Shield and rapid-firing match at Bisley; and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, from which he received a commission as Second Lieutenant in the King's Royal Rifle Corps, 29 Aug. 1906; became Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1908. He won the Silver Jewel of the Army Championship at Bisley in 1913, and the Bronze Jewel in 1914. He served in the European War, 1914–18. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "William Arthur Cecil Saunders-Knox-Gore, Capt., 1st Battn. King's Royal Rifle Corps. For gallantry and conspicuous ability throughout the campaign. On 27 Feb. 1915, he photographed the enemy's position at Givenchy and made an important reconnaissance, the enemy's snipers being only 150 yards distant." He was mentioned in Despatches, 31 May, 1915; received the French Croix de Guerre, and was given the Brevets of Major 3 June, 1917, and Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Saunders-Knox-Gore held the following Staff appointments during the war: Brigade Major, Rhodesia and Nyassaland Force, 4 Dec. 1915, to 2 April, 1917; G.S.O.1, East African Force, 25 July, 1917, to 17 Aug. 1918; G.S.O.2, 59th Division, British Armies in France, 19 Nov. 1918. He married, in 1919, Monica, youngest daughter of the late R. J. Lawrence, of the Inner Temple.

W.A.Saunders-Knox-Gore.

Digitized by Google

PORTEOUS, DICK MACDONALD, Capt., was born 15 June, 1883, in Dublin, son of Lieut.-Colonel J. J. Porteous, C.M.G. (late Royal Artillery) and Nelly, only daughter of Percy Morris, of The Hall, Uttoxeter. He was educated at Wellington and Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders 22 Oct. 1902, and was promoted to Lieutenant 19 Oct. 1907, and to Captain 13 Sept. 1913. He served in both battalions in South Africa, England and India, whence he proceeded with the 1st Battn. to France in Nov. 1914. On 24 Feb. 1915, Capt. Porteous's distinguished conduct in the field was reported to the Major-General Commanding the 27th Division; and again his gallant conduct on several occasions was mentioned in March, 1915, and was brought to the notice of higher authority. On one occasion Capt. Porteous called in at a German trench, and finding his involuntary host, a soldier, asleep, brought back his helmet as a souvenir; and on 22 Feb. 1915, the following was written from the Army Corps Headquarters:

Dick M. Porteous.

"To 27th Division.

"Reference your G.S. 444, dated 21 Feb. 1915, the Corps Commander has read the report on the reconnaissance carried out by Capt. D. M. Porteous, 1st Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, and appreciates the very good work done by this officer.

(Signed) "W. ROBERTSON, Major, G.S.,
"21 Feb. 1915. "5th Corps.

2

"Headquarters, 81st Infantry Brigade.
"For communication.

"H. L. REED, Lieut.-Colonel, G.S.,
"22 Feb. 1915." "27th Division.

A letter forwarded to the O.C., 1st Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, for his information and communication to Capt. D. M. Porteous by the G.O.C., 81st Infantry Brigade, reads as follows:

"To G.O.C., 81st Infantry Brigade.

"The G.O.C. wishes to convey through you to Capt. D. M. Porteous, 1st Battn. Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, his appreciation of the excellent report (and sketch) of German trenches forwarded under your No. 81/148 of the 20th instant. The report contains matter of great value and importance. The G.O.C. is well aware of the difficulties and dangers which must have been overcome by Capt. Porteous in order to give such valuable information.

"H. L. REED, Lieut.-Colonel, G.S.,
"21 Feb. 1915." "27th Division.

His utter contempt of danger was described in a letter from a brother officer, who said of him during a fight: "I saw him up there, enjoying himself." The same officer wrote: "A braver man I never expect to meet." He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "Dick Macdonald Porteous, Capt., 1st Battn. Princess Louise's Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. For conspicuous gallantry on many occasions throughout the campaign. His very great daring and total disregard of danger on reconnaissance duty, especially at St. Eloi on 19 Feb. 1915, were noticeable." Capt. Porteous was killed in action, being shot through the head in the trenches near Ypres 10 May, 1915. He was again mentioned in Field-Marshal Sir John (now Lord) French's Despatch of 31 May [London Gazette, 22 June, 1915], for Distinguished service in the field.

Major-General H. L. Reed, V.C., C.B., C.M.G., writes: "He was continually working at night, prowling about No Man's Land in those very awful nights—winter, 1914–15—and in such mud as I have never seen since. He would come back with a rough plan drawn, and describe generally details of German trenches and how they ran, which without the greatest risk to life could not be obtained. He was well known by the Headquarters Staff of the Division on account of his daring and skill in reconnaissance. He realized the value of bombs—if one could call them bombs, those old jam jars, more dangerous to friend than foe. He encouraged his men to use them, and I find that on the night of 26 Feb. 1915, 'Capt. Porteous displayed great activity and ability in leading bomb-throwers of his battalion, who stopped a German working party sapping towards our first line.' I only wish I had the ability to express clearly and justly one's great admiration for that brave, zealous young soldier, who put his duty before all things. Had he been spared he would have been very high up now."

Gerald Arthur Cammell.

CAMMELL, GERALD ARTHUR, Lieut., was born 11 Jan. 1889, only surviving son of the late Archibald Allen Cammell, of Brookfield Manor, Derbyshire. He entered the Army, as a Second Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery, 23 Dec. 1909, and was promoted Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1912. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1917. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for gallant services at the Battle of Neuve Chapelle [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "Gerald Arthur Cammell, Lieut., 44th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry at Neuve Chapelle. When employed as Observing Officer he saw that the second line of the 1st Battn. 39th Garhwal Rifles had lost their British officers, and at once proceeded to lead the men. He went forward in the attack with four men under very heavy fire, but was wounded after going 20 yards, as were three of his four men." Invested by the King 27 May, 1915. He was Temporary Captain from June, 1915, until promoted to substantive rank 23 Dec. 1915, and Acting Major from April to Aug. 1917.

GREENLEES, JAMES ROBERTSON CAMPBELL, Lieut., was born 14 Dec. 1878, son of Matthew Greenlees, of Langdale, Dowanhill, Glasgow. Educated at Loretto, and at Cambridge and Glasgow Universities (M.B., B.C. Cantab.); Out-patient Physician, Western Infirmary, Glasgow, and Out-patient Physician, Royal Hospital for Sick Children, Glasgow. He joined the Royal Army Medical Corps, as a Lieutenant, 12 Aug. 1914, and was appointed to the 22nd Field Ambulance 14 Sept. 1914. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for his services at Neuve Chapelle [London Gazette, 15 April, 1915]: "James Robertson Campbell Greenlees, M.B., Temporary Lieutenant, 22nd Field Ambulance, Royal Army Medical Corps. For his great gallantry and devotion to duty at Neuve Chapelle from 10 to 14 March, 1915, in attending on the wounded under very heavy fire. Lieut. Greenless has been twice previously brought to notice." He became Captain 12 Aug. 1915; became Commanding Officer of the 98th Field Ambulance, Aug. 1915; and was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order. He was also made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour. He has retired from the Royal Army Medical Corps.

London Gazette, 28 April, 1915.—"War Office, 28 April, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty whilst serving with the Expeditionary Force."

ARDEN, JOHN HENRY MORRIS, Capt., was born 2 Feb. 1875, son of the late Rev. A. H. Arden. He entered the Army 15 May, 1897, in the Worcestershire Regt., being promoted Captain 29 Dec. 1900. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1902, and was present in operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; operations in Cape Colony, Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps; King's Medal with two clasps); also saw active service in 1912, against the Beir and Annah Tribes, in South-Eastern Soudan, receiving the Soudan Medal with clasp, and the second class Osmanieh, and retired from the Service 11 Sept. 1912. He rejoined for service in the European War, 1914–18; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 28 April, 1915]: "John Henry Morris Arden, Capt., Worcestershire Regt." He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel; became Commandant, No. 2 Royal Flying Corps Cadet Wing. He died 23 July. 1918. His D.S.O. was awarded "for conspicuous gallantry and ability at Neuve Chapelle on 12 March, 1915. When the battalion on his right was driven from their trenches he formed his company under a heavy fire to a flank, counter-attacked the German right with great determination, and thereby enabled the battalion to reoccupy their trenches."

BASTARD, REGINALD, Capt., was born 2 Oct. 1880, only son of the late John Anderson Bastard. He entered the Lincolnshire Regt. 18 April, 1900; became Lieutenant 26 April, 1902; Captain 6 Jan. 1912; Major 1 Sept. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Lincolnshire Regt., 11 March, 1916, to 30 July, 1917, and Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Lincolnshire Regt., 9 April to 27 May, 1918. He held a special appointment (graded D.A.A.G.) as Instructor, Senior Officers' School, Aldershot, 7 Oct. 1917, to 8 April, 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April to May, 1900, including actions at Vet River and Zand River; served during operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; again in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to Aug. 1901 (Queen's Medal with two clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps.) He served in the European War, 1914–18, and for Neuve Chapelle was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 28 April, 1915]: "Reginald Bastard, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Lincolnshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry at Neuve Chapelle on 10 March, 1915. In the attack on the German position he entered their trenches ahead of his company, having had to force his way through the entanglements." He became Major 1 Sept. 1915.

CARTER-CAMPBELL, GEORGE TUPPER CAMPBELL, Major, was born 2 April, 1869. He entered the Army, as Second Lieutenant in the Scottish Rifles, 23 Oct. 1889, becoming Lieutenant 29 April, 1892, and Captain 2 Nov. 1897. He served in the South African War from 1899–1902, serving as Adjutant, Scottish Rifles, 20 Nov. 1899 to 31 May, 1902, and afterwards to 21 July, 1903. He was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; took part in the operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; operations on Tugela Heights, 14 to 27 Feb. 1900, and action at Pieter's Hill; served during operations in Natal (March to June, 1900), including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to Aug. 1901, and Nov. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. 1901 (Sir R. H. Buller, 30 March and 9 Nov. 1900), and London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; was given the Brevet of Major 29 Nov. 1900, and received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps.) On his return from Africa he became Adjutant to the Volunteers, 1904 to 1907; was promoted Major 3 May, 1907. On the outbreak of the European War in Aug. 1914, he went with the Expeditionary Force to serve on the Western Front, with the 2nd Battn. Cameronians. He was present at the Battle of Neuve Chapelle, and for his services was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 28 April, 1915]: "George Tupper Campbell, Major, 2nd Battn. The Cameronians (Scottish Rifles). For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Neuve Chapelle, from 10 to 12 March, 1915. He took over command of the battalion on the 10th of March, and, although wounded, maintained with great determination the position which had been gained. He had only one surviving officer to assist him. For his conduct on this occasion he was also promoted Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel and Brevet Colonel." From 22 Sept. 1915, to 29 Jan. 1918, he commanded the 94th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France; and from 16 March, 1918, was Temporary Major-General, commanding the 51st Division, British Armies in France. He was promoted Colonel 2 June, 1919. The Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel and Colonel were given to him on 3 June, 1916 and 3 June, 1917 respectively, and he was created a C.B. in 1919. In 1908 he married Frances Elizabeth, daughter of Colonel David Ward, R.E., and they have one son and one daughter.

Digitized by Google

HARINGTON, HENRY DOUGLAS, Capt., was born 24 May, 1886, son of Colonel Frederick William Harington, late commanding 14th Regimental District, and 1st West Yorkshire Regt. He was educated at the Bedford Grammar School and Royal Military College, Sandhurst, obtaining his first commission in the West Yorkshire Regt. 7 Nov. 1906. He was promoted Lieutenant 24 April, 1909, and Captain 14 March, 1914. Capt. Harington served in France in the European War from 4 Nov. 1914, until Jan. 1917. He was mentioned in Despatches 28 April, 1915, 22 June, 1915, and 14 Nov. 1916, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 28 April, 1915]: "Henry Douglas Harington, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Prince of Wales's Own (West Yorkshire Regt.). For the ability and gallantry displayed on the 12th March, 1915, at Neuve Chapelle. After the enemy had gained temporary possession of a portion of our trenches he brought on flank fire to bear on them, which saved the situation." He was Brigade Major, 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 10 Dec. 1915, to 12 Feb. 1917; was awarded the Military Cross: "For conspicuous gallantry and consistent good work. Regardless of personal safety he was frequently in a fire-swept area, encouraging all ranks. He was a splendid example. (Operations on the Somme)." Capt. Harington was Staff Captain, War Office, from 1 Sept. 1917, and was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1919.

OLDFIELD, LEOPOLD CHARLES LOUIS, Major, was born 3 Feb. 1872, and was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 1 April, 1892; became Lieutenant 1 April, 1895, and Captain 5 April, 1900. He was Adjutant, Volunteers, Oct. 1902, to Oct. 1905; Adjutant, R.A., 1 Aug. 1906, to 8 Oct. 1909, and was promoted to Major 2 Oct. 1909, and to Lieutenant-Colonel 3 Sept. 1915. Major Oldfield served in the European War, 1914–18, as Brigadier-General, R.A., 51st Division, British Armies in France, 2 July, 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches twice; was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.B. in 1918, and a C.M.G. in 1919. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 28 April, 1915]: "Leopold Charles Louis Oldfield, Major, 33rd Battery, Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous ability and gallantry at Neuve Chapelle on 10 March, 1915, in command of his battery in action, and for successful service in cutting wire entanglements. He took one of his guns to within 700 yards of the enemy, and so greatly facilitated the advance of our infantry."

WINNINGTON, JOHN FRANCIS SARTORIUS, Major, was born at Charlton Kings, Gloucestershire, 17 Sept. 1876, son of the late Capt. John Taylor Winnington, Dragoon Guards. He was educated at Worcester Park, Surrey, and at the Oxford Military College, Oxford, and was commissioned in the 1st Battn. Worcestershire Regt. 15 March, 1897. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1900, with the 2nd Battn. Royal Dublin Fusiliers up to the Relief of Ladysmith, and later with the 2nd Battn. Worcestershire Regt. in the Orange River Colony. He was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; during the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb.) and action at Pieter's Hill; in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; in the Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900 (Queen's Medal with four clasps: Relief of Ladysmith, Tugela Heights, Cape Colony and Orange Free State). He was promoted Captain 2 Jan. 1901, and served as Adjutant to the 5th Worcestershire Regt. from 1906 to 1910. He was appointed Adjutant to the 1st Battn. in 1912, and became Major in 1914. Major Winnington served in the European War; was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch, 5 April, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 28 April, 1915]: "John Francis Sartorius Winnington, Major, 1st Battn. The Worcestershire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and ability from 10 to 12 March, at Neuve Chapelle, when he commanded the two leading companies in several attacks, and subsequently commanded the battalion, showing great foresight in correctly anticipating the desires of the Brigade Commander in regard to the advance of other troops, at a time when orders could not be conveyed to them." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel for distinguished service in the Field while in command of the 4th Battn. The Worcestershire Regt., Gallipoli [London Gazette, 14 June, 1915]. Lieut.-Colonel Winnington was again mentioned in Despatches by Sir Ian Hamilton, Commanding the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force. He was subsequently appointed A.I.R., Headquarters, Western Command, Chester.

John F. S. Winnington.

London Gazette, 8 May, 1915.—"War Office, 8 May, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty whilst serving with the Expeditionary Force."

COLLINS, LIONEL PETER, Capt., was born 27 Nov. 1878, seventh son of the late Henry Collins, Leopold House, Reading. He was educated at Marlborough, joined the Worcestershire Regt. 5 Jan. 1901, and became Lieutenant, Worcestershire Regt. 21 Dec. 1901; Lieutenant, Indian Army, 14 Nov. 1902; Captain 5 Jan. 1910, and Major, 1916. He was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Indian Army, 5 July, 1917, to 20 March, 1918 and 21 March to 19 May, 1918; was wounded three times; mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1916, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Lionel Peter Collins, Capt., 1st Battn. 4th Gurkha Rifles. For conspicuous gallantry throughout the campaign, especially on 12 March, 1915, when he took the initiative with his company in the attack at Bois de Biez, and captured a German trench, took 100 prisoners, killing or wounding a considerable number of the remainder of the occupants." Major Collins married, in 1910, Gladys Lysaght, daughter of H. T. Rutherford, M.D., of Taunton, and they have one son.

CUTHBERT, THOMAS WILKINSON, Major, served in the European War, 1914–16; was mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G., 1916; promoted to Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Thomas Wilkinson Cuthbert, Major, 4th (Ross Highland) Battn. Seaforth Highlanders (Ross-shire Buffs, The Duke of Albany's), Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry during the operations round Neuve Chapelle. After his Colonel had been wounded he commanded the battalion with great ability, although himself wounded in the head."

DIGBY, ARTHUR KENELM, Capt., was born 19 May, 1879, son of the late Sir K. E. Digby, G.C.B., P.C. He was educated at Harrow, and at Corpus Christi College, Oxford, and entered the Royal Artillery 25 April, 1902, from the Imperial Yeomanry, becoming Lieutenant 24 May, 1905; Captain 30 Oct. 1914, and Major 13 March, 1916. He was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A., from 3 Jan. 1919. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, with the Imperial Yeomanry; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, March to May, 1902; in the Orange River Colony, April, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also in Cape Colony, April to May, 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). In 1911 Major Digby married Violet, daughter of Sherbrooke Keatinge, late Indian State Railways. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Arthur Kenelm Digby, Capt., R.A. For conspicuous ability and gallantry during the campaign. He has been at the observing station on almost every occasion when his battalion was in action, and by his coolness and resource greatly contributed to the success attained. He was severely wounded at Neuve Chapelle on 10 March, 1915."

HAWKER, LANOE GEORGE, Lieut., served in the European War, and was awarded the Victoria Cross (see Victoria Cross Volume). He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Lanoe George Hawker, Lieut., Royal Engineers and Royal Flying Corps. For conspicuous gallantry on 19 April, 1915, when he succeeded in dropping bombs on the German airship shed at Gontrode from a height of only 200 feet under circumstances of the greatest risk. Lieut. Hawker displayed remarkable ingenuity in utilizing an unoccupied German captive balloon to shield him from fire while manœuvring to drop the bombs."

HUNTER, CHARLES GEORGE WOODBURN, Major, was born 21 Dec. 1871. He entered the Royal Engineers 25 July, 1890; became Lieutenant 25 July, 1893; Captain 21 May, 1901; Major 25 July, 1910; Lieutenant-Colonel 24 Sept. 1918, and was Temporary Brigadier-General 25 Dec. 1917, to 13 Jan. 1919. He was on Special Service, China Expedition, from 24 Sept. 1900; on Special Service, Somaliland Field Force, 8 Oct. 1903, to 4 June, 1904; Staff Captain, Headquarters of Army, 2 Aug. 1904, to 15 Dec. 1909; Chief Engineer, 12th Army Corps, British Salonika Force, 25 Dec. 1917, to 13 Jan. 1919; C.R.E., 26th Division. He served in the Tirah Campaign, 1897–98; Assistant Field Engineer (24 Feb. to April, 1898) (Medal with clasp). Served in China, 1900 (Despatches [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1901]; Medal). Served in East Africa, 1903–4; took part in the operations in Somaliland; on Staff; in the action at Jidballi (Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches three times; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; created a C.M.G., 1918, and for Neuve Chapelle was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Charles George Woodburn Hunter, Major, Royal Engineers. For conspicuous ability and gallantry on many occasions, especially on the 10 to 14 March, 1915, at Neuve Chapelle. He was in command of two companies, and succeeded in establishing a strong breastwork line under very difficult circumstances, whilst exposed to heavy shell and rifle fire." In 1911, Major Hunter married Gladys, daughter of C. H. Hutton.

Digitized by Google

LODWICK, JOHN THORNTON, Capt., was born at Fairlands, Sutton, Surrey, 8 Sept. 1882, son of Robert William Lodwick, late Indian Civil Service, and Justice of the Peace for Surrey, and of Florence, his wife, second daughter of the late Rev. W. Thornton, Rector of North Bovey, Devon. He served through the Boer War, as a Subaltern in the Royal Lancaster Regt. He was awarded the King's and Queen's Medals. He accompanied his regiment to Calcutta, where he received his appointment to the 3rd Gurkhas, being shortly afterwards appointed Military Instructor at Palhmalie, Central Provinces, subsequently holding the same position at Istaria, in the Bombay Presidency, where, by a strange coincidence, his grandfather, General Lodwick, had formerly served as British Resident at the Rajah's Court. When the European War broke out, the Gurkhas formed part of the Indian Force sent to Europe, and Captain Lodwick was appointed Brigade Machine Gun Officer, in which capacity he served at the Battle of Neuve Chapelle. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "John Thornton Lodwick, Capt., 2nd Battn. 3rd (Queen Alexandra's Own) Gurkhas. For conspicuous ability and gallantry as Brigade Machine Gun Officer from 10 to 13 March, 1915, at Neuve Chapelle. He reconnoitred the captured positions from end to end, and brought 20 machine guns into position, which caused an immense number of casualties to the enemy when they attacked on the 12th of March." He was appointed Musketry Instructor. Capt. Lodwick applied for permission to rejoin his regiment, and it was for this purpose that he was travelling in the Persia when it was torpedoed in the Mediterranean, 30 Dec. 1916. He met his death standing on the deck of the sinking ship, flinging chains and other things to the women and men struggling in the waters in an endeavour to save their lives. Being an excellent swimmer, he could easily have saved his own life by plunging into the sea, but he gave it for others without hesitation in one supreme choice. The Government of Bombay have presented a tablet recording his services, which is to be attached to the memorial to his grandfather, General Lodwick, at "Lodwick Point," in the Mahableshwar Sanitorium of the Bombay Presidency, a place which owes its origin and prosperity to the testimony of General Lodwick, in 1824, when British Resident in the Bombay Presidency, who brought to notice the salubrity of its climate. The following is an extract from a letter from Colonel Ormsby, dated 18 Jan., 1916: "His loss as a regimental officer is incalculable. In the course of thirty years' service, after intimate knowledge of many hundreds of officers, I have not come across half a dozen of his equals, and it is a melancholy pleasure to be able to remember that during the six years I have commanded the battalions, the terms I have used in my annual reports on him are such as I have seldom been able to use in their entirety to any other officer. He possessed a peculiar knack of getting the best and most willing work out of his men, and there was no man I would sooner have had with me in a tight place than him. I am perfectly certain that he died as he lived—calm and collected, and doing his best for those around him." The deceased officer was a fine horseman and polo player, a good shot and big game sportsman, and a splendid swimmer. Capt. Lodwick married, at Cheltenham Roman Catholic Church, 1 April, 1915, Kathleen, third daughter of the Hon. H. Crump, C.S.I., Indian Civil Service, Deputy Commissioner, Central Provinces; they had one son, John Alan, who was born at Cheltenham on 2 March, 1916, after his father's death.

John Thornton Lodwick.

ROMILLY, FRANCIS HENRY, Capt., was born 1 Oct. 1878, at Bangalore, South India, son of the late Capt. F. J. Romilly, R.E., who was killed in action in the Sudan, and Mary de Berdt Romilly (née Hovell). He was educated at Cheltenham College; was gazetted to the Welsh Regt. 4 Jan. 1899; became Lieutenant in March, 1908, and Captain 9 Feb. 1910. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the Relief of Kimberley; in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including actions at Colesberg (14 Jan. to 1 Feb.); again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps); served in West Africa (Northern Nigeria), 1903; during the Kano-Sokoto Campaign (Medal with clasp). He exchanged into the Leicestershire Regt. in 1910. Capt. Romilly served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Francis Henry Romilly, Capt., 2nd Battn. Leicestershire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and enterprise and great daring at Neuve Chapelle 10 March, 1915. He led a small party with bombs against the German dug-outs and captured about 100 yards of their trenches, the occupants being all either killed or wounded by himself and his men." Capt. Romilly was constantly in action up to the day of his death. He was wounded in Feb. 1915, but never left the firing line, and fell in action 25 Sept. 1915. His death in the war was greatly mourned, not only by his regiment but by the whole division, where he was held in the highest esteem for his great courage and manly qualities. A brother officer wrote: "His name was a byword in the whole division for his extraordinary bravery. All his men loved him and followed him anywhere. He was the bravest of the brave."

TORRIE, CLAUD JAMESON, Capt., was born 20 March, 1879, son of the late Colonel L. J. Torrie, Indian Army. He was educated at Cheltenham College and at Sandhurst; was commissioned in the Royal Warwickshire Regt. 11 Feb. 1899; became Lieutenant, Royal Warwickshire Regt., 21 March, 1900, and was transferred to the Indian Army 14 Aug. 1900. He was promoted Captain, Indian Army, 11 Feb. 1908, and Major 1 Sept. 1915. Capt. Torrie was Inspector of Army Signalling in India 1 April to 6 Nov. 1912. He served in the European War, 1914–16; was mentioned in Despatches twice, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Claud Jameson Torrie, Capt., 30th Punjabis, Commanding No. 35 Signal Company. For marked ability during the campaign, especially at Neuve Chapelle during the operations from 10 to 14 March, 1915, when the successful work of the division was to a very great extent dependent on the efficiency of the communication established and maintained by him under very heavy fire."

WATT, DONALD MUNRO, Major, was born 18 June. 1871, and entered the Gordon Highlanders 7 Nov. 1891; became Lieutenant 14 Feb. 1895. He was promoted Captain, Indian Army, 10 July, 1901; Major 7 Nov. 1909, and Lieutenant-Colonel 7 Nov. 1917. From 28 May to 27 Nov. 1916, he was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Territorial Force Battn. West Riding Regt., and from 28 Nov. 1916, to 31 Aug. 1918, Temporary Brigadier-General. He was on Special Service with the Somaliland Field Force from 29 April, 1904; Adjutant, Indian Volunteers, 1905–6; Brigade Major, India, 6 Aug. 1908, to 5 Aug. 1912; G.S.O.2, 13th Division, British Armies in France, 19 Sept. to 11 Nov. 1914; G.S.O.2, Colchester Training Centre, 17 to 25 May, 1915; G.S.O.1, 25th Division, New Armies, B.E.F., 26 May, 1915, to 17 May, 1916; Brigade Commander, 145th Division, British Armies in France, 28 Nov. 1916, to 31 Aug. 1918. He took part in the operations in Chitral, 1895, with the Relief Force; at the storming of the Malakand Pass (slightly wounded; Medal with clasp); served at Tirah, 1897–98; was present at the capture of the Sampagha and Arhanga Passes; during operations in the Waran Valley and action of 16 Nov. 1897; during operations at and around Dwatoi and action of 24 Nov. 1897; against the Khani Khel Chamkanis; also in the Bara Valley 7 to 14 Dec. 1897 (two clasps); served in East Africa, 1904, during the operations in Somaliland, as Special Service Officer (Medal with clasp). For his services in the European War he was mentioned twice in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Donald Munro Watt, Major, 2nd Battn. 2nd King Edward's Own Gurkha Rifles (Sirmoor Rifles). For conspicuous gallantry on 10 March, 1915, when he led his company with great ability in the attack on the Bois de Biez. On the next day he continued to lead his company, after being wounded, till he could go no further."

WICKS, HENRY WILLIAM CAIRNS, Capt., was born 21 Dec. 1881. He was gazetted to the Seaforth Highlanders 20 Jan, 1900; became Lieutenant 21 Jan. 1901; Captain 4 March, 1906; was Adjutant, Seaforth Highlanders, 1 May, 1909, to 30 April, 1912; was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 9 May to 8 Oct. 1916; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 8 Jan. 1818. He was specially employed at the War Office 14 Oct. 1915, to 27 Feb. 1916; G.S.O.3, G.H.Q., Home Forces, 22 Feb. to 5 May, 1916; Brigade Major (Staff Officer, Rouen Base) 1 March, 1917, to 5 Jan. 1918; Commandant, School of Instruction, British Armies in France, 8 Jan. 1918. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1908 (Medal with clasp). In the European War, 1914–17, he was twice wounded. He was mentioned in Despatches twice, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 May, 1915]: "Henry William Cairns Wicks, Capt., Seaforth Highlanders (Rossshire Buffs, The Duke of Albany's). For marked ability in the presence of the enemy on many occasions. He was wounded on 10 March, 1915, at Neuve Chapelle, while directing his company in the attack on the trenches."

London Gazette, 5 May, 1915.—"His Majesty the King has been pleased to approve of the following reward for distinguished service in the field, in connection with the successful operations against Dervish Forces at Shimber Berris, Somaliland, during the months of Nov. 1914, and Feb. 1915. To be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order."

CARTON DE WIART, ADRIAN, Capt., served in the European War, 1914–15; was eight times wounded; was awarded the Victoria Cross (see Victoria Cross Volume); the C.B., the C.M.G., Croix d'Officier de l'Ordre de la Couronne and the Croix de Guerre (Belgian decorations). Brigadier-General Carton de Wiart was also created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 5 May, 1915]: "Adrian Carton de Wiart, Capt., 4th (Royal Irish) Dragoon Guards. For distinguished service in the field in connection with the operations against Dervish Forces at Shimber Berris, Somaliland, during the months of Nov. 1914, and Feb. 1915." He married the Countess Frederica, eldest daughter of Prince Fugger Babenhausen, and Nora, Princess Hohenlohe, and they have two daughters.

London Gazette, 3 June, 1915.—"Admiralty, 3 June, 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment to the Distinguished Service Order in respect of the undermentioned Officers, in recognition of their services with the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force."

CAMPBELL, VICTOR LINDSEY ARBUTHNOT, Commander, was born 20 Aug. 1875, son of the late Capt. Hugh Campbell, Royal Navy. He was in the Antarctic Expedition in 1913, and was specially promoted to Commander, Royal Navy. He served in the European War, with the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, taking part in the Dardanelles Expedition. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Victor Lindsey Arbuthnot Campbell, Commander, Royal Navy, commanding

Digitized by Google

Drake Battn., Royal Naval Division. In recognition of his services with the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force." He was awarded a Bar to his D.S.O. in June, 1917. In 1902 he married Lilian Mary, daughter of Lieut.-General Sir H. H. Settle, K.C.B. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

FREYBERG, BERNARD CECIL, Lieut.-Commander, was born in 1890. He served in the European War, with the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, and was wounded seven times; given the Brevets of Major and of Lieutenant-Colonel; awarded the Victoria Cross; created a C.M.G. in 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Bernard Cecil Freyberg, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, Hood Battn. Royal Naval Division. In recognition of his services with the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force." (See Victoria Cross Volume.) For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

London Gazette, 3 June, 1915.—"War Office, 3 June, 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following rewards for gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force). To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

McNICOLL, WALTER RAMSAY, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 27 May, 1877, at South Melbourne, Victoria, Australia, son of William Walter Alexander McNicoll and Helen McNicoll (née Ramsay), his wife. He was educated at the Victorian State Schools; the Training College Melbourne, and at Melbourne University. He was commissioned in the Australian Cadet Forces 5 March, 1895, being transferred to the 5th Australian Infantry Regt. on the 29th Nov. 1905. On the outbreak of the European War, Major McNicoll joined the Australian Imperial Force 15 Aug. 1914, as Major, Second-in-Command of 7th Battn. He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel to command the 6th Battn. 3 April, 1915; was mentioned twice in Despatches during his service in Gallipoli—by General Sir Ian Hamilton and General Sir W. Birdwood, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Walter Ramsay McNicoll, Lieut.-Colonel, Australian Imperial Force. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He was wounded during an attack on Krithia 8 May, 1915, and returned to Australia on the 24th of the following Dec. Two months later (10 Feb. 1916) he was appointed Temporary Brigadier-General, and promoted Colonel in the same year. Brigadier-General McNicoll was sent to France in Nov. 1916, and was twice again mentioned in Despatches. He was created a C.B. in 1919, and a C.M.G. in 1918. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

Walter R. McNicoll.

WHITE, CYRIL BRUDENELL BINGHAM, Lieut.-Colonel, served in the South African War in 1902, and received the Queen's Medal with three clasps. He passed the Staff College. On the outbreak of the European war he was appointed Director of Military operations of the Australian Military Forces. He also became a Member of the War Railway Council and a Member of the Headquarters Mobilization Committee. He was twice mentioned in Despatches; was appointed A.D.C. to the King, 1917; was created a K.C.M.G. in 1919; a C.B. in 1916; a C.M.G. in 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Cyril Brudenell Bingham White, Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Australian Garrison Artillery. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He married, in 1905, Ethel, daughter of Walter Davidson, of Colibran Park, Victoria. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

BECKWITH, ARTHUR THACKERAY, Major, was born 28 Oct. 1875, eldest son of the Rev. G. Beckwith, of Winchester Cathedral. He was educated at Radley College, and joined the Hants Regt. 28 Sept 1895, becoming Lieutenant 19 Nov. 1897; Captain 28 Jan. 1903; was Adjutant, Hants Regt., 23 Oct. 1903, to 22 Oct, 1906; was promoted to Major 29 Dec. 1912; to Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Oct. 1915, and was Temporary Brigadier-General 2 Aug. 1917, to 12 July, 1918. He was Adjutant, Volunteers, 26 Jan. 1907, to 31 March, 1908; Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 April, 1908, to 25 Jan. 1911; commanded the 153rd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 10 Aug. to 20 Sept. 1918; commanded the 35th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 10 Aug. to 20 Sept. 1918; commanded the 13th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 21 Sept. 1918. He served with the South Lancashire Regt. in the South African War, 1899–1900; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz, and in the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900) (Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. and 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with five clasps). He served at Aden, 1903–4; took part in the operations in the interior; served as Adjutant, 1st Battn. Hampshire Regt., 27 Oct. 1903, to 29 Feb. 1904. He served in the European War, at the Dardanelles, in command of the 2nd Hampshire Regt., in 1915, and elsewhere, 1916–18, commanding brigades in the 51st Highland Division, 12th Division and 5th Division, 1917–18. He was wounded; was created a C.B. in 1919; a C.M.G. in 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Arthur Thackeray Beckwith, Major, The Hampshire Regt. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He married, in 1904, Dorothy, daughter of J. B. Thomson, I.C.S., and they have one son and one daughter. For services see p. 409 [L G. 3 July, 1915].

BRAND, CHARLES HENRY, Capt., was born 4 Sept. 1873, son of the late Charles Hayman Brand, of Topsham, Exeter. He served for 18 years in the Education Department, Queensland, and for 10 years on the Administrative and Instructional Staff of the Australian Forces. He served in the South African War, 1900–1, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. He again saw active service in the European War, with the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, taking part in the Dardanelles Campaign, 1914–15, and on the Western Front, 1914–17. He was promoted to Major 1 Jan. 1916; was six times mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevets of Major and of Lieutenant-Colonel; created a C.B. in 1918; a C.M.G. in 1916; promoted to Brigadier-General, commanding the 4th Infantry Brigade, Australian Imperial Forces, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Charles Henry Brand, Capt., 3rd Infantry Brigade, Australian Imperial Forces. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." Brigadier-General C. H. Brand married Ella Arline, daughter of Charles Armstrong, of Charters Towers, Queensland, and they have two daughters. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

DENTON, JAMES SAMUEL, Major, was born 1875. He joined the Australian Military Forces, and served in the European War, 1914–18, at the Dardanelles, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "James Samuel Denton, Major, 11th Australian Infantry Brigade. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He married, in 1890, Eleanor Anne, daughter of John Henbry. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

HART, HERBERT ERNEST, Major, was born at Wairarapa, 13 Oct. 1882, son of the late William Hart, Farmer, of Carterton, New Zealand. He was educated at Wellington, for the Law, entering the profession in civil life of Barrister and Solicitor. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, with the New Zealand Forces, and received the Queen's Medal with two clasps. Capt. Hart joined the 17th (Ruahine) Regt. New Zealand Forces 29 Oct. 1907, and became Major 14 Sept. 1912. He served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches towards the end of May, 1915, and again in Jan. 1917, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Herbert Ernest Hart, Major, 17th (Ruahine) Regt. New Zealand Forces. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He was created a C.B. in 1919, and a C.M.G. in 1918; was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel in 1915, and became Brigadier-General. He married, in 1903, Minnie Eleanor, second daughter of Roger Z. Renall, of Wairarapa, New Zealand, and they have one son and one daughter. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

HEANE, JAMES, Major, joined the 9th Light Horse, Australian Military Forces; became Captain 27 June, 1911, and Major. He served in the European War; was mentioned twice in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "James Heane, Major, 4th Australian Infantry Battn. (New South Wales). For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel; was created a C.M.G. in 1917 and a C.B. in 1918. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

MANSBRIDGE, WILLIAM OWEN, Major, was born 13 Jan. 1872, son of William Henry Mansbridge. He was educated for the Civil Service, privately, both in India and Australia, and became a Civil Servant in Western Australia. He was subsequently appointed Mining Warden, Registrar and Clerk of Petty Sessions, at the Kimberley, Murchison and Coolgardie Goldfields. He served in the European War, 1914–16, commanding the 44th Battn. 11th Infantry Brigade, 3rd Division, Australian Forces; was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "William Owen Mansbridge, Major, 16th Australian Infantry Battn. (South-Western Australia). For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He published a work on "Scheme for Training the Aboriginal Natives of Australia in the Use of Arms." He married Annie Caroline Jones, of Victoria, and they have five children. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

William O. Mansbridge.

O'NEILL, EUGENE JOSEPH, Major, was born at Dunedin, New Zealand, in 1875. He was educated at the Christian Brothers' School, Dunedin, and at Otago University, and took his degrees of M.B. and F.R.C.S.; was Senior House Surgeon at Dunedin Hospital, 1899–1900; Resident Surgeon, Lock Hospital, London. He joined the New Zealand Medical Corps, and served in the South African War from 1901–2; was mentioned in Despatches, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. He became Major, New Zealand Medical Corps, attached to B (Howitzer) Battery, Dunedin, in Sept. 1903. Major O'Neill served in the European War, 1914–17, at the Dardanelles, in Egypt and in France; was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Eugene Joseph O'Neill, Major, New Zealand Medical Corps. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." Promoted Lt.-Col. and created a C.M.G. He married Josephine Monaghan, of London. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

Digitized by Google

RANKINE, ROBERT, Major, served in the European War, 1914–15, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Robert Rankine, Major, 14th Australian Infantry Battn. (Victoria). For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

WAITE, FREDERICK, Major, entered the New Zealand Forces, and served in the European War from 1914, in Egypt and the Dardanelles. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Frederick Waite, Major, New Zealand Engineers, Territorial Force. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." Major Waite was Chief Instructor of Engineers, New Zealand Expeditionary Force Training Camps, 1917–18. He married, in 1912, Ada Philipson Taylor. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

ATKINSON, EDWARD WILLIAM, Capt., was born 12 Aug. 1873, eldest son of Edward Atkinson, of Ashfield, Moynalty, Kells, County Meath. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin (B.A.); served in the 3rd Battn. Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers (Fermanagh Militia), 1893–96; entered the Army in 1896; became Captain in 1902, and Major, 1915. He was Adjutant, 6th Battn. Notts and Derby Regt., 1906–11; Hythe (Extra), 1898; was Signalling Certified Instructor, 1906; Provisional Course, 1911. He served in South Africa, 1900–2 (Queen's Medal with three clasps; King's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–15; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Edward William Atkinson, Capt., 1st Battn. The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He married Louise H. S. Oliver. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

BUTLER, ARTHUR GRAHAM, Capt., joined the Australian Army Medical Corps, and served in the European War, with the 1st Australian Division, A.I.F.; was present at the Dardanelles Campaign, attached to the 9th Australian Infantry Battn. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Arthur Graham Butler, Capt., Australian Army Medical Corps. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." He was promoted to Colonel. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

CRITCHLEY-SALMONSON, ARTHUR CUNLIFFE BERNARD, Capt., was born 27 April 1886, son of Godfrey Critchley-Salmonson, of Torquay. He was educated at Eastman's Royal Naval Academy, Northwood Park, Winchester, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and was gazetted to the Royal Munster Fusiliers 8 Oct. 1906, becoming Lieutenant 16 Sept. 1909, and Captain 28 Nov. 1914. He was employed with the New Zealand Military Forces 21 Dec. 1911, to 20 Dec. 1915, and was Adjutant, Canterbury Battn. New Zealand Expeditionary Force from its formation till 6 Aug. 1915; employed with the Egyptian Army 18 March, 1916; served in the Suez Canal engagement and at the Dardanelles during the European War, 1914–15; was twice wounded, mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Arthur Bernard Critchley-Salmonson, Capt., Royal Munster Fusiliers, attached New Zealand Military Forces. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

A. C. Critchley-Salmonson.

GEDDES, GUY WESTLAND, Capt., was born 8 Aug. 1880. He joined the New Zealand Contingent, and was gazetted to the Royal Munster Fusiliers 19 May, 1900, becoming Lieutenant 17 April, 1902; Captain 1 March, 1910; Major 1 Sept. 1915, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Munster Fusiliers, 1 Sept. 1915, to 15 April, 1919. He was Brigade Major, 171st Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, British Armies in France, 13 June, 1916, to 18 July, 1917; G.S.O.2, 8th Division, British Armies in France, 19 to 20 July, 1917; Brigade Major, 47th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 21 July to 3 Sept. 1917; Brigade Major, 1st Yeomanry Cyclist Brigade, Home Forces, 4 Oct. 1917, to 12 April, 1918; Brigade Major, 3rd Australian Training Reserve Brigade, England, 17 April, 1918, to 1919; Brigade Major, Special Reserve Brigade Forces in Great Britain, 14 April, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, in the ranks, New Zealand Contingent; took part in the operations in Rhodesia, March, 1900; also in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to March, 1901; in the Transvaal, April to July, 1901; in Orange River Colony, Sept. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also during operations in Cape Colony, July to Sept. 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 20 Aug. 1901]; Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–16; was mentioned in Despatches and created a Companion of the D.S.O. [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Guy Westland Geddes, Capt., Royal Munster Fusiliers. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

RIDINGS, CECIL, Capt., was born 9 July, 1876. He was gazetted to the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers 20 May, 1899; became Lieutenant 20 June, 1900; Captain 27 Jan. 1904 and Major 1 Sept. 1915. From 1910 to 1913 he was employed with the Egyptian Army; from Dec. 1915, to June, 1916, he held a special appointment; from June, 1916, to March, 1918, was Brigade Major, B Group, Reserve Brigade, Home Counties Division, Home Forces; from 27 May, 1918, he was Brigade Major at Cape Town. He served in the European War, 1914–15, at the Dardanelles, and for the operations south of Krithia was mentioned in Despatches and created a Companion of the D.S.O. [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Cecil Ridings, Capt., 1st Battn. R. Inniskilling Fusiliers. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles (Mediterranean Expeditionary Force)." For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

HAWORTH, RICHARD, Capt., was born at Cheadle, Cheshire, 25 Aug. 1882, son of Frederic Haworth, Honorary Colonel, 7th Battn. Lancashire Fusiliers (Territorial Force), Deputy Lieutenant and Justice of the Peace, Westmorland. He was educated at Horton Hall, Northamptonshire, and Charterhouse School, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst. He was commissioned in the 1st Battn. Lancashire Fusiliers, 28 Feb. 1902; became Lieutenant 23 Jan. 1905, and Captain 27 Nov. 1914, and served continuously with that battalion until 25 April, 1915, in Malta, Gibraltar, Egypt, India, Aden and in Gallipoli. He saw active service on the North-West Frontier of India, 1908, assisting in operations against the Mohmands (attached 1st Battn. Prince of Wales's Own West Yorkshire Regt., and was awarded the Medal with clasp. He served during the European War, taking part in the landing on "W" Beach (Lancashire Landing), 25 April, in command of A Company, 1st Battn. Lancashire Fusiliers. Capt. Haworth, with 50 men, was told off to capture a very strongly-held redoubt, surrounded by formidable wire entanglements. Although wounded, he refused to be removed until more troops arrived, and continued to command with a bullet through his back. He was mentioned in General Sir Ian Hamilton's Despatch 12 June, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Richard Haworth, Capt., 1st Battn. The Lancashire Fusiliers. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles." He was promoted to Major 18 Jan. 1917; was Officer, Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, Sandhurst, March to Sept. 1917; Commander, Company of Gentleman Cadets at the R.M.C. Sandhurst. For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

O'HARA, HENRY DESMOND, Lieut., was born at Ballyduff, Thomastown, County Kilkenny, 21 May, 1892, son of W. J. O'Hara, Resident Magistrate, Ballincollig, County Cork, and Cecilia, seventh and youngest daughter of the late Peter Connellan, of Colmore, County Kilkenny, J.P. and D.L.; and grandson of the late Rev. James Dunn O'Hara, of O'Hara Brook and the Castle, Portstewart, County Antrim. He was educated at Dunchurch Hall; Rugby; Charterhouse, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the Royal Dublin Fusiliers 4 Sept. 1912, becoming Lieutenant 29 April, 1914. He went to the Dardanelles 7 March, 1915; took part in the heavy fighting following the landing there, and died on the Hospital Ship Arcadian 29 Aug. 1915, of wounds received in action on the 12th. He was buried in the Military Cemetery at Gibraltar. Lieut. O'Hara was mentioned in Sir Ian Hamilton's Despatch of 20 May [London Gazette, 5 Aug. 1915], for his conduct during and after the landing of the 29th Division on 25 April. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for gallantry and resource on the 25th April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, where he took command of his battalion when all the other officers had been killed or wounded. At night when the enemy broke through the line he displayed great initiative and resource in organizing a successful counter-attack, restoring the line and causing great loss to the enemy [London Gazette, 3 June, 1915]: "Henry Desmond O'Hara, Lieut., 1st Battn. The Royal Dublin Fusiliers. For gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the operations at the Dardanelles." For services see p. 409 [L. G. 3 July, 1915].

London Gazette, 23 June, 1915.—"War Office, 23 June, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the undermentioned Honours and Rewards for distinguished service in the field, with effect from 3 June, 1915, inclusive. To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

ALEXANDER, HENRY LETHBRIDGE, Major, was born 9 March, 1878. He was gazetted to the Dorsetshire Regt. 24 March, 1897; became Lieutenant 11 Oct. 1899; Captain 1 April, 1904; Major 25 Oct. 1914; Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was Temporary Brigadier-General 7 May, 1917, to 8 Oct. 1918. He was employed with the Transvaal Volunteers 8 July, 1902, to 31 March, 1903; Staff Captain, Eastern Command, 10 Nov. 1911, to 18 Sept. 1914; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 8th Division, B.E.F., 19 Sept. 1914, to 30 May, 1915; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., B.E.F., 6th Army Corps, 31 May to 18 July, 1915; A.A. and Q.M.G., Junior Staff School, British Armies in France, 15 Oct. 1916, to 1 May, 1917; A.A. and Q.M.G., 18th Division, British Armies in France, 2 to 6 May, 1917; D.A. and Q.M.G., 14th Army Corps, British Armies in France, British Force in Italy, 7 May to 8 Oct. 1917; D.A. and Q.M.G., G.H.Q., British Force in Italy, 8 Oct. 1918, to 20 Jan. 1919; Director of Quartering, War Office, 1 March, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, employed with the South African Light Horse; operations in the Transvaal, March to 31 May, 1902; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, March, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was mentioned in Despatches, given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; created a C.B. in 1919; a C.M.G. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London

Henry L. Alexander.

Digitized by Google

Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Lethbridge Alexander, Major, The Dorsetshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

BAIRD, HARRY BEAUCHAMP DOUGLAS, Major, was born in London 4 April, 1877, only surviving son of the late Colonel A. W. Baird, C.S.I., F.R.S., R.E., of Palmer's Cross, Elgin. He was educated at Clifton College, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, subsequently passing the Staff College at Quetta. He entered the Army as Second Lieutenant (unattached) 20 Jan. 1897, and the Indian Staff Corps 8 March, 1898, and was promoted to Lieutenant, Indian Army, 20 April, 1899; Captain 20 Jan. 1906; Major, 20 Jan. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding a battalion (T.F.), 6 Oct. 1915, to 22 June, 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 1 Dec. 1916, to 8 Feb. 1918. He was A.D.C. to the G.O. Commanding-in-Chief, Aldershot Command, 1 March, 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914; A.D.C. to G.O.C., 1st Army Corps, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 8 Dec. 1914; G.S.O.2, Indian Cavalry Corps, B.E.F., 18 Dec. 1914, to 4 Sept. 1915; G.S.O.2, 51st Division, British Armies in France, 23 June to 3 Sept. 1916; G.S.O.2, Cavalry Corps, British Armies in France, 4 Sept. to 30 Nov. 1916; commanded the 75th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 1 Dec. 1916, to 8 Feb. 1918; Brigadier-General, Baluchistan Force, May, 1919. He served in the Tirah Campaign, 1897–98; engaged in the operations in the Bara Valley 7 to 14 Dec. 1897 (Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was four times mentioned in Despatches; received the Croix de Guerre avec Palme; was created a C.M.G., 1916; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Harry Beauchamp Douglas Baird, Major, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." In 1915 he married Ethel Mary Frances, daughter of Capt. Andrew E. Caldecott, of Oxford, and they have one son and one daughter.

Harry B. D. Baird.

BLAKE, WILLIAM ALAN, Major, was born 8 Oct. 1878. He was educated at Charterhouse, joining the Liverpool Regt. (from the Militia), as Second Lieutenant, on the 4th Jan. 1899; transferred almost immediately to the Wiltshire Regt.; was promoted Captain, Wiltshire Regt. in Aug. 1905, and Major, 1915, and served on the Staff, 1914–18, in the European War. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "W. A. Blake, Major, Wiltshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from June, 1915, and subsequently became Brigadier-General. He was created a C.M.G. in 1918. In 1919 General Blake married Beryl, eldest daughter of the late John Harrison Packard, of Swafield Hall, North Walsham.

BRIND, JOHN EDWARD SPENCER, Major, was born 9 Feb. 1878. He entered the Royal Artillery 23 Dec. 1897; became Lieutenant, R.A., 23 Dec. 1900; Captain, R.A., 11 April, 1902; was Divisional Adjutant, R.A., 1 Feb. to 31 March, 1903; Adjutant, R.A., 1 April, 1903, to 13 March, 1906; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was D.A.Q.M.G., 2nd Division, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 13 July, 1915; G.S.O.2, 10th Army Corps, British Expeditionary Force, 14 July, 1915, to 5 Feb. 1916; G.S.O.1, 56th Division, British Expeditionary Force, British Armies in France, 6 Feb. to 30 Oct. 1916; G.S.O.1, 1st Army, British Armies in France, 31 Oct. 1916, to 23 Nov. 1917; Brigadier-General, G.S., 11th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 27 Nov. 1917. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April and May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River (Queen's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Edward Spencer Brind, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field."

CADDELL, HENRY MORTIMER, Major, was born 20 Feb. 1875, son of Colonel Henry Caddell, of 27, Ailesbury Road, Dublin. He was gazetted to the Army Service Corps 2 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 1 June, 1901; Captain 1 Feb. 1905; was Adjutant, A.S.C., 1 Jan. 1911, to 30 Nov. 1913; was promoted to Major, R.A.S.C., 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Colonel 15 March to 9 May, 1919. He was Instructor, A.S.C., Training Establishment, 1 Jan. to 4 Aug. 1914; Deputy Assistant Director of Transport, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 21 Jan. 1917; Assistant Director of Transport, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 13 May, 1915, to 21 Jan. 1917; Commandant, Army Service Corps Training Establishment, 27 Jan. 1917, to 24 June, 1918; Assistant Director of Transport, War Office, 25 June, 1918, to 14 March, 1919; Deputy Director of Transport, War Office, 10 May, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to Oct. 1900, including action at Zilikat's Nek; in Orange River Colony, June and July, 1900, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); also in Cape Colony, 1899–1900; was present during operations in the Transvaal, Jan. 1901, to March, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was three times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Mortimer Caddell, Major, Army Service Corps. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel H. M. Caddell married, in 1906, Margaret Caroline, daughter of the late Rev. Isaac Hughes-Jones.

CHARTERIS, JOHN, Major, was born 8 Jan. 1877, son of the late Professor Charteris, Glasgow University. He entered the Royal Engineers 21 March, 1896; became Lieutenant 21 March, 1899; Captain 21 March, 1905, and Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Brigadier-General 3 Jan. 1916, to 31 Aug. 1918. He was Staff Captain, Headquarters, India, 28 June, 1909, to 21 Oct. 1910; G.S.O.2, Headquarters, India, 22 Oct. 1910, to 29 Feb. 1912; A.M.S. to G.O. Commanding-in-Chief, Aldershot Command, 1 March, 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914; A.D.C. to G.O.C., 1st Army Corps, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 16 Sept. 1914; G.S.O.2, 1st Army Corps, B.E.F., 18 Oct. 1914, to 2 Jan. 1916; Brigadier-General, G.S., G.H.Q., B.E.F., British Armies in France, 3 Jan. 1916, to 23 Jan. 1918; Deputy Director-General of Transportation, British Armies in France, 18 Feb. to 31 Aug. 1918. For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. in 1919; given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 24 Aug. 1915, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; the Legion of Honour; made Commander of the Order of the Couronne of Belgium; Rising Sun of Japan; Croix de Guerre; American Distinguished Service Cross, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Charteris, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Charteris married Noel, daughter of C. D. Hodgson, and they have two sons.

CLIVE, GEORGE SIDNEY, Major, was born in London 16 July, 1874, eldest son of General Edward Henry Clive, Grenadier Guards (who died in March, 1916), and of Isabel, daughter of Daniel Hale Webb. He was educated at Harrow and Sandhurst, and entered the Grenadier Guards 21 Oct. 1893, becoming Lieutenant 26 Oct. 1897. He served with the Nile Expedition, 1898; was present at the Battle of Khartoum (Egyptian Medal with clasp; Medal). Served in the South African War, 1899–1900, as Special Service Officer; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April to May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria, and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); also in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He was promoted to Captain 28 Jan. 1900, and to Major, 17 July, 1909. He passed the Staff College, and was G.S.O., 1905–9, and G.S.O.2, London District, 1 Oct. 1910, and G.S.O., London District, 1910–14. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was given the Brevet of Colonel, promoted to Major-General; created a C.B. in 1918; a C.M.G. in 1919; received the Order of St. Stanislaus, 1st Class (Russia); the Legion of Honour (Officier); the Order of the Crown (Commander), and the Croix de Guerre. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "George Sidney Clive, Major, Grenadier Guards. For distinguished service in the field." Major-General G. S. Clive became Military Governor at Cologne in 1919. On 24 March, 1901, at Holy Trinity Church, Sloane Street, S.W., he married Madeline, second daughter of the late Francis William Buxton, M.P., and they have two sons living, Archie, born in 1903, and Edmond, born in 1909, and two daughters, Catherine and Mary. One son, Robert, was born in 1904 and died in 1908.

FLETCHER, ALAN FRANCIS, Major, was born 23 April, 1876, only son of the late C. J. Fletcher. He entered the Army 1 Dec. 1897; was promoted to Lieutenant 14 Feb. 1900; to Captain 13 June, 1904; was Adjutant, Cheshire Yeomanry, from 6 April, 1908; became Major 15 May, 1912; Lieutenant-Colonel, Army, 19 Dec. 1915; retired 1 June, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1900; took part in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900; also during operations in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. to Dec. 1900 (Queen's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was twice mentioned in Despatches; was created an M.V.O., 1917, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Alan Francis Fletcher, Major, 17th Lancers. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Fletcher married, in 1908, Lady Theresa Wentworth-Fitzwilliam, and they have one daughter.

FRASER, HENRY FRANCIS, Major, was born 20 Nov. 1872. He was gazetted to the 5th Lancers 7 Dec. 1895; was extra A.D.C. to the Viceroy of India, 1897; became Lieutenant 9 Oct. 1899; Captain, 21st Lancers, 29 May, 1901; Major 27 April, 1907, and Lieutenant-Colonel 6 Sept. 1915. He was employed with the Aro Expedition, Southern Nigeria, 30 Oct. 1901, to 27 April, 1902; Assistant Military Secretary to the G.O. Commanding-in-Chief, Eastern Command, 4 April, 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914; A.D.C. to the G.O.C., 2nd Army Corps, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 4 Sept. 1914; A.P.M., Cavalry Corps, B.E.F., 10 Oct. 1914, to 12 July, 1915; P.M., 3rd Army, B.E.F., 13 July to 27 Oct. 1915; Specially employed, War Office, 9 March to 26 April, 1916; A.A.G., Southern Command, 2 July, 1916, to 7 March, 1917; A.A.G., War Office, 8 March to 24 Nov. 1917. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including action at Elandslaagte, Rietfontein and Lombard's Kop; at the defence of Ladysmith, including sorties of 7 and 10 Dec. 1899, and action of 6 Jan. 1900 (Queen's Medal with two clasps). In the Aro Expedition he was slightly wounded, and was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 12 Sept. 1902]; Medal with clasp. He was mentioned in Despatches for his services in the European War, 1914–17; was created a C.M.G., 1917, and created a

Henry Francis Fraser.

Digitized by Google

Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Francis Fraser, Major, 21st Lancers. For distinguished service in the field."

GAME, PHILIP WOOLCOTT, Major, was born 30 March, 1876, son of George Beale Game, of Barn House, Broadway, Worcestershire. He was educated at Charterhouse and Woolwich, and has passed the Staff College, where he won the Light-Weight Point-to-Point in 1909. He entered the Royal Artillery 2 Nov. 1895, becoming Lieutenant 2 Nov. 1898, and Captain 3 June, 1901. He was Adjutant, R.A., 1 July, 1902, to 11 Sept. 1905; Major, 15 Feb. 1912; Lieutenant-Colonel 9 Aug. 1917. From 31 Dec. 1910, to 6 Sept. 1913, he was G.S.O.3, War Office, and also from 7 Sept. 1913, to 29 Nov. 1914. He was G.S.O.2, 4th Army Corps, B.E.F., 30 Nov. 1914, to 17 July, 1915; G.S.O.1, 46th Division, B.E.F., 18 July, 1915, to 18 March, 1916; G.S.O.1, Royal Flying Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 19 March to 15 Oct. 1916; Brigadier-General, G.S., R.F.C., British Armies in France, 16 Oct. 1916, to 31 March, 1918; employed under the Air Ministry 1 April, 1918; acting Major-General, attached R.F.C. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, and took part in the operations in the Transvaal, Sept. to Dec. 1901; also in Orange River Colony, Jan to May, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with five clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel, 1 Jan. 1915; Colonel 3 June, 1917; was six times mentioned in Despatches; received the Order of the Crown of Italy; was made Officer, Legion of Honour; created a C.B. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Philip Woolcott Game, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He married on 11 Aug. 1908, Gwendolen, daughter of the late F. Hughes-Gibb and Mrs. Hughes-Gibb, of Gunville Manor House, Blandford, Dorset, and they have two sons: Philip, born 1 June, 1911, and David, born 16 June, 1914, and a daughter.

GOLDNEY, GEORGE FRANCIS BENNETT, Major, was born 12 April, 1879, son of the late George Goldney, of Chippenham House, Exmouth. He was commissioned in the Royal Engineers 23 June, 1898; became Lieutenant 14 Feb. 1901; Captain 2 5 June, 1907; was Adjutant (Training Battn.), R.E., 1 June, 1911, to 31 May, 1914; Adjutant, R.E., 18 Sept. 1914; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was specially employed, Headquarters of Army, 23 Feb. to 31 March, 1909; Staff Captain, War Office, 1 April, 1909, to 31 May, 1911. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April and May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Biddulphsberg and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1901 (Queen's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was four times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.M.G. in 1919; was made Chevalier, Legion of Honour, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "George Francis Bennett Goldney, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He married, in 1914, Hilda Margaret, youngest daughter of the late Major-General H. Edmeades, of Nurstead Court, Meopham, Kent.

RIFFITH, DAVID MAITLAND, Major, was born 17 Oct. 1871, youngest son of the late Lieut.-Colonel J. G. T. Griffith, R.E., of Bombay. He was educated at the United Service College, Westward Ho! and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Royal Engineers 27 July, 1889, becoming Lieutenant 27 July, 1892; Captain 1 April, 1900; Major 20 Feb. 1909, and Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917. He took part in the operations on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98, with the Malakand Field Force; was present during operations in Bajaur and the Mohmand country, also with the Buner Field Force; at the attack and capture of the Tanga Pass (Medal with clasp). He served in the European War; was wounded, mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "David Maitland Griffith, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He took part in the operations on the Western Frontier of Egypt, and in the occupation of Sollum, as C.R.E., and was again mentioned in Despatches. Lieut.-Colonel Griffith married, in 1918, Kathleen Venetia, daughter of the late Wingfield Digby, M.P., and widow of Major Reginald Walker, R.E., and they have one son.

David M. Griffith.

HAYTER, ROSS JOHN FINNIS, Major, was born 28 Feb. 1875, eldest son of Ross W. Hayter, late of Toronto, Canada, and grandson of John Hayter, Court Painter to Queen Victoria. He was educated at Dover College and Upper Canada College, Toronto; at the Royal Military College, Kingston, Canada, and entered the Cheshire Regt. 28 Aug. 1895, becoming Lieutenant 6 April, 1898; Captain 15 Nov. 1901; Major 26 June, 1914. He was A.D.C. to Lieutenant-General, South Africa, 7 Nov. 1900, to 24 Sept. 1901; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Malta, 10 Feb. 1906, to 15 March, 1912; G.S.O.2, Canadian Forces, 16 June, 1911, to 28 Sept. 1914; Brigade-Major, 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade, England, B.E.F., 20 Sept. 1914, to 12 Sept. 1915; G.S.O.2, Canadian Army Corps, British Expeditionary Force, 13 Sept. 1915, to 16 Jan. 1916; G.S.O.1, 3rd Canadian Division, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 17 Jan. 1916, to 3 Dec. 1917; Brigade Commander, 10th Canadian Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 4 Dec. 1917, to 27 Oct. 1918; Brigadier-General, G.S., Canadian Army Corps, British Armies in France, 28 Oct. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, employed with Mounted Infantry, and on Staff; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, including actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria, and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in Orange River Colony, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July), Ladybrand (2 to 5 Sept.), and Bothaville (Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was seven times mentioned in Despatches for his services in the European War, 1914–18, when he served continuously with the Canadian Forces as Brigade Major; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916; was created a C.B. in 1919; a C.M.G. in 1917, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Ross John Finnis Hayter, Major, Cheshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." In 1900 he married Edith, only daughter of Colonel E. Lawrie, Indian Medical Service.

HILL, HUGH, Major, was born 16 May, 1875, the only son of the late James Eardley Hill, Barrister-at-Law, and Mrs. Gerald Shepperson, of 45, Argyll Road, Kensington, W., and Beaconsfield, Buckinghamshire; and grandson of the late Sir Hugh Hill, Judge of the High Court, He was educated at Lockers Park, Rugby, and at Sandhurst. On passing out of Sandhurst he was gazetted to the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1900, and was rewarded for his services in this campaign with the Queen's Medal with two clasps. He was promoted Captain in 1903, and was Adjutant of his regiment from 1904 to 1907. In 1905 he was appointed an honorary Aide-de-Camp to the Prince of Wales during his tour in India, and was afterwards made an M.V.O. In 1906 he was Aide-de-Camp (extra) to Lord Minto, in connection with the visit to Agra of the Amir of Afghanistan. He passed the Staff College, Quetta, in 1909. As extra Aide-de-Camp, he was on the Staff of the King for the Durbar and the subsequent tour. He was promoted Major in 1913, and as Brigade Major to the Jullundur Brigade accompanied the Indian contingent to France at the outbreak of the European War. He subsequently became D.A.A. and Q.M.G., and later A.Q.M.G., with temporary rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. In 1915 he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hugh Hill, M.V.O., Major, Royal Welsh Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." He was appointed G.S.O. (1st grade) in 1915, and given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel in May, 1916. During the war Lieutenant-Colonel Hill was mentioned three times in Despatches. He fell in action 10 Sept. 1916. "He did not know what fear was. The men, too, recognized what a fine character his was, and the words of a Scottish sergeant, who was the first to go to him after he was hit, were: 'A fine soldier, sir.'" A touching memorial service for Colonel Hill was held at Christ Church, Lancaster Gate, W., among those present being Major-General Sir Francis Lloyd (Commanding the Home District), Colonel of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, attended by Lieut. the Earl of Stamford; General Hudson, to whose division Colonel Hill was Senior Staff Officer, and several officers of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. He was a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

HUTCHISON, ROBERT, Major, was born 5 Sept. 1873. He was gazetted to the 7th Dragoon Guards 10 Feb. 1900; became Lieutenant 3 Oct. 1900; served with the Imperial Yeomanry 25 Nov. 1901, to 11 May, 1902; was promoted to Captain, 11th Hussars, 2 Dec. 1905; to Major, 4th Dragoon Guards, 25 Nov. 1913; to Colonel 2 June, 1919; was Temporary Brigadier-General 27 April, 1916, to 30 April, 1917; Temporary Major-General 1 May, 1917. He was G.S.O.3, War Office, 3 Jan. 1912, to 31 March, 1914; Brigade Major, 1st Cavalry Brigade, B.E.F., 4 Sept. to 8 Nov. 1914; G.S.O.2, Cavalry Corps, B.E.F., 9 Nov. 1914, to 10 Feb. 1915; G.S.O.2, G.H.Q., B.E.F., 11 Feb. to 27 July, 1915; G.S.O.2, G.H.Q., B.E.F., 11 Feb. to 27 July, 1915; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., B.E.F., 28 July, 1915, to 4 Feb. 1916; G.S.O.1, War Office, 5 Feb. to 26 April, 1916; Brigadier-General, G.S., Irish Command, 27 April, 1916, to 30 April, 1917; Director of Organization, War Office, 1 May, 1917, to 12 June, 1919; D.A.G. 13 June, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1900–2; as Adjutant, 12th Battn. Imperial Yeomanry, 30 Oct. 1901, to 3 May, 1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal, Dec. 1900; in Orange River Colony, Feb. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; in the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Oct. 1901; also during operations in Cape Colony, Dec. 1900, to Feb. 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches, was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916, and Colonel 3 June, 1916, and created a C.B. in 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Robert Hutchison, Major, 4th Dragoon Guards. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Hutchison married, in 1905, Agnes Begbie, only daughter of the late William Drysdale, of Kilrie, Fife.

IRONSIDE, WILLIAM EDMUND, Major, was born 6 May, 1880. He entered the Royal Artillery 25 June, 1899; became Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901; Captain 18 Feb. 1908; Major 30 Oct. 1914; Temporary Major-General 17 Nov. 1918. He was Staff Captain, South Africa, 26 Sept. 1908, to 1 June, 1909; Brigade Major, South Africa, 2 June, 1909, to 25 Sept. 1912; Staff Captain, No. 3 Base, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 28 Oct. 1914; G.S.O.2, 6th Division, B.E.F., 17 Feb. 1915, to 29 Feb. 1916; Staff Officer, 1st grade, 4th Canadian Division, England, British Armies in France, 3 March, 1916, to 6 Jan. 1918; Commandant, G.H.Q., Small Arms School, British Armies in France, 7 Jan. to 26 March, 1918; commanded the 99th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 27 March to 19 Sept. 1918; Brigadier-General, G.S., 20 Sept. to 16 Nov. 1918; Commander, Archangel, North Russian Expeditionary Force, 17 Nov. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, Sept. and Oct. 1900; in Orange River Colony (Oct. and Nov. 1900); in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including action at Kheis; in the Transvaal, Sept. to Oct. 1901; in Orange River Colony, Oct. 1901; also in Cape Colony, Feb. 1900, to Sept. 1901, and Oct. 1901, to May, 1902. (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–19, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Edmund Ironside, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G., 1918; a K.B.E., 1919; received the Croix de Guerre avec Palme, the 2nd Class Order of St. Vladimir and the Croix d'Officier de la Légion d'Honneur. Sir William Ironside married, in 1915, Mariot Ysobel, daughter of Charles Cheyne, and they have one daughter.

Digitized by Google

IRVINE, FRANCIS STEPHEN, Major, was born 26 Dec. 1873. He entered the R.A.M.C. as Lieutenant 17 Nov. 1899; became Captain 17 Nov. 1902; Major 17 Aug. 1911; Lieutenant-Colonel 29 Sept. 1916. He was employed with the Transvaal Volunteers 13 Oct. 1906, to 12 Oct. 1909, and was Commandant and O.C. Depôt, R.A.M.C., Training Establishment, 4 Oct. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; and in the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900); in the Transvaal, June to Dec. 1901, and Jan. to May, 1902; in Orange River Colony, March, 1902; also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, Lieutenant-Colonel Irvine was mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Francis Stephen Irvine, M.B., Major, R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field."

JOHNSON, RAYMOND HENRY, Major, was born 23 Jan. 1882. He entered the Royal Artillery 2 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901; Captain 15 Oct. 1909; was Adjutant, R.A., 1 June, 1910, to 31 May, 1913; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was Assistant Embarkation Staff Officer 5 Aug. to 29 Sept. 1914; Brigade Major, R.A., 8th Division, B.E.F., 30 Sept. 1914, to 14 Nov. 1915; D.A.A.G., 2nd Army Corps, B.E.F., 15 Nov. 1915, to 16 June, 1916; G.S.O.2, 3rd Army, British Armies in France, 28 Aug. 1917, to 1 Aug. 1918; G.S.O.1, 62nd Division, British Armies in France, 30 Sept. to 11 Oct. 1918. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; three times mentioned in Despatches; made Chevalier, Légion d'Honneur, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Raymond Henry Johnson, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field."

LAMBARDE, FRANCIS FANE, Major, was born 24 Dec. 1868, son of Francis Lambarde, of Sevenoaks, Kent. He entered the Army 17 Feb. 1888; was promoted to Major, Reserve of Officers, 1 May, 1907; retired 21 Feb. 1910. He served in South Africa, 1901–2 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–19, he was mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. in 1919; became Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur; received the Croix de Guerre of France and Belgium, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Francis Fane Lambarde, Major, Reserve of Officers, 1st Canadian Division Staff. For distinguished service in the field." Brigadier General F. F. Lambarde married Marian Ethel, third daughter of Joseph Hinks, J.P., of Bournemouth.

LUKIN, ROBERT CLARENCE WELLESLEY, Major, was born 22 Dec. 1870. He was gazetted to the Yorkshire Light Infantry 3 May, 1890; became Lieutenant, Yorkshire Light Infantry, 11 May, 1892; Lieutenant, Indian Staff Corps, 16 June, 1892; Captain, Indian Army, 3 May, 1901; was Captain, Imperial Yeomanry, 3 Jan. to 3 Sept. 1902; was promoted to Major 3 Jan. 1908, and to Lieutenant-Colonel 3 May, 1916, and was Temporary Brigadier-General from 25 Sept. 1918. He was on Special Service, South Africa, 20 Dec. 1901, to 2 Jan. 1902; D.A.A.G., India, 25 March, 1913, to 25 Sept. 1914; D.A.A.G. 26 Sept. 1914, to 21 Sept. 1915; A.Q.M.G. 22 Sept. 1915, to 25 July, 1916. He took part in the operations in Chitral, 1895, with the Relief Force (Medal with clasp). Served at Tirah, 1897–98, during the operations in tha Bara Valley 7 to 14 Dec. 1897 (two clasps). Served in the South African War, 1901–2, employed with the Imperial Yeomanry; took part in the operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–16, he was mentioned in Despatches and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Robert Clarence Wellesley Lukin, Major, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." His regiment is the 9th Hodson's Horse.

LYNCH-STAUNTON, REGINALD KIRKPATRICK, Major, was born in London 9 April, 1880, son of Capt. G. S. Lynch-Staunton, of Purbrook House, Hants, and nephew of the late Sir George Thomas Staunton, Bart., M.P., of Leigh House, Hants. He was educated at Cheltenham College; joined the Hants and Isle of Wight Artillery in March, 1898, and was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 20 May, 1899. He served in the South African War in 1900, and received the Queen's Medal with three clasps. He became Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901; was attached to the Royal Horse Artillery from 1903 to 1907, and was promoted to Captain 14 Oct. 1907. From 1907 to 1911 he was employed with the Egyptian Army, and was in command of an Egyptian Battery, taking part in operations in Southern Kordofan (Medal with clasp). From 1912 to 1914 he commanded U Battery, Royal Horse Artillery. He was subsequently Adjutant, R.H.A. Brigade, Meerut, and in 1914 was Secretary to the Meerut Tent Club. On the outbreak of the European War Major Lynch-Staunton mobilized as Second-in-Command, R.A., 7th (Meerut) Division, R.A., 11 Aug. 1914, and accompanied the Division to France in Oct. 1915, as Brigade Major. He was mentioned in Despatches and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Reginald Kirkpatrick Lynch-Staunton, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He left France in Dec. 1915, for Mesopotamia, and served as Brigade Major, R.A., Tigris Corps, until 15 Aug. 1916. He was slightly wounded 7 Jan. 1916, but was able to take part the same month in operations at Hanneh, and Sanniyat, etc., in March and April, 1916. He was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel from 16 Aug. 1916, commanding the 13th Brigade, R.F.A., and commanded this Brigade during the operations of Dec. 1916, on the Hai, the Shumrar crossing, in the advance and capture of Baghdad, also in operations on the Dialah River and River Adheim, April, 1917. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916 [London Gazette, 22 Dec. 1916], and in 1917 was awarded the Order of St. Anne, 3rd Class, with Swords. Lieut.-Colonel R. K. Lynch-Staunton died 7 Nov. 1918.

R. K. Lynch-Staunton.

MACLEOD, CHARLES WILLIAM, Major, was born 25 May, 1881. He entered the Army Service Corps 21 Feb. 1900; became Lieutenant 1 April, 1901; Captain 1 Oct. 1904; was Adjutant, A.S.C., 1 Dec. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914; was promoted to Major, R.A.S.C., 15 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 13 Oct. 1915, to 18 Nov. 1917. He was D.A.Q.M.G., Lines of Communication, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 26 April, 1915; D.A.D. of Transport 4 June to 12 Oct. 1915; A.D. of Transport, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 15 Oct. 1915, to 18 Nov. 1917; D.D. of Transport, Transport Directorate, British Armies in France, 19 Nov. 1917; Temporary Colonel 19 Nov. 1917. He served in the South African War, 1900–2; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, Nov. 1900, to Dec. 1901; also in Cape Colony, Jan. to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with two clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles William MacLeod, Major, Army Service Corps. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel C. W. MacLeod married, in 1914, Jean Hewat, daughter of the late Dr. Loraine, of Hawick, and they have one daughter.

MOWBRAY, JOHN LESLIE, Major, was born 19 July, 1875. He entered the Army 28 July, 1900; became Lieutenant 28 July, 1903; was Staff Captain, India, from 4 April, 1909. He served in the European War; was promoted to Major 17 Dec. 1914; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Leslie Mowbray, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Major Mowbray fell in action 24 July, 1916.

PALEY, ALAN THOMAS, Major, was born 1 May, 1876. He was commissioned in the Rifle Brigade 17 March, 1897; became Lieutenant 2 Aug. 1899; Captain 18 Jan. 1902; was Adjutant, Rifle Brigade, 7 March, 1905, to 14 Sept. 1907, and was promoted to Major 1 Nov. 1914. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 7 March to 2 June, 1916, and Temporary Colonel 18 Oct. 1917, to 31 Dec. 1918. From 15 Sept. 1907, to 21 Jan. 1911, he was Officer, Company of Gentlemen Cadets, Royal Military College; from 8 Sept. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914, he was G.S.O.3, War Office. During the European War he was G.S.O.3, 6th Division, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 28 Oct. 1914; Brigade Major, 18th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 29 Oct. 1914, to 13 July, 1915; G.S.O.2, 7th Army Corps, B.E.F., 14 July, 1915, to 6 March, 1916; G.S.O.1, 21st Division, British Armies in France, 7 March, 1916, to 16 Oct. 1917; Assistant Commandant, Royal Military College (temporary), 18 Oct. 1917, to 31 Dec. 1918. He served with the Nile Expedition, 1898; at the Battle of Khartoum (Egyptian Medal with clasp; Medal); served in the South African War, 1899–1900; took part in the defence of Ladysmith, including sortie of 10 Dec. 1899 (dangerously wounded) (Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. and 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with clasp). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches five times; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Alan Thomas Paley, Major, The Rifle Brigade. For distinguished service in the field."

SCARLETT, JAMES ALEXANDER, Major, was born 16 June, 1877. He was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 17 Feb. 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901; Captain 1 Sept. 1908; was Adjutant, R.A., 1 Feb. 1913, to 29 Oct. 1914; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 18 Aug. 1917, to 29 April, 1918, and 13 June, 1918, to 10 March, 1919. He was Brigade Major, 12th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 21 Dec. 1915, to 1 Jan. 1916. For his services in the European War from 1914, he was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "James Alexander Scarlett, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field."

SMITH, HUBERT CLEMENTI, Major, was born 12 Aug. 1878. He entered the Royal Engineers 23 June, 1898; became Lieutenant 14 Feb. 1901; Captain 23 June, 1907; Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, R.E., from 6 Feb. 1916. He was Assistant Director of Army Signals, 1st Division, Aldershot Command, 28 July, 1910, to 23 Nov. 1911; Instructor, Army Signal School, 1 Feb. 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914; G.S.O.1, Signal Service Training Centre, Home Forces, 2 Oct. 1917, to 30 March 1918 Deputy Director of Signals 2nd Army, British Armies in France, 12 Nov. 1918, to 28 Feb. 1919; G.S.O.1, Staff College, 1 March, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1900–2, and took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg; actions at Dreifontein; in Orange River Colony, May to Aug. 1900; also in the Transvaal 30 Nov. to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches four times; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; was made Officier, Légion d'Honneur, and awarded the Croix de Guerre, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hubert Clementi Smith, Major, R.E. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel H. Clementi Smith married, in 1909, Kathleen Margaret, only child of Sir Harry S. C. Clarke-Jervoise, 5th Bart., and they have one son and three daughters.

Digitized by Google

STEWART, IAN, Major, was born 2 Nov. 1874. He was gazetted to the Scottish Rifles 6 March, 1895; was promoted to Lieutenant 10 Oct. 1897; to Captain 10 April, 1900; to Major 11 March, 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 19 June, 1915, to 2 June, 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 16 Nov. 1916. He was G.S.O.3, South Africa, 18 May, 1911, to 26 Sept. 1912; G.S.O.2, South Africa, 27 Sept. 1912, to 21 Sept. 1914; G.S.O.2, 7th Division, B.E.F., 22 Sept. 1914, to 18 June, 1915; G.S.O.1, 51st Division, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 19 June, 1915, to 15 Nov. 1916; Brigadier-General, G.S., 13th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 16 Nov. 1916. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; also in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 20 Aug. 1901; Brevet of Major 22 Aug. 1902; Queen's Medal with two clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–1918; was four times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Ian Stewart, Major, Scottish Rifles. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Stewart married Myra, daughter of James Kennedy, of Doonholm, Ayr, and they have one son and two daughters.

STEWART, JOHN HENRY KEITH, Major, was born in 1872, eldest son of Lieut.-General John Mackie Stewart, Bengal Infantry, and Florence, daughter of the late Henry Vansittart. He entered the Army, as Second Lieutenant, Unattached, 3 Sept. 1892, and the Indian Staff Corps 28 Dec. 1893; became Lieutenant, Indian Staff Corps, 3 Dec. 1894; Captain, Indian Army, 3 Sept. 1901; Major 3 Sept. 1910; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 4 Aug. 1916, to 2 June, 1916; Lieutenant-Colonel 1 July, 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 13 March to 4 Sept. 1917, and again from 3 Oct. 1918; Commandant, 1st Battn. 39th Garhwal Rifles. He was D.A.A.G., Southern Army, India, 6 Feb. 1908, to 5 Feb. 1912; Brigade Major, Garhwal Brigade, B.E.F., 17 Dec. 1914, to 3 Aug. 1915; G.S.O.1, Lahore Division, B.E.F., Indian Expeditionary Force "D," 4 Aug. 1915, to 12 March, 1917; Brigadier-General, G.S., 1st Indian Army Corps, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, 13 March to 4 Sept. 1917; Brigadier-General, G.S., 3rd Indian Army Corps, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force "D," 3 Oct. 1918. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98 (Mohmand; Malakand); during the operations in Bajaur (Medal with clasp); served at Tirah, 1897–98 (clasp). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and of Colonel 10 March, 1917, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Henry Keith Stewart, Major, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Stewart married, in 1898, Frances Jane, daughter of the late Hon. G. A. Hobart Hampden, I.C.S., and they have one daughter.

John Henry K. Stewart.

STOBART, GEORGE HERBERT, Major, was born 18 Feb. 1873, son of William Culley Stobart and Frances Dorothea, daughter of the Rev. George P. Wilkinson. He entered the Army 16 March, 1894; was promoted Lieutenant 16 March, 1897; Captain 17 Sept. 1900; Major 15 Jan. 1911; retired from the Royal Artillery 8 Feb. 1911. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including actions at Reitfontein (slightly wounded) and Lombard's Kop; at the defence of Ladysmith, including action of 6 Jan. 1900 (Queen's Medal with clasp). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; created a C.B.E. in 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "George Herbert Stobart, Major, Reserve of Officers, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel H. G. Stobart married, in 1900, Mary, daughter of the late Rev. H. G. Kinnear.

TREVOR, WILLIAM HERBERT, Major, was born 22 Jan. 1872, son of Colonel S. T. Trevor. He was educated at Marlborough and Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the East Kent Regt. 13 July, 1892, becoming Lieutenant 13 June, 1894, and Captain 13 Nov. 1899; was Adjutant, East Kent Regt., 20 March to 3 Aug. 1908; was promoted to Major 7 Feb. 1911; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 29 Dec. 1915, to 2 June, 1917. He was Assistant Superintendent of Signalling, Malakand Field Force, 10 Aug. to 21 Nov. 1897, and 6 Dec. 1897 to 6 Jan. 1898; Assistant Superintendent of Signalling, Buner Field Force, 7 Jan. to 21 Jan. 1898; Assistant to Staff Officer for Prisoners of War, South Africa (graded Staff Captain), 13 June to 30 Nov. 1900; Assistant to Staff Officer for Prisoners of War (graded D.A.A.G.) 1 Dec. 1900, to 27 Nov. 1901. He was Adjutant, Volunteers, 1 Jan. 1902, to 31 Dec. 1904; Officer, Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, 16 Sept. 1908, to 15 Sept. 1912; Garrison Adjutant, Belfast, 9 March to 19 Sept. 1914; Assistant Provost-Marshal (graded Staff Captain), G.H.Q., B.E.F., 20 to 29 Sept. 1914; A.P.M. (graded D.A.A.G.), 2nd Army Corps, B.E.F., 30 Sept. 1914, to 8 Feb. 1915; Provost-Marshal, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 9 Feb. 1915, to 13 Nov. 1917; P.M., 5th Army, British Armies in France, 23 May to 3 June, 1918; G.S.O.2, War Office, 20 June to 31 Dec. 1918; Assistant Commandant, G.S.O., Royal Military College, 1 Jan. 1919. He took part in the operations in Chitral, 1895, with the Relief Force; action of Mamagai (Medal with clasp); served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98 (Malakand), on Staff; took part in the operations in Bajaur and in the Mamund country; Utman Khel, Signalling Officer; Buner, on Staff; was present at the attack and capture of the Tanga Pass (clasp); served in the South African War, 1899–1901, on Staff (severely wounded; Queen's Medal with three clasps). For his services in the European War he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Herbert Trevor, Major, East Kent Regt. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel W. H. Trevor married, in 1899, Evelyn Gordon Pirrie, and they have one son.

VAUGHAN, LOUIS RIDLEY, Major, was born 7 Aug. 1875, second son of the late Cedric Vaughan, J.P., of Leyfield House, Millom, Cumberland. He was educated at Uppingham, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and entered the Army, as Second Lieutenant, Unattached, 14 Aug. 1895, and the Indian Staff Corps 11 Dec. 1896. He was promoted to Lieutenant, Indian Army, 14 Nov. 1897; to Captain 14 Aug. 1904, and to Major 14 Aug. 1913; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 24 Feb. 1915, to 11 April, 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 12 April, 1916, to 20 May, 1917; was Temporary Major-General 21 May, 1917, to 31 Dec. 1918, and Major-General 1 Jan. 1919. He was G.S.O.3, Headquarters, India, 9 June, 1910, to 31 Jan. 1912; G.S.O.3, War Office, 1 Feb. 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914; G.S.O.2, War Office, 5 Aug. to 2 Nov. 1914; G.S.O.2, 2nd Division, B.E.F., 3 Nov. 1914, to 21 Feb. 1915; G.S.O.1, 2nd Division, B.E.F., 22 Feb. 1915, to 11 April, 1916; Brigadier-General, G.S., 15th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 12 April to 11 Oct. 1916; Major-General, G.S., 3rd Army Corps, British Armies in France, 21 May, 1917; Commandant, Staff College, Quetta, 1919. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and of Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; promoted to Major-General; received the 1914 Star, and was created a C.B. in 1918, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Louis Ridley Vaughan, Major (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." Sir Philip Gibbs says in "The Realities of War" (page 397): "I saw General Louis Vaughan . . . That charming man, with his professional manner, sweetness of speech, gentleness of voice and gesture, like an Oxford Don analysing the war correspondence of Xenophon."

WALKER, HENRY ALEXANDER, Major, was born 20 Oct. 1874. He was gazetted to the Royal Fusiliers 12 Dec. 1894; became Lieutenant 24 Nov. 1897; Captain 27 Jan. 1900; Major 3 Sept. 1910; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 25 Oct. 1915, to 31 Dec. 1916, and Temporary Brigadier-General 26 Oct. 1917, to 2 Dec. 1918. He was employed with the Central African Rifles; with the King's African Rifles 8 July, 1901, to 15 May, 1910; Brigade Major, India, 15 Sept. 1913, to 11 Oct. 1914; Brigade Major, Dehra Dun Brigade, B.E.F., 12 Oct. 1914, to 14 June, 1915; G.S.O.2, 8th Division, B.E.F., 15 June to 21 Oct. 1915; G.S.O., New Armies, British Armies in France, 25 Oct. 1915, to 15 April, 1917; G.S.O.1, 65th Division, Home Forces, 21 April to 8 Oct. 1917; Brigade Commander, 16th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 26 Oct. 1917, to 2 Dec. 1918. He served in East Africa, 1902–4; took part in the operations in Somaliland; in the action at Jidballi (Medal with two clasps); served at Nandi, 1905–6, in command of a column (Despatches [London Gazette, 18 Sept. 1906]; Brevet of Major 26 March, 1906; clasp). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches four times; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; created a C.M.G., 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Alexander Walker, Major, Royal Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field."

WEATHERBY, JAMES THORPE, Brevet Major, was born 21 April, 1877, son of the late Edward Weatherby, of 6, Old Burlington Street, W. He was gazetted to the Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry 8 Feb. 1899; became Lieutenant 30 July, 1900; Captain 30 Dec. 1905; Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 15 June, 1916, to 18 Nov. 1917; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 10 Dec. 1917. He was A.D.C. to the Commander-in-Chief, East Indies, 15 March to 27 Nov. 1902; on Special Service, Somaliland Field Force, from 3 Sept. 1903, to 12 June, 1904; G.S.O.3, War Office, from 23 Sept. 1912, to 30 April, 1914; Brigade Major, 15th Brigade, Irish Command, from 1 May, 1914, to 4 Aug. 1914; Brigade Major, 15th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 2 May, 1915; G.S.O.2, 5th Division, B.E.F., 3 May, 1915, to 14 June, 1916; G.S.O.1, 47th Division, British Armies in France, 15 June to 31 Oct. 1916; G.S.O.1, War Office, 28 Nov. 1916, to 18 Nov. 1917; G.S.O.1, 61st Division, British Armies in France, 10 Dec. 1917, to 16 March, 1918; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 1 April to 2 June, 1918; Assistant Military Secretary, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 3 June, 1918. For his services in East Africa during the operations in Somaliland, as Special Service Officer, he received the Medal with clasp. He served in the European War, 1914–16; was three times mentioned in Despatches; received the

Digitized by Google

Brevet of Major 18 Feb. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "James Thorpe Weatherby, Brevet Major, Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field." He married Giana Dorothea, daughter of Howard Gilliat, of Abbots Ripton Hall, Hants, and they have one son.

WEIR, GEORGE ALEXANDER, Major, was born 1 Dec. 1876, son of the late Archibald Weir, M.D., of Malvern. He was educated at Harrow and Trinity College, Cambridge, and became Captain, 3rd Dragoon Guards, 11 Jan. 1902; Major 2 July, 1912, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Irish Rifles, 24 June to 12 Oct. 1915; Temporary Brigadier-General 13 Oct. 1915. He was Senior Tactical Instructor, Cavalry School, 29 June to 4 Aug. 1914; Staff Captain, 4th Cavalry Brigade, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 9 Oct. 1914; G.S.O.2, 2nd Cavalry Division, B.E.F., 14 Oct. 1914, to 23 June, 1915; commanded the 84th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., Salonika Army, British Salonika Force, 13 Oct. 1915, to 21 March, 1918; commanded the 19th Infantry Brigade, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 3 April to 6 Oct. 1918; commanded the 13th Cavalry Brigade, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 7 Oct. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901, with the Imperial Yeomanry; took part in the various operations in the Transvaal, Orange River Colony and Cape Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to Aug. 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901, and 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with four clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was wounded; mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was made Officer of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "George Alexander Weir, Major, 3rd Dragoon Guards. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Weir married, in 1917, Margaret Irene, daughter of Robert More, of Woodsgate Place, Bexhill.

COX, EDGAR WILLIAM, Capt., was born in May, 1882, and educated at Christ's Hospital. He entered the Royal Engineers 21 Dec. 1900, and spent several years in Africa, where he was engaged in boundary and survey work. He was with the Sierra Leone and Liberia Boundary Commission from 1902 to 1903, and with the Anglo-Portuguese Boundary Commission from 1904 to 1916. He also did survey work in the East African Protectorate, 1906–9. He was promoted to Lieutenant 21 Dec. 1903, and to Captain in 1910; and was employed at the War Office as G.S.O. from 1912 to 1914. Capt. Cox served in the European War, and became G.S.O.1 and Temporary Brigadier-General (Intelligence) on the Headquarters Staff in France. He was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevets of Major and Lieutenant-Colonel; was made Chevalier Legion of Honour, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]; "Edgar William Cox, Capt., Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Edgar William Cox died 26 Aug. 1918.

Edgar William Cox.

DILL, JOHN GREER, Capt., was born 25 Dec. 1881. He was gazetted Second Lieutenant, Leinster Regt., 8 May, 1901; became Lieutenant 27 May, 1903; was Adjutant 15 Aug. 1906, to 14 Aug. 1909; was promoted to Captain 12 July, 1911; to Major 8 May, 1916; was Temporary Brigadier-General from 27 March, 1918. He was Brigade Major, 25th Infantry Brigade, New Armies, B.E.F., 5 Oct. 1914, to 2 Jan. 1916; G.S.O.2, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 3 Jan. to 11 July, 1916; G.S.O.2, Canadian Army Corps, British Armies in France, 3 Jan. to 11 July, 1916; G.S.O.1, 37th Division, British Armies in France, 1 Feb. to 28 Oct. 1917; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 29 Oct. 1917, to 28 March, 1918; Brigadier-General, G.S., G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 27 March, 1918, to 28 Feb. 1919; Brigadier-General, G.S., Staff College, 1 March, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, Nov. 1901; in Orange River Colony, Oct. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also in Cape Colony, Oct. 1901 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and Colonel 3 June, 1919; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Greer Dill, Capt., The Leinster Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

DUGAN, WINSTON JOSEPH, Capt., was born 8 May, 1877, at Birr, son of Charles Winston Dugan (deceased) and Esther Dugan, of Oxmantown Mall, Birr. He was educated at Lurgan College, and Wimbledon, Surrey, and was commissioned in the 2nd Lincolnshire Regt. 8 April, 1896; was Adjutant, Lincolnshire Regt., 28 June, 1901, to 15 Nov. 1904. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; served as Adjutant, 2nd Battn. Lincolnshire Regt., 20 June, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; was present during operations in the Transvaal, Jan. 1901, to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted to Lieutenant 1 Nov. 1901, and Captain, Worcestershire Regt., 16 Nov. 1904, and was Adjutant, Worcestershire Regt., 23 Nov. 1907, to 22 Nov. 1909; Temporary Major, Royal Irish Regt., 18 to 31 Aug. 1915; promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Worcestershire Regt., 1 Sept. 1915; Temporary Brigadier-General 30 July to 25 Sept. 1916. He was appointed Garrison Adjutant (graded Staff Captain, Irish Command), Jan. 1910, to Jan. 1914; on Staff, East Anglian Division, Aug. to Oct. 1914; Provost-Marshal, B.E.F. (graded D.A.A.G.), Oct. 1914, to July, 1915; commanded 2nd Battn. Royal Irish Regt. 18 Aug. 1915, to 31 Aug. 1915, including the Somme Battle; Brigade Commander, Aug. 1916, till wounded in Sept. 1916, and again appointed to command a Brigade, Dec. 1916, to 15 July, 1918; Assistant Inspector of Training, British Armies in France, 16 July, 1918. On 17 Jan. 1912, at Holy Trinity Church, Brompton, he married Ruby Lilian, daughter of the late Charles Abbott and Mrs. Applewhaite Abbott, of 11, Cumberland Terrace, Regent's Park, N.W. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Winston Joseph Dugan, Capt., Worcestershire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

HAINING, ROBERT HADDEN, Capt., was born 28 July, 1882. He entered the Royal Artillery 23 July, 1901; became Lieutenant 23 July, 1904; Captain 23 July, 1914; Major 29 Oct. 1915. He was Staff Captain, R.A., 2nd Division, B.E.F., 1 Nov. 1914, to 9 June, 1915; Brigade Major, R.A., 6th Division, B.E.F., 10 June, 1915, to 12 March, 1916; D.A.A.G., R.A., 8th Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 13 March to 18 Oct. 1916; D.A.A.G., G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 19 Oct. 1916, to 7 May, 1917; D.A.A.G., 5th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 8 May to 27 Aug. 1917; G.S.O.2, 5th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 28 July, 1917, to 8 Aug. 1918; G.S.O.1, Tactical School, Camberley, 7 Aug. 1918, to 7 March, 1919; G.S.O.2, R.A., 11th Army Corps, British Armies in France, British Troops in France and Flanders, 8 March, 1919. For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Robert Hadden Haining, Capt., Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel R. H. Haining is married, and has one son.

HEADLAM, HUGH ROGER, Major, was born 15 July, 1877, fourth son of the late F. J. Headlam. He was educated at Wellington College, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the York and Lancaster Regt. 8 Sept. 1897, becoming Lieutenant 2 Nov. 1899; Captain 2 April, 1903; Major 25 April, 1915; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding the 1/5th Battn. West Riding Regt. 1 Sept. 1915, to 11 June, 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 12 June, 1916. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, on the Staff; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; in the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900), and action at Pieter's Hill; took part in the operations in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1901; also during operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. 1901 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). Served in the Soudan, 1905; took part in the operations against the Nyam Nyam Tribes in the Bahr-el-Ghazal Province (Egyptian Medal with clasp). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was wounded; mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hugh Roger Headlam, Major, The York and Lancaster Regt. For distinguished service in the field." He married, in 1914, Maria Teresa, daughter of the late Right Hon. Sir Julian Goldsmid.

HILDYARD, REGINALD JOHN THOROTON, Major, was born 11 Dec. 1876, third son of the late General Sir H. J. T. Hildyard. He was commissioned in the Royal West Kent Regt. 5 Sept. 1896; became Lieutenant 9 Jan. 1899; Captain 4 Jan. 1904; Major 19 April, 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 10 Oct. to 31 Dec. 1915, and Temporary Brigadier-General 12 Sept. 1917, to 8 Feb. 1919. He was employed with the South African Constabulary, 22 Nov. 1900, to 21 Nov. 1903; was A.D.C. to Lieutenant-General, South Africa, 19 March, 1904, to 31 Oct. 1905; A.D.C. to G.O. Commanding-in-Chief in South Africa, 1 Nov. 1905, to 18 March, 1908; G.S.O.3, War Office, 1 Oct. 1911, to 30 Sept. 1913; Brigade Major, 7th Brigade, Southern Command, B.E.F., 1 Oct. 1913, to 25 Feb. 1915; G.S.O.2, 13th Division, New Armies, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 26 Feb. to 9 Oct. 1915; G.S.O.1, 13th Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force; Indian Expeditionary Force "D," Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, 10 Oct. 1915, to 10 Sept. 1917; Brigade Commander, 51st Infantry Brigade, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, 12 Sept. 1917, to 8 Feb. 1919. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, on duty under the Military Governor of Pretoria (Queen's Medal with four clasps; King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the Great War, from 1914, he was twice mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916, and Colonel 1 Jan. 1919; was created a C.M.G. in 1917 (for Mesopotamia, 1916–17), and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Reginald John Thoroton Hildyard, Major, Royal West Kent Regt. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Hildyard married, in 1911, Muriel, daughter of H. Cosmo Bonsor, D.L.

HOLLAND, LANCELOT, Major, was born 17 July, 1876. He was educated at Merchiston Castle School, Edinburgh, and entered the Seaforth Highlanders 5 Sept. 1896; became Lieutenant 9 Oct. 1899; Captain 31 Oct. 1901; Major 27 May, 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 28 May to 31 Dec. 1917, and was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel 10 Jan. 1919. He was Adjutant, Volunteers, 3 March, 1904, to 22 March, 1907; Brigade Major, 5th Brigade, Aldershot Command, 1 April, 1912, to 31 July, 1913; G.S.O.3, Northern Command, 1 Aug. 1913, to Sept. 1914; Brigade Major, 81st Infantry Brigade, New Armies, B.E.F., 3 Nov. 1914, to 14 June, 1915; G.S.O.2, 30th Division, New Armies, British Armies in France, 8 Sept. 1915, to 13 July, 1916; G.S.O.2, 72nd Division, Home Forces, 8 to 23 Nov. 1916; G.S.O.2, 28th Division, British Salonika Force, 7 Dec. 1916, to 27 May, 1917; G.S.O.1, 27th Division, British Salonika Force, 28 May, 1917, to 17 Oct. 1918; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Salonika Force, 18 Oct. 1918, to 11 Jan. 1919; employed with the Malay States Guides 23 Jan. 1899, to 27 Sept. 1910; Adjutant, Militia, 10 March, 1903, to 9

Digitized by Google

March, 1908; Adjutant, Indian Volunteers, 16 April, 1910, to 15 April, 1914. He served with the Nile Expedition in 1898, and was present at the Battles of the Atbara and Khartum. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902], and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Lancelot Holland, Major, Seaforth Highlanders. For distinguished service in the field."

HOWARD-VYSE, RICHARD GRANVILLE HYLTON, Capt., was born 27 June, 1883, eldest son of Howard Henry Howard-Vyse, J.P., D.L., and Mabel Diana, only daughter of the late Rev. G. Granville Sykes Howard-Vyse; and a grandson of the 1st Lord Hilton. He entered the Royal Horse Guards 10 Dec. 1902; became Lieutenant 6 April, 1904; was Adjutant 25 Sept. 1907, to 24 Sept. 1910; Captain 4 April, 1908; Major 5 June, 1919; Temporary Brigadier-General 17 Aug. 1917, to 20 Sept. 1918, and from 7 Dec. 1918. He was employed with the Canadian Forces 6 June, to 8 July, 1913; Brigade Major, 5th Cavalry Brigade, Northern Command, British Expeditionary Force, 4 May, 1914, to 11 June, 1915; G.S.O.2, 1st Cavalry Division, B.E.F., 12 June, 1915, to 4 Feb. 1916; G.S.O.2, Cavalry Corps, B.E.F., 5 Feb. to 21 May, 1916; G.S.O.2, Reserve Corps, B.E.F., 12 March to 21 May, 1916; G.S.O.1, 3rd Cavalry Division, British Armies in France, 22 March to 26 May, 1916; G.S.O.1, 2nd Indian Division, British Armies in France, 27 May, 1916, to 1 Aug. 1917; Brigadier-General, G.S., Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 17 Aug. 1917, to 16 July, 1918; in Palestine, as Chief Staff Officer, Desert Mounted Corps, and G.O.C., 10th Cavalry Brigade, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 17 July to 20 Sept. 1918; Commandant, 7 Dec. 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevets of Major 3 June, 1916, and Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917; created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Richard Granville Hylton Howard-Vyse, Capt., Royal Horse Guards. For distinguished service in the field."

LIDDELL, CLIVE GERARD, Capt., was born 1 May, 1883. He entered the Leicestershire Regt. 13 May, 1905; was Adjutant, Leicestershire Regt. 23 March, 1908, to 22 March, 1911; was promoted to Captain 17 Oct. 1908, and to Major 22 Oct. 1917. He was Staff Captain, No. 6 District, Northern Command, 1 April, 1912, to 15 Oct. 1914; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 55th Division, 1st Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 3 Jan. to 7 Dec. 1916; specially employed, War Office, 7 Feb. 1917, to 28 Feb. 1919; Instructor, Staff College, 1 March, 1919. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was three times mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. in 1918; a C.B.E. in 1919; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 23 Oct. 1917, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Clive Gerard Liddell, Capt., The Leicestershire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Liddell married (1st), in 1914, Clare Lambert Roberts (who died in 1917); and (2ndly), in 1918, Hilda Jessie Bisset, widow of Lieut. Maurice Cane, and they have three children.

MANSEL-JONES, CONWYN, Capt. (see Victoria Cross Volume), was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Conwyn Mansel-Jones, V.C., Capt., Reserve of Officers, West Yorkshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

NORTH, OLIVER HENRY, Capt., was born 28 April, 1874, fifth son of the late North North, of Newton Hall, Lancashire. He was gazetted to the Lancashire Fusiliers 19 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 26 June, 1901; Captain 24 June, 1910; Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, 1916 to 1918. He was Assistant Superintendent of Gymnasia, Eastern Command, 9 Jan. 1907, to 8 Jan. 1911; Staff Captain, 12th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1914, to 25 July, 1915; A.P.M., 7th Division, B.E.F., 26 July to 4 Aug. 1915; A.P.M., 6th Division, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 10 Oct. 1915. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, with Bethune's Mounted Infantry; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; and the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900); in Natal (March to June, 1900), including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Aug. 1900; employed with Mounted Infantry; in the Transvaal, April, 1901, to Jan, 1902, and March to 31 May, 1902; in Orange River Colony, April, 1901. and Jan. to March, 1902; also during operations in Cape Colony, April, 1901, and May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–19, he was three times mentioned in Despatches; received the 1914 Star; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Oliver Henry North, Capt., Lancs. Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel O. H. North married, in 1908, Edith Monica, only child of W. A. Smith Masters, and they have three sons.

Oliver Henry North.

OGSTON, CHARLES, Capt., was born 14 Sept. 1887, second son of Alexander Milne Ogston, D.L., of Ardoe, Kincardineshire. He was gazetted to the Gordon Highlanders 17 Nov. 1897; became Lieutenant 21 June, 1899; Captain 22 Jan. 1902; was Adjutant, Gordon Highlanders, 21 Jan. 1906, to 21 Jan. 1909; Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Brigadier-General 9 Oct. 1918, to 5 March, 1919; and from 26 March, 1919. He was D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Malta, 3 Aug. 1912, to 1914; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 6th Division, B.E.F., 7 Nov. 1914, to 2 Jan. 1916; A.Q.M.G., 14th Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France; British Force in Italy, 3 Jan. 1916, to 8 Oct. 1918; D.A. and Q.M.G., 14th Army Corps, British Force in Italy; D.A. and Q.M.G., Constantinople, 26 Nov. 1919; A.Q.M.G. He took part in the operations on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98, with the latter part of the Tirah Expedition (Medal with clasp). Served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the advance on Kimberley, including action at Magersfontein; in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.), Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.); in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; also in Cape Colony, north of Orange River; again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; Intelligence Officer (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles Ogston, Capt., Gordon Highlanders. For distinguished service in the field."

PHILLIPS, GEOFFREY FRANCIS, Capt., was born 3 May, 1880, son of J. H. Phillips. He was gazetted to the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry 30 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 19 Feb. 1904; Captain 20 Sept. 1910; Major 1 Sept. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 7 Nov. to 31 Dec. 1916; Temporary Colonel 6 Aug. 1917. He was employed with the King's African Rifles 2 Aug. 1906, to 29 Dec. 1912; Staff Captain, 14th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 3 Sept. to 3 Dec. 1915; G.S.O.2, H.Q., East African Force, 7 Dec. 1915, to 6 Nov. 1916; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., East African Force, 7 Nov. 1916, to 28 July, 1917; employed with the King's African Rifles from 1 Jan. 1917; A.A.G., 20 July to 5 Aug. 1917; Assistant Commandant 6 Aug. 1917. For his services in East Africa he was given the Medal with clasp, and for the European War (1914–17), in which he was twice wounded, he was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; created a C.B.E., and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Geoffrey Francis Phillips, Capt., Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field."

RENNY, LEWIS FREDERICK, Major, was born 4 July, 1877, son of William Renny, Registrar, County Court, Portsmouth, and Priscilla Renny (née Brotherhood). He was educated at Brighton College and Sandhurst, and entered the Army 8 Sept. 1897; became Lieutenant 28 Dec. 1898; Captain 16 July, 1904; Major 28 April, 1915; was Temporary Brigadier-General from 30 May, 1918. He was A.D.C. to Major-General, South Africa, 28 March, 1900, to 26 May, 1902; employed with the West African Frontier Force 2 April, 1904, to 29 June, 1908; Brigade Major, Infantry Brigade, Malta, 10 Jan. 1912, to 21 Sept. 1914; Brigade Major, 23rd Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 22 Sept. 1914, to 4 Aug. 1915; G.S.O.2, 4th Division, B.E.F., 5 Aug. 1915, to 19 June, 1916; G.S.O.1, 6th Division, British Armies in France, 20 June, 1916, to 23 March, 1917; G.S.O.1, Machine Gun Corps, Training Centre, 15 April, 1917, to 29 May, 1918; Brigade Commander, 28th Training Reserve Brigade, Forces in Great Britain, 30 May to 22 Oct. 1918; Inspector of Machine Gun Units, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, from 23 Oct. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, on Staff; took part in the operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 8 Feb. 1901]; Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18 he was mentioned in Despatches seven times; given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and of Colonel 3 June, 1919; created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Lewis Frederick Renny, Major, Royal Dublin Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." He married Maud, second daughter of the Rev. Treasurer Nicholson, M.A., Rector of St. Nicholas Church, Cork, and Canon of St. Patrick's and of Cork Cathedral.

TAPLEY, JAMES JOHN BONIFANT, Capt., was born 14 Nov. 1877, son of S. G. Tapley. He entered the Army Veterinary Corps 16 May, 1903; became Captain 16 May, 1908; Major 10 July, 1915; was employed with the Egyptian Army 9 Nov. 1911, to 4 Aug. 1914; and from 11 Sept. 1915; P.V.O. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in Cape Colony, Sept. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–17, he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "James John Bonifant Tapley, Capt., Army Veterinary Corps. For distinguished service in the field."

THURLOW, EDWARD GUY LETHBRIDGE, Capt., was born 6 Nov. 1881, son of Lieut.-Colonel Hugh Thurlow (late Somerset Light Infantry). He was educated at Wellington College, and at Sandhurst, and entered the Somerset Light Infantry 11 Aug. 1900; became Lieutenant 21 Aug. 1903; Captain 1 Sept. 1911; Major, 1 Sept. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 30 June, 1916, to 2 June, 1917. He was Railway Staff Officer 19 Dec. 1901, to 16 Jan. 1903; employed with the West African Frontier Force 14 May, 1904, to 12 Oct. 1906; Railway Transport Officer 9 Aug. to 8 Oct. 1914; Brigade Major, 6th London Infantry Brigade, Central Force, Home Defence, 9 Oct. to 25 Nov. 1914; Brigade Major, 22nd Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 20 Dec. 1914, to 20 Oct. 1915; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 27th Division, B.E.F., Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 28 Oct. 1915, to 29 June, 1916; A.A. and Q.M.G., Salonika Army, British Salonika

Digitized by Google

Force, 30 June, 1916, to 16 March, 1918; G.S.O.1, Thames and Medway Garrison, 17 April to 29 Oct. 1918; G.S.O.2, War Office (temporary), 15 April, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, on Staff; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, Oct. to Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal, April, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also in Orange River Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to April, 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). Served in West Africa, (Northern Nigeria), 1906. For his services in the Great War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches seven times; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917; was made Officer, Star of Roumania, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Edward Guy Lethbridge Thurlow, Capt., Somerset Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Thurlow married, in 1912, Margaret Merry, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel E. H. Vaughan, of Kenton, Devon, and they have two daughters.

VILLIERS-STUART, JOHN PATRICK, Capt., was born 1 March, 1879, youngest son of the late Lieut.-Colonel Villiers-Stuart, of Castlane, Carrick-on-Suir. He entered the Army 26 Jan. 1899, as Second Lieutenant (unattached), and was gazetted to the Indian Staff Corps 14 April, 1900, becoming Lieutenant, Indian Army, 25 April, 1901; Captain 25 Jan. 1908; Major 1 Sept. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 28 Oct. 1916, to 25 July, 1917, and 1 Nov. to 31 Dec. 1917. He was D.A.A.G., G.H.Q., British Expeditionary Force, 14 Oct. 1914, to 21 Aug. 1915; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 2nd Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 22 Aug. 1915, to 27 Oct. 1916; A.A. and Q.M.G., 2nd Division, British Armies in France, 28 Oct. 1916, to 25 July, 1917. He served in China, 1900 (Medal). Served on the North-West Frontier of India, Waziristan, 1901–2 (Medal with clasp). Served in East Africa, 1903–4, during operations in Somaliland; in the action at Jidballi (Medal with two clasps). Served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1908; Orderly Officer to O.C. and Brigadier; took part in the operations in the Zakka Khel country (Despatches [London Gazette, 22 May, 1908]). For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches twice; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; the Legion of Honour, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Patrick Villiers-Stuart, Capt., Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel J. P. Villiers-Stuart married, in 1914, Phyllis Mary, daughter of the late James Read, and they have two daughters.

WALCOT, BASIL, Capt., entered the Royal Engineers 6 Jan. 1900; became Lieutenant 19 Dec. 1902, and Captain 6 Jan. 1909. He served in the South African War, 1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, April to May, 1902; also in Cape Colony, May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). For his services in the European War he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Basil Walcot, Capt., Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." Major Walcot died 14 Sept. 1918.

PARES, BASIL, Surgeon-Major, was born 24 April, 1869, son of the late John Pares and Katherine, daughter of John Birch. He was educated at Lancing College; Emmanuel College, Cambridge, and St. Mary's Hospital, London, and became Surgeon-Major, Royal Horse Guards (The Blues), 17 Feb. 1906. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901, as a Civil Surgeon; took part in the Relief of Kimberley; was present during operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.), actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). For his services in the European War in 1914 and 1915 he was created a C.M.G. in 1916, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Basil Pares, Surgeon-Major, Royal Horse Guards. For distinguished service in the field." He married, in 1902, Evelyn Whistler, daughter of G. L. Whistler, and they have three sons, Martin (Royal Naval College, Osborne), Stephen and Basil; and three daughters, Ethel, Evelyn and Constance.

SEWELL, HORACE SOMERVILLE, Major, was born 10 Feb. 1881, son of Henry Sewell. He was educated at Harrow, and Trinity College, Cambridge, and was gazetted to the 4th Dragoon Guards 23 May, 1900; was promoted to Lieutenant 19 Feb. 1902; to Captain 25 Sept. 1907, and to Major 3 Sept. 1914. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, 4th Dragoon Guards, 13 March to 13 May, 1915, and 3 Dec. 1915, to 27 Sept. 1916; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, 4th Dragoon Guards, 6 Dec. 1916; Temporary Brigadier-General 17 April, 1918, to 21 April, 1919. He was employed in Nigeria with the West African Frontier Force 8 June, 1907, to 20 Nov. 1910; in the Expedition in 1907–8; Northern Hinterland Patrol, 1908–9. He served with the 4th Dragoon Guards in the European War, 1914–18, including Mons, the First Battle of Ypres (1914); Second Battle of Ypres (1915); Somme Battle; Arras Battle (1917) He was wounded (1) at Bourg, on the Aisne, 13 Sept. 1914; (2) at Potige, during the Second Battle of Ypres, 13 May, 1915; (3) accidentally in billets, 3 Aug. 1915. Lieut.-Colonel Sewell commanded the 1st Cavalry Brigade, British Armies in France, 17 April, 1918, to 21 April, 1919. For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches by Sir John French, 17 Feb. and 30 May, 1915; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918: was made Chevalier, Legion of Honour; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Horace Somerville Sewell, Major, 4th (Royal Irish) Dragoon Guards. For distinguished service in the field." The decoration was awarded for various actions during the First Battle of Ypres, Oct. and Nov. 1914. He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order. Lieut.-Colonel H. S. Sewell married, in 1916, Emma Whitlock, daughter of the late J. Berre King, of New York, and they have one son, David William Berre, and one daughter.

Horace S. Sewell.

HODGKIN, HARRY SIDNEY, Capt., was born 13 June, 1879. He served for a year and 43 days in the ranks of the Imperial Yeomanry, and was commissioned for 117 days, and then was gazetted to the Cheshire Regt. 26 June, 1901; was Second Lieutenant, West African Regt., 25 July, 1903, to 1 Oct. 1906; Lieutenant, Cheshire Regt., 1 Sept. 1904; Captain, Cheshire Regt., 21 April, 1908; 4th Dragoon Guards, 14 Sept. 1914; Reserve Regt. of Cavalry 15 Sept. to 4 Nov. 1914; Temporary Major, whilst commanding a Battalion, Cheshire Regt., 22 Dec. 1914, to 22 Feb. 1915; Lieutenant-Colonel, Territorial Force Battn. 6th Notts and Derby Regt., 15 April, 1916, to 11 Feb. 1919. He was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 11 April to 14 Sept. 1914. He served in the South African War, 1900–2, with the Imperial Yeomanry; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, 21 April to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 6 Nov. 1900, including action at Wittebergen; in the Transvaal, March, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; again in Orange River Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1901 (Queen's Medal with two clasps, and King's Medal with three clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches three times; was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Harry Sidney Hodgkin, Capt., 1st Cheshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." He married, in 1912, Elsie, daughter of R. J. McMordie, M.A., M.P., and they have two daughters.

LAKIN, MICHAEL LAURENCE, Capt., was born 24 Nov. 1881; entered the Army 26 Sept. 1900; became Lieutenant 18 June, 1901; Captain 3 Dec. 1908, and retired from the 11th Hussars 2 Nov. 1911. He served in the South African War in 1900. Served in the Mediterranean (Medals). He served in the European War, 1914–18, as Captain, Cavalry Special Reserve, and as Acting Major, Tank Corps, and was twice mentioned in Despatches; created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Michael Laurence Lakin, Capt., Special Reserve, 11th Hussars. For distinguished service in the field." He was also awarded the Military Cross. Capt. Lakin married, in 1914, Kathleen, youngest daughter of the late Lord Maurice FitzGerald, second son of the 4th Duke of Leinster and Lady Adelaide Forbes, eldest daughter of the 7th Earl of Granard, and they have one son.

STEWART, NOEL ST. VINCENT RAMSAY, Major, was born 4 Dec. 1870. He was commissioned in the 18th Hussars 10 Oct. 1891; became Lieutenant 25 April, 1894; Captain 3 June, 1901, and Major 19 Feb. 1914. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; as A.D.C. to Lieut.-General Sir N. Lyttelton, K.C.B. 29 Nov. 1900, to 16 Sept. 1902. He took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including actions at Talana and Lombard's Kop; at the Defence of Ladysmith, including action of 6 Jan. 1900; during operations in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.); in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1901, and Nov. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; in Orange River Colony, Feb. to April, 1901, and Nov. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901; also in Cape Colony, Feb. to April, 1901 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War from 1914 he was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Noel St. Vincent Ramsay Stewart, Major, 18th Hussars. For distinguished service in the field." Major Stewart married, in 1903, Mary Evelyn, daughter of C. B. E. Wright.

CALVERT, CHARLES ARCHIBALD, Major, was born 25 Oct. 1873, second son of the late Colonel A. M. Calvert, of Ockley Court. He entered the Army in 1894; became Captain, 1901, and retired from the 1st Dragoons 1 April, 1908. He served in South Africa, 1899–1902; was mentioned in Despatches; received the Queen's Medal with six clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. For his services in the European War he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles Archibald Calvert, Major, Sussex Yeomanry. For distinguished service in the field." He served as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Machine Gun Corps. Lieut.-Colonel Calvert married Winifred, daughter of the late Sir Hugh Cholmeley, Bart.

BARTON, PATTERSON, Major, was born 27 June, 1874, son of the late Major-General C. J. Barton, R.A. He entered the Royal Artillery 17 Nov. 1894; became Lieutenant 17 Nov. 1897; Captain 30 Jan. 1901; was Adjutant, R.A., from 16 Jan. 1899; was promoted to Major 21 July, 1911, and to Lieutenant-Colonel 24 April, 1916. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was given the Croix de Guerre, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Patterson Barton, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Barton married, in 1898, Frances Mary, daughter of the late Robert Sutton, of Blackrock.

BETHELL, ALFRED BRYAN, Major, was born 25 April, 1875, son of Alfred Bethell. He was educated at Cheltenham College and the Royal Military Academy, and was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 15 June, 1895; became Lieutenant 15 June, 1898; Captain 25 April, 1901; Major 1 Nov. 1911, and Lieutenant-Colonel 16 June, 1916. He was employed with the Egyptian Army 16 Aug. 1901, to 15 Aug. 1911. He served in the South African War, 1900–1; took part in the operations in the Orange River Colony, April, 1900; in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, April to May, 1900, including action at Ruidam; served during the operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900; in the Transvaal, east and west of Pretoria, July to Nov. 1900, including action at Zilikat's Nek; also during operations in Cape Colony, Nov. 1900, to April, 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with four clasps). He served in the Soudan, 1905; was present during operations against the Nyam Nyam Tribes in the Bahr-el-Ghazal Province (Despatches [London Gazette, 18 May, 1906]; Egyptian Medal with clasp). He served in the European War, 1914–18; from Aug. 1914, to Sept. with the 3rd Division, as Battery Commander; was mentioned in Despatches, June, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Alfred Bryan Bethell, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." From Oct. 1915, he served with the Guards' Divisional Artillery as Brigade Commander, and was mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1917. He was given the Legion of Honour and was created a C.M.G. in 1918. Lieut.-Colonel Bethell married, in 1913, Patience Wilson.

Digitized by Google

BUCHANAN-DUNLOP, COLIN NAPIER, Major, was born 14 April, 1877, at Aldershot, son of Lieut.-Colonel Henry Donald Buchanan-Dunlop, late Royal Artillery. He was educated at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Army 21 Sept. 1896, becoming Lieutenant 21 Sept. 1899; Capt. 27 Feb. 1902; Major in 1913. From 1903 to 1905 he was Professor at the Royal Military College of Canada. He passed into the Staff College, Camberley, in 1911, and was employed with the Egyptian Army in 1913–14. He saw active service in South Africa, 1899–1902, and took part in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont, Enslin, Modder River (wounded) and Magersfontein; served during the operations in the Orange Free State, including operations at Paardeberg, actions at Poplar Grove, Karee Siding and Zand River; in the Transvaal, in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July, 1900; also in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, Aug. to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Zilikat's Nek; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1902, and March to 31 May, 1902; and in Orange River Colony, Jan. to March, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Brevet of Major 28 Feb. 1902; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He went out to Flanders in Oct. 1914, and took part in the Battles of Ypres, Neuve Chapelle, Festubert, Givenchy, Loos, and the taking of the Hohenzollern Redoubt. He was killed by a shell on 14 Oct. 1915, at Vermelles. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Colin Napier Buchanan-Dunlop, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Major C. N. Buchanan-Dunlop married Hilda, second daughter of Harrison Benn, J.P., of Holcombe Hall, Dawlish.

STANLEY-CLARKE, HENRY CALVERT, Major, was born 6 Dec. 1872, eldest son of the late Major-General Willoughby Charles Stanley-Clarke, Indian Army. He was educated at Bedford Grammar School, and entered the Royal Artillery 30 May, 1893; became Lieutenant 30 May, 1896; Captain 18 June, 1900; was Captain, Imperial Yeomanry, 18 Feb. 1902, to 6 Feb. 1903; was promoted to Major 23 April, 1910; to Lieutenant-Colonel 16 Nov. 1915; was Temporary Brigadier-General 10 Oct. 1916, to 26 Feb. 1919. From 18 Feb. 1905, to 16 July, 1909, he was employed with the West African Frontier Force, and from 10 Oct. 1916, to 26 Feb. 1919, he was Brigadier-General, R.A., 7th Division, British Armies in France. From 1914 to 1918 he served in the European War, and was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1918; created a C.B. in 1919; a C.M.G. in 1917, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Calvert Stanley-Clarke, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Stanley-Clarke married, in 1913, Alice, only daughter of Colonel Harvey Morris Stanley-Clarke, and they have two daughters.

COTTON, ARTHUR STEDMAN, Major, was born 18 Aug. 1873. He entered the Royal Artillery 1 Sept. 1893; became Lieutenant 1 Sept. 1896; Captain 26 July, 1900, and Major 24 Sept. 1910. Major Cotton served in the European War, as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A., 13 Oct. 1915, to 28 Feb. 1916. He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel 29 Feb. 1916, and was Temporary Brigadier-General, R.A., 41st Division, British Armies in France, 12 Oct. 1917, to 14 April, 1919. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Stedman Cotton, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was created a C.M.G.

ELLERSHAW, ARTHUR, Major, was born 27 Feb. 1869, son of the Rev. John Ellershaw, M.A. He was educated at Westminster School, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, entering the Army 27 July, 1888; becoming Lieutenant 27 July, 1891; Captain 1 March, 1899, and was Divisional Adjutant, R.A., 28 June, 1899, to 16 March, 1900, and Adjutant, R.A., 7 Jan. to 11 July, 1901. He took part in operations on the North-West Frontier of India from 1897 to 1898, with the Malakand Field Force, and was present at the action of Landakai (Medal with clasp). He served in the South African War, and was present at the operations in Natal (March to June, 1900), including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); also in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Aug. 1900 (severely wounded; Queen's Medal with four clasps). Served in Aden, 1903–4, during operations in the interior. Capt. Ellershaw was Adjutant, R.A., 14 April, 1908, to 9 March, 1909, and was promoted to Major 8 May, 1909. He again saw active service in the European War; was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel 9 April, 1916; was Brigadier-General, R.A., Heavy Artillery, 1st Army Corps, British Armies in France, 21 Feb. 1917, to 13 Feb. 1918; Brigadier-General, R.A., Heavy Artillery, 8th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 14 Feb. to 24 June, 1918; Brigadier-General, R.A., Heavy Artillery, 6th Army Corps, British Armies in France, from 25 June, 1918. He was five times mentioned in Despatches; was created a C.M.G. in 1918; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Ellershaw, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.B. in 1919.

HARDING NEWMAN, EDWARD, Major, was born 30 July, 1872, son of B. Harding Newman, Esq., late of Nelms, Hornchurch, Essex. He was educated at Cheltenham College, and entered the Royal Artillery 1 Feb. 1893; was promoted Lieutenant 1 Feb. 1896; Captain 21 May, 1900; Major 13 Feb. 1910, and Lieutenant-Colonel 27 Oct. 1915. He was aide-de-camp to Major-General, India, 1899–1902, and was Staff Captain, Irish Command, 1905–9, and A.M.S. to the General Officer Commanding, Northern Command, 1911–14. He served in the European War, as Brigadier-General, R.A., 14th Division, British Armies in France, 4 Feb. 1917; was five times mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: Edward Harding Newman, Major, R.A. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1918], and was given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919. He holds the Russian Order of St. Stanislas.

HAYWOOD, AUSTIN HUBERT WIGHTWICK, Major, was born 7 March, 1878, youngest son of Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Wightwick Haywood. He was educated abroad, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, passing into the Royal Artillery 23 Dec. 1897. He was promoted Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1900, and Captain 19 April, 1902. He served in India, the Mediterranean and in West Africa; accompanied the West African Frontier Force, on the Staff, 1903–7, taking part in the Kwale-Ishan operations, Southern Nigeria, from 1905 to 1906. From 19 Dec. 1908, to 30 Aug. 1910, he was Adjutant, Royal Artillery. He was promoted Major 30 Oct. 1910, and was employed in West Africa from 31 Aug. 1910, to 14 June, 1916; as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from 8 Dec. 1913, to 14 June, 1916. In the Great War he took part in the operations in the Cameroon Mountains, in command of a Field Column. From 7 July to 3 Oct. 1917, he was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A., and again from 13 Jan. to 24 March, 1918, and from 9 Aug. 1918, to 10 March, 1919. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Austin Hubert Wightwick Haywood, Major (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." On 1 Jan. 1918, he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel. He was also awarded the Croix de Guerre. Major Haywood is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, and has published "English Hausa Vocabulary of 1,000 Words in Everyday Use" and "Through Timbuctoo and across the Great Sahara." He married, in 1915, Isabella Rosamond, only daughter of the Rev. Henry Walters.

Austin H. W. Haywood.

HAYMES, ROBERT LEYCESTER, Major, was born at Hopesay Rectory, Aston-on-Clun, Shropshire, 31 Dec. 1870, son of the late Rev. Robert Evered Haymes, formerly of Great Glen, Leicestershire, and of Jane Henrietta Martha, his wife, daughter of the late General T. L. Green. He was educated at the Bedford Modern School, Oxford Military College, and the Royal Military Academy; joined the Army 24 July, 1891. Lieut. Haymes served in the Tirah Campaign, on the North-West Frontier of India, with No. 5 Bombay Mountain Battery (Indian General Service Medal with clasp, 1897). He was promoted Captain in Nov. 1899; was appointed Instructor in Gunnery at Bombay, which post he held from 1905 to 1909; and Adjutant, 1909 to 1911; was promoted Major in Oct. 1911. From 1911 to 1914 Major Haymes served as Second-in-Command of the Malay States Guides. He went out to France, in command of the 6th Siege Battery, Sept. 1914; took part in the Battle of Ypres in Oct. and of Neuve Chapelle, 10 March, 1915. He was one of the first to get O.P. in Neuve Chapelle and communications through. After this battle he was recommended by Major-General A. E. A. Holland, C.B., M.V.O., D.S.O. (then Brigadier-General, 8th Division) in Despatches, and in June, 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Robert Leycester Haymes, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Major Haymes was severely wounded 16 May, 1915, at Festubert, while observing. He was twice mentioned in Despatches. On the 18th of Aug. 1897, Major Haymes married, at Addlestone, Surrey, Minnie Kathleen, youngest daughter of the late Major Wilmot Ellis, R.A., and they have three sons: Maxwell Freeland Leycester, born 11 Nov. 1907; Hamilton Alfred Leycester, born 4 Nov. 1909, and Richard Arthur Leycester, born 11 June, 1915, and two daughters: Dorothy Evelyn Leycester and Marjorie Eileen Leycester.

Robert L. Haymes.

HOPE, JOHN WILLIAM, Major, was born 29 Jan. 1876, at Madras, India, son of the late James Hope, Indian Civil Service, and of the late Isabella Cunningham (née Mitchell). He was educated at the Edinburgh Academy, Bedford Grammar School and the Royal Military Academy. He obtained his first commission in the Royal Field Artillery 24 March, 1896, and until the outbreak of the European War his service was entirely in India, excepting the two years—1909–10—when he passed through the

Digitized by Google

Staff College, Camberley. He was promoted Captain in 1902, being employed as Adjutant from 1905 to 1908. He was promoted Major in 1912, serving on the Staff as Brigade Major, Jhansi Brigade, from Aug. 1911, to Oct. 1914. On the outbreak of the European War in Aug. 1914, he brought the 103rd Battery, R.F.A., home from India, taking it to France with the 28th Division in Jan. 1915. He took part in operations in front of Ypres; was wounded and sent to hospital at Nice, returning to his Battery on the 3rd April, 1915, in front of Ypres, and taking part in the Second Battle of Ypres from 22 April to 28 May. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John William Hope, Major, The Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." In the same month Major Hope was appointed D.A.Q.M.G., 28th Division, serving in that capacity in France up to Oct. He was then sent to Alexandria and Salonika, where he was appointed A.Q.M.G., 16th Corps, March, 1916, with temporary rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. He was appointed to command the 67th Brigade, R.F.A., 10th Division, May, 1916, attaining the substantive rank of Lieutenant-Colonel 13 Nov. 1916. He was mentioned in Salonika Despatches, Nov. 1917. Proceeded to Palestine with the 10th Division in Sept. 1917, and on 20 Oct. 1917, was appointed Brigadier-General, R.A., 53rd Division, taking part in the capture of Beersheba. On 5 Nov. he was taken into hospital sick, and went to Cairo. On the 24th Dec. 1917, he was appointed to command the 302nd Brigade, R.F.A., 60th Division, and took part in operations round Jerusalem and in the Jordan Valley. In April, 1918, he was transferred to France, in temporary command of the 52nd Divisional Ammunition Column, and in May, 1918, assumed command of the 38th (Army) Brigade, R.F.A., taking part in operations round Kemmel, during which he temporarily commanded the 21st Infantry Brigade, 30th Division, for three weeks in Sept.; operations with the Belgian Army on 28 and 29 Sept., then on the Scheldt, etc. Finally he marched in command of the 38th (Army) Brigade, R.F.A., attached to the 29th Division, across Belgium to Cologne. He was awarded the Belgian Croix de Guerre [London Gazette, Sept. 1919]. On his return to England in June, 1919, he served temporarily as D.A.Q.M.G., Southern Command, for five months, and on 23 March, 1920, was appointed G.S.O.2, Lowland Territorial Division. He married, 1 Aug. 1906, in London, Ethel Obré Hope, daughter of the late Lieut.-Colonel A. Wintle, Royal Horse Artillery, and they have one son, James, born 6 May, 1907, and one daughter, Doreen, born 5 Feb. 1909.

HOWELL, HERBERT GWYNNE, Major, was born at The Strand, Builth, Wales, 15 Nov. 1879, son of Major M. Gwynne Howell, of Llanelwedd Hall, Radnorshire (a family who can trace their descent for some 1,200 years). He was educated privately. He took part in the Bechuanaland Expedition, 1897; at the Le Fleur Rebellion, 1898, and was with the Colonial Division in the early stages of the South African War (General Service Medal with clasp "Bechuanaland," 1897). He joined the Royal Field Artillery in May, 1900, and served in the South African War; was present at Stormberg, and in the advance to the Orange Free State; went through the siege of Wepener, when some 1,700 Colonial troops held at bay 12,000 Boers for over three weeks; in the De Wet hunt, under Lord Methuen; in the Relief of Klip River and drive to Mafeking; operations in the Brandwater Basin, and numerous drives in the Orange Free State and Western Transvaal; commanded the only guns on General Kekewich's famous long-distance drives, and was with the Advance Guard the whole time. He was twice mentioned in Despatches—June and Aug. 1902; awarded the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. Lieut. (Temporary Captain) Gwynne Howell served in Northern Nigeria, both as gunner and General Staff Officer, taking part in the successful Dakkakeri Campaign in 1908 as Chief Staff Officer. He was promoted Captain in June, 1911, and Major 14 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War; was employed as Head of the Intelligence Department (French-British) during the first phase of the Cameroon Campaign. He acted as G.S.O. to the British Contingent during the final stage of operations and the advance to Jaunde, when the Germans were driven out of the Cameroons and into Spanish Muni. He was twice mentioned in Despatches (June, 1915, and May, 1916), and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Herbert Gwynne Howell, Major, Royal Field Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He commanded a group of Artillery at Pirbright in Oct. 1916, and then went to Egypt in Nov. of the same year. Commanded the 265th Brigade, R.F.A., during the First Battle of Gaza, and served throughout the Palestine operations, 1916–17. His Battery were the first British guns to march through Jerusalem. Served a short period with Headquarters, 20th Corps, then invalided to Egypt. Was Commandant Prisoners of War Camps, Cairo, until the termination of hostilities. He was mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1919, and awarded the O.B.E. Major Gwynne Howell married, 12 Aug. 1919, Annable Martin, daughter of Capt. R. Martin, late The Buffs, of 25, Longford Terrace, Monkstown, Ireland. His pastimes are big game shooting, fishing, shooting and polo.

Herbert Gwynne Howell.

KINSMAN, GERALD RICHARD VIVIAN, Major, was born 18 May 1876, son of the late Colonel H. J. Kinsman, R.A., of Antron Hill, Penryn, Cornwall, and of Emily Anne Kinsman (née FitzGerald). He was educated at Bedford and the Royal Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Royal Artillery in March, 1896. He served with the West African Frontier Force from 1901 to 1903; was promoted Captain in 1902, and was employed as Adjutant to the Territorial Force from 1909 to 1912. He was promoted Major in Dec. 1912. Major Kinsman served in the European War; was present at Le Cateau, Aug. 1914; Ypres, 1915 and 1916; Bapaume and Ecouste, 1917. He was three times mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Gerald Richard Vivian Kinsman, Major, Royal Field Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel, Jan. 1917 (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from Dec. 1915). He was Chief Instructor of Gunnery, Shoeburyness, 1917–19; Commanding the 25th Brigade, R.F.A., from July, 1919. He was created a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, Jan. 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Kinsman married, in Jan. 1916, Dorothy, daughter of Arthur Whitaker, and there is one daughter, Dorothy Sheila, born Oct. 1916.

Gerald R. V. Kinsman.

LEGGETT, ERIC HENRY GOODWIN, Major, was born 31 Dec. 1880, son of Lieut.-Colonel F. O. and Mrs. Leggett, of Underhill House, Shorncliffe, and of High Grange, Hythe. He was educated at the Oxford Preparatory School (Mr. Lynam's), and was an Exhibitioner at Wellington College, Berks, 1894–7; was commissioned in June, 1899, in the Royal Artillery. He became Lieutenant in 1901, and Captain in 1907. He gained a first-class certificate for gunnery, and held various Staff appointments, commencing his Staff career with the Malay States Guides (May, 1905, to July, 1908); Staff Captain, Woolwich, 4th Division, and later Brigade Major. He was promoted Major in Oct. 1914. He served in the European War; was present at Mons, the Marne, the Aisne, the Lys, and Ypres; General Staff Officer, 2nd Grade. He was three times mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Eric Henry Goodwin Leggett, Major, Royal Field Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He died in hospital at St Omer 30 July, 1916. He had married, in 1911, Mary, daughter of Colonel Howe, York and Lancaster Regt., and they had one son, born 8 Sept. 1912. His eldest brother, Major W. N. Leggett, R.G.A., and his youngest brother, Lieut. A. R. A. Leggett, North Staffordshire Regt., both lost their lives on the field, on 14 July, 1916, and 31 Oct. 1914, respectively.

MACKEY, HUGH JAMES ALEXANDER, Major, was born in Jamaica, 19 March, 1876, son of the late Hugh Allen Mackey, Capt., R.A. He was educated at Rottingdean; at Winchester, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 21 March, 1896, and was promoted to Lieutenant 21 March, 1899, and to Captain 10 Jan. 1902; was Adjutant, R.A., 25 May, 1907, to 25 Aug. 1909. Capt. Mackey commanded the Gun Team at Osborne at the funeral of H.M. Queen Victoria, and was created a Member of the Victorian Order, 5th Class. He was Adjutant, Royal Military Academy, from 1909 to 1913, and became Major 5 Oct. 1912. He served in the European War; went to France in command of the 60th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, and was present at the battles of Mons and Ypres, also in operations on the Aisne. He was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hugh James Alexander Mackey, M.V.O., Major, Royal Field Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was also created a C.M.G. in 1915. In Nov. 1915, he was appointed to the command of the 13th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery, leaving France for Mesopotamia in Dec. to take part in operations for the Relief of Kut. He was Colonel, R.A., 14th Division, Mesopotamia, 12 May, 1916, to 6 April, 1919, and took part in the battles of Hai and Shumran Bend, and in the crossing of the Tigris; present at operations at Baghdad and Shatt-el-Adhaim. He was again mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1916; was promoted Lieutenant-Colonel 3 Jan. 1917, and was Temporary Brigadier-General 12 May, 1916, to 6 April, 1919. He married, 16 April, 1904, at St. Stephen's Church, Gloucester Road, S.W., Violet Alice Edgar, eldest daughter of H. E. Rodwell, and they have two daughters: Eileen and Patricia.

MACLAVERTY, CHARLES FORBES SHAW, Major, was born 19 Feb. 1878, son of the Rev. A. Maclaverty, Vicar of Llangattock, Monmouth. He was at Christ Church, Oxford, when the Boer War broke out. He immediately volunteered, and joined the Army 25 July, 1900, serving till 1902. He took part in operations in Orange Free State, April and May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Caledon River (27 to 29 Nov.); in Orange River Colony, Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1901, and March, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; in Cape Colony, Feb. to March, 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). On the 11th of June, 1904, he was seconded for service under the Colonial Office, and went to Nigeria, where he was employed with the West African Frontier Force 28 May, 1904, to 24 May, 1909, and 15 June, 1910, to 17 March, 1916. He became Captain 21 Aug. 1911, and Major 17 Dec. 1914. He served in the Great War; first in the Cameroons; was dangerously wounded; mentioned in Despatches and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles Forbes Shaw Maclaverty, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." In May, 1916, being recovered from his wound, he joined the 114th Battery, 1st Division, in France; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A. (T.F.), 1 Feb. to 12 March, 1918, and was twice more mentioned in Despatches.

NAPIER, VERNON MONRO COLQUHOUN, Major, was born 9 Oct. 1881. He entered the Royal Artillery 2 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901. He served in the South African War in 1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, Jan. to 31 May, 1902; received the Queen's Medal with three clasps. He was promoted Captain 1 Feb. 1910; was Adjutant, R.A., 1 Nov. 1910, to 31 Jan. 1913. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was promoted Major 30 Oct. 1914; was D.A.A.G., Lines of Communication, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 18 Nov. 1914; Brigade Major, R.A., 18th Division, B.E.F., 25 March to 20 Nov. 1915; D.A.A.G., Staff Officer to G.O.C., R.A., 6th Army Corps, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 21 Nov. 1915, to 27 Sept. 1917; G.S.O.1, 4th Army, B.E.F., 28 Sept. 1917, to 12 July, 1918; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 13 to 17 July, 1918; Assistant Director of Staff Duties, British Armies in France, 18 July, 1918, and Temporary Colonel. For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches, given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; created a C.M.G. in 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Vernon Monro Colquhoun Napier, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field."

Digitized by Google

RAMSDEN, JOSSLYN VERE, Major, was born 1 Dec. 1876, son of John C. F. Ramsden, grandson of Sir J. Ramsden, 4th Bart. He was educated at Eton, and New College, Oxford (M.A.), and entered the Royal Artillery 5 May, 1900, becoming Lieutenant 20 Aug. 1901; Captain 13 July, 1910. He was Adjutant, 1910–11; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914; retired from the Staff 18 April, 1919. He was A.D.C. to Divisional Commander, India, 1908–9. For his services in the European War 1914–18, he was twice mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; created a C.M.G. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Josslyn Vere Ramsden, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." In 1909 he married Olive Clotilde Boulnier, only daughter of F. W. Imbert Terry, of Aston, Herts, and they have one son.

Josslyn Vere Ramsden.

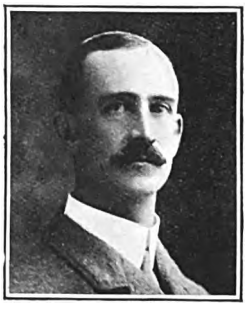
RIDDELL, EDWARD VANSITTART DICK, Major, was born 30 March, 1873, son of the late Colonel Robert Vansittart Riddell, R.E., and Louisa Flora, his wife, daughter of General Dick, and great grandson of the 2nd Baronet of Riddell. He was educated at Cheltenham College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. He joined the Royal Garrison Artillery, May, 1893; was promoted Captain, March, 1900. He served in the South African War from Jan. 1900, to July, 1902, being on the Staff from Sept. 1900, to the end of the war. He was awarded the Queen's Medal with two clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was given the rank of Brevet Major. He was appointed Adjutant in the Militia, 1903 to 1906; passed the Staff College in 1909, and was D.A.A.G. in Jersey from 1911 to 1914. He was promoted Substantive Major, April, 1914; was G.S.O., 2nd Grade, Aug. to Oct. 1914. He served in the European War; went to France in command of the 26th Heavy Battery, R.G.A., 1st Division, in Nov. 1914; was D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 25th Division, March to May, 1915, and was A.A. and Q.M.G., 18th Division, from 1915 to Nov. 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 1 June, 1915], and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Edward Vansittart Dick Riddell, Major, 26th Heavy Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was mentioned in Despatches, June, 1916, and promoted Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel. He took part in the Battle of the Somme 1 July, 1916, and subsequently was present at the Battle of Thiépval, Sept. 1916, and the attack on Serre, commanding the 111th Heavy Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery, from Nov. to Dec. 1916. In Dec. 1916, Lieut.-Colonel Riddell was appointed Chief Instructor in Tactics and Military History, and Second-in-Command of the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. He was A.A. and Q.M.G., 24th Division, Dec. 1917, to April, 1918, and took part in the battle of 21 March, and retreat during the following days. In April, 1918, he was appointed D.A. and Q.M.G., 8th Corps, with the temporary rank of Brigadier-General, which he held till the corps was disbanded in June, 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches in June, 1918, and Jan. 1919. In Aug. 1918, he was appointed to command the base in Italy, with the temporary rank of Colonel, and remained there till Jan. 1920. He was mentioned in Despatches in June, 1919, and in Jan. 1920, was created a Commander of the Order of the British Empire. He was promoted Substantive Lieutenant-Colonel in April, 1918. In April, 1920, he was appointed A.A. and Q.M.G. in the Eastern Command in England. In Feb. 1902, Major Riddell married, at Wynberg, near Cape Town, Edith Mary, daughter of Major-General E. P. Bingham Turner, R.A. (she died in July, 1914), and they had one son, E. A. B. Riddell, born in Feb. 1903.

STEEL, EDWARD ANTHONY, Major, was born at Ajmere, India, 12 Dec. 1880, son of Colonel J. P. Steel, late of the Royal Engineers, of 31 Nevern Square, London, S.W. He was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 6 Jan. 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901, and served with the Royal Horse Artillery from 1901 to 1904 in India. He took part in operations in Nigeria with the West African Frontier Force, 1904–5; was mentioned in Despatches twice, and received the African General Service Medal with clasp. He took part in the second expedition, 1905–6, again being mentioned in Despatches, and received a second clasp to his Medal. He was promoted Captain 4 April, 1908. In 1909 Capt. Steel passed the Ordnance College, and in the following year passed the London School of Economics. From 6 Jan. 1912, to 4 Aug. 1914, he was employed as Chief British Commissioner on the Rhodesian-Congo (Anglo-Belgian) Boundary Commission. He became Major 30 Oct. 1914, and was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Artillery, 9 Dec. 1918, to 10 Jan. 1919. He served in the European War, and was wounded in May, 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Edward Anthony Steel, Major, Royal Field Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Major Steel was again severely wounded in Sept. 1916, temporarily losing the use of his right arm. He was again mentioned in Despatches. He served in Mesopotamia in 1918, and in Siberia in 1919.

TURNER, ARTHUR JERVOIS, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), was born 10 June, 1878. He was educated for the military profession, ultimately passing the Staff College, and he entered the Royal Artillery 23 Dec. 1897, becoming Lieutenant 23 Dec. 1900. He served in South Africa from 1899 to 1900, and again in 1902. He was present at operations in Natal, 1899; at the Relief of Ladysmith, including actions at Spion Kop and Vaal Kranz; during operations on Tugela Heights and action at Pieter's Hill; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, May to July, 1900; in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, including action at Ruidam; again in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, April to 31 May, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Brevet of Major 31 Jan. 1905; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with clasp; was severely wounded). He served with the West African Frontier Force from 1903 to 1904 (Medal with clasp). He was promoted Captain 30 Jan. 1905; was employed at the War Office from 1911 to 1913; became Substantive Major 30 Oct. 1914. From 22 Aug. 1913, to 22 Dec. 1915, he was Staff Officer to the Inspector-General, East African Rifles; from 23 Feb. to 5 May, 1916, G.S.O.2, 24th Division, British Expeditionary Force; from 6 May to 5 Nov. 1916, G.S.O.1, 2nd Army, British Armies in France; from 6 Nov. 1916, to 19 Feb. 1918, G.S.O.1, 47th Division, British Armies in France; from 20 Feb. to 21 April, 1918, G.S.O.1, American Staff School, British Armies in France. From 22 April, 1918, he commanded the 105th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Jervois Turner, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was mentioned in General Dobell's Despatches 31 May, 1918, and was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and of Colonel 3 June, 1919. He married, in 1912, Maude (who died in 1913), only child of the late Michael Walton.

TWEEDIE, DAVID KELTIE, Major, was born 29 Nov. 1878. He was gazetted to the Royal Artillery 18 July, 1900; became Lieutenant 16 May, 1905; was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 25 May, 1908, to 31 Aug. 1911; was promoted to Captain 28 June, 1911; to Major 14 Nov. 1914, and was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Artillery, from 16 Dec. 1918. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "David Keltie Tweedie, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field."

WARD, HARRY, Major, was born 14 March, 1876. He entered the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 21 March, 1896; was promoted Lieutenant 21 March, 1899, and Captain 4 Dec. 1901; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, from 28 Feb. 1905, to 14 July, 1907, and became Major 26 July, 1912. Major Ward served in the European War, as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A., 22 Oct. 1915, to 10 Sept. 1916, and became Lieutenant-Colonel 11 Sept. 1916. He was mentioned twice in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Harry Ward, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and was made a Knight of the Legion of Honour.



Harry Ward.

WILKINSON, ARTHUR CLEMENT, Major, was born 20 Nov. 1870. He was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 25 July, 1890; became Lieutenant 25 July, 1893; Captain 9 Oct. 1899; Major 7 May, 1911, and Lieutenant-Colonel 1 May, 1917. He served at Bermuda, Halifax, and with Mounted Artillery in India (Medal and clasp, 1897–98). In the European War he commanded the 35th Heavy Battery, R.G.A., B.E.F., from Aug. 1914. He served in France, 1914–18; received the Mons Star; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Clement Wilkinson, Major, Royal Garrison Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel A. C. Wilkinson married, in 1909, Florence Camilla, daughter of Arthur Ellershaw, and they have two sons.

Arthur C. Wilkinson.

WILMER, ERIC RANDAL GORDON, Major, was born at Mussoori, India, 24 May, 1882, son of Colonel John Randal Wilmer, late Indian Staff Corps, Survey of India and late R.A., and Helen Florence Wilmer (née Gordon). He was educated at Stanley House, Bridge-of-Allan; St. Paul's School, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. He joined the Royal Field Artillery 18 Aug. 1900. From Sept. 1900, to Sept. 1902, he served in the 137th Battery, Royal Field Artillery (Home); was posted in Oct. 1902, to the 33rd Battery in India; accompanied the battery home in Dec. 1906, and remained with it until March, 1909, when he took up the appointment of Adjutant, 4th Home Counties Brigade (Royal Field Artillery, Territorial Force), which position he held from March, 1909, to Jan. 1913. He was promoted Captain 11 Nov. 1911. In Feb. 1913, Capt. Wilmer returned to India, as Adjutant to the 9th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery, where he remained until the outbreak of the European War. He arrived in France 26 Sept. 1914, and took part in operations with the Meerut Division at Festubert, Neuve Chapelle, Richebourg, north of Loos and La Bassée. He was promoted Major 5 Jan. 1915, and was posted to the command of the 28th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. He was mentioned in Despatches in May, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order. [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Eric Randal Gordon Wilmer, Major, Royal Field Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Major Wilmer was sent with his battery to Mesopotamia, and commanded it until the 15th March, 1916, when he was appointed Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, to the M.G.R.A., General Headquarters of the Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force. He was slightly wounded 7 Jan. 1916; mentioned in Despatches by Sir Percy Lake in Dec. 1916, and by Sir Stanley Maude 16 Aug. 1917, and in 1918. He received the Order of the Légion d'Honneur (Chevalier), and the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917. Lieut.-Colonel Wilmer has always been fond of open-air sports. At St. Paul's School he was in the Rowing Eight and First Fifteen (Rugby); at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, which he entered in Sept. 1899, he again was in the First Fifteen. He married, 16 July, 1910, at Ticehurst, Marjory Louisa, daughter of the late Major-General Richard Worsley, late Indian Staff Corps, and Mrs. Edith M. Worsley (née Staniland), and they have two sons and one daughter: David, born 6 Oct. 1913; Frederick Clive, born 6 Aug. 1916, and Thea, born 9 Dec. 1919.

Digitized by Google

WYNTER, HENRY WALTER, Major, was born 14 April, 1882. He entered the Royal Artillery, as Second Lieutenant, 18 Aug. 1900; was promoted Lieutenant 18 Aug. 1903; Captain 22 Jan. 1912, and Major 26 Jan. 1915. He served in the European War, as Brigade Major, R.A., 7th Division, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 26 Aug. 1915, to 7 June, 1916; D.A.A.G., 10th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 8 June, 1916, to 27 Aug. 1917; G.S.O.2, 10th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 28 Aug. 1917, to 1 April, 1918; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, from 2 April, 1918. He was twice mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Walter Wynter, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field."

YOUNG, HUGH GREVILLE, Major, was born 4 Nov. 1882, son of the late Rev. Henry S. Young. He entered the Royal Artillery 18 Aug. 1900; became Lieutenant 18 Aug. 1903; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, from 21 Feb. 1907, to 19 Feb. 1910, and 9 Sept. 1911, to 22 July, 1915; became Captain 1 Nov. 1911, and Major 7 Jan. 1915. Major Young served in the European War, as Brigade Major, R.A., 1st Division, B.E.F., 23 July to 28 Oct. 1915; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 10 March to 27 July, 1918. He was twice wounded; twice mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Major, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hugh Greville Young, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." Major Young married, in 1919, Constance, daughter of the late Brigadier-General N. D. Findlay, C.B., R.A., of Alphington, Frimley.

BURKE, HUBERT FRANCIS, Capt., was born 8 Oct. 1880, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel W. St. G. Burke, R.E. He entered the Royal Artillery 6 Jan. 1900, becoming Lieutenant 3 April, 1901. He served in Aden from 1903 to 1904; was promoted to Captain 2 Jan. 1911; to Major 5 Aug. 1915; was Staff Captain, War Office, 1 Oct. 1917, to 31 March, 1919; Deputy Assistant Director, War Office, 1 April, 1919. He served in the European War from 1914, and was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hubert Francis Burke, Capt., Royal Garrison Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and the Legion of Honour. Major Burke married, in 1916, Jane, only child of C. A. Denton, and they have one son.

ADDISON, GEORGE HENRY, Major, was born 13 May, 1876, son of Lieut.-Colonel G. W. Addison, late R.E. He was educated at Wellington, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. He entered the Army 1 Oct. 1895; became Lieutenant 1 Oct. 1898, and served in South Africa, 1899–1902; was present at the Relief of Kimberley; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including action at Zand River; was in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900; again in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900; a third time in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Sept. 1901, and Nov. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; took part in the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901, including the defence of Forts Itala and Prospect (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 1 Oct. 1904; was Instructor, R.M.A., 3 Aug. to 1 Sept. 1904; Officer, Company of Gentleman Cadets, R.M.A., 1 Jan. to 2 Aug. 1909. He served in the European War from 1914; was Adjutant, Royal Engineers, from 3 Nov. 1914, and was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "George Henry Addison, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and received the 3rd Class Order of Anne of Russia with Swords (Sept. 1916). He was Assistant to Engineer-in-Chief 20 July to 14 Nov. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel G. H. Addison married, in 1905, Margaret, daughter of R. Henderson, and they have one son and one daughter.

BETTY, PAGET KEMMIS, Major, was born 12 May, 1876, son of the late Colonel Joshua F. Kemmis Betty. He entered the Royal Engineers 24 Sept. 1895; became Lieutenant 24 Sept. 1898. He served in the South African War, 1900–2; was present at the Relief of Kimberley; served during operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg; actions at Poplar Grove and Dreifontein; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900; again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 24 Sept. 1904; was Adjutant, Volunteers, 28 Sept. 1905, to 31 March, 1908; Adjutant, Territorial Forces, 1 April, 1908. He served in the European War from 1914; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from 24 June, 1916. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Paget Kemmis Betty, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. in 1919. From 1919 he was Staff Officer, R.E., Western Command. Lieut.-Colonel Betty married, in 1910, Frances Enid Gwennllian, daughter of Judge John Bishop, of Dolygarreg.

BLANDY, LYSTER FETTIPLACE, Major, was born 21 Sept. 1874, son of the late Adam F. Blandy, of The Warren, Abingdon. He was educated at Haileybury and Woolwich; entered the Royal Engineers 26 March, 1895; became Lieutenant 26 March, 1898, and Captain 1 April, 1904. Capt. Blandy was employed with the Canadian Forces in 1906; was Inspector, Royal Engineers' Stores, 1911–13, and was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War, 1814–19, as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, R.E., from 6 Feb. 1916, to 8 July, 1917; as Chief Experimental Officer, Signals Experimental Establishment, 10 July, 1917, to 17 April, 1918. He was employed under the Air Ministry from 18 April, 1918. He received the Belgian Medal (St. Leopold), and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Lyster Fettiplace Blandy, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917. He married, in 1905, Violet Mary, daughter of Charles Vernon, of British Columbia.

BOILEAU, GUY HAMILTON, Major, was born 27 Sept. 1870, at Camberley, Surrey, son of the late Major C. H. Boileau, 61st Foot, Gloucestershire Regt. He was educated at Christ's Hospital, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; entered the Royal Engineers 14 Feb. 1890, and served in West Africa in 1891, taking part in the Tamba Ra Expedition. He was mentioned in Despatches, and thanked by the Commander-in-Chief. In 1892 he accompanied the Gambia Expedition, assisting in the capture of Toniataba, being again mentioned in Despatches. He was promoted to Lieutenant 14 Feb. 1893. He was ordered to India and appointed Field Engineer to the Chitral Expeditionary Force, 1895. In 1900 he was sent to China in command of a Field Company of Sappers and Miners, and was present at the action at Tientsin on the 16th Aug. (clasp, "Relief of Pekin"). He was mentioned in Despatches, and received the thanks of the Government of India for his valuable services. He became Captain 14 Feb. 1901. In 1902 he was presented with the Coronation Medal and Delhi Durbar Medal, also receiving a second medal in the Delhi Durbar held in 1911. He was promoted to Major 14 Feb. 1910. Major Boileau served in the European War, as Major, Field Engineers, Lahore Division, from Sept. 1914, to Sept. 1915; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Engineers, 17 Sept. 1915, to 15 Nov. 1917. He was present at the Battle of Givenchy in Dec. 1914; Neuve Chapelle, 1915, and the Second Battle of Ypres in April, 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches five times, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Guy Hamilton Boileau, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and a C.B. in 1919 and was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and holds the Order of Danilo, 3rd Class. On 1 April, 1918, he was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel. Lieut.-Colonel Boileau married, 17 Feb. 1909, at Umballa, India, Violet Mary Irene, daughter of Colonel W. J. Smyth Ferguson, late King's Dragoon Guards, and they have two daughters: Diana, born 31 Jan. 1910, and Susanna, born 9 Jan. 1915.

Guy Hamilton Boileau.

BROUGH, ALAN, Major, was born 20 March, 1876. He entered the Army 15 March, 1895; became Lieutenant 15 March, 1898; Captain 1 April, 1904, and Major 30 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914, as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Engineers, 1 Nov. 1915, to 9 July, 1917; as Deputy Director-General of Transportation, British Armies in France, and Temporary Brigadier-General 10 July, 1917, to 26 May, 1918; Deputy Director-General of Transportation, British Armies in France, 27 May to 25 Sept. 1918; Deputy Director-General of Transportation, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, from 26 Sept. 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Alan Brough, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was also given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and was created a C.M.G. in 1918.

Digitized by Google

EARLE, ROBERT GILMOUR, Major, was born 1 July, 1874. He entered the Army 21 Oct. 1894, becoming Lieutenant 24 Oct. 1897. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1902; was present at the advance on Kimberley, including action at Magersfontein; in the Orange Free State, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May); in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); again during the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, including action at Reit Vlei (Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted Captain 1 April, 1904. He served in the European War; was promoted Major 24 Oct. 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Robert Gilmour Earle, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was Deputy Director of Army Signals, 4th Army, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 6 Feb. 1916, to 15 May, 1918; Chief Signalling Officer, British Armies in France, from 16 May, 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919.

SANKEY, CROFTON EDWARD PYM, Major, was born 17 May, 1877, son of Capt. M. H. P. R. Sankey, C.B., Director and Consulting Engineer to Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Co. Ltd., and other companies, and E. M. Sankey, daughter of General E. L. Pym, R.M.L.I. He was educated at Wellington College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Royal Engineers 26 Dec. 1896, becoming Lieutenant 26 Dec. 1899. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1900, and was present at the Relief of Kimberley; was present during operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg; actions at Poplar Grove and Dreifontein; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1900 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He was promoted Captain 26 Dec. 1905, and was employed as First Assistant Instructor, School of Military Engineering, from 1908 to 1912, becoming Instructor in 1914. He served in the European War; became Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 14 Jan. 1916, to 2 June, 1917, and Assistant to Engineer-in-Chief, B.E.F.; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel 21 Feb. 1918. He was mentioned in Despatches; given a Brevet Lieutenant-Colonelcy 3 June, 1917; was awarded the Croix de Guerre avec Palme, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Crofton Edward Pym Sankey, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field."

Crofton E. P. Sankey.

SYMONS, CHARLES BERTIE OWEN, Major, was born 29 Nov. 1874, eldest son of the late Colonel C. E. H. Symons, of Colombo. He was educated at Trent College, Derbyshire, and entered the Royal Engineers 16 Oct. 1894; was promoted to Lieutenant 16 Oct. 1897, and to Captain 1 April, 1904, having been Professor of the Royal Military College, Canada, 1899–1904. He was on Survey Duty, Gold Coast, 1905–7. Capt. Symons served in the European War; was promoted to Major 16 Oct. 1914; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.E., from 19 March, 1917. He was wounded; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles Bertie Owen Symons, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and was created a C.M.G. in 1919. Lieut.-Colonel C. B. O. Symons married, in 1918, Sylvia, second daughter of the late Charles Lenox-Simpson, Senior Commissioner in China.

DOHERTY-HOLWELL, R. V., Capt., was gazetted to the Royal Engineers 4 Feb. 1901, becoming Lieutenant 4 Feb. 1904. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "R. V. Doherty-Holwell, Capt., Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel R. V. Doherty-Holwell was killed in action 9 Jan. 1917.

GANDY, HENRY GEORGE, Capt., was born 27 Nov. 1879, at Barndale House, Alnwick, Northumberland, son of Capt. Charles Gandy (deceased), 1st King's Dragoon Guards, and Mrs. Dorothy Jane Gandy. He was educated at Seabank School, Alnmouth, and Sedbergh School, Yorks, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Royal Engineers 14 March, 1899; became Lieutenant 25 July, 1901; served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the several operations in the Transvaal, Orange River Colony and Cape Colony, Dec. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He served in East Africa, 1903–4; was present during operations in Somaliland; in the action at Jidballi (Medal with two clasps). He was Adjutant, Volunteers, 8 June, 1906, to 31 March, 1908; Adjutant, T.F., 1 April, 1908, to 13 Jan. 1909; was promoted to Captain 14 March, 1908; was employed with the Egyptian Army 21 Jan. 1909, to 21 Oct. 1912. He served in the European War from its outbreak until 1915, when he was invalided; and he was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. 1914, and June, 1915, and for work with the 2nd Corps, R.E., from Aug. 1914, to April, 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry George Gandy, Capt., Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was promoted to Major 12 Aug. 1915, and was Brigade Major and Secretary, School of Military Engineering, 1 Jan. 1916, to 9 Oct. 1918. Major Gandy was awarded the O.B.E. in June, 1918.

Henry George Gandy.

HAMILTON, GILBERT CLAUD, Major, was born 21 April, 1879, only son of the Right Hon. Lord Claud Hamilton, P.C., and Carolina (who died in 1911), daughter of the late Edward Chandos Pole, of Radbourne Hall, Derby, and Lady Anna Chandos Pole. He was gazetted to the Grenadier Guards 7 May, 1898; became Lieutenant 28 Oct. 1899, and was employed with the South African Constabulary 28 Nov. 1900, to 24 Sept. 1901, serving in the South African War, 1899–1902. He took part in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont, Enslin and Modder River; was present during operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); also during the operations in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony, Dec. 1900, to May, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). From 12 April, 1904, to 16 May, 1906, he was employed with the Macedonian Gendarmerie; he was promoted to Captain 23 Jan. 1905; was Adjutant, Grenadier Guards, 1 July to 31 Dec. 1906; A.D.C. to the Governor of New Zealand 9 July, 1910, to 6 Jan. 1911; employed with the New Zealand Military Forces 7 Jan. 1911, to 30 July, 1913; promoted to Major 25 July, 1914. He served in the European War, as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Grenadier Guards, from 14 Aug. to 27 Sept. 1915, and from 8 Feb. 1916, to 28 Aug. 1917; was Instructor, Senior Officers' School, 1 April to 28 Aug. 1917. He was three times mentioned in Despatches; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Gilbert Claud Hamilton, Major, Grenadier Guards. For distinguished service in the field." He married (1st), in 1911, Enid Awa (who died in 1916), daughter of Charles Elgar, of New Zealand; and (2ndly), in 1916, Mary, daughter of J. A. Blair, of New York.

GREGGE-HOPWOOD, EDWARD BYNG GEORGE, Capt., was born 24 Dec. 1880, in Norfolk Street, Park Lane, W., son of Colonel and Mrs. Hopwood, of Hopwood Hall, Middleton, Lancashire. He was educated at Eton, joined the Militia in 1898, and served in the South African War, and was later commissioned in the Coldstream Guards. For his services in the European War he was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Edward Byng George Gregge-Hopwood, Capt., Coldstream Guards. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel E. B. G. G. Hopwood was commanding the 1st Battn. Coldstream Guards when he fell in action, 20 July, 1917. Lieut.-Colonel Hopwood went with the 1st Division to France in Aug. 1914, at the commencement of the war. He was in all the battles the Coldstreams were engaged in, and in the Retreat from Mons. He was dangerously wounded in 1915, and again wounded in 1916. He received the D.S.O. for conspicuous valour and devotion to duty, and was twice mentioned in Despatches. He commanded the 1st Battn. from Oct. 1914, to the date of his death on 20 July, 1917. Lieut.-Colonel Hopwood was a fine all-round sportsman. At Eton he was a good cricketer and football player. He was a straight and hard rider to hounds, hunting in Cheshire and well known with the Meynell and the Melton packs. He was Master of the Windsor Garrison Draghounds. He rode in all the regimental races, and rode and won the Brigade of Guards' Point-to-Point Steeplechase in 1913. He was a fine shot. At polo he was seen at his best, and his Coldstream team had many victories to their credit. His example, courage and cheerfulness throughout the three years of the war were, as testified to by the General of the Division, the Colonel of the Coldstreams and other officers, beyond praise.

GROVES-RAINES, RALPH GORE DEVEREUX, Capt., was born 14 Aug. 1877. He entered the East Kent Regt. 4 May, 1898; became Lieutenant 13 Nov. 1899; Captain 14 Feb. 1903; was Adjutant, T.F., 1 Jan. 1911, to 20 Feb. 1913; served in the European War, 1914–16; was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Officer, Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, 7 Oct. to 12 Dec. 1915; commanded a Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, 13 Dec. 1915, to 25 Sept. 1917; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, London Regt., 16 Nov. to 14 Dec. 1917. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Ralph Gore Devereux Groves-Raines, Capt., East Kent Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

BORRETT, OSWALD CUTHBERT, Major, was born 4 March, 1878, fifth son of the late Major-General H. C. Borrett, C.B. He was educated at Wellington College, and entered the Royal Lancaster Regt. 7 May, 1898, becoming Lieutenant 5 Feb. 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, on the Staff, and took part in the operations in the Transvaal, Aug. to Oct. 1900; also in Orange River Colony, Nov. 1900; again in the Transvaal, March to June, 1901, and Feb. to 31 May, 1902; also again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to March, 1901; July, 1901, and Oct. 1901, to Feb. 1902; was present during operations in Cape Colony, Aug. and Sept. 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted to Captain 22 Jan. 1902; was Adjutant, Royal Lancaster Regt., 11 Aug. 1905, to 10 Aug. 1908, and Adjutant, Indian Volunteers, 1911–14. He served in the European War, 1914–19; became Major, 22 Oct. 1914; commanded the 197th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 13 July, 1917, to 2 April, 1918; the 54th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 11 Oct. 1917, to 18 Nov. 1918; the 55th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, from 19 Nov. 1918. He was appointed A.D.C. to the King 3 June, 1919; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel

Digitized by Google

3 June, 1916, and Colonel 3 June, 1919; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Oswald Cuthbert Borrett, Major, The King's Own Royal Lancaster Regt. For distinguished service in the field." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order. Colonel Borrett married Blanche, daughter of Colonel A. Murray.

MOULTON-BARRETT, EDWARD MAURICE, Major, was born 7 May, 1871. He was gazetted to the Northumberland Fusiliers 18 June, 1892; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1895. He served with the Nile Expedition, 1898, and was present at the Battle of Khartum (Egyptian Medal with clasp; Medal). He was promoted Captain 17 Feb. 1900; was Adjutant, Northumberland Fusiliers 27 June, 1900, to 26 June, 1904; was promoted to Major 23 Nov. 1909; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Northumberland Fusiliers, 19 March to 16 April, 1915; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding a Service Battn. Northumberland Fusiliers, 9 Dec. 1916, to 6 April, 1917; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding a Service Battn. Northumberland Fusiliers, 7 April, 1917, to 2 Jan. 1918; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Northumberland Fusiliers, 3 Jan. to 28 March, 1918; was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, Northumberland Fusiliers, 14 Oct. 1918. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Edward Maurice Moulton-Barrett, Major, The Northumberland Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

HELY-HUTCHINSON, RICHARD GEORGE, Major, was born 3 March, 1871. He was commissioned in the Royal Fusiliers 13 May, 1891, becoming Lieutenant 25 Nov. 1892; Captain 20 July, 1898; was Superintendent of Gymnasia, Dublin District, 18 March, 1899, to 25 Sept. 1902; was promoted to Major 5 May, 1907; was Superintendent of Gymnasia, Mediterranean, 10 Dec. 1907, to 20 Nov. 1908; Superintendent of Gymnasia, Northern Command, 21 Nov. 1908, to 9 Dec. 1911. He served in the European War, 1914–15; as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Fusiliers, 22 Feb. to 16 June, 1915; became Lieutenant-Colonel 29 April, 1916; was Commandant, Reinforcement Camp, 3rd Army Corps, British Armies in France, 5 Nov. 1917, to 22 March, 1918; Administrative Commandant, British Armies in France, 19 Nov. 1918. Lieut.-Colonel Hely-Hutchinson was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Richard George Hely-Hutchinson, Major, The Royal Fusiliers (City of London Regt.). For distinguished service in the field."

BOXER, HUGH EDWARD RICHARD, Lieut.-Colonel, was born at Norbiton, Surrey, 8 Jan, 1871, second and only surviving son of Lieut. Edward William Frederick Boxer, R.N., and Edith Graham (who married, secondly, Colonel Frederick Swaine Le Grice, Royal Artillery), daughter of Coutts Stone. He was a grandson of Major-General Edward Mournier Boxer, R.A., F.R.S., and a great-grandson of Rear-Admiral Sir Edward Boxer, K.C.B. Lieut.-Colonel H. E. R. Boxer's father, Lieut. E. W. F. Boxer, R.N., was one of the officers lost in H.M.S. Captain, when she foundered off Cape Finisterre 7 Sept. 1870, as described in the Victoria Cross Volume of this book, in the biography of Capt. Hugh Talbot Burgoyne, V.C., R.N. Hugh Boxer was educated at the Royal Naval School, Stubbington; at Kelly College, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst (Queen's Cadet); was gazetted to the Lincolnshire Regt. 27 Jan. 1892, and promoted to Lieutenant, 14 Aug. 1893; to Captain 7 April, 1900; to Major 25 March, 1911, and to Lieutenant-Colonel 27 May, 1915. He first saw active service in the Nile Expedition of 1898, when he was present at the Battle of the Atbara, where he was severely wounded, mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 24 May, 1898], and received the Medal, the Egyptian Medal and clasp. He was Adjutant of the Militia Battn. and Special Reserve of his Regt. 1 Sept. 1903, to 31 Aug. 1908; served in Malta, Egypt, India, Gibraltar and Bermuda; came home with his regiment and joined the British Expeditionary Force in France in Nov. 1914; was Second-in-Command of the 1st Battn. in the fighting around Ypres, and was afterwards transferred to the 2nd Battn. He took part in the engagements at Festubert, and then took over the command of the 1st Battn. at Hooge on the 27th of May, and was killed in action there 16 June, 1915, leading the regiment in the advance that day. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 22 June, 1915], by Field-Marshal Sir John (now Lord) French, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hugh Edward Richard Boxer, Lieut.-Colonel, The Lincolnshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Boxer had married, at St. Columba's Church, Pont Street, S.W., on 22 Sept. 1897, Jane, daughter of Myles Patterson, and they had three children: Hugh Myles (Lieutenant, Lincolnshire Regt., who has been awarded the Military Cross), born 10 July, 1898; Charles Ralph, born 8 March, 1904, and Beryl Alice.

Hugh E. R. Boxer.

KINO, ALGERNON RODERICK, Capt., was born 17 June, 1880. He entered the Army 21 Feb. 1900; became Lieutenant 26 May, 1900; Captain 6 July, 1910, and Major 1 Sept. 1919. Capt. Kino served in the European War, 1914–18; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Algernon Roderick Kino, Capt., The East Yorkshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." He retired from the East Yorkshire Regt. 24 July, 1918

CUMBERLEGE, CLELAND BULSTRODE, Capt., was born 5 June, 1875, at Nagpore, India, son of Colonel. A. B. Cumberlege (Indian Army) and of E. F. Broadwood. He was educated at Eastbourne College, and joined the Imperial Yeomanry in Nov. 1899, for service in the South African War, 1900–1902. He served as Trooper in the Imperial Yeomanry, employed with Mounted Infantry; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Elands River (4 to 16 Aug.); in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, including action at Fabers Put; in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to June, 1901; also in Orange River Colony, Sept. 1901, to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was given a commission in the Bedfordshire Regt. 27 July, 1901; became Lieutenant 23 March, 1904; Captain 1 April, 1910; was Adjutant, Militia, 22 Nov. 1911, to 30 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War, and was promoted Major 12 Nov. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 5 Nov. 1916, to 13 July, 1917. He was recommended for good work at the Battle of Neuve Chapelle in March, 1915, when he was severely wounded. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Cleland Bulstrode Cumberlege, Capt., The Bedfordshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." During the years 1895–99, and again in 1903–5, Major Cumberlege was an amateur steeplechase rider in the south of England and at military meetings. Major Cumberlege married, 19 Dec. 1905, at Wimbledon, Leila Macdonald, daughter of the late Simon Martin, Bengal Civil Service, East India Company, and they have a son, Cleland Cumberlege, born 14 Sept. 1906.

Cleland B. Cumberlege.

SMITH, HERBERT STONEY, Major, entered the Army 17 Jan. 1891; became Lieutenant 1 Jan. 1893; Captain 6 Feb. 1900, and Major 4 Sept. 1908. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Herbert Stoney Smith, Major, The Leicestershire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

LEATHAM, BERTRAM HENRY, Capt., was gazetted to the Yorkshire Regt. 11 Aug. 1900; became Lieutenant 26 April, 1902, and Captain 21 July, 1906, and was Adjutant, Yorkshire Regt., from 16 Jan. 1908. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Bertram Henry Leatham, Capt., Alexandra, Princess of Wales's Own (Yorkshire Regt.). For distinguished service in the field."

DICK, DIGHTON HAY ABERCROMBY, Major, was born 26 Jan. 1869, son of Capt. Alfred Abercromby Dick, 11th Bengal Lancers (Probyn's Horse), and Fanny, daughter of Elliot Macnaghten, of Ovingdean, Sussex. He was educated at Wellington and Sandhurst, and entered the Army 11 April, 1888. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98 (Medal; two clasps); in the Tirah Campaign, 1897–98 (clasp); in South Africa, 1899–1900 (severely wounded; Despatches; Queen's Medal with four clasps); was promoted Major 18 May, 1910; retired Royal Scots Fusiliers 9 July, 1910. He served in the European War, 1914–17, as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in 1915; was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, Special Reserve, in 1917; was twice mentioned in Despatches; made Officier de l'Ordre de Léopold, Belgium, 1917; given the Belgian Croix de Guerre, 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Dighton Hay Abercromby Dick, Major, The Royal Scots Fusiliers (Special Reserve). For distinguished service in the field." He married, in 1902, Lilian, daughter of Francis Ricardo, J.P., D.L., of The Friary, Old Windsor, and they have one son and one daughter.

OWEN, CHARLES SAMUEL, Capt., was born 23 Jan. 1879, son of the late G. H. Owen, of Ymwich, Carnarvonshire. He entered the Royal Welsh Fusiliers 11 Feb. 1899; became Lieutenant 6 Oct. 1900; Captain 17 Nov. 1906; was Adjutant, R.W.F., 19 Oct. 1913, to 16 Dec. 1915; Major 1 Sept. 1915; Temporary Brigadier-General, commanding 36th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 28 Nov. 1916. He served in China in 1900, and was present at the Relief of Tientsin; at the Relief of Pekin; also in the actions of Pietsang and Yangtsun (Medal with clasp). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was twice mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; created a C.M.G., 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles Samuel Owen, Capt., The Royal Welsh Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." He was given temporary command of 6th Battn. Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regt. He married, in 1918, Viola Eva, daughter of the late Capt. George Carson Fenwick, Royal Welsh Fusiliers, of Plas Ffron, Wrexham.

STEWART, PATRICK ALEXANDER VANSITTART, Major, was born 29 June, 1875, second son of Lieut.-General John Mackie Stewart, J.P., of Carruchan, Dumfries, and Florence, daughter of the late Henry Vansittart. He was gazetted to the King's Own Scottish Borderers 18 July, 1896; became Lieutenant 31 Dec. 1897; Captain 24 June, 1901; was Adjutant, K.O.S.B., 31 March, 1908, to 22 Jan. 1911; was promoted to Major in Dec. 1914; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 25 Feb. to 31 Dec. 1916. He was Commander, Company of Gentlemen Cadets (G.S.O., Royal Military College), 1 Sept. 1913, to 16 Nov. 1914; Brigade Major, 80th Infantry Brigade, New Armies, B.E.F., 17 Nov. 1914, to 14 July, 1915; G.S.O., 2nd Grade, 4th Army Corps, British Expeditionary Force,

Digitized by Google

15 July, 1915, to 24 Feb. 1916; G.S.O.1, British Expeditionary Force, British Armies in France, 25 Feb. 1916, to Dec. 1917; G.S.O.1 (Liaison Officer, Ireland), 20 May to 5 Nov. 1918; G.S.O.1, Irish Command, 6 Nov. 1918. He took part in the operations on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98, with the Tirah Expeditionary Force (Medal with two clasps); served in the South African War, 1900–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal (Queen's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–17; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; received the Belgian Croix de Guerre; was created a C.B.E. in 1919, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Patrick Alexander Vansittart Stewart, Major, King's Own Scottish Borderers. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel P. A. V. Stewart married, in 1911, Mildred Annie Ferrers Young, daughter of the late T. Ferrers Guy, and widow of Capt. J. F. H. Young, R.A., and they have one son.

CHAPLIN, JAMES GRAHAM, Major, was born 1 July, 1873. He was gazetted to the Scottish Rifles 12 Dec. 1894; became Lieutenant 24 June, 1896; was Adjutant, Scottish Rifles, 29 Oct. 1898, to 28 Oct. 1902; was promoted to Major 24 Oct. 1913, and to Lieutenant-Colonel 2 June, 1919; was Temporary Brigadier-General from 20 Nov. 1917; was Adjutant, Special Reserve, 21 April, 1909, to 20 April, 1912; Brigade Commander, 103rd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 20 Nov. 1917, to 31 Aug. 1918; Brigade Commander, 2nd Cyclist Brigade, Home Forces, from 10 Oct. 1918. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "James Graham Chaplin, Major, The Cameronians (Scottish Rifles). For distinguished service in the field." He married, in 1914, Lily Dora, daughter of the late Thomas Alexander, of Brentham Park, Stirling, and they have two sons and one daughter.

FERRERS, EDMUND BROMFIELD, Capt., was born 3 March, 1878. He was educated at Bath College, and at Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and entered the Scottish Rifles 18 Oct. 1899, becoming Lieutenant 1 Aug. 1900; Captain 14 April, 1909; Major 1 Sept. 1915. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 26 March, 1917, to 20 Feb. 1919. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz (severely wounded); afterwards attached to Army Service Corps from 22 July, 1901; took part in the operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with two clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). From 1914 to 1916 he served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Edmund Bromfield Ferrers, Capt., The Cameronians (Scottish Rifles). For distinguished service in the field."

SCOTT, CHARLES BALIOL, Capt., son of Benjamin John Scott, of St. Katherine's, Weybridge. He was educated at Charterhouse, and in France, and served in the South African War, 1900-2, taking part in the operations in the Orange Free State, May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). Capt. Scott served in the European War, 1914–17; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles Baliol Scott, Capt., The Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field."

TERRY, ROBERT JOSEPH ATKINSON, Major, entered the Army 13 July, 1892; became Lieutenant 28 Oct. 1896; Captain 18 Jan. 1908; was Commandant, Corps of Military Police, and Provost-Marshal from 8 Nov. 1910. He first saw active service in the operations on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–8, with the Malakand Field, Mohmand Field, and Tirah Expeditionary Forces (Medal with two clasps). Served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the several operations in the Transvaal, Orange River Colony and Cape Colony; Special Service Officer (for Mounted Infantry); afterwards employed as Adjutant, Driscoll's Scouts, from 17 April, 1901 (twice wounded, severely and slightly; Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; Brevet of Major, 22 Aug. 1902; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps.) He was created an M.V.O. Major Terry served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Robert Joseph Atkinson Terry, M.V.O., Major, The Royal Sussex Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

BECKETT, JOHN DOUGLAS MORTIMER, Capt., entered the Army 8 Jan. 1901; became Lieutenant 2 Sept. 1903, and Captain 9 May, 1907. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, May, 1901, to 31 May, 1902, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. Capt. Beckett served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Douglas Mortimer Beckett, Capt., The Hampshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

John D. M. Beckett.

SAVAGE-ARMSTRONG, FRANCIS SAVAGE NESBIT, Capt., entered the Army 19 Sept. 1900; became Lieutenant 9 Feb. 1904, and Captain 19 Oct. 1909. He served in the South African War, 1900–2; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Wittebergen; again in Orange River Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). Capt. Savage-Armstrong served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Francis Savage Nesbit Savage-Armstrong, Capt., The South Staffordshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

SUTHERLAND, HENRY HOMES, Major, was born 9 Nov. 1871. He entered the Royal Highlanders 15 March, 1893; was promoted to Lieutenant 7 April, 1897; to Captain 13 Nov. 1900; to Major 2 Dec. 1910, and to Lieutenant-Colonel 2 June, 1919. He was Adjutant, Militia, 16 April, 1901, to 15 April, 1906. He took part in the operations on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897-98, with the Malakand Field Force (Medal with clasp). He served in the European War, 1914–17; was Lieutenant-Colonel, 10th Battn. Gloucestershire Regt. from 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Homes Sutherland, Major, The Black Watch (Royal Highlanders). For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Sutherland is married, and has one daughter.

DILLON, HENRY MOUNTIFORD, Capt., entered the Army 18 April, 1900; became Lieutenant 3 Oct. 1904, and Captain 19 Nov. 1910. He served in the South African War in 1900; also served in the Mediterranean (Medal). In 1906 he served in West Africa, in Northern Nigeria (Medal with clasp). Capt. Dillon served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Mountiford Dillon, Capt., Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field."

JONES, LUMLEY OWEN WILLIAMS, Capt., entered the Army 1 Dec. 1897; became Lieutenant 20 Jan. 1900, and Capt. 26 Sept. 1905. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, Dec. 1901; also in Orange River Colony, Dec. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). Served in West Africa (Southern Nigeria), 1905–6, during operations in the Kwale-Ishan District; served in West Africa (Southern Nigeria), 1906 (Medal with clasp). Capt. Jones served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Lumley Owen Williams Jones, Capt., The Essex Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

MORTIMORE, CHARLES REYNOLDS, Major, was born 27 June, 1872. He was gazetted to the Derbyshire Regt. 19 Nov. 1892; became Lieutenant 13 July, 1894; was Adjutant, Notts and Derby Regt., 2 Jan. 1900, to 1 Jan. 1904; was promoted to Captain 15 Feb. 1900, and to Major 11 Feb. 1912. From 6 March, 1906, to 5 March, 1911, he was Adjutant, Militia, and Adjutant, Special Reserve. He served at Tirah, 1897–8, in the action of Dargai; at the capture of the Sampagha and Arhanga Passes, and during the operations in the Bazar Valley, 25 to 30 Dec. 1897 (Medal with two clasps). Major Mortimore served in the European War, 1914–15; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Notts and Derby Regt., 21 Feb. to 11 March, 1915; was severely wounded, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Charles Reynolds Mortimore, Major, The Sherwood Foresters (Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire Regt.). For distinguished service in the field."

THORNTON, WILLIAM BROOKE, Major, was born 30 Oct. 1875. He entered the Royal Berkshire Regt. 25 March, 1896; became Lieutenant 1 May, 1899; Captain 8 May, 1904; Major 10 May, 1915; was Temporary Colonel 14 March to 2 April, 1918; was Adjutant, Militia, 15 Feb. 1905, to 14 Feb. 1908; employed with the Egyptian Army 19 June to 14 Nov. 1915; Brigade Commander, 1st Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 3 April to 21 Sept. 1918; Brigade Commander, Irish Reserve Brigade, Home Forces, 22 Sept. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, employed with Mounted Infantry; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, March to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to Nov. 1900, including action at Rhenoster River; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; again during operations in Orange River Colony, Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901, and 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Brooke Thornton, Major, Royal Berkshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

HARRIS, ARTHUR ELLIS FOWKE, Capt., was born 17 May, 1878. He entered the Royal Berkshire Regt. 4 May, 1898; became Lieutenant 13 July, 1900; Captain 27 Jan. 1909, and Major 1 Sept. 1915. He was Brigade Major, 10th Reserve Infantry Brigade, New Armies, 13 Jan. to 21 March, 1916; Brigade Major, 184th Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 22 March to 19 April, 1916. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, April and May, 1900; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July and Aug. 1900, including action at Zilikat's Nek; in Orange River Colony, May to July, 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; again in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to July, 1901; and again during the operations in Cape Colony, July, 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Ellis Fowke Harris, Capt., Royal Berkshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

BROOKE, CHRISTOPHER ROBERT INGHAM, Major, was born 4 July, 1869. He entered the Yorkshire Light Infantry 28 June, 1890; was promoted to Lieutenant 17 June, 1892; to Captain 26 March, 1899; commanded a Mounted Infantry Battn. in South Africa, 8 Jan. 1907, to 7 Jan.

Digitized by Google

1911; became Major 14 June, 1908; was in command of the 6th Battn. Yorkshire Light Infantry, 12 Aug. to 30 Nov. 1914; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Yorkshire Light Infantry, 1 Dec. 1914, to 8 May, 1915, and 26 Aug. 1915, to 13 June, 1916; Lieutenant-Colonel 14 June, 1916; in command, Grad. Battn. 14 Nov. 1917, to 19 Sept. 1918; commanding the 82nd Infantry Brigade, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 1 April to 29 Nov. 1916. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, in command of the 2nd Battn. Mounted Infantry, 5 March, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; was present at the Relief of Kimberley; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.), actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May), and Zand River; was present during operations in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; again in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, Oct. to 29 Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900 (including actions at Colesberg (1 to 29 Jan.); again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to July, 1901, Oct. 1901, to Jan. 1902, and March to 31 May, 1902; also in Orange River Colony, Feb. and March, 1901, and July to Sept. 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 20 Aug. and 10 Sept. 1901]; Brevet of Major; Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was created a C.M.G. and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Christopher Robert Ingham Brooke, Major, Yorkshire Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field."

STRICK, JOHN ARKWRIGHT, Major, was born 11 May, 1870, son of the late Colonel J. Strick, C.B., of Bar Hill, Madeley. He was gazetted to the Shropshire Light Infantry 1 March, 1890; became Lieutenant 1 Jan. 1892; was Adjutant, Shropshire Light Infantry, 23 July, 1895, to 4 March, 1899; was promoted to Captain 4 Dec. 1899; to Major 17 Nov. 1908; to Lieutenant-Colonel 19 Aug. 1917, and to Colonel 2 June, 1919. He was Adjutant, Indian Volunteers, 5 March, 1899, to 21 Oct. 1902; Adjutant, Militia, 23 April, 1903, to 22 April, 1906; Staff Captain, No. 4 District, Western Command, 1 April, 1908, to 24 Oct. 1909; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Welsh Division, Western Command, 25 Oct. 1909, to 31 March, 1912; A.A. and Q.M.G., B.E.F., British Armies in France, 6 Aug. 1915, to 1 May, 1917; Commandant, Lines of Communication, British Armies in France, British Forces in Italy, 2 May, 1917, to 3 July, 1918; Inspector-General of Communications, British Forces in Italy, 4 July, 1918; Temporary Major-General. He took part in the operations on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98, with the Tirah Expeditionary Force, from 29 Dec. to the end of the Campaign (Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and Colonel 3 June, 1918; was made a Chevalier, Légion d'Honneur; created a C.B. in 1919, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Arkwright Strick, Major, Shropshire Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field." In 1914 he married Iris Gwendolen, daughter of the late George Cammell, of Brookfield Manor, Hathersage, and they have one son.

ATCHISON, C. E., Major, joined the Shropshire Light Infantry, and served in the South African War, 1899–1902 (slightly wounded). He took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); present during the operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; served in the Transvaal, Sept. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He became Captain 11 Feb. 1902; was promoted to Major; served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "C. E. Atchison, Major, Shropshire Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field." He was killed in action 24 Aug. 1917.

BIRCHAM, HUMPHREY FRANCIS WILLIAM, Major, entered the Army 12 Feb. 1896; became Lieutenant 14 Sept. 1898; Captain 25 Oct. 1901, and Major 14 Feb. 1914. Major Bircham served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Humphrey Francis William Bircham, Major, King's Royal Rifle Corps. For distinguished service in the field." He died of wounds 23 July, 1916.

PARKER-JERVIS, WILLIAM SWYNFEN WHITEHALL, Capt., was born 27 Aug. 1879, eldest son of the late W. R. Parker-Jervis and Ethel Mary, daughter of the Rev. C. H. Mainwaring, Rector of Whitmore, Staffs. He was gazetted to the King's Royal Rifle Corps 25 Oct. 1899; became Lieutenant 1 Jan. 1901; Captain 10 Feb. 1907; Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding Special Reserve Battn. King's Royal Rifle Corps, 28 June, 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; during the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900), and action at Pieter's Hill; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.); again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to April, 1901; also during operations in Cape Colony, May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–16; was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Swynfen Whitehall Parker-Jervis, Capt., King's Royal Rifle Corps. For distinguished service in the field." Major Parker-Jervis was also given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919.

WILLAN, FRANK GODFREY, Capt., was born 16 Sept. 1878, son of Colonel Frank Willan (late Colonel, 3rd Oxfordshire Light Infantry) and Louisa Marguerite Anne, daughter of the late Capt. Charles Robert George Douglas, late of the 32nd Bengal Light Infantry. He was gazetted to the King's Royal Rifle Corps 20 May, 1899; became Lieutenant 28 March, 1900; Captain 2 Feb. 1906; Major 1 Sept. 1915; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding the 5th Battn. Royal Berkshire Regt., 11 Feb. 1916, to 20 July, 1917; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, King's Royal Rifle Corps, 21 July to 5 Sept. 1917. He was Brigade Major, 54th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 9 Sept. to Oct. 1915; Brigade Major, 36th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 5 Nov. 1915, to 9 Feb. 1916; commanded the 56th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 6 Sept. 1917, to 18 April, 1918; commanded 122nd Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 19 April to 11 May, 1918; commanded 6th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 12 May, 1918. Capt. Willan served in the South African War, 1899–1900; was present at the Defence of Ladysmith, including action of 6 Jan. 1900; took part in the operations in Natal (March to June, 1900), including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June) (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was four times mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; created a C.M.G., and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Frank Godfrey Willan, Capt., King's Royal Rifle Corps. For distinguished service in the field."

MAKIN, ERNEST LLEWELLYN, Capt., was born 9 Aug. 1877. He entered the Manchester Regt. 17 Feb. 1900; became Lieutenant 15 Aug. 1900; Captain 17 Feb. 1894; was transferred to the Wiltshire Regt. 29 Dec. 1906; was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 29 Oct. 1917, to 19 April, 1918. He was G.S.O.3, 33rd Division, New Armies, B.E.F., 22 July, 1915, to 2 June, 1916; G.S.O.2, 1st Division, British Armies in France, 3 June to 2 July, 1916; G.S.O.2, 35th Division, British Armies in France, 2 April to 28 Oct. 1917; G.S.O.1, 37th Division, British Armies in France, 29 Oct. 1917, to 3 March, 1918; G.S.O.2, Training Duties in U.S.A., 20 April to 18 Dec. 1918; G.S.O.2, Portsmouth Garrison, 16 April, 1919. For his services in the European War, 1914–16, he was mentioned in Despatches twice, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Ernest Llewellyn Makin, Capt., The Wiltshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

CLEMSON, WILLIAM FLETCHER, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 31 March, 1866. He was gazetted to the York and Lancaster Regt. 16 Nov. 1887; became Lieutenant 12 Feb. 1890; Captain 10 May, 1899; Adjutant, 1900–4; was promoted to Major 3 Oct. 1906; Lieutenant-Colonel 25 April, 1915, and Colonel 25 April, 1919; was Temporary Brigadier-General from 4 Nov. 1916, commanding 124th Infantry Brigade, New Armies, British Armies in France, 29 Sept. 1915, to 20 June, 1918; Inspector of Infantry 10 July, 1918. Colonel Clemson served in the European War, 1914–18; was wounded; given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Fletcher Clemson, Lieut.-Colonel, York and Lancaster Regt. For distinguished service in the field." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

JARRETT, AYLMER VIVIAN, Capt., was born in Calcutta 11 July, 1879, fourth son of Colonel Henry Sullivan Jarrett, of South Lodge, East Grinstead, and Agnes Delacour, daughter of the late Francis Beaufort, Bengal Civil Service. He was educated at Stonyhurst College, and was gazetted to the York and Lancaster Regt. 12 Aug. 1899; promoted to Lieutenant 14 Dec. 1900; to Captain 1 Jan. 1906; was Adjutant, 2nd Battn., 1 Dec. 1904, to 3 Nov. 1907, and from 29 Aug. 1908, to 19 Oct. 1911, was attached to the West African Regt. He served with the Expeditionary Force in France and Flanders; was mentioned in Despatches by Field-Marshal Sir John (now Lord) French [London Gazette, 22 June, 1915], for gallant and distinguished service in the field, and, his name having been sent up four times for special recognition, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Aylmer Vivian Jarrett, Capt., York and Lancaster Regt. For distinguished service in the field." Capt Jarrett died 22 June, 1915, at Vlamertinghe, of wounds received in action the same day near Ypres, and was buried near Vlamertinghe. His elder brother, Major Charles Harry Brownlow Jarrett, 1st Battn. Royal Munster Fusiliers, served in the South African War and in the Great War, and was killed at the landing at V Beach, Gallipoli, 25 April, 1915.

Aylmer Vivian Jarrett.

SOLTAU-SYMONS, LIONEL CULME, Capt., was born 22 June, 1876, youngest son of the late G. W. C. Soltau-Symons, J.P., D.L., of Chaddlewood, Devonshire. He was educated at Eton, and was gazetted to the Durham Light Infantry 9 Dec. 1896, becoming Lieutenant 1 Sept. 1898; Captain, Royal Warwickshire Regt., 19 Oct. 1902, and Major, Durham Light Infantry, 1 Sept. 1915. He was A.D.C. to the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, Bermuda, 8 April, 1903, to 28 April, 1904; and Adjutant, T.F., 24 Sept. 1911, to 29 Oct. 1915. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, employed with Mounted Infantry; took part in the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; during the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900), and action at Pieter's Hill; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June) (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). Major Soltau-Symons served in the European War, 1914–17; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June,

Digitized by Google

1915]: "Lionel Culme Soltau-Symons, Capt., Durham Light Infantry. For distinguished service in the field." He married, in 1907, the Hon. Lucy Jessie Lyon, only daughter of the 2nd Baron Playfair.

BURN, HENRY PELHAM, Capt., was born 1 May, 1882. He was gazetted to the Gordon Highlanders 4 Jan. 1901; was promoted to Lieutenant 30 May, 1904; to Captain 6 July, 1910. He was Adjutant, Gordon Highlanders, 9 Nov. 1914, to 20 Feb. 1915, and became Major 5 Jan. 1916. He was Adjutant, T.F., 18 Aug. 1913, to 29 Oct. 1914; Staff Captain, 8th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 21 Feb. to 13 April, 1915; Brigade Major, 8th Infantry Brigade, 76th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 14 April to 9 Dec. 1915; Temporary Brigadier-General from 16 July, 1916. He commanded the 152nd Brigade, British Armies in France, 16 July, 1916, to 6 April, 1918; commanded 3rd London Reserve Infantry Brigade, Forces in Great Britain, 8 May, 1918, to 13 Jan. 1919; commanded the Highland Reserve Infantry Brigade, Forces in Great Britain, 14 Jan. 1919. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, May to Dec. 1901, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he received the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel; was five times mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. in 1918, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Pelham Burn, Capt., Gordon Highlanders. For distinguished service in the field."

Lewis Gordon.

GORDON, LEWIS, Capt., was born at Banchory, Kincardineshire, 26 Feb. 1883, eldest son of Major Duncan Forbes Gordon, M.V.O., D.L., of 19, Queen's Road, Aberdeen, and his wife Elizabeth, daughter of the late Admiral John Leith. He was educated at Marlborough, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the Gordon Highlanders 8 May, 1901, becoming Lieutenant 10 March, 1905, and Captain 6 Aug. 1910. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1908 (Medal and clasp). He was employed with the Egyptian Army 9 March, 1911, to 18 Nov. 1914. Capt. Gordon went to France in Jan. 1915, and proceeded to Gallipoli on 19 Sept., when he was appointed Brigade Major of the 128th Infantry Brigade. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Lewis Gordon, Capt., Gordon Highlanders. For distinguished service in the field." He died at Gallipoli 18 Oct. 1915, from wounds received in action, and was buried at Gully Beach, Gallipoli.

GOULD, PHILIP, Major, was born at Southsea 22 Aug. 1870, son of Capt. L. P. Gould and Louisa Gould. He was educated at Shrewsbury School and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst. He was gazetted to the Royal Irish Fusiliers 8 April, 1891; became Lieutenant 23 April, 1894, and Captain 24 Feb. 1900. He was Adjutant, Royal Irish Fusiliers, 31 Dec. 1900, to 30 Dec. 1904, and was promoted to Major 16 July, 1910. From 30 Aug. 1916, to 16 May, 1918, he was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, in command of the 4th Battn. Connaught Rangers. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, as Adjutant to the 1st Battn. Royal Irish Fusiliers (from 31 Dec. 1900, to 31 May, 1902); took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including actions at Talana and Lombard's Kop; at the Defence of Ladysmith, including action of 6 Jan. 1900; during the operations in Natal (March to June, 1900); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July, 1900; in Orange River Colony (Sept. to 29 Nov. 1900); again in Orange River Colony, 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps; Brevet of Major, 22 Aug. 1902). For his services in the Great War, 1914–15, Major Gould was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Philip Gould, Major, Royal Irish Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." The decoration was awarded for the action at St. Eloi. He married, at Willingdon, Sussex, 29 Nov. 1914, M. A. Stewart.

BULLEN-SMITH, GEORGE MOULTRIE, Major, was born 5 Feb. 1870. He was gazetted to the Royal Highlanders 17 June, 1891; became Lieutenant, Royal Highlanders, 15 April, 1894, and Leinster Regt. 20 June, 1894. On 24 Aug. 1898, he was promoted to Captain, and on 20 March, 1909, to Major. He was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Leinster Regt., 20 Dec. 1914, to 2 June, 1915; and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Leinster Regt., 21 Aug. to 28 Sept. 1915; became Lieutenant-Colonel 29 Sept. 1915, and was Temporary Brigadier-General 1 May, 1916, to 31 Oct. 1918. He was Adjutant, Volunteers, 8 Jan. 1900, to 7 Jan. 1905; commanded the 5th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 15 May, 1916, to 4 April, 1918; commanded the Wessex Reserve Brigade, Forces in Great Britain, 24 April to 23 Oct. 1918. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was given the Brevet of Colonel 3 June, 1918; created a C.M.G., 1917, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "George Moultrie Bullen-Smith, Major, The Leinster Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

HARINGTON, JOHN, Major, was born 10 April, 1873, fifth son of the late Sir Richard Harington, 11th Bart. He entered the Rifle Brigade 19 June, 1895; became Lieutenant 15 Oct. 1897; Captain 6 March, 1901, and Major 24 March, 1914. From 30 Sept. 1903, to 28 May, 1907, he was employed with the King's African Rifles, and from 19 May, 1909, to 17 Nov. 1912, he was Adjutant, T.F. Major Harington was Brigade Major, 22nd Reserve Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 28 Oct. 1915, to 28 Feb. 1916; and Temporary Brigadier-General, commanding the 139th Infantry Brigade British Armies in France, 24 July, 1918, to 9 April, 1919. He served with the Nile Expedition, 1898, at the Battle of Khartoum (Egyptian Medal with clasp; Medal). Served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including action at Lombard's Kop; at the defence of Ladysmith, including sortie of 10 Dec. 1899, and action of 6 Jan. 1900; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.), and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.); again in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902, Station Commandant (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). Served in East Africa, 1904; took part in the operations in Somaliland; in the action at Jidballi (Medal with two clasps); served at Nandi, 1905–6 (clasp). In the Great War he was wounded three times; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Harington, Major, The Rifle Brigade. For distinguished service in the field." In 1908 he married Lady (Frances) Aline Gore-Langton, fourth daughter of the 4th Earl Temple, of Stowe, and they have one son and one daughter.

BULLER, HERBERT CECIL, Capt. (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), entered the Rifle Brigade 11 Aug. 1900; became Lieutenant 1 Aug. 1902, and Captain 22 Jan. 1910. He served in the European War; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Herbert Cecil Buller, Capt. (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), The Rifle Brigade. For distinguished service in the field." He was killed in action 3 June, 1916.

POE, JOHN, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 24 Sept. 1873. He entered the R.A.M.C. 28 July, 1897; became Captain 28 July, 1900; Major 28 April, 1909; Lieutenant-Colonel 1 March, 1915, and Colonel 7 Feb. 1918. He was Assistant Director of Medical Services, 29th Division, British Armies in France, 3 May, 1917, to April, 1919; Assistant Director of Medical Services, 2nd Army Corps, British Armies in France, from 4 Feb. 1919. He served in the Great War, 1914–18; was mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; created a C.M.G., 1919, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Poe, M.B., Lieut.-Colonel, R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Poe married, in 1889, Katharine (who died in 1918), daughter of R. J. Goff, of Piercetown, Newbridge, County Kildare.

COWEY, REGINALD VIONNÉE, Major, was born 14 June, 1873. He entered the R.A.M.C. 29 Jan. 1901; became Captain 29 Jan. 1904, and Major 29 Oct. 1912; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A.M.C., Oct. 1917, to April, 1918; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel April to May, 1918; Temporary Colonel, May, 1918, to March, 1919. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Reginald Vionnée Cowey, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps. For distinguished service in the field."

FIELDING, THOMAS EVELYN, Major, was born 27 July, 1873. He is B.A., T.C.D., M.B., B.Ch., B.A.O., University, Dublin, L.M.R. He became Lieutenant, R.A.M.C., 25 April, 1900; Captain 25 April, 1903; Major 25 Oct. 1911, and Lieutenant-Colonel 20 Dec. 1917. He was Adjutant, T.F., 2 April, 1910, to 30 March, 1913; and Assistant Director of Medical Services, 28th Division, British Salonika Force, 11 June, 1918. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was three times mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Thomas Evelyn Fielding, M.B., Major, R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field." Colonel Fielding married Isabel Orpen, eldest daughter of Dr. B. A. Palmer, of Newry, County Down.

BROWNE, CUTHBERT GARRARD, Capt., was born 3 March, 1883. He entered the R.A.M.C. 31 July, 1905; became Captain 31 Jan. 1909, and Major 15 Oct. 1915. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Cuthbert Garrard Browne, Capt., R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field." He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918.

CARTER, HERBERT ST. MAUR, Capt., was born 7 May, 1878. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and entered the R.A.M.C. 30 July, 1904; became Captain 30 Jan. 1908; Major 1 July, 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A.M.C., 1 July, 1915, to 2 Jan. 1916. He served in the Balkan Campaign, 1912–13; was British Red Cross Commissioner with the Serbian Forces. He served in the European War, 1914–18; received the Order of St. Sava, 3rd Class, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Herbert St. Maur Carter, M.D., Capt., R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field."

CREAN, THOMAS JOSEPH, Capt., served in the European War, 1914–15; was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Thomas Joseph Crean, V.C., Capt., Reserve of Officers, R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field." (See Victoria Cross Volume.)

GALE, ROBERT, Capt., was born 16 Aug. 1887. He entered the R.A.M.C. 31 July, 1909; became Captain 31 Jan. 1913; was Acting Major, R.A.M.C., from 25 Feb. 1918. From 15 Nov. 1911, to 3 Sept. 1914, he was in civil employment in Egypt. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was twice mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Robert Gale, M.B., Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps. For distinguished service in the field."

LLOYD-JONES, P. A., Capt., entered the R.A.M.C.; served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "P. A. Lloyd-Jones, M.B., Capt., R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field."

Digitized by Google

McSHEEHY, OSWALD WILLIAM, Capt., was born 27 Nov. 1884, youngest son of Surgeon-Major E. L. McSheehy, J.P. He was educated at St. Edmund's College, and entered the R.A.M.C. 30 Jan. 1909, becoming Captain 30 July, 1912. He was Acting Major, R.A.M.C., 25 Feb. to 26 Oct. 1918; and Acting Lieutenant-Colonel from 26 Nov. 1918. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Oswald William McSheehy, M.B., Capt., R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field." Capt. McSheehy married, in 1911, Carrie, eldest daughter of the late Colonel H. Paterson, I.A., and they have one son and two daughters.

RICHARDS, OWEN, Temporary Capt., was born 30 Sept. 1873, son of the Rev. H. W. P. Richards, Prebendary of St. Paul's. He was educated at Eton (King's Scholar, 1887–92); New College, Oxford (Wykeham Prize Fellow, 1898–1905); Guy's Hospital (is M.D., M.Ch. (Oxford), F.R.C.S.), and became Professor of Clinical Surgery, Egyptian Government School of Medicine. He served in South Africa (Queen's Medal and three clasps), and in the European War in France, 1914–18, when he was twice mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Owen Richards, M.D., F.R.C.S., F.R.C.P., Temporary Capt., R.A.M.C. For distinguished service in the field." He married Catherine Cressall, and they have one daughter.

BURTON, GERARD WILLIAM, Capt., was born at Murree, India, 23 Aug. 1879, only son of the late Colonel Gerard Septimus Burton, Norfolk Regt., and Elizabeth, daughter of W. T. K. Perry-Keene. Capt. Burton's grandfather was the late Edmund Singer Burton, of Churchill House, Northamptonshire. He was educated at Weymouth College, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the 1st Battn. Norfolk Regt. 3 Aug. 1898, becoming Lieutenant 23 Oct. 1899. He transferred to the Indian Army 22 Aug. 1900, and after serving with the 1st Madras Infantry for a year, was appointed to the 39th Garhwal Rifles; was for four years Adjutant, and was promoted Captain 3 Aug. 1907. Capt. Burton left India with his regiment for active service in France, 22 Sept. 1914; was mentioned in Despatches by F.M. Sir John (now Lord) French [London Gazette, 22 June, 1915], and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Gerard William Burton, Capt., Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." The decoration was especially awarded for great gallantry at Neuve Chapelle on 10 March. Capt. Burton was gazetted Major on 6 April, 1917, to rank as from 1 Sept. 1915; but this was a posthumous promotion, for he had been killed in action, near Givenchy, 12 Oct. 1915. He was buried in Gorre Château Cemetery, near Béthune. He had married, 3 Aug. 1910, at Norton Subcourse, Norwich, Blanche Ellen Beatrice, only daughter of the Rev. Arthur Thackeray, Vicar of Norton Subcourse.

Gerard William Burton.

CRUDDAS, H. W., Lieut.-Colonel, entered the Indian Army. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "H. W. Cruddas, Lieut.-Colonel, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." He died of wounds in France 20 Jan. 1916.

WILLANS, THOMAS JAMES, Major, was born 2 Sept. 1872. He was gazetted to the Royal Irish Regt. 21 Oct. 1893; became Lieutenant, Royal Irish Regt., 10 July, 1896, and Lieutenant, Indian Staff Corps, 2 Sept. 1897; Captain, Indian Army, 21 Oct. 1902, and Major 21 Oct. 1911. He served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98 (Medal with clasp), and again saw active service in the European War, 1914–17; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Thomas James Willans, Major, 57th Wilde's Rifles, Frontier Force. For distinguished service in the field." He became Lieutenant-Colonel 8 March, 1918.

THOMSON, ALEXANDER GUTHRIE, Major, was born 11 Feb. 1873, son of the late A. W. Thomson, M.D., of Brechin, Forfarshire. He was educated at Cargilfield, and Fettes College, Edinburgh, and at Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the Northants Regt. 21 Oct. 1893; became Lieutenant, Northants Regt., 16 Sept. 1896; Lieutenant, I.S.C., 6 May, 1897; Captain, Indian Army, 21 Oct. 1902; Major 21 Oct. 1911, and was Temporary Lieutenant Colonel 30 March to 2 June, 1918. He passed the Staff College; was Staff Captain, India, 17 Sept. 1909, to 7 Aug. 1910; G.S.O.3, Headquarters, India, 8 Aug. 1910, to 26 Nov. 1911; G.S.O.2, Headquarters, India, 27 Nov. 1911, to 16 Sept. 1913; Brigade Major, 121st Brigade, New Armies, British Armies in France, 29 Sept. 1915, to 6 Sept. 1916; G.S.O.2, 40th Division, British Armies in France, 7 Sept. 1916, to 18 Feb. 1917; G.S.O.2, 13th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 19 Feb. to 2 July, 1917; G.S.O.2, 18th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 9 Aug. to 28 Oct. 1917; G.S.O.2, American Staff College, British Armies in France, 29 Oct. 1917, to 29 March, 1918; G.S.O., 36th Division, British Armies in France, 30 March to 16 Nov. 1918; G.S.O.1, 52nd Division, British Armies in France, 17 Nov. 1918. He was three times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1918; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Alexander Guthrie Thomson, Major, 38th Vaughan's Rifles, Frontier Force. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel A. G. Thomson married, in 1907, Annie Wilhelmina, daughter of W. A. Finlay, M.D., F.R.C.S.Edinburgh, and they have one son and three daughters.

SHERINGHAM, ARTHUR THOMAS, Capt., was born 19 Aug. 1881, son of Colonel A. W. Sheringham, of Caston, Norfolk. He was gazetted to the West India Regt., as Second Lieutenant, from the Militia, 28 Jan. 1903; became Lieutenant, West India Regt., 22 Oct. 1904, and Indian Army, 11 Aug. 1905; Captain, Indian Army, 9 March, 1910, and Major 19 Dec. 1915. He passed 1st Class Interpreter in Persian, and passed High Proficiency in Hindustani. He served in the South African War, 1900–2 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–15, he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Thomas Sheringham, Capt., 121st Pioneers, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field."

CRAMER-ROBERTS, MARMADUKE TORIN, Capt., was born 14 Dec. 1880, at Worleston Cottage, Worleston, near Nantwich, Cheshire, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cramer-Roberts, of the Gables, Neston, Cheshire; and grandson of Marmaduke Coghill Cramer-Roberts, D.L., of Sallymount, County Kildare, and of Henry Justice, D.L., of Kinstock Hall, Shropshire. He was educated at Mostyn House School, Parkgate, Cheshire, and at the Lycée de Marrac, Bayonne, France. He entered the Army, and became Lieutenant 14 Jan. 1905, and Captain 1 April, 1910, and Major 1 April, 1916. He served in the South African War, 1900–2, and took part in the operations in the Transvaal, Feb. 1902; also in Orange River Colony and Cape Colony, Nov. 1901, to April, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–16; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Marmaduke Torin Cramer-Roberts, Capt., 4th Gurkha Rifles. For distinguished service in the field."

The following are extracts from a Report by the Officer who commanded the attack on the German trenches on the night of the 19th–20th of Dec. 1914, in front of Festubert: "The first line, led by Major Nicolay, 1/4th Gurkha Rifles, and Lieut. Anderson, Highland Light Infantry, made a rush over the parapet, followed shortly after by the second line, under Capt. Pringle, Highland Light Infantry, accompanied by Major Brodhurst, 1/4th Gurkha Rifles, who had volunteered to join the force. . . . After an interval the third line was sent forward, under Capt. Cramer-Roberts, 1/4th Gurkha Rifles (wounded), and Lieut. Kerr, 1st Highland Light Infantry (killed). About now Major Brodhurst came back, saying no more troops could be accommodated in the trenches captured, and so the fourth line remained in the 1/4th Gurkha trenches. . . . There they remained with what wounded they could collect, under Major Nicolay, 1/4th Gurkha Rifles, until night fell, when he successfully withdrew them to our trench without loss. . . . During the afternoon, when we were still uncertain of the whereabouts of our own men in advance, a very plucky attempt to bring us news was made by Capt. Cramer-Roberts and a native Gurkha officer of the 1/4th Gurkha Rifles to rush across the open to us. They were both shot down, Capt. Cramer-Roberts being very severely wounded, but eventually crawled towards our parapet, and was fetched in and able to inform me on the situation in front. After dark Major Nicolay managed to bring away all the party confined in the sap without loss, remaining to the last himself. . . . I much regret the heavy loss entailed, but would like to bring the following names of officers to the favourable consideration of the G.O.C. for the excellent work they did, and the way in which the whole of the little force under my command fought that night. Capt. David Inglis, 1/4th Gurkha Rifles (killed). He guided the force to the right trench and then joined the first line in the rush on the German trench, when he was shot down. Major M. L. Brodhurst, 1/4th Gurkha Rifles, for bringing back important information with regard to the situation at the front, and again returning under heavy fire. Major Nicolay, 1/4th Gurkha Rifles, for leading the first line and . . . returning successfully with all the wounded he could collect on the night of the 19th, after holding the sap all day. Capt. M. T. Cramer-Roberts (severely wounded), for bringing in news of the situation, when he was shot down. Native Officer, Gurkha Rifles.—Refer to Capt. Cramer-Roberts. . . . These few extracts from my Report . . . of the events of the night attack on the 19th Dec. will, I think, interest you, and I bitterly regret that for some reason or other I fancy they were never forwarded to higher authorities. Some day perhaps it will be known why, but I am glad to let you know that my appreciation of all you fellows did was duly reported. It is meagre, I acknowledge, but I was sent for on the night of the 22nd . . . to write on the spur of the moment an account, as Headquarters were urgently calling for it. Had I had time to submit it in proper form I would have endeavoured to make it fuller. But, wet, tired, and fairly beat after fighting from the 19th to the 22nd, it was the best I could do."

During the fighting described in the above extracts Capt. Cramer-Roberts had some sixty yards to cross, and fell quite close to the parapet of our front-line trenches, by which he managed to crawl, and was pulled in. His right arm, close to the shoulder, and his right hip-joint were smashed, and he had a flesh wound in the lower part of his left leg. Major Cramer-Roberts married, in 1915, Gertrude, youngest daughter of Colonel Reginald Oakes, R.F.A., of Bealings, Suffolk.

HEYLAND, ARTHUR KYFFIN, Major, was born 22 April, 1874, son of the late Colonel A. R. Heyland, 31st Lancers. He entered the Army 30 Aug. 1893, as Second Lieutenant (unattached), and was gazetted to the Indian Staff Corps 24 Jan. 1895, becoming Lieutenant, I.S.C., 6 Oct. 1896; Captain, Indian Army, 30 Aug. 1902, and Major 30 Aug. 1911. He served in British East Africa, 1901; took part in the operations against the Ogaden Somalis in Jubaland (Medal with clasp). Served in Aden, 1903–4, during the operations in the interior. Major Heyland joined the Supply and Transport Corps. He served in the European War in France, 1914–15, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Kyffin Heyland, Major, Supply and Transport Corps. For distinguished service in the field." He subsequently served in Mesopotamia. He married Constance Ll., youngest daughter of General W. S. M. Price, and they have three sons.

Digitized by Google

TAYLOR, JOHN, Capt., was born 14 Feb. 1884. He is M.D. and D.P.H. He entered the I.M.S. 1 Sept. 1906; became Captain 1 Sept. 1909, and Major 1 March, 1918. In 1908 he served on the North-West Frontier of India (Medal with clasp). For his services in the European War, from 1914, he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Taylor, M.B., Capt., Indian Medical Service. For distinguished service in the field." Major Taylor married Katherine, eldest daughter of the late Alexander Monro, C.I.E., and they have one son and two daughters.

BROOKE-POPHAM, HENRY ROBERT MOORE, Brevet Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), was born 18 Sept. 1878, at Wetheringsett Manor, Suffolk, son of Henry Brooke (deceased), who served in the 42nd Highlanders, and Dulcibella, daughter of the late Rev. Robert Moore. He was educated at Haileybury and Sandhurst, and at the Staff College, and was gazetted to the Oxfordshire Light Infantry 7 May, 1898, becoming Lieutenant 24 Nov. 1899; Captain 9 Nov. 1904. He was D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Royal Flying Corps, B.E.F., 5 Aug. to 19 Nov. 1914; G.S.O.1, Royal Flying Corps, B.E.F., 26 May, 1915, to 11 March, 1916; D.A. and Q.M.G., Royal Flying Corps, British Armies in France, 12 March, 1916, to 8 Oct. 1917; D.Q.M.G., Royal Flying Corps, British Armies in France, 9 Oct. 1917, to 31 March, 1918; employed under the Air Ministry 1 April, 1918 (Temporary Brigadier-General). He was given the Brevet of Major 3 Sept. 1913. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was several times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1916, and Colonel 3 June, 1918; awarded the Legion of Honour (Officier); the Order of St. Stanislaus, and the Air Force Cross; created a C.B., a C.M.G. and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Henry Robert Moore Brooke-Popham, Brevet Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, and Royal Flying Corps. For distinguished service in the field." In 1904, by Royal Licence, he assumed the additional surname of Popham.

H. R. M. Brooke-Popham.

CARTHEW, THOMAS WALTER COLBY, Capt., was born 1 July, 1880. He entered the Northumberland Fusiliers in 1901 and retired in 1909. He served in South Africa, 1899–1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps; King's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War in 1914 and 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Thomas Walter Colby Carthew, Capt., Bedfordshire Regt. and Royal Flying Corps. For distinguished service in the field." He was called to the Bar in 1909, and contested South-West Ham (U.), in 1910.

WARD, ALBERT LAMBERT, Major, was born 7 Nov. 1876, only son of A. B. Ward, J.P. He was educated at St. Paul's School, in Paris, and at Darmstadt, and was commissioned in the Honourable Artillery Company in 1902, becoming Lieutenant in 1904; Captain in 1912; Major in 1914, and Lieutenant-Colonel in 1916; Second-in-Command in 1915. He served in the European War, with the Expeditionary Force in Flanders, 1914–15; was present at the operations on the Aisne; Ypres in 1914; Neuve Chapelle in 1914, and Ypres in 1915; was wounded twice, mentioned in Despatches twice, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Albert Lambert Ward, Major, Honourable Artillery Company. For distinguished service in the field." He commanded the 2nd Battn. H.A.C., during the operations on the Aisne, and during the advance of 1915; was wounded, and mentioned in Despatches. Lieut.-Colonel A. L. Ward contested West Hull (C.), Dec. 1910; was Conservative candidate for Burnley, 1912–13; was elected M.P. (C.U.) for Kingston-on-Hull in 1918. He is joint author of the "H.A.C. History of the European War, 1914–1918."

ARTHUR, JOHN MAURICE, Major, joined the Territorial Forces, and served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Maurice Arthur, Major, 1st Lowland Field Artillery, Territorial Force. For distinguished service in the field." He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, and was created a C.M.G. in 1918.

VARWELL, EDWARD HERON, Major, was born 18 Sept. 1879, son of Hawkins B. Varwell, of Chagford, Devon. He served in the European War, 1914–19; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Edward Heron Varwell, Major, Wessex Divisional Signal Company, Royal Engineers, Territorial Force. For distinguished service in the field." Major Varwell married, in 1910, Winifred Janet, daughter of George S. Vinen, and they have two daughters.

GEMMILL, WILLIAM, Major, was born 4 Sept. 1878, son of William Gemmill, of Greendykes, East Lothian, and Elizabeth Cuninghame, daughter of the late David Cuninghame, of Chapleton, Ayrshire. He was educated at Watson's College, Edinburgh, and joined the Lothians and Berwickshire Imperial Yeomanry in Dec. 1899, serving in South Africa, 1899–1901 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He joined the 8th Battn. the Royal Scots (formerly 7th Volunteer Battn. Royal Scots), as Lieutenant, in April, 1904; became Captain, 1910; and proceeded to France in Nov. 1914, as Second-in-Command of the 1/8th Royal Scots (Temporary Major), and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel from 19 May, 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 31 May, 1915, and 1 Jan. 1916], and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Gemmill, Major, 8th Battn. Royal Scots (T.F.). For distinguished service in the field."

William Gemmill.

Lieut.-Colonel Gemmill wrote about L.-Corpl. Angus, V.C.: "Angus was one of 120 men of the 8th Battn. Highland Light Infantry attached and posted to the 8th Royal Scots for the duration of the war; in fact, they were transferred to this battalion, but not at the time Angus was awarded the V.C. The 8th Highland Light Infantry did not volunteer for foreign service as a unit, and these men were sent to this battalion to complete its establishment when it was ordered to France at the end of Oct. 1914. My point is that I consider that Angus' V.C. should be included in the list of Honours awarded to the Royal Scots. I was in command of the battn. at the time, and sent in the official account of the act."

Lieut.-Colonel Gemmill is a Justice of the Peace for the County of East Lothian, and a member of the Territorial Force County Association.

FARGUS, NIGEL HARRY SKINNER, Capt., was born 2 July, 1881, son of Henry Robert Fargus. He was educated at Rugby and Sandhurst, and was gazetted to the Royal Scots 20 Jan. 1900, becoming Lieutenant 1 Sept. 1901; Captain 9 Sept. 1908; Major 1 Sept. 1915; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding the 12th Battn. Royal Scots, 15 July, 1916, to 10 April, 1917. He was G.S.O.3, 3rd Division, New Armies, B.E.F., 11 June, 1915, to 6 March, 1916; Brigade Major, 74th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 7 March to 21 July, 1916; D.A.A.G., 7th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 10 Dec. 1913, to 9 March, 1919; D.A.A.G., 2nd Army Corps, British Armies in France, 10 March, 1919. He served in South Africa, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.); in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; also again during the operations in the Transvaal, 30 Nov. 1900, to April, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Nigel Harry Skinner Fargus, Capt., 8th Battn. Royal Scots. For distinguished service in the field." Major Fargus married, in 1915, Lottie, daughter of Wilfred Trimmer, and they have one son.

REDDIE, ANTHONY JULIAN, Major, was born at Stonehaven 27 Aug. 1873, son of Capt. J. G. Reddie (deceased), of Redhouse, Fife, and Isabella Louisa Reddie (née Murray). He was educated at Cargilfield, Fettes College, and Sandhurst; was in the Football Fifteen at Fettes, 1889–90, and in the Sandhurst Fifteen, 1890–91–92. He was in the regimental polo team, 1st South Wales Borderers, 1893–1909; won the Infantry Cup in Egypt, 1893–94; Gibraltar, 1895–96; the Infantry Cup, India, 1898, and several smaller tournaments. He won the Medal at Gibraltar, 1896–97, for best man-at-arms, and has done a lot of big game shooting in the Central Provinces, Himalayas and Kashmir, also fishing. He entered the South Wales Borderers 19 Nov. 1892; became Lieutenant 1 July, 1895; was Adjutant, South Wales Borderers, 2 Sept. 1901, to 1 Sept. 1904; was promoted to Captain 22 Sept. 1901; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, South Wales Borderers, 1 Dec. 1914, to 20 Aug. 1915; Temporary Brigadier-General from 23 Aug. 1915. He was Adjutant, T.F., 17 Nov. 1909, to 16 March, 1913; commanded the 1st Infantry Brigade, British Expeditionary Force, British Armies in France, 23 Aug. 1915, to 9 Nov. 1917; commanded the Welsh Reserve Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 10 Nov. 1917, to 2 April, 1918; commanded the 187th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 3 April, 1918. He went to France in Aug. 1914, as Senior Major, 1st South Wales Borderers, and took over temporary command from 1 Nov. 1914, to 21 Aug. 1915. He was with the 1st Division throughout the War, and in all their operations. For his services in the European War, 1914–19, he was six times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916; was created a C.M.G. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Anthony Julian Reddie, Major, South Wales Borderers. For distinguished service in the field." He also received the Légion d'Honneur pour Officier, and the Order of St. Stanislas, 3rd Class. Lieut.-Colonel A. J. Reddie married, 5 Jan. 1906, in Lucknow, Rose Robertson Murray, eldest daughter of Colonel R. D. Murray, late I.M.S.

MACLEAR, HARRY, Major, was gazetted to the East Lancashire Regt. 18 March, 1891; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1892; Captain 11 May, 1900, and Major 9 March, 1910. He served in the Chitral Campaign in 1895, with the Relief Force (Medal with clasp). Served on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98 (Malakand; clasp). Served in East Africa, 1903–4; commanded the 9th Somali Camel Corps from 20 Dec. 1903. Took part in the operations in Somaliland; Special Service Officer, Assistant to Base Supply and Transport Officer, Berbera (from Nov. 1903) (Medal with clasp). Major Maclear served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June,

Digitized by Google

1915]: "Harry Maclear, Major, East Lancashire Regt. For distinguished service in the field." He was killed in action in France 7 March, 1916.

CAMPBELL, C. H., Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "C. H. Campbell, Capt., Canadian Highlanders. For distinguished service in the field." Capt. Campbell was invested by the King at Windsor Castle on 6 July, 1915. He was killed in action in France 14 March, 1916.

BATES, ARTHUR SYDNEY, Major, was born 18 June, 1879, son of S. E. Bates, of Manydown Park, Basingstoke, and Elizabeth J., daughter of Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Malet, 3rd Queen's Own Bombay Light Infantry. He was educated at Winchester College; served in the European War, 1914–18, as Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, 1915, and was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, 1917. He commanded the London Rifle Brigade 17 months, and the 3/5th Battn. Loyal North Lancashire Regt. (T.F.) for 10 months; in France he commanded the 4th (Reserve) Battn. Loyal North Lancashire Fusiliers (T.F.), till disbandment. He was mentioned four times in Despatches; received the French Croix de Guerre with Palm, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Arthur Sydney Bates, Major, 5th City of London Regt., London Rifle Brigade, Territorial Force. For distinguished service in the field." He is a Fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society, London. Lieut.-Colonel Bates married, in 1905, Mary da Costa, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel Charles Robert Crosse, C.M.G., M.V.O., and Catherine, only daughter of the late Major-General Whitworth Porter, R.E., and they have one daughter.

PAGE, FRANK, Major, joined the 1st Battn. Hertfordshire Regt.; became Lieutenant 9 July, 1904; was promoted to Captain and to Major. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Frank Page, Major, The Hertfordshire Regt. (T.F.). For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Page was killed in action in Aug. 1917, leaving a widow and three children. A Bar to his D.S.O. was awarded for his work on the Ancre. He served with great efficiency through the South African War.

Frank Page.

INGLEFIELD, LIONEL DALTON, Major, was born 15 Sept. 1881. He entered the Royal Garrison Regt. 28 Jan. 1903; became Second Lieutenant, A.S.C., 9 Oct. 1905; Lieutenant 9 Oct. 1906; Captain 22 Dec. 1911; Major, R.A.S.C., 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 20 Nov. 1917, to 31 Dec. 1918. He was D.A.D. of Transport, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 24 Feb. 1915, to 19 Nov. 1917; Assistant Director of Transport, British Armies in France, 20 Nov. 1917. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Lindley 26 June, Bethlehem, 6 and 7 July, and Wittebergen 1 to 29 July; was present during the operations in Cape Colony and Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with two clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the Great War, from 1914, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Lionel Dalton Inglefield, Major, A.S.C. For distinguished service in the field."

BLADES, WALTER WILLIAM, Major, was born 14 April, 1863, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel Joel Blades, R.A. He was commissioned in the Army 1 April, 1901, and became Deputy Commissary of Ordnance and Hon. Captain 4 Feb. 1909; Major 31 Jan. 1915, and Commissary of Ordnance, and retired 1 May, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901; took part in the operations in Cape Colony south of Orange River, Oct. 1899, to 29 Nov. 1900; again in Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Dec. 1901 (Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Walter William Blades, Honorary Major, Army Ordnance Department. For distinguished service in the field." Major Blades married Janet Stoddart in 1914.

DANIELL, JOHN ACHESON STAINES, Capt., was born 7 May, 1882, son of Colonel W. S. Daniell, 105th Yorkshire Light Infantry. He was gazetted to the Yorkshire Light Infantry 8 May, 1901; became Lieutenant 20 June, 1904, and was transferred to the Indian Army 22 Dec. 1905, becoming Captain 8 May, 1910; Temporary Major, 6th Battn. Yorkshire Regt., 29 Oct. 1914, to 31 July, 1915; Acting Major, Indian Army, 1–2 Aug. 1915; Major 8 May, 1916. He served in the European War, 1914–15; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Acheson Staines Daniell, Capt., 14th King George's Own Ferozepore Sikhs, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." Major Daniell married, in 1916, Ellen Mary, only daughter of S. Taylor, and they have two daughters.

HANNYNGTON, JOHN ARTHUR, Major, entered the Army 8 June, 1889; became Lieutenant 17 Dec. 1891; Captain 8 June, 1900, and Major 8 June, 1907. He served in East Africa, 1895–96, during operations against the Mazrui Rebels (Medal). Served in Uganda, 1897–98 (severely wounded; Medal with clasp). Major Hannyngton served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Arthur Hannyngton, C.M.G., Major, 129th Duke of Connaught's Own Baluchis, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." Brigadier-General J. A. Hannyngton died 21 Aug. 1918.

BURLAND, WILLIAM WATT, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 9 Sept. 1877, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel William Benjamin Burland, M.D., C.M. He became Lieutenant, Canadian Military Forces, 1895; Captain, 1903; Major, 1910, and Lieutenant-Colonel 12 Sept. 1912. He served in the European War, 1914–15; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Watt Burland, Lieut.-Colonel, 14th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field."

William Watt Burland.

HUGHES, GARNET BURK, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 22 April, 1880, only son of Lieut.-General the Hon. Sir Sam Hughes, K.C.B., and Mary, daughter of H. W. Burk. He was educated at the Royal Military College of Canada, and joined the Military Forces, serving on the 1st Division Staff; as Brigade Major, 3rd Infantry Brigade, 1st Canadian Division; as G.S.O.2, 2nd Canadian Division, 1915. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was four times mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Garnet Burk Hughes, Lieut.-Colonel, 1st Canadian Division, Staff. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. in 1917, and a C.B. in 1918, and was Temporary Brigadier-General in command of the 1st Infantry Brigade, 1st Canadian Division, Nov. 1915, to Feb. 1917. He is married, and has one son.

BETTY, HUBERT KEMMIS, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 27 Nov. 1872. He joined the Canadian Militia in 1896; became Lieutenant, Permanent Forces, 1899; Captain, 1905, and Major, 1910; Lieutenant-Colonel, 1st Division Staff. He served in the European War, 1914–18; as Brigade Major, 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade; Officer in charge of Records, and Director of Personal Services, and was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hubert Kemmis Betty, Lieut.-Colonel, 1st Canadian Division, Staff. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel H. Kemmis Betty married, in 1907, Ethel Antoinette, daughter of the late C. W. P. Watts, I.C.S., and they have one son.

LOOMIS, FREDERICK OSCAR WARREN, Lieut.-Colonel, joined the Canadian Military Forces. He served in the European War, 1914–18; commanded the 13th Canadian Infantry Battn., Royal Highlanders of Canada, and afterwards the 7th Canadian Infantry Brigade; the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade, and the 3rd Canadian Division. He was six times mentioned in Despatches; was created a C.M.G. in 1917; a C.B., 1918; a K.C.B., 1919; received the Légion d'Honneur, Croix d'Officier; the Order of Leopold (Commandeur); the Auxiliary Forces Officers' Decoration, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Frederick Oscar Warren Loomis, Lieut.-Colonel, 13th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field." He was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O., and was promoted to Major-General.

BALLANTINE, JAMES, Major, was born at Georgetown, Ontario, Canada, 3 Sept. 1876, son of John and Margaret M'Nab Ballantine. He was educated at Georgetown, and joined the Canadian Military Forces 21 Oct. 1891. He served in the European War, 1914–16, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "James Ballantine, Major, 4th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field." He later was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, and commanded the 76th Battn. Canadian Expeditionary Force. Lieut.-Colonel Ballantine married, in 1905, Minnie E. Barber.

James Ballantine.

Gilbert Godson-Godson.

GODSON-GODSON, GILBERT, Major was born 13 Aug. 1872, son of the late Major Godson-Godson, of Redhill, Surrey. He was educated at Whitgift and in H.M.S. Worcester, and served in the South African War, 1898–1902, including the Siege of Ladysmith; was wounded, and received the Queen's Medal with four clasps and the King's Medal with two clasps. In 1906 he served during the Natal Native Rebellion, and received a Medal. He joined the Canadian Military Forces, and served in the European War, 1914–15, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Gilbert Godson-Godson, Major, 16th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field." Major Godson-Godson married, in 1894, Alice Maud Burchall, of Maritzburg, Natal, and they have one son and one daughter.

Digitized by Google

KING, WILLIAM BIRCHALL MACAULAY, Major, joined the Canadian Military Forces. He served in C Battery, R.C.F.A. in the South African War in 1900, and in the South African Constabulary, 1901–2 (Queen's Medal and four clasps; King's Medal and two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was mentioned in Despatches; was made Officier de l'Ordre de la Couronne, Belgium; received the Croix de Guerre; the Colonial Long Service Officers' Decoration; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "William Birchall Macaulay King, Major, 10th Battery, 3rd Canadian Artillery Brigade. For distinguished service in the field." He became Brigadier-General, C.R.A., 4th Canadian Divisional Artillery.

LISTER, FREDERICK ALEXANDER, Major, was born 17 Sept. 1873, son of the late J. F. Lister, Judge of Court of Appeal, Toronto. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Frederick Alexander Lister, Major, Canadian Divisional Signal Company. For distinguished service in the field." Major Lister married, in 1905, Annie Hutton, eldest daughter of the late John Watson, of Saltcoats.

MARSHALL, W. R., Major, served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "W. R. Marshall, Major, 15th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field." He was killed in action 20 May, 1916.

MATTHEWS, H. H., Major, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "H. H. Matthews, Major, 8th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field."

PRAGNELL, G. S. T., Major, was born in 1880, son of G. W. Pragnell. He entered the Sherwood Foresters, retired, and joined the Canadian Forces. He served in the South African War, 1901–2. For his services in the European War, 1914–16, he was mentioned in Despatches and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "G. S. T. Pragnell, Major, 5th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field." Major Pragnell married, in 1912, M. E. Tyler, of Cossington Hall, Leicester.

ARTHUR, CHRISTOPHER GEOFFREY, Capt., was born 27 Jan. 1882. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Christopher Geoffrey Arthur, Capt., 10th Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field." Major Arthur married, in 1917, Eirene Primrose Dodd, of The Grange, Buxton, and they have one daughter.

CHISHOLM, HUGH ALEXANDER, Capt. (Temporary Major), was born 8 Feb. 1883, son of Duncan Chisholm, of Tynwood, Nova Scotia. He served in the European War, 1914–17 (as A.D.M.S., Canadian Division, from 1916). He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Hugh Alexander Chisholm, Capt. (Temporary Major), Canadian Army Medical Corps. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. in 1919. Colonel Chisholm married, in 1910, Mary Eulalia, daughter of the Hon. Peter Smyth.

MACBRIEN, JAMES HOWDEN, Capt. (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), was born 30 June, 1878. He served in the South African War, 1900–2, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. In 1907 he married Nellie Louise, daughter of William Ross, and they have three sons and one daughter. For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was promoted to Brigadier-General; was mentioned in Despatches; created a C.B., 1919; a C.M.G., 1918; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "James Howden MacBrien, Capt. (Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel), 1st Canadian Division, Staff. For distinguished service in the field." He was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O., and was promoted to Major-General.

James Howden MacBrien.

MACPHAIL, ALEXANDER, Capt., was born in 1870, son of the late William Macphail and Catherine Macphail (née Moore Smith). He was appointed Professor of Engineering at Queen's University, Kingston, Canada. From 1914 to 1918 he served in the European War, as Officer Commanding the 1st Canadian Division Engineers, B.E.F.; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Alexander Macphail, Capt., 1st Field Company, Canadian Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." He was created a C.M.G. in 1919. Lieut.-Colonel Macphail married Agnes Mary, daughter of the late Ven. J. Macmorine, Archdeacon of Ontario, and they have one son.

M'KILLIP, THOMAS HENRY, Capt., was born 20 July, 1887. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Thomas Henry M'Killip, Capt., Canadian Army Medical Corps. For distinguished service in the field."

PARKS, JOHN HEGAN, Capt., served in the South African War, 1900–2. He served in the European War, 1914–15, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "John Hegan Parks, Capt., 1st Canadian Battn. For distinguished service in the field." Capt. Parks was awarded the Order of the White Eagle (Serbia), 4th Class, in 1917.

London Gazette, 29 June, 1915.—"War Office, 29 June, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

McCUAIG, DOUGLAS RYKERT, Major, was born 25 April, 1883, and is of British (Canadian) parentage. He is the son of Clarence J. McCuaig, of Montreal. He was educated at McGill College, Montreal, and is by profession a Stockbroker. He married Nora Balfe, and they have one son. From 1914 to 1916 he served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches; was severely wounded, and captured at the Second Battle of Ypres, and (for Ypres) was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 June, 1915]: "Douglas Rykert McCuaig, Major, 13th Canadian Battn. In recognition of gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

WRIGHT, GORDON BROOKS, Major, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 June, 1915]: "Gordon Brooks Wright, Major, 3rd Field Company, Canadian Engineers. In recognition of gallantry and devotion to duty in the field." He was killed in action 23 June, 1915.

MALLINSON, HENRY, Capt., was born 26 July, 1879. He was gazetted to the Yorkshire Light Infantry 20 May, 1899; became Lieutenant 17 Feb. 1900; Captain 1 Feb. 1906; Major 1 Sept. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Yorkshire Light Infantry, from 2 April, 1916. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, and took part in the advance on Kimberley, including actions at Belmont, Enslin, Modder River and Magersfontein; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, Aug. to 29 Nov. 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to Aug. 1900, including actions at Lindley (26 June), Bethlehem (6 and 7 July) and Wittebergen (1 to 29 July); again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; received the Queen's Medal with four clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. For his services in the European War, 1914–17, he was mentioned in Despatches twice; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 June, 1915]: "Henry Mallinson, Capt., Yorkshire Light Infantry. In recognition of gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

London Gazette, 30 June, 1915.—"Admiralty, S.W., 30 June, 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointment to the Distinguished Service Order of the undermentioned Officer, in recognition of his services as mentioned. To be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order."

KERR, CHARLES LESTER, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, was born in 1886, only son of Capt. Schomberg Kerr, Rifle Brigade. He entered the Royal Navy. In 1908 he married Innes, daughter of the late Colonel Archer Chapman, R.F.A., and they have one son. From 1914 to 1918 he served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 30 June, 1915]: "Charles Lester Kerr, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy. He was in command of a picket-boat which reconnoitred the position of the Austrian monitors on the Danube in April, 1915, and torpedoed one of them under heavy fire, the enterprise being boldly and skilfully conducted." He was mentioned in Despatches; received the Order of Kara-George (Serbia) with Swords, 1915; the Order of the White Eagle (Serbia), 1916; the Croix de Guerre, 1917; was made Cavalier of the Order of the Crown of Italy in 1919.

Charles Lester Kerr.

London Gazette, 3 July, 1915.—"War Office, 3 July, 1915. His Majesty the King has been pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty whilst serving with the Expeditionary Force."

BORTON, AMYAS EDEN, Capt., was born 20 Sept. 1886, son of Lieut.-Colonel Arthur C. Borton, J.P., of Cheveney; and grandson of the late Sir Arthur Borton, G.C.B., G.C.M.G. He is a brother of Lieut.-Colonel A. D. Borton, V.C., C.M.G., D.S.O., and a nephew of Colonel C. E. Borton, C.B. He entered the Royal Highlanders 23 May, 1906; became Lieutenant 23 Nov. 1907; was Lieutenant, Royal Flying Corps, 28 April, 1914, to 31 March, 1918; Temporary Captain, Royal Highlanders, 29 Sept. to 28 Nov. 1914; was promoted to Captain 29 Nov. 1914; was Temporary Major 27 Oct. 1915, to 31 July, 1916; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Aug. 1916, to 20 Nov. 1917; Temporary Colonel 21 Nov. 1917, to 27 Jan. 1918; Temporary Brigadier-General 28 Jan. to 31 March, 1918. He held a Special Appointment, Royal Flying Corps, M.W., 21 Nov. 1917, to 27 Jan. 1918; was Brigade Commander, Palestine Brigade, Royal Flying Corps, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 28 Jan. to 31 March, 1918; was employed under the Air Ministry from 1 April, 1918. In 1918 he flew from England to Calcutta in a Handley-Page aeroplane. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was severely wounded; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel; received the 3rd Class Order of St. Stanislas (with Swords); the 3rd Class Order of the Nile; was created a C.M.G., 1919; was awarded the D.F.C., and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Amyas Eden Borton, Capt.,

Digitized by Google

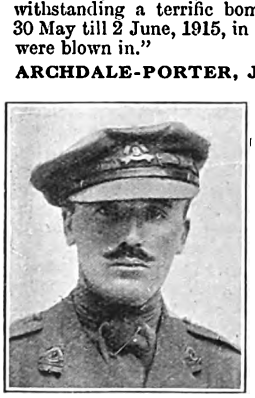
(The Black Watch) Royal Highlanders, attached Royal Flying Corps. When on flying reconnaissance over the neighbourhood of Staden on 7 June, 1915, Capt. Borton was wounded in the head and neck by a bullet fired from a hostile aeroplane, and although suffering severely from loss of blood, he continued, with the assistance of the Observer, Capt. Marshall, to bandage his wounds, and completed the reconnaissance on the prescribed course. His injuries are such that he is not yet out of danger. Capt. Marshall continued his observations after rendering all possible aid to the Pilot, who was gradually losing consciousness, notwithstanding that the German aeroplane was persistently attacking. The valuable report supplied by this Officer is as detailed and complete for the last as it is for the first part of the reconnaissance."

MARSHALL, ANTHONY, Capt., was born 4 April, 1882, son of Lieut.-Colonel Anthony Marshall (late of the 3rd Northumberland Fusiliers), of Annstead, Chathill. He was educated at Edinburgh Academy and Sandhurst; entered the Northumberland Fusiliers 18 Jan. 1902, and became Lieutenant, Indian Army, 10 May, 1904; Captain, 18 Jan. 1911; was Adjutant, Royal Flying Corps, 12 Aug. to 31 Nov. 1915, was promoted to Major, Indian Army, 18 Jan. 1917. He was Temporary G.S.O.2, India. He served in the South African War in 1902, and received the Queen's Medal with three clasps. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was wounded while on a flying reconnaissance; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Servce Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Anthony Marshall, Capt., 28th Light Cavalry, Indian Army, attached Royal Flying Corps. When on flying reconnaissance over the neighbourhood of Staden on 7 June, 1915, Capt. Borton was wounded in the head and neck by a bullet fired from a hostile aeroplane, and although suffering severely from loss of blood he continued, with the assistance of the Observer, Capt. Marshall, to bandage his wounds, and completed the reconnaissance on the prescribed course. His injuries are such that he is not yet out of danger. Capt. Marshall continued his observations after rendering all possible aid to the Pilot, who was gradually losing consciousness, notwithstanding that the German aeroplane was persistently attacking. The valuable report supplied by this Officer is as detailed and complete for the last as it is for the first part of the reconnaissance."

George Harold A. Ing.

ING, GEORGE HAROLD ABSELL, Major, was born 24 April, 1880, eldest son of George Ing. He was gazetted to the 2nd Dragoon Guards 5 Sept. 1900; became Lieutenant 22 Feb. 1901; Captain 10 Feb. 1904; Major 5 Aug. 1911, and Lieutenant-Colonel 1 April, 1919. He served in the South African War, 1900–2; was wounded, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. In the European War he served from 1914 to 1918, commanding the North Somerset Yeomanry from March, 1917, to March, 1918; was wounded twice; four times mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G., and created a Companon of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "George Harold Absell Ing, Major, 2nd Dragoon Guards (Queen's Bays). At Ypres, on 13 May, 1915, when the line was broken beyond the right flank of his regiment, he came out of his trench in the front line, stood on the road in the open under heavy shell fire, stopped the retirement of 40 men of another unit, and turned them into his section of the defence. The good results of this gallant action were far reaching." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

MASON, PHILIP GRANVILLE, Major, entered the Army 29 May, 1895; became Lieutenant 11 Oct. 1899, and Captain 29 July, 1906. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, and took part in the operations in the Transvaal, Feb. and April to May, 1902; also in Orange River Colony, Jan. to April and May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). Major Mason served in the European War, and was killed in action near Loos 26 Sept. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Philip Granville Mason, Major, 3rd (Prince of Wales's) Dragoon Guards. Whilst in command of Hooge Fort and the adjoining trenches, he showed conspicuous gallantry and ability in holding the village and defence line allotted to him, notwithstanding a terrific bombardment for several hours every day from 30 May till 2 June, 1915, in which practically all his trenches and dug-outs were blown in."



John G. Archdale-Porter.

ARCHDALE-PORTER, JOHN GREY, Capt., was born 9 June, 1886, at Magheracross, County Fermanagh, Ireland, son of John Porter Porter, J.P., D.L., and Josephine Porter. He was educated at Harrow; entered the Army 29 Aug. 1906, and became Lieutenant 22 Jan. 1910. Capt. Archdale-Porter served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches 24 June, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "John Grey Porter, Capt., 9th (Queen's Royal) Lancers. On 10 May, 1915, when a very heavy attack was made on the front line near Hooge, Capt. Porter went up to the infantry line there and brought back very valuable information regarding the situation. On the 13th May he rendered the greatest possible assistance in taking messages under terrific shell fire to various parts of the line and reporting on various local situations. He set an example of coolness and total disregard of danger that was beyond all praise. He has been twice wounded previously in this campaign." Capt. Archdale-Porter died of wounds 22 Nov. 1917. He married, 6 Dec. 1915, Enid, only daughter of the late George William Duff-Assheton-Smith, of Vaynol, Carnarvonshire.

CRICHTON, CHARLES WILLIAM HARRY, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 7 July, 1872, son of Colonel the Hon. Sir H. G. L. Crichton, K.C.B., third son of the 3rd Earl of Erne, and of his first wife, a daughter of Major A. W. Cole-Hamilton. He entered the 10th Hussars 7 Dec. 1895; became Lieutenant 25 June, 1897, Captain 18 Sept. 1901, Major 4 May, 1907, and Lieut.-Colonel 15 May, 1915. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900, and received the Queen's Medal with three clasps. Lieut.-Colonel Crichton served in the European War, 1914–15; was twice wounded, twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Charles William Harry Crichton, Lieut.-Colonel, 10th (Prince of Wales's Own Royal) Hussars. Near Ypres, on 13 May, 1915, showed conspicuous gallantry and ability in collecting and rallying men who were retiring under heavy shell fire through the 10th Hussars' position. In our counter-attack he continued to direct operations, giving great encouragement to his men whilst he lay in the open under heavy shell fire with his leg shattered." Lieut.-Colonel Crichton married, in 1912, Dorothy Maud, daughter of the Hon. Eustace Dawnay, and they have two sons.

John Ross Colville.

COLVILLE, JOHN ROSS, Major, was born 12 April, 1878, son of John Colville, of Polmont Park, Stirlingshire. He was educated at Rugby School and at Magdalen College, Oxford; entered the Royal Artillery 24 June, 1898; became Lieutenant 18 Feb. 1901, Captain 17 April, 1906, Major 30 Oct. 1914, and Lieut.-Colonel 2 Oct. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1900–2, and took part in the operations in Natal, April to June, 1900; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.). Lieut.-Colonel J. R. Colville married, in 1906, Kathleen, daughter of the late Surgeon-Major James Good, A.M.S. He served in the European War; was wounded; mentioned in Despatches five times; was given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; was awarded the Italian Croce de Guerra; received the 1914 Star, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915] "John Ross Colville, Major, 55th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. Commanded his battery with great gallantry during the operations 9 and 10 May, 1915, near Rouges Bancs, observing fire from an isolated tree close behind the trenches, which were being heavily shelled. This officer has been previously brought to notice for valuable work at Neuve Chapelle, when he observed fire from the ruined houses, and sent excellent information for 36 hours under continuous shell and rifle fire."

RUSSELL, THE HON. BERTRAND JOSEPH, Capt., was born 12 Aug. 1876. He entered the Royal Artillery 21 Sept. 1896; became Lieutenant 21 Sept. 1899, and Captain 7 March, 1902; Major, Reserve of Officers, 16 Nov. 1915; Lieut.-Colonel, Army, 21 June, 1919; retired Royal Artillery 26 Feb. 1910. He served in the South African War in 1900; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including the action at Zilikat's Nek (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was thrice wounded; mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "The Honourable Bertrand Joseph Russell, Capt. (Reserve of Officers), 104th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. On 9 May, 1915, near Rue Petillon (Fromelles), this officer commanded a section in the trenches, greatly helping the infantry. He was heavily shelled all day, the parapet in front of one gun being destroyed. They kept on firing, however, and the success was greatly due to the courage displayed by Capt. Russell, who was twice wounded early in the day." Lieut.-Colonel the Hon. B. J. Russell married, in 1902, Dorothy, daughter of the late John George Leeming.

MAXWELL, WILLIAM FREDERICK, Major, was born 11 April, 1878, son of Staff Capt. W. F. Maxwell, R.N. (deceased), and Mrs. M. A. Maxwell. He was educated at Appuldurcombe College, Isle of Wight; entered the Royal Engineers 23 Sept. 1897; became Lieutenant 23 Sept. 1900, Captain 23 Sept. 1906, and Major 30 Oct. 1914. He served in Aden, 1903–4, during the operations in the interior. For his services in the European War he was twice mentioned in Despatches in June, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "William Frederick Maxwell, Major, Royal Engineers (attached Lahore Divisional Signal Company). Near Ypres, during the operations from 24 April to 4 May, 1915, he rendered excellent service when responsible for maintaining the signalling communications of the division, under most trying circumstances. The work was very heavy, and he also had to direct the constant repair of lines cut by the continuous heavy fire. This officer has done consistently well throughout the campaign." Major Maxwell married Janet, daughter of A. Sanders and widow of Colonel J. H. Bowes-Wilson, West Riding Regt.

BEALL, EDWARD METCALFE, Major, was born in 1874. He was educated at Beaumont College, and served in South Africa, 1900–4, and during the war he was from 1900–2 employed with Mounted Infantry; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, March to 31 May, 1902; was present during the operations in Cape Colony, Feb. to March, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He served in the European War, 1914–18; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Edward Metcalfe Beall, Major, 4th Battn. The King's (Liverpool Regt.). For excellent work throughout the operations near Ypres from 24 April to 4 May, 1915, especially during the attack on 27 April, when he was with the leading company in the front line. He returned to Battalion Headquarters for reinforcements, and took them forward with him to the front line. He was also conspicuous in the attack on 1 May."

Digitized by Google

BONNER, SINGLETON, Capt., entered the Army 21 April, 1900; became Lieutenant 12 Oct. 1901, and Captain 1 April, 1908. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in Orange River Colony, Sept. to 29 Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal, and again in the Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to May, 1901, and Nov. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with two clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). Capt. Bonner served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Singleton Bonner, Capt., 1st Battn. The South Staffordshire Regt. For particularly good and gallant services rendered at Festubert from 16 to 18 May, 1915, when he showed a fine example in coolness, bravery and power of command." He died of wounds 23 April, 1917.

STREET, EDMUND ROCHFORT, Capt., was born 20 May, 1876, at London, Ontario, Canada, son of the Hon. William Purvis Rochfort Street, Justice of the Supreme Court of Judicature, Ontario (who died in 1906), and Eleanor, youngest daughter of the late Thomas Sheppard Smyth, of London, Ontario. He was educated at Upper Canada College, Toronto, and at the University of Toronto. On leaving Toronto University, he entered the 10th Royal Grenadiers (Canadian Militia), from which he was given a commission in the 1st Battn. Hampshire Regt. in Dec. 1897. He served on the North-West Frontier of India for two years, and subsequently exchanged into the 2nd Battn., joining it in the field in South Africa. Here he obtained the South African (Queen's) Medal with three clasps. After the South African War he was employed on garrison duty at Malta and Bermuda. He retired on grounds of health with the rank of Captain in 1906. On the outbreak of the European War in 1914, he offered his services to the War Office, and was given a commission in the 3rd Battn. Sherwood Foresters (Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire Regt.). He was subsequently attached to the 2nd Battn. in France in Jan. 1915. He was several times mentioned in Despatches, and in June, 1915, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for conspicuous good work under heavy fire, and for assisting in the rescue of men from a gassed mine. He was promoted Temporary Major at the end of 1915, and in the spring of 1916 he was in command of the battalion for three months. He was mortally wounded in action on the Somme on Sunday, 15 Oct. 1916, and died of his wounds the same day. He lies buried in the British Military Cemetery at Méaulte, near Albert. His Distinguished Service Order was gazetted 3 July, 1915: "Edmund Rochfort Street, Capt., 3rd Battn. The Sherwood Foresters (Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire Regt.). For conspicuous good work under heavy fire between 13 and 16 May, 1915, near Le Touquet, and for going down a gassed mine to assist in the rescue of men."

Edmund Rochfort Street.

WOOD, PERCY, Capt., served in the European War, 1915–18, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Percy Wood, Capt., 5th Battn. The Durham Light Infantry, Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry displayed in rallying troops under heavy bomb and hand-grenade fire, and for holding an advanced trench partly occupied by the enemy for four hours, until ordered to retire to a new line. He greatly impeded the enemy by building obstacles and entanglements in the trench down which the retirement took place." Capt. Wood is married, and has one son.

BURT-MARSHALL, DAVID BANNERMAN, Capt., was born 14 July, 1887, and was educated at Rugby and Sandhurst. He entered the Seaforth Highlanders 19 Sept. 1908; became Lieutenant, Seaforth Highlanders, 12 Oct. 1911; Army Signal Service 10 Sept. 1914, to 8 Jan. 1916; was promoted to Captain 26 April, 1915. He was G.S.O.3, 48th Division, B.E.F., 9 Jan. to 17 April, 1916; Brigade Major, 3rd Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 18 April, 1916, to 22 March, 1917; Brigade Major, 223rd Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 16 June, 1917, to 13 April, 1918; G.S.O.2, G.H.Q., British Salonika Force, 14 April to 6 May, 1918; G.S.O.2, 22nd Division, British Salonika Force, 7 May, 1918. For his services in the European War he was four times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1917; awarded the O.B.E., and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "David Bannerman Burt-Marshall, Capt., Seaforth Highlanders (Ross-shire Buffs, The Duke of Albany's), Signal Service. During the heavy fighting and gassing east of Ypres, early on the morning of 24 May, 1915, he was sent forward to get in touch with the front line and to remain there, keeping his Brigadier-General informed of the progress of events. This he did with conspicuous success, continually travelling over fire-swept ground to establish communication. Every Commanding Officer has brought his name to notice for the good work done on that day. His reports were valuable and always perfectly clear. He was wounded in the shoulder about midday, but continued to carry on his duties, not even waiting to have the wound dressed."

INGHAM, JOHN PATRICK MICHAEL, Capt., was born in 1884, eldest son of the late Joseph D. Ingham, of Drumany Montagh, Belturbet, and Dublin; and grandson of John Stannus Ingham, Solicitor, of Lisnamaine, County Cavan. He was educated at Belvedere College (S.J.), Dublin, and joined the Royal Munster Fusiliers from the Special Reserve 2 Oct. 1915; was Acting Major, Service Battn. Lancashire Fusiliers, 12 Sept. 1917; Temporary Major, Service Battn. Lancashire Fusiliers, 28 Aug. 1918; Acting Lieut.-Colonel, Service Battn. Lancashire Fusiliers, 6 Feb. to 11 Feb. 1919, and 27 Feb. 1919. Capt. Ingham served in the European War, 1914–18; was wounded, twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "John Patrick Michae Ingham, Capt., 4th Battn. The Connaught Rangers. On 26 April, 1915, in the action near Ypres, displayed great gallantry in leading his men forward beyond the last piece of cover, and when the few men who had reached him were finally stopped by very heavy close-range fire (most of them being wounded), exposed himself time after time in reorganizing them, and later in the afternoon in assisting in bringing under cover those who were helpless from their wounds. When night fell he was indefatigable in assisting to organize the defence of the line held. This officer has been brought to notice before for the excellence of his work since Oct. 1914."

John P. M. Ingham.

CHRISTIE, GEORGE JAMES, Major, served in the European War, 1914–15, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "George James Christie, Major, 9th (The Dumbartonshire) Battn. Princess Louise's (Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders), Territorial Force. Showed conspicuous bravery in rallying his men near Wieltje on 24 May, 1915, and leading about 50 of them up to the front line through the gas and heavy shell fire. It is understood that this officer did excellent work on 10 May when attached to another brigade, but owing to his colonel being killed on that day his good work was not mentioned."

PLEYDELL-RAILSTON, HENRY GEORGE MORETON, Captain, was born at Hamilton, N.B., 27 Nov. 1895, son of Colonel Henry Edward Railston, late Cameronians, and of 23, Queen's Gate, London, S.W., and his wife, Magdalen, daughter of the Rev. C. E. and Lady Georgina Oakley, and granddaughter of the 2nd Earl of Ducie. He was educated at Wellington and Sandhurst; was gazetted to the Rifle Brigade as Second Lieutenant 13 Aug. 1904; became Lieutenant 24 April, 1908; was Adjutant, Special Reserve, 10 March, 1913, to 5 Feb. 1915, and was promoted to Captain 4 Oct. 1913. His record of active service is as follows: Served in France with 4th Division (1st Rifle Brigade), Feb. to July, 1915; Macedonia, Jan. 1916, to Dec. 1918, as Acting Staff Captain to Mounted Brigade; Staff Captain, 84th Infantry Brigade; Brigade Major, 30th Brigade, 10th Division (Irish); commanded Scottish Horse (13th Battn. Black Watch), April, 1917, to June, 1918; commanded 4th Battn. Rifle Brigade, June to Dec. 1918. His awards were: The Distinguished Service Order, Immediate Award, France, 1915; Brevet of Major 3 June, 1917; Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 3 June, 1918; Croix de Guerre avec Palme, Sept. 1919; mentioned in Despatches 3 July, 1915, 1st Jan. 1916, 29 March, 1917, and 21 July, 1917. His Distinguished Service Order was gazetted 3 July, 1915: "Henry George Moreton Railston, Capt., 1st Battn. The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own). For great gallantry at Hannebeck on 3 May, 1915. He was in command of a section of the front-line trench 200 yards long. The trench and all the traverses were smashed by shell fire, and all the garrison except three men killed or wounded. Capt. Railston had been slightly wounded and had been buried by a shell, but he continued to defend the trench, and displayed the greatest coolness throughout, keeping back the enemy with rapid fire. He held the trench with his small party for several hours, until it was impossible to reinforce him, and when the question of retirement was mooted he refused to entertain the suggestion." There is a very interesting account of Capt. Railston's gallantry on this occasion in "Deeds that thrill the Empire," published by Messrs. Hutchinson. Lieut.-Colonel Railston's younger brother, Lieut. Spencer Railston, of the 18th (King George's Own) Lancers, was at home on leave from India when war was declared, and succeeded in getting attached to the 4th Dragoon Guards, and went with them to France on 14 Aug. 1914. On 1 Nov. 1914, he lost his life in a most gallant attempt to rescue a wounded peasant woman, who in very heavy village fighting had got between the British and the German lines. Lieut. Railston left his cover to do this, and was almost immediately riddled with bullets from a machine gun. This heroic young officer, who joined the Army in 1907, was one of the many good all-round sportsmen who have given their lives for their country, a very fine horseman, a good polo player and big-game shot, and at one time champion light-weight boxer of India. Lieut.-Colonel Railston married, 22 April, 1919, at Brompton Parish Church, Vivien, eldest daughter of the late Lieut.-Colonel Mansel-Pleydell, 12th Lancers, and Mrs. Mansel-Pleydell, of Whatcombe, Dorset.

H. G. M. Pleydell-Railston.

Digitized by Google

BOWEN, ALFRED JOHN HAMILTON, Capt., became Captain The Monmouthshire Regt. 1 July, 1910. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Alfred John Hamilton Bowen, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Monmouthshire Regt. (Territorial Force). On the 13th May, 1915, east of Ypres, though wounded in two places in the head before dawn, he refused to leave his company, and continued to command it with conspicuous ability. After the action was over and the battalion returned to La Brique, he was found to be suffering from two other wounds in the body. He was then sent to hospital." He was killed in action 2 March, 1917.

CLARK, WILLIAM GEORGE, Capt., was born 17 June, 1889, in London, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clark, of Roselawn, Bromley, Kent. He entered the 4th Battn. Royal Fusiliers; became Captain in 1914, and subsequently Major; served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches in Oct. 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "William George Clark, Capt., 4th (City of London) Battn. The London Regt. (Royal Fusiliers), Territorial Force. Near Ypres, on 27 May, 1915, while under very heavy shell and rifle fire, he collected men of his own and other companies, gallantly led them forward and held the position he gained until ordered to retire after dark." Major Clark married, in 1914, Jessica, eldest daughter of Marcus A. Pettitt.

KIMBER, EDMUND GIBBS, Capt., was born 6 Aug. 1870, son of Edmund and Marion Kimber. He was educated at University College, London, and was called to the Bar at Lincoln's Inn in 1892; is a Member of the South-Eastern Circuit and South London and Surrey Sessions. He was commissioned in Dec. 1896, in the 18th Middlesex Rifle Volunteers, serving continuously from that date in the Volunteers and Territorials to 31 March, 1920; from 1896 to 1908 in the 18th Middlesex Rifle Volunteers; from 1908 to 1912 in the 10th London Regt. (Paddington Rifles), and from 1912 to 1920 in the 13th London Regt. (Princess Louise's Kensington Battn.). He was promoted Captain in 1899; Major 1 June, 1916, and Lieutenant-Colonel 13 July, 1917. He served in the European War with the original British Expeditionary Force from 2 Nov. 1914, to 9 May, 1915; was present at the Battle of Neuve Chapelle, and was wounded at the Battle of Fromelles 9 May, 1915 (for further particulars of the part taken by his regiment—the 13th London—see Buchan's "History of the War"). He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Edmund Gibbs Kimber, Capt., 1/13th (County of London) Princess Louise's Kensington Battn. The London Regt., Territorial Force. For conspicuous ability and coolness in leading his company and getting it into position under a heavy fire south of Farm Delangre on 9 May, 1915. He held on to his position for six hours with heavy casualties, until nearly surrounded by the enemy, and then extricated the remnants of his company." He was Prosecutor and Judge-Advocate, Courts-Martial, Irish Rebellion, 1916; Staff Captain, War Office, 1917; D.A.A.G., War Office, 1918; A.A.G., War Office, 1919. He was twice mentioned in Despatches; twice or three times mentioned otherwise, and was awarded the C.B.E. 3 June, 1919, for services at the War Office. He has the Territorial Decoration. Lieut.-Colonel Kimber married, at Hampstead, N.W., on 9 May, 1913, Maud, daughter of William B. Wilson.

FIGG, DONALD WHITELY, Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 3 July, 1915]: "Donald Whitely Figg, Capt., 24th (County of London) Battn. The London Regt. (The Queen's), Territorial Force. For conspicuous and continuous gallantry on the night of 25–26 May, 1915, and following day at Givenchy, when, after taking part in an assault on a trench, he led repeated rushes with bombs into a German work, and when most of the bombers were killed continued the attack single-handed. His extraordinary bravery and disregard of danger enabled the dangerous flank he commanded to hold its own against constant assaults by the German bombers and riflemen. On the 26th May, when his line was enfiladed by rifle and very heavy shell fire, his determination held his men to their ground until relieved four hours later. For seventeen hours his conduct was a brilliant example to the hard-pressed men around him, and more than anyone in the battalion he contributed to the successful retention of the position won." He died of wounds 5 March 1917.

Donald Whitely Figg.

London Gazette, 3 July, 1915.—"War Office, 3 July, 1915. With reference to the notification in the London Gazette of the 3rd June, 1915, the acts of gallantry and distinguished services at the Dardanelles for which the rewards of the Distinguished Service Order were granted by His Majesty the King, are as follows:—Lieut.-Colonel Walter Ramsey McNicoll, 6th Australian Infantry Battn. (Victoria). On the night of 25–26 April, 1915, during operations near Gaba Tepe, for repeatedly exhibiting great gallantry and skill in the command of his battalion.—Lieut.-Colonel Cyril Brudenell Bingham White, Royal Australian Garrison Artillery, Staff. During the operations near Gaba Tepe on 25 April, 1915, and subsequently for his distinguished service in co-ordinating staff work, and in reorganization after the inevitable dislocation and confusion arising from the first landing operations. He displayed exceptional ability.—Major Arthur Thackeray Beckwith, The Hampshire Regt. On 26 April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, for brilliant and gallant leading of troops in the attack on the fort and town. Showed exceptional coolness and efficiency.—Major Charles Henry Brand, 3rd Infantry Brigade (Australian Forces). On 25 April, 1915, during operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe, for conspicuous gallantry and ability in organizing stragglers under heavy fire, and for organizing and leading an attack resulting in the disablement of three of the enemy's guns. Major Brand conveyed messages himself on many occasions under fire during emergencies.—Major James Samuel Denton, 11th Australian Infantry Battn. (West Australia). During the operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe on 25 April, 1915, for valuable services in obtaining and transmitting information to ships' guns and mountain batteries, and subsequently for holding a trench, with about 20 men, for over six days, repulsing several determined attacks.—Major Herbert Hart, Wellington Battn. 17th (Ruahine) Regt., New Zealand Forces. On 26 April, 1915, during operations near Gaba Tepe, for distinguished service in rallying men and digging into an important forward position in the face of an extremely severe fire. The country was wooded and difficult, and unreconnoitred, and his force was subject to constant surprise attacks.—Major James Heane, 4th Australian Infantry Battn. (New South Wales). On 1 May, 1915, during the operations near Gaba Tepe, for displaying conspicuous gallantry in leading his company to the support of a small force which, in an isolated trench, was without means of reinforcement, replenishment, or retreat. He attained his object at a heavy sacrifice.—Major William Owen Mansbridge, 16th Australian Infantry Battn. On 25 April, 1915, during operations near Gaba Tepe, for exceptional gallantry and resource during the first assault, and again on the 2nd and 3rd May during an assault on a difficult position.—Major Eugene Joseph O'Neill, F.R.C.S., New Zealand Medical Corps. On 25 and 26 April, 1915, during operations near Gaba Tepe, for exceptionally good service, and exhibiting initiative and resource in command of a bearer subdivision.—Major Robert Rankine, 14th Australian Infantry Battn. (Victoria). On the night of 26–27 April, 1915, during operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe, for gallantly leading an assault resulting in the capture of a most important post, and subsequently for holding that position against repeated attacks for five days without relief.—Major Frederick Waite, New Zealand Engineers, Territorial Force. On the night of 2–3 May, 1915, during operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe, for gallantry and resource in rallying his men and leading them forward at critical moments.—Capt. Edward William Atkinson, 1st Battn. The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers. On 2 May, 1915, during operations south of Krithia, for gallantly leading a counter-attack, capturing a Turkish trench 300 yards to his front, and for the efficient command of his battalion, all the senior officers having become casualties.—Capt. Arthur Graham Butler, Australian Army Medical Corps (attached 9th Australian Infantry Battn.). During operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe on 25 April, 1915, and subsequent dates, for conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in attending wounded under heavy fire, continuously displaying courage of a high order.—Capt. Arthur Cunliffe Bernard Critchley-Salmonson, The Royal Munster Fusiliers (attached New Zealand Forces). During operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe on 25 April, 1915, for great gallantry and resource in command of a small party, and saving a difficult situation. Again, on the night of 2–3 May, he successfully led a small party to an advanced trench under great difficulties.—Capt. Guy Westland Geddes, 1st Battn. The Royal Munster Fusiliers. On 25 April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, for gallantly leading his men into lighters and then swimming ashore under heavy fire. He continued doing duty till nightfall, although wounded early in the day.—Capt. Richard Haworth, The Lancashire Fusiliers. On 25 April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, for gallantly leading 50 men to the wire entanglements of a strongly held redoubt. Although wounded, he refused to be removed until more troops arrived, and continued to command with a bullet through his back.—Capt. Cecil Ridings, 1st Battn. The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers. On 28 April, 1915, during operations south of Krithia, for exceptionally gallant and capable leading under difficult conditions, maintaining a forward position in spite of heavy losses at a critical moment, although unsupported on either flank, and being himself severely wounded.—Lieut. Henry Desmond O'Hara, 1st Battn. The Royal Dublin Fusiliers. On 25 April, 1915, at Sedd-el-Bahr, took command of his battalion when all other officers had been killed or wounded. At night, when the enemy broke through the line, he displayed great initiative and resource in organizing a successful counter-attack, restoring the line and causing great loss to the enemy."

London Gazette, 3 July, 1915.—"Admiralty, 3 July, 1915. With reference to the list of awards to Officers and Men of the R.N.D. in recognition of their services with the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, which appeared in the London Gazette of 3 June, the following are statements of the services of the Officers therein mentioned:—Commander Victor Lindsay Arbuthnot Campbell, R.N. Displayed conspicuous ability and initiative during the operations between 5 and 10 May, near Krithia, Cape Helles; owing to his skill as Officer Commanding the forward line, losses, though heavy, were less severe than they would otherwise have been.—Lieut.-Commander Bernard Cecil Freyburg, R.N.V.R. Displayed conspicuous gallantry on 25 April during the landing operations in the Gulf of Xeros. He swam with flares, and, although alone, reconnoitred the enemy's position and swam back; he was over two hours in the water."

London Gazette, 24 July, 1915.—"War Office, 24 July, 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to approve of the following rewards for gallantry and devotion to duty in the field. To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

WILSON, JAMES THOMSON RANKINE, Lieut.-Colonel, was born 27 June, 1875. He was educated at Edinburgh Academy, and served in the EuropeanWar, 1914–15. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "James

Digitized by Google

Thomas Rankine Wilson, Lieut.-Colonel, 1/5th Battn. Royal Scots (Queen's Edinburgh Rifles), Territorial Force. For conspicuous ability and resource on 19 June, 1915, during operations in the neighbourhood of Krithia, Dardanelles, where he reorganized and carried out the recapture of a Turkish trench from which the troops of another division had been forced back. The success gained was due to Lieut.-Colonel Wilson's skilful and bold leading, and his prompt assumption of responsibility." He married, in 1897, Dora Florence, daughter of Thomas Hall, and they have five sons and two daughters.

James T. R. Wilson.

ARMITAGE, CHARLES LEATHLEY, Capt., was born 6 March, 1871, at Breckenbrough, Cheltenham, son of the Rev. Arthur Armitage, of St. John's Church, Cheltenham. He was educated at Winchester College, and joined the King's (Liverpool) Regt. 12 March, 1892. He retired in March, 1907; was Chief Constable of Southport to 14 Aug. 1914. On the outbreak of war Capt. Armitage was appointed to Preston Record Office, and was transferred to the Worcestershire Regt. in Oct. 1914. He disembarked in France, 1 Oct. 1914; served continuously in France in various parts of the line from Bailleux to Vermelles till 26 Oct. 1915, when he was wounded in an assault at Loos. He disembarked in England 1 Nov. 1915. For his services in the field on 19 Sept. 1915, he was awarded the rank of Brevet Major; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Charles Leathley Armitage, Capt., 6th Battn Worcestershire Regt. (attached 2nd Battn.). For conspicuous coolness and gallantry in an assault on the German lines at Richebourg on the night of 15 May, 1915. He led the assault in the face of a very heavy rifle and machine-gun fire, and after his assault had been forced back he skilfully withdrew and reorganized the attack behind our breastworks. He also showed conspicuous ability in organizing the rescue of the wounded under heavy fire throughout the night." Major Armitage is Chief Constable of Southport. He married, 15 Jan. 1901, Esther Armitage, daughter of Richard Armitage, of Highfield, Ben Rhydding, Leeds.

Charles L. Armitage.

BROCK, ALEC WALTER SAUMAREZ, Capt., was born 1 Aug. 1878. He was gazetted to the Leicestershire Regt. 21 April, 1900; became Lieutenant 23 Oct. 1901; Captain 29 April, 1907; was Adjutant, Leicestershire Regt. 13 Nov. 1908, to 29 Jan. 1911; was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Lecestershire Regt., 31 July, 1916, to 5 July, 1917; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding Territorial Force Battn. Dorsetshire Regt. 6 July to 11 Aug. 1917; Acting Lieut.-Colonel, Leicestershire Regt., 12 Aug. 1917, to 31 Dec. 1918; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Leicestershire Regt. 1 Jan. 1919. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria; was present during operations in Orange River Colony; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River (Queen's Medal with three clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–18, he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917: created a C.M.G., 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Alec Walter Saumarez Brock, Capt., 2nd Battn.Leicestershire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry near Neuve Chapelle on 1 May, 1915, when in command of a company containing 50 per cent. of reinforcements who had not previously been under fire. His trench was heavily bombarded, and several casualties occurred, while he himself was knocked down and badly bruised by the explosion of a big shell. It was owing to his coolness and skill in getting his men under cover that the casualties were not much heavier, and that his company was ready to receive and repulse an infantry attack made later by the enemy. Capt. Brock displayed the highest qualities of a company commander under very trying circumstances."

BROWN, HAROLD, Capt., was born at Weetwood, near Leeds, 4 Jan. 1879, son of G. W. Brown, Esq., of Belsize Park Gardens, N.W., and Weetwood, Leeds. He was educated at Loretto, and at Jesus College, Cambridge, and was a member of the Cambridge University Rifle Volunteers from 1899–1902. He received a commission in the 5th Yorkshire Regt. in April, 1914. He served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Harold Brown, Capt., 5th Battn. Yorkshire Regt. (T.F.). For conspicuous gallantry and ability on several occasions, notably near Hooge, on the night of 11 June, 1915, when he made a very successful reconnaissance of the German trenches. He remained out close to the German barbed wire for one and a quarter hours, although fired at several times. Both before and since this occasion Capt. Brown has made similar daring and successful reconnaissances." Capt. Brown was awarded the Military Cross in 1916, for his services in a raid. He was cut off from his party in a German trench, but succeeded in clearing the trench, killing seven of the enemy and taking one prisoner. He also received the French Croix de Guerre, for organizing and carrying out a successful raid on an enemy consolidated crater. He was mentioned in Despatches in 1915, 1916 and 1917, and was given the Brevet of Major in the New Year's Honours List in 1917. He was killed in action in April, 1918. Major Brown married, 29 Nov. 1904, Dorothy J. Ellison, daughter of the late William Carr Ellison and Mrs. Carr Ellison, of Sheffield and Scarborough, and they had four children: John Ellison, born 13 March, 1907; Elizabeth Ayrton, born 12 Dec. 1910; Dorothea Ellison, born 12 Sept. 1912, and Lynette Ellison, born 1 Aug. 1915.

Harold Brown

ESCOMBE, WILLIAM MALCOLM LINGARD, Capt., was born at Bromley, Kent, 25 Dec. 1891, son of R. L. Escombe. He was educated at Bradfield College, and joined the Army (T.F.) in March, 1911. He served in the European War in France from March to Sept. 1915 He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for services rendered at Givenchy at the end of May, 1915. The award appeared in the London Gazette of 24 July, 1915: "William Malcolm Lingard Escombe, Capt., 20th Battn. London Regt. (Blackheath and Woolwich), T.F. For conspicuous gallantry and skill in establishing himself on the crest of the Givenchy bluff on 28 May, 1915, under very heavy fire, and from there directing bomb-throwers with great success for an hour. His prompt action not only repelled a hostile attack, but secured fresh ground, which was consolidated." Capt. Escombe was wounded at the Battle of Loos 25 Sept. 1915. In Dec. 1916, he was appointed Assistant Instructor at the 2nd Army Central School, British Expeditionary Force. He describes his principal pursuit as "making both ends meet," and his sporting achievements as "getting married on his Army pay." He married Eileen, youngest daughter of Dr. W. Love.

EVANS, LEWIS PUGH, Capt., was awarded the V.C. (see Victoria Cross Volume). He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Lewis Pugh Evans, Capt., Royal Highlanders. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 16 June, 1915, at Hooge, when, after troops had become much mixed up, he continually moved up and down the firing line under heavy fire from 10 a.m. till midnight reorganizing units and bringing back their reports."

LEE-WARNER, HARRY GRANVILLE, Capt., was born 1 Jan. 1882, only son of the late John Lee-Warner, I.C.S. He was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 31 July, 1902, becoming Lieutenant 31 July, 1905, and Captain 30 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War from 1914–17, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Harry Granville Lee-Warner, Capt., 9th Battn. Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during the operations near Rue du Bois from 9 to 19 May, 1915. Although wounded on the 9th, he remained in command of his battery till forced to give in on the 19th, and during this period he was indefatigable in reconnoitring and reporting on the situation He was twice shelled out of his observation stations, and did excellent work under heavy shell fire." He was awarded the Military Cross in 1916; was promoted Major 13 April, 1916; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel from Nov. 1916, to Aug. 1917; Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, 8th Division, British Armies in France, 3 Sept. 1917, to 27 Aug. 1918. He was wounded five times, and was twice mentioned in Despatches. Major Lee-Warner married Audrey, daughter of Rwholl Dare, of Newtownbarry, County Wexford.

RADFORD, MAURICE CLIVE, Capt., was born 5 April, 1884. He was gazetted to the Royal Berkshire Regt. 16 Aug. 1905, and was promoted Lieutenant 5 April, 1909. He served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Maurice Clive Radford, Capt., 1st Battn. Royal Berkshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at Cuinchy on the night of 21 June, 1915, when the Germans pumped gas into a mine in which four of our men were on listening-post. Under direction of Capt. Radford, who displayed great gallantry and resource, the efforts of two N.C.O.'s and two men, who bravely went down the mine, were successful in getting the men out. At about 4.15 a.m., on 22 June, following their gas attack, the Germans exploded a mine in front of our own, in which were a sergeant and about eight of our men, but owing to the gallant efforts of Capt. Radford, another officer and a few men, who repeatedly went down among the fumes, all the men were rescued, although the rescuers suffered considerably." He was killed in action in France 28 Sept. 1915.

ROE, CHARLES DOUGLAS, Capt., was born 26 April, 1882, son of Capt. R. G. Roe, R.N. He entered the Royal Irish Regt. 18 Jan. 1902, and was promoted Lieutenant 3 June, 1904; was transferred to the Indian Army 18 Aug. 1904, and became Captain 18 Jan. 1911. Capt. Roe served in the European War, 1914–15. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Charles Douglas Roe, Capt., 1/4th Gurkha Rifles. For conspicuous gallantry and resource near the Bois de Biez on 2 and 4 July, 1915, when reconnoitring the enemy's positions by day. He collected information of great value, and on one occasion, though opposed by overwhelming numbers, he kept them at bay by bombs and rifle fire, and brought back his party with only one wounded, after inflicting considerable loss on the enemy." He was promoted Major 18 Jan. 1917. Major C. D. Roe married, in 1904, Daisy Blanche Marion, eldest daughter of the late Major H. J. W. Mackenzie-Kennedy, Norfolk Regt., and they have one son.

Digitized by Google

SCOTT, JAMES MORISON, Capt., entered the Army (Territorial Force) in 1905. He served in the European War from 1914–18. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "James Morison Scott, Capt., 7th Battn. Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry and resource on many occasions. He was the only officer left with his battalion at the end of the day on 24 May, 1915, near Wieltje, where his conduct when in charge of machine guns was marked by the highest ability and bravery." He became Acting Lieutenant-Colonel commanding the 5th Seaforth Highlanders. He received the Belgian Order of Leopold.

STURGES, CHARLES HERBERT MANSFIELD, Capt., was born 6 April, 1884, son of the Rev. Herbert Court Sturges, M.A. (deceased). He was educated at Haileybury College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 24 Dec. 1902. He was promoted Lieutenant 24 Dec. 1905, and was employed with the West African Frontier Force from 3 July, 1909, to 12 Sept. 1913, serving in the operations in the Ogwashi Oku country, Southern Nigeria, 1909–10 (Medal and clasp). Capt. Sturges served in the European War from 17 Sept. 1914, to 17 Nov. 1915, and 24 May, 1916 onwards. He was promoted Captain 30 Oct. 1914. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Charles Herbert Mansfield Sturges, Capt., 1st Siege Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry and general good work as an Observing Officer and throughout the campaign, notably during the attack at the Rue du Bois on 9 May, and during attacks on 15 and 16 May. During these last attacks he was shelled out of two houses in succession, but proceeded to a third, where, although blown down the ladder by the force of a shell, he still continued to observe and correct the fire of his battery." Capt. Sturges was again mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1916, and attained his Majority 2 Aug. 1917. He also received the Order of Leopold and the Croix de Guerre. His battery is the 96th Siege Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery.

Charles H. M. Sturges.

WOODGATE, AUSTIN BRADFORD, Capt., was born 12 Sept. 1884, only son of the late Alfred Henry Augustus Woodgate. He was educated at St. Edward's School, Oxford. He served with the 3rd Battn. (Militia) of the King's Own Regt., 1904–7, then resigned his commission, and served in the South African Mounted Police. He rejoined the Army after the declaration of war; was gazetted Lieutenant to the 3rd Battn. The King's Own Royal Lancaster Regt. (attached 1st Battn.) in Sept. 1914; became Captain in Feb. 1915; Captain, 1st Battn. East Lancashire Regt. 2 Oct. 1915. Capt. Woodgate served in the European War from 1914 to 1916. He was thrice wounded; was awarded the Military Cross, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 July, 1915]: "Austin Bradford Woodgate, Capt., 3rd Battn. Royal Lancaster Regt. (attached 1st Battn.). For conspicuous gallantry on 24 May, 1915, when, after the Germans had captured the trenches held by the battalion on his right, he, with another officer and three men, held up the enemy from working along the trench. Although the enemy was in force and with an unlimited supply of hand-grenades, he not only held them up, but succeeded under a heavy shell fire in capturing two traverses and a German flag, which had been put up to mark their position. Capt. Woodgate also rendered invaluable service throughout the winter, especially during the underground fight in the mine gallaery at Le Toquet." He was attached to the Machine Gun Corps 18 Dec. 1915, and became Temporary Major 16 Feb. 1918. Capt. Woodgate's favourite recreations are hockey and lawn tennis.

Austin B. Woodgate.

London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915.—"Admiralty, 7 Aug. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order of the undermentioned Officers, in recognition of their services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

HEARD, HUGH LINDSAY PATRICK, Capt., was born 2 Aug. 1869, at Bangalore, Madras Presidency, son of Samuel Thomas Heard, D.L., and Katherine, daughter of William Bradley, M.L.C., of Goulburn, New South Wales. He was educated at Dedham (Essex); Stubbington, and in H.M.S. Britannia, and entered the Navy 15 Jan. 1885, becoming Lieutenant, 1892; Commander, 1903; Captain, 1910, and Commodore in May, 1918. In the European War Capt. Heard served from 2 Aug. to Nov. 1914, in H.M.S. Grafton, and from Nov. 1914, to July, 1915, in H.M.S. Columbella, both in the 10th Cruiser Squadron. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: Hugh Lindsay Patrick Heard, Capt., Royal Navy. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war." He was in H.M.S. Duncan from 1 July, 1915, to April, 1917, in the British Adriatic Squadron and the British Eastern Mediterranean Squadron, and from March 1917, to Jan. 1919, Senior Naval Officer at Berehaven Auxiliary Patrol Base. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was appointed Commander of the Crown of Italy.

TREWBY, GEORGE, Capt., was born in Essex 19 Oct. 1874, son of the late George Careless Trewby, M.I.C.E., Civil Engineer. He was educated privately, and in H.M.S. Britannia, which he entered in Oct. 1887. He was promoted Captain 31 June, 1913. He served in the European War from 1914 to 1917. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for services in the Blockade Squadron (10th Cruiser Squadron), in command of H.M. Ships Crescent and Alsatian, and as Flag Captain to Admiral Sir D. R. De Chair from the outbreak of War [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "George Trewby, Capt., Royal Navy. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war." Capt. Trewby married, 28 Aug. 1916, at Capetown, South Africa, Dorothea, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. de W. Allan, of Port Nolloth, Namaqualand, and they have one son.

EDWARDS, HUGH, Capt., Royal Navy, served in the European War from 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915] "Hugh Edwards, Capt., Royal Navy. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war." Capt. Hugh Edwards died 5 Dec. 1916, of wounds.

OUTRAM, EDMUND, Commander, served in the European War in H.M.S. Alsatian, 1914–15. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "Edmund Outram, Commander, Royal Naval Reserve. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

MAIN, FRANK MORGAN, Lieut.-Commander, served in the European War from 1914–17 on patrol duty. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "Frank Morgan Main, R.D., Lieut.-Commander, Royal Naval Reserve. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

SMITH, HENRY PHILIP BASDEN, Lieut.-Commander, served in the European War on patrol duty. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "Henry Philip Basden Smith, R.D., Lieut.-Commander, Royal Naval Reserve. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

BACON, SIDNEY KENRICK, Lieut.-Commander, was born 29 March, 1871, son of Capt. K. V. Bacon, late 29th Worcester Regt. He entered the Navy in 1901, becoming Lieutenant, 1903; Lieutenant-Commander, 1913; Commander, 1917. He saw active service in South Africa, 1901–2; was in the Egyptian Government Service from 1912–14. He served in the European War, 1914–15, on patrol duty; was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "Sidney Kenrick Bacon, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Naval Reserve. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

WILSON, ROBERT, Chief Engineer, served in the European War, 1914–17. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "Robert Wilson, Chief Engineer, Royal Naval Reserve. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

ROWE, WILLIAM, Chief Engineer, served in the European War, 1914–15. He was mentioned in Despatches for services in patrol work, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "William Rowe, R.D., Chief Engineer, Royal Naval Reserve. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

DIXON, ELIAS STEPHENSON, Chief Engineer, served in the European War, 1914–18, engaged on patrol duties. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "Elias Stephenson Dixon, Chief Engineer, Royal Naval Reserve. In recognition of services in the patrol cruisers since the outbreak of war."

London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915.—"Admiralty, 7 Aug. 1915. The King has further been pleased to give orders for the appointment to the Distinguished Service Order of the following Officer."

EDWARDS, HARRINGTON DOUTY, Lieut.-Commander, was born 22 Dec. 1885, at Tyrrel's House, Antigua, West Indies, son of Charles R. Edwards, M.R.C.S., and Ella Edwards. He was educated at St. Faith's, Cambridge, and at Chigwell School, and became a Midshipman in the Royal Navy 30 May, 1902. He entered the Submarine Branch of the Service in 1907. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Aug. 1915]: "Harrington Douty Edwards, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy." The decoration was awarded for some special service; no official account was published. Lieut.-Commander H. D. Edwards was lost in his submarine with all hands 11 March, 1916.

London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915.—"Admiralty, 16 Aug. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order of the undermentioned Officers, in recognition of their services as mentioned in the Despatch from Vice-Admiral de Robeck reporting the landing of the Army on the Gallipoli Peninsula 25–26 April, 1915."

JANVRIN, RALPH BENEST, Lieut.-Commander, is the son of the Rev. William Langston Benest Janvrin, M.A., Rector of Cradley, Malvern, and Prebendary in Hereford Cathedral. He served in the European War in the Dardanelles in 1914–15, being present at the landing of the Expeditionary Force on Gallipoli 25–26 April, 1915. Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, in his Despatch reporting the landing, specially recommended him as follows: "Lieut.-Commander Ralph B. Janvrin conducted the trawlers into Morto Bay, for the landing at 'De Totts' with much skill. This officer showed great judgment and coolness under fire, and carried out a difficult task with great success." For his services he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Ralph Benest Janvrin, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy. In recognition of services as mentioned in the foregoing Despatch." In 1916 he was employed in the North Sea, and was again mentioned in Despatches.

Digitized by Google

KEYES, ADRIAN ST. VINCENT, Lieut.-Commander, is the son of the late Sir Charles Keyes. He served in the European War in the Dardanelles from 1914–18. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "In recognition of services as mentioned in the foregoing Despatch, Adrian St. Vincent Keyes, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy." The Despatch referred to was that of Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, describing the landing of the Army on the Gallipoli Peninsula 25 to 26 April, 1915, in which he received the following special recommendation: "General Sir Ian Hamilton reports as follows: 'Lieut.-Commander Keyes showed great coolness, gallantry and ability. The success of the landing on "Y" Beach was largely due to his good service. When circumstances compelled the force landed there to re-embark, this officer showed exceptional resource and leadership in successfully conducting that difficult operation.' I entirely concur in General Hamilton's opinion of this officer's services on 25–26 April." Lieut.-Commander Keyes has retired. He was made a C.B.E. in 1919. He married, in 1916, Eleanor, daughter of Lieut.-Colonel Walter Campbell, The Ivy House, Hampton Court.

MORSE, JOHN ANTHONY VERE, Lieut., was born 16 Oct. 1892, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Morse, of 14, Airlie Gardens, Campden Hill, W. He was educated at Osborne; entered the Royal Navy in 1905; became Lieutenant in 1914. He served in the European War in the Dardanelles in 1914 and 1915. Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, in his Despatch regarding the landing of the Expeditionary Force on Gallipoli on 25–26 April, 1915, specially recommended him as follows: "Lieut. John A. V. Morse, R.N., assisted to secure the lighters at the bows of the River Clyde under a heavy fire, and was very active throughout the 25th and 26th at 'V' Beach." He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "John Anthony Vere Morse, Lieut., Royal Navy. In recognition of (his) services as mentioned in the foregoing Despatch." He was again mentioned in Despatches; is in command of H.M.S. Unity. Lieut. Morse married, at St. John's, Westminster, S.W., on 5 April, 1917, Mary Faith, eldest daughter of the Rev. W. Howard Lees, C.F., and Mrs. Lees, of Little Nutcombe, Hindhead, and 11, Aubrey Walk, Campden Hill, W. They have two children, Jane Antonia Unity and Clyde Anthony Leeds.

John Anthony Vere Morse.

KELLY, PETER BURROWES, Surgeon, was born 23 Sept. 1888, son of Gilbert Graves Kelly. He was educated in Dublin and London. He served in the European War in 1914 and 1915, and was present at the landing of the Expeditionary Force on Gallipoli 25 and 26 April. He was mentioned in the Despatch of Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, reporting on these operations, as follows: "Surgeon P. B. Kelly, R.N., attached to the R.N.A.S., was wounded in the foot on the morning of the 25th in the River Clyde. He remained in River Clyde until the morning of 27th, during which time he attended 750 wounded men, although in great pain and unable to walk during the last 24 hours." He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Peter Burrowes Kelly, Surgeon, Royal Navy. In recognition of (his) services as mentioned in the foregoing Despatch." Surgeon P. Burrowes Kelly was appointed Lieut.-Surgeon at the Royal Naval College, Osborne, Isle of Wight. His chief recreations are Rugby football, cricket and shooting. He is married and has one daughter.

London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915.—"Admiralty, 16 Aug. 1915. The following awards have been made in recognition of services during the operations in the vicinity of the Dardanelles prior to 25–26 April. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order of the undermentioned Officers, in recognition of their services as mentioned."

MELLOR, WILLIAM, Commander, was born 20 Aug. 1874, at Walton, Liverpool, son of the late John Mellor, of Rutland House, Blundellsands, and Mary Elizabeth, daughter of the late W. B. Kewley, of Waterloo, Liverpool. He was educated at the Merchant Taylors' School, Great Crosby, Liverpool, and in H.M.S. Britannia, which he entered in June, 1887. He became Midshipman 15 Aug. 1889; Sub-Lieutenant 20 Aug. 1893; Lieutenant, Royal Navy, 20 Aug. 1894, and Commander 30 June, 1906; commanded H.M.S. Odin in the Persian Gulf, Feb. 1912, to March, 1914 (Naval General Service Medal and clasp for prevention of gun-running). Commander Mellor served in the European War. He was in charge of the mine-sweeping operations in the Dardanelles, Jan. to May, 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "William Mellor, Commander, R.N. Commander Mellor was in charge of the Trawler Mine-sweepers, and took part in all the mine-sweeping operations under fire prior to and including the 18th March. He displayed conspicuous gallantry, always being to the fore in a picket-boat, in the most exposed positions, encouraging his sweepers and setting a fine example." He was present throughout the whole of the Gallipoli Campaign in command of H.M. Kite Balloon Ships Manica and Canning, and was subsequently D.N.T.O. at Salonika and Port Convoy Officer at Taranto and Marseilles.

MIDDLETON, JOHN RICKARDS, Lieut.-Commander (now Commander), was born 10 Oct. 1880, son of the late R. W. E. Middleton. He served in the South African War, landing as a Midshipman with the Naval Brigade for the defence of Ladysmith, 1900 (Despatches). He served in the European War, 1914–17, including the Dardanelles; was mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "John Rickards Middleton, Lieut.-Commander (now Commander), Royal Navy Lieut.-Commander Middleton on three occasions entered the mine-fields under heavy fire, where he organized and successfully carried out attacks—by means of explosive creeps—on the cables and jackstays." Commander Middleton married, in 1910, Sara Towle.

SANDFORD, FRANCIS HUGH, Lieut., was born at Cornwood, Devon, 10 Oct. 1887, son of Ernest Grey Sandford, Archdeacon of Exeter (died in 1910), and Ethel R., daughter of Gabriel Poole. He was educated at Clifton College, and joined H.M.S. Britannia at Dartmouth in the summer of 1902; was promoted Sub-Lieutenant 3 Aug. 1907. He served in the European War in the Dardanelles in 1915; was severely wounded; mentioned in Despatches of Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Francis Hugh Sandford, Lieut., Royal Navy. Lieut. Sandford was specially recommended for his good work in connection with the attacks on the mine-fields, which he entered on several occasions, including night of 13–14 March. He invariably displayed great determination when under fire. Lieut. Sandford also rendered good service in the demolition of Fort Seddul Bahr." He received his promotion to Commander and the French Croix de Guerre avec Palme in 1918, for his services in the raids which closed the harbours at Zeebrugge and Ostend.

Francis Hugh Sandford.

COX, BERNARD THOMAS, A/Lieut., was born 22 June, 1884, at Atherstone-on-Stour, son of Rev. Cecil Walker Cox, Rector of North Kilworth, and Louisa Florence Cox (formerly Bridges). He was educated at St. Cuthbert's College, Worksop (1896–98), and in the Conway (1898–1900). He served in the European War, and was severely wounded at the Dardanelles. He was mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Bernard Thomas Cox, A/Lieut., Royal Naval Reserve. Lieut. Cox behaved in a most gallant manner when a volunteer in Trawler No. 318, during the attack on the mine-field on 13–14 March. Though severely wounded, he refused to quit his bridge until out of action. His vessel suffered serious damage and severe casualties." He was promoted Lieutenant 2 Sept. 1915 Lieut. Cox married Katherine Audrey, second daughter of the Rev. C. E. and Mrs. Couchman.

METCALFE, CHRISTOPHER POWELL, Capt., was born 25 March, 1873. He served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Christopher Powell Metcalfe, Capt., Royal Navy. On the 18th March, after H.M.S. Irresistible struck a mine, Capt. Metcalfe took H.M.S. Wear alongside her, and rescued nearly the whole of her crew under a very heavy fire, which caused several casualties—a very fine display of seamanship." Capt. C. P. Metcalfe married Annie Duddell, daughter of George Minza.

ACHESON, THE HONOURABLE PATRICK GEORGE EDWARD CAVENDISH, M.V.O., Lieut.-Commander, was born 30 June, 1883, second son of the 4th Earl of Gosford and the Countess of Gosford. He was educated at the Naval College; was created an M.V.O. in 1914. He served in the European War, 1914–15, and was in H.M.S. Inflexible in the Falkland Islands Battle, the Dardanelles, and the Battle of Jutland. He was mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "The Honourable Patrick George Edward Cavendish Acheson, Lieut.-Commander (now Commander), Royal Navy. Lieut.-Commander Acheson, with Acting Sub-Lieut. Alfred E. B. Giles, Chief Engine Room Artificer, Second Class, Robert Snowdon, O.N. 270564, and Stoker, First Class, Thomas Davidson, O.N. K.147538, went down into the fore magazine and shell-room of H.M.S. Inflexible, when the parties working in these places had been driven out by fumes, caused by the explosion of a mine under the ship; they closed valves and water-tight doors, lights being out. the shell-room having two feet of water in it, rising quickly, and the magazine flooding slowly. The fumes were beginning to take effect on Acting Sub-Lieut. Giles, but neither he nor the others left until ordered to do so by Lieut.-Commander Acheson, who was the last to leave the shell-room." Commander Acheson also has the Order of St. Stanislas, Second Class with Swords. He married, 24 Dec. 1915, at St. George's, Hanover Square, London, W., Norah, daughter of Alfred E. Jones, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada; they have one son, Nicholas Archibald Edward Patrick, born 23 May, 1917.

Digitized by Google

GILES, ALFRED EDWARD BOSCAWEN, Acting Sub-Lieut. (now Sub-Lieut.), served in the European War, 1914–15, in the Dardanelles; was in H.M.S. Inflexible when she was struck by a mine. He was mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Alfred Edward Boscawen Giles, Acting Sub-Lieut. (now Sub-Lieut.), Royal Navy. Lieut.-Commander Acheson, with Acting Sub-Lieut. Alfred E. B. Giles, Chief Engine Room Artificer, 2nd Class, Robert Snowdon, O.N. 270564, and Stoker, First Class, Thomas Davidson, O.N. K.147538, went down into the fore magazine and shell-room of H.M.S. Inflexible, when the parties working in these places had been driven out by fumes, caused by the explosion of a mine under the ship; they closed valves and water-tight doors, lights being out, the shell-room having two feet of water in it, rising quickly, and the magazine flooding slowly. The fumes were beginning to take effect on Acting Sub-Lieut. Giles, but neither he nor the others left until ordered to do so by Lieut.-Commander Acheson, who was the last to leave the shell-room." Sub-Lieut. A. E. B. Giles was accidentally drowned 25 Oct. 1917.

Alfred E. B. Giles.

LASHMORE, HARRY, Engineer-Commander, was born at Southampton 16 Nov. 1868, son of Henry Lashmore, Journalist, and Helen Lashmore (deceased). He was educated at Southampton Boys' College and High School, and was afterwards an Engineer Student in H.M. Ship Marlborough at Portsmouth, and at the Royal Naval College at Devonport. He became Assistant Engineer, Royal Navy, 1 Aug. 1890; was promoted Engineer-Lieutenant 1 Feb. 1895. He was an officer of H.M.S. Ormele when the Pioneer collided with that vessel in Corfu Bay early in 1903, and was complimented by two courts-martial; was promoted to Engineer-Commander for Special Service, 1907. He was appointed to the Inflexible 8 Jan. 1914, and served in her at the Dardanelles in charge of the engine room. He was created a C.B. (Military Division), King's Birthday Honours, June, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Harry Lashmore, C.B., Engineer-Commander, Royal Navy. During the time H.M.S. Inflexible was steaming to Tenedos—after having struck a mine—the engine-room being in semi-darkness and great heat, the ship in possible danger of sinking on passage, a high standard of discipline was called for in the Engineer Department, a call which was more than met. Engineer-Commander Harry Lashmore, responsible for the discipline of the engine-room department, was in the starboard engine-room throughout the passage, and set a fine example to his men." He was also mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck. He subsequently served for about two and a half years on the Staff at Port Said, and was then appointed to represent the Admiralty on the International Control Board. He became Engineer-Captain in 1917. His ship is H.M.S. Euryalus. Engineer-Captain Lashmore is a Member of the Institute of Naval Architects. He married, at Llanelly, 15 Aug. 1900, Beatrice, daughter of the late John Evans and Mrs. Evans, of Cardiff.

LESTER, ARTHUR ELLIS, Engineer-Lieut.-Commander, served in the European War, 1914–18, in H.M.S. Inflexible, He was present at the Battle of the Falkland Islands and at the Dardanelles. He was mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Arthur Ellis Lester, Engineer-Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy. During the time H.M.S. Inflexible was steaming to Tenedos—after having struck a mine—the engine-room being in semi-darkness and great heat, the ship in possible danger of sinking on passage, a high standard of discipline was called for in the Engineer Department, a call which was more than met. Engineer-Commander Harry Lashmore, responsible for the discipline of the engine-room department, was in the starboard engine-room throughout the passage, and set a fine example to his men. Engineer-Lieut.-Commander Lester was in the port engine-room, carrying out the same duties as Engineer-Commander Lashmore did in the starboard engine-room." Engineer Lieut.-Commander Lester was present at the Battle of Jutland 29 May, 1916, and was specially commended and promoted Engineer-Commander.

PARRY, RAY GRIFFITH, Engineer-Lieut., served in the European War in the Dardanelles, 1914–15, and was on board H.M.S. Inflexible when she was struck by a mine. He was mentioned in Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck's Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Ray Griffith Parry, Engineer-Lieut., Royal Navy. During the time H.M.S. Inflexible was steaming to Tenedos—after having struck a mine—the engine-room being in semi-darkness and great heat, the ship in possible danger of sinking on passage, a high standard of discipline was called for in the Engineer Department, a call which was more than met. Engineer-Lieut. Parry went twice through the thick fumes to the refrigerator flat to see if the doors and valves were closed; he also closed the escape hatch from the submerged flat, fumes and vapour coming up the trunk at the time."

LANGFORD, MARTYN HENRY, Surgeon, served in the European War. He was at the Dardanelles, 1914–15, and was in H.M.S. Inflexible when she was mined. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Martyn Henry Langford, Surgeon, Royal Navy. During the time H.M.S. Inflexible was steaming to Tenedos—after having struck a mine—the engine-room being in semi-darkness and great heat, the ship in possible danger of sinking on passage, a high standard of discipline was called for in the Engineer Department, a call which was more than met. Surgeon Langford brought up the wounded from the fore distributing station in the dark. Fumes permeated the place, rendering five men unconscious. Surgeon Langford, though partially overcome by the fumes, continued his work." He was also mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck. Surgeon Langford died 15 Dec. 1918.

GODWIN, CLAUD HERBERT, Lieut., is the youngest son of the Rev. H. Godwin, of Ivy Lodge, Ightham. He served in the European War in the Dardanelles in 1914–15; was mentioned in Despatches by Vice-Admiral Sir John de Robeck, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Aug. 1915]: "Claud Herbert Godwin, Lieut., Royal Navy. Lieut. Godwin commanded H.M.S. Majestic's picket boat, and was responsible for the successful shot by which the Submarine E15 was destroyed after running aground." Lieut.-Commander C. H. Godwin married, in 1918, Jean, daughter of the late George Torraster, of Leith.

London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915.—"War Office, 25 Aug. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the following Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and distinguished service in the field."

NIGHTINGALE, MANNERS RALPH WILMOT, Major, was born at Sidmouth, Devonshire, on the 15th April, 1871, son of Percy Nightingale, Inspecting Commissioner, Cape Civil Service, and grandson of Sir Charles Nightingale, 11th Baronet, of Kneesworth, Cambridgeshire. From Cape Colony he took a Scholarship to the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and was commissioned 1 March, 1890, 1st Battn. Cheshire Regt.; subsequently he was attached to the 22nd Madras Infantry at Thayetmyo. He commanded Mounted Infantry during the rising in Karenni headed by Minlaung, and was at the capture of the rebel Minlaung's stockade at Dawdekoo in West Karenni 7 June, 1892, and the action at Loikau Bridge in Eastern Karenni 25 June, 1892, on which latter occasion he was mentioned by the General Officer Commanding, Burma District, for "gallant conduct, very commendable and deserving of great praise," and the Commander-in-Chief in India recorded his appreciation. On the 18th Feb. 1894, he joined the 2nd Battn. 5th Gurkha Rifles. He served with the Gurkha Scouts during the Tirah Expedition of 1897–98 (Indian Medal, 1895, and one clasp). He served with the China Field Force as Assistant to the Brigade Commissariat and Transport Officer, 2nd Brigade, British Contingent, China Field Force, 1900–1 (Medal); was promoted Captain 1 March, 1901. He became an Interpreter in Russian. On his return to India, much of his time was spent with his regiment, and in July, 1907, he became 4th Double Company Commander, 1st Battn. 5th Gurkha Rifles, and became Major 1 March, 1908. He was Recruiting Staff Officer at Gorakhpur from 10 June, 1910, to 10 June, 1914, and then rejoined his regiment. In Nov. 1914, he left Bombay with the 1st Battn. 5th G.R.F.F., and saw service with the Canal Defence Force, Egypt. On the 3rd June, 1915, the 1/5th G.R.F.F. disembarked at Beach "V," Gallipoli Peninsula, about 3 a.m. Lieut.-Colonel Nightingale led No. 2 Double Company in the Third Battle of Krithia on the 4th June, 1915, and was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for his action in this battle [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Manners Ralph Wilmot Nightingale, Major, 1st Battn. 5th Gurkha Rifles. For most conspicuous gallantry on 4 June, 1915, during operations in the neighbourhood of Krithia, Dardanelles, in leading an attack up a difficult spur after he had been wounded. He reached the crest and was again wounded, but coming back a few yards rallied his men and again led them on. He was then wounded a third time, but still endeavoured to advance till he fainted." The G.O.C.'s Order (List No. 8, issued with General Routine Orders, dated 15 July, 1915) concluded: "Were it not for the unprecedented crop of gallant deeds produced by the battles of the Dardanelles, the General Commanding would have put forward this officer's name for the Victoria Cross." After being so very severely wounded, Lieut.-Colonel Nightingale returned to England, and on rejoining the 1/5th G.R.F.F. at Peshawar on the 29th March, 1916, became Temporary Commandant. He was promoted Lieut.-Colonel 1 March, 1916. On the 12th March, 1917, he left Abbottabad at the head of a young battalion, 1/5th G.R.F.F., for service in Mesopotamia. He became Temporary Brigadier-General 20 Dec. 1917, to command the 54th Infantry Brigade, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force; was made a C.M.G. in 1918, and given the Brevet of Colonel 1 Jan. 1919. He married Anna Forestier, fifth daughter of Arthur George Walker, I.C.S. They have two children.

Manners R. W. Nightingale.

ABBOTT, FRANK BERKELEY, Capt., was born 2 Aug. 1885. He was commissioned on the Unattached List 13 Aug. 1904, and joined the Indian Army 30 Oct. 1905; was promoted Lieutenant 13 Nov. 1906, and Captain 13 Aug. 1913; employed with the King's African Rifles 19 April, 1910, to 18 April, 1913. Capt. Abbott served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Frank Berkeley Abbott, Capt., 1st Battn. 6th Gurkha Rifles. For gallant and distinguished conduct on 28 and 29 June, 1915, during operations on the Gallipoli Peninsula. He showed great skill in organizing bombing attacks, which resulted in regaining a portion of the trench which had been captured by the enemy. Advancing single-handed, he cleared the enemy out of one-third of the trench. He was wounded for the third time during the war when leading a bayonet charge, after the bombs were exhausted. He showed exceptionally fine leadership, dash and resource." He became Acting Major 26 Nov. 1917.

Digitized by Google

ANDERSON, STANLEY JOHN, Capt., was born 8 July, 1878, at Milngavie, Scotland, son of George Murray Anderson, and Jean, second daughter of Alexander Williamson. He was educated in Glasgow; served with the Glasgow Highlanders, 1895–1901, and the London Scottish, 1907–8; was commissioned in the 60th Rifles of Canada (Militia) in April, 1911. He served in the European War on the Western Front, becoming Captain, Aug. 1914. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Stanley John Anderson, Capt., 5th Battn. (Western Cavalry) Canadian Expeditionary Force Unit. For conspicuous gallantry at Festubert on 20 May, 1915, when he refused to go on the ambulance after being wounded until his tour of duty was completed. Capt. Anderson was again wounded in the head on 24 May, but remained the whole day and night gallantly leading his men in the attacks." He was mentioned in Despatches by Sir John French in Dec. 1915; was appointed Staff Captain, 5th Training Brigade, Shorncliffe, 1 May, 1916; returned to Canada as General Staff Officer, 3rd Grade, 12 May, 1916; promoted Major 22 June, 1916; promoted General Staff Officer, 2nd Grade, 1 Sept. 1916; detailed for special duty at Militia Headquarters, Canada, 11 Nov. 1916, as Acting Director-General of Musketry and Acting Director of Military Training. Major Anderson married Margaret H. R., younger daughter of William Samuel.

FOWLER, HUGH GRIFFITH COKE, Capt., South Wales Borderers, was born 12 Jan. 1882, son of the late John Bacon Fowler. He was educated at Mr. Wilkinson's School, Southfield, and Tonbridge, and joined the Army in 1901. He served in South Africa, 1902–4 (Queen's Medal with four clasps), and later qualified as a First Class Interpreter in Russian, 1912. He was promoted Captain 1 Feb. 1913, and at the outbreak of war was employed with the 3rd Battn. of his regiment at Brecon. He played cricket and Rugby football for his regiment, and he reached the semi-final in the Officers' Middle-Weight Class of the Army and Navy Boxing Competition. He has a special certificate for signalling, and a special certificate for gymnastics. He proceeded to France in Dec. 1914, and was mentioned in Despatches for his services, and wounded at Festubert 21 Dec. 1914. In 1915 he proceeded to Gallipoli, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Hugh Griffith Coke Fowler, Capt., 12th Battn. South Wales Borderers. For great gallantry on 18 and 19 June, on the Gallipoli Peninsula. In a counter-attack on a Turkish trench he led the party which eventually cleared it. This officer himself threw some 30 bombs, some of which were enemy bombs, which he picked up and threw back at great personal risk." After an attack on the trench had failed, he, the Sergt.-Major of the Inniskillings and two privates of the South Wales Borderers, volunteered to bomb the trench, working from traverse to traverse. He and the sergeant-major threw the bombs, and when it was cleared, Capt. Fowler was left to hold it alone till relief came. Afterwards 96 dead Turks were counted in this trench, in addition to which 15 prisoners were taken. He was G.S.O.3, 68th Division, Central Force, Home Defence, 16 Sept. to 16 Dec. 1915; became Adjutant, Special Reserve, 21 April, 1916; was Acting Lieut.-Colonel, 1st Battn. South Wales Borderers, 25 Nov. to 21 Dec. 1917; served in France, 1917–18; held a special appointment, Intelligence Corps, North Russia, from 1 Nov. 1918, until the evacuation in Sept. 1919. He married Muriel Powys Aveline, only daughter of the late Henry Oxenford Aveline Maybery, and has four children.

Hugh G. C. Fowler.

LUCKOCK, RUSSELL MORTIMER, Capt., was born in 1877, son of the late Very Rev. H. M. Luckock, Dean of Lichfield. He was educated at Harrow and Cambridge University, and was commissioned in the King's Own (Royal Lancaster Regt.) 17 Feb. 1900; became Lieutenant 21 July, 1900; served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Transvaal in June, 1900; in Natal, June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to March, 1901; also during the operations in Orange River Colony, May to June, 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted Captain 22 Jan. 1907; was Assistant Instructor, School of Musketry, Hythe, 28 Dec. 1907, to 27 Dec. 1911. Capt. Luckock served in the European War, 1914–18. He was Staff Captain (Assistant Military Landing Officer), British Expeditionary Force, 5 Aug. 1914, to 7 Jan. 1915; Brigade Major, 24th Infantry Brigade, British Expeditionary Force, 8 Jan. to 23 Nov. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Russell Mortimer Luckock, Capt., King's Own (Royal Lancaster Regt.). For gallantry during the fighting at Neuve Chapelle from 10 to 14 March, 1915, when he performed excellent work as Brigade Major, showing marked ability as a Staff Officer." He was promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915; was G.S.O.2, 17th Division, British Expeditionary Force, 24 Nov. 1915, to 4 Feb. 1916; G.S.O.2, H.Q., 4th Army, British Expeditionary Force, British Armies in France, 5 Feb. 1916, to 30 Jan. 1917; G.S.O.1, 4th Army and 2nd Army, British Armies in France, 31 Jan. 1917, to 28 Feb. 1919; became G.S.O.1, Staff College, 1 March, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917; created a C.M.G. in 1918; mentioned in Despatches, and awarded the Legion of Honour. Lieut.-Colonel Luckock married, in 1903, Mabel Thorne, daughter of the late S. L. Seckham.

MORISON, FRANK, Capt., received his Captaincy in the 91st Regt. Canadian Highlanders 19 May, 1913. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Frank Morison, Capt., 16th Canadian Infantry Battn. For conspicuous gallantry and ability on 20 May, 1915, when he commanded the leading company in the attack on the orchard at La Quinque Rue. Capt. Morison captured the enemy's position, which was of primary importance, under heavy shrapnel, rifle and machine-gun fire."

NASH, JOHN FOSTER PATON, Capt., served in the South African War, 1899–1902. He was present in operations in Natal, March to June, 1900; operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.); operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Frederickstad (17 to 25 Oct.); operations in Orange River Colony (May to Nov. 1900), including action at Caledon River (27 to 29 Nov.); operations in the Orange River Colony between 30 Nov. 1900, and 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He became Captain, 31st Regt. (British Columbia Horse), 8 Dec. 1911. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "John Foster Paton Nash, Capt., 5th Canadian Infantry Battn. For conspicuous gallantry throughout the action at Festubert 22–24 May, 1915. He repaired the telephone wires personally under very heavy fire. Capt. Nash was again brought to notice for excellent work performed under fire at Fleurbaix and at Gravelstafen."

RAWSON, CRESWELL DUFFIELD, Capt., was born 22 Oct. 1883, son of the late Edward Creswell Rawson, Indian Civil Service, and Marion Emma Rawson (née Duffield). He was educated at The Grange, Eastbourne; Malvern College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and entered the Royal Artillery 24 Dec. 1902, becoming Lieutenant 24 Dec. 1905, and Captain 30 Oct. 1914. Capt. Rawson served in the European War, serving in operations at the Suez Canal, Feb. 1915 (Despatches [London Gazette, 22 June, 1916], and in Gallipoli. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Creswell Duffield Rawson, Capt., Royal Artillery, 21st Kohat Mountain Battery (Frontier Force), Indian Army. For gallant conduct and distinguished service on 14 May, during operations in the neighbourhood of Gaba Tepe, Dardanelles. Having discovered that the enemy had constructed an emplacement enfilading an important position, he constructed a position for one gun in the firing line, facing the enemy's guns at a range of 650 yards. He then arranged with neighbouring Field Artillery to occupy the attention of other enemy guns, while he knocked down the parapet in front of his own gun and engaged the enemy by direct fire, and without cover, and succeeded in destroying the new emplacement he had observed. He distinguished himself by unceasing good work from 26 April to 26 June, on which latter day he was wounded." He became Staff Captain, Royal Artillery, India, 7 May, 1916; served in Mesopotamia, and was promoted Major 30 July, 1917; was again mentioned in Despatches. Major Rawson married Gladys, youngest daughter of Arthur Niblett.

Creswell D. Rawson.

RYAN, DENIS GEORGE JOCELYN, Capt., was born in 1885, son of the late Capt. C. A. Ryan, R.A., and Thomasine Caroline, daughter of Major-General George Shaw, C.B. He was educated at Stonyhurst, and was commissioned in the Royal Sussex Regt. 28 Jan. 1905, becoming Lieutenant in the Indian Army 11 July, 1907, and Captain 28 Jan. 1914. He served in the European War; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Denis George Jocelyn Ryan, Capt., 1st Battn. 6th Gurkha Rifles. On 13 May, 1915, during operations near Krithia, Dardanelles, for carrying out a daring and well-executed reconnaissance on the enemy's position. The success of the subsequent attack, leading to the capture of the Turkish position, was due in a great measure to this officer's work. He was again brought to notice for gallant work on 28 and 29 June." Capt. Ryan was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1919. He was twice mentioned in Despatches.

SMITH, STANLEY ALWYN, Capt., was born 12 Nov. 1882, son of Lieut.-Colonel T. J. Smith, V.D. He was educated at Repton School and Edinburgh University (M.B., Ch.B., 1905); is M.D., M.Ch., F.R.C.S., Edinburgh, and Fellow of the American College of Surgeons. He was at one time private assistant to Surgeon-General Sir Robert Jones, Director of British Military Orthopædics; latterly doing consulting orthopædic work in Winnipeg, Canada; Orthopædic Surgeon, Winnipeg General Hospital and Children's Hospital. He became Captain, Canadian Army Medical Service, 21 Dec. 1913. Capt. Smith served in the European War, 1914–16; was thrice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Stanley Alwyn Smith, Capt., No. 3 Field Ambulance, Canadian Army Medical Corps. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at Festubert on the night of 20 May, 1915. Capt. Smith, with a party of eight men, went out voluntarily to remove the wounded from an orchard whilst under heavy fire, and eventually succeeded in bringing all into safety. Four of the eight men of the rescue party were wounded, and two of these have since died." He afterwards became Surgeon-in-Chief, Granville Canadian Special Hospital, Ramsgate, and then Orthopædic Surgeon-in-Chief, Welsh

Digitized by Google

Metropolitan War Hospital, near Cardiff. He has written monographs on surgical subjects. Major Smith married Pearl Evangeline, daughter of N. D. Bradley, and they have two sons.

George Butler Stoney.

STONEY, GEORGE BUTLER, Capt. (Temporary Major), was born 13 Aug. 1877. He was commissioned in the King's Own Scottish Borderers 8 Sept. 1897; promoted Lieutenant 20 April, 1899, and Capt. 21 Sept. 1904; was employed with the Egyptian Army from 23 April, 1908. He saw active service on the North-West Frontier of India, 1897–98, with the Tirah Expeditionary Force (Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War; was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "George Butler Stoney, Capt. (Temporary Major, Egyptian Army), 1st Battn. King's Own Scottish Borderers. For conspicuous gallantry and ability during operations south-west of Krithia, Dardanelles, from 4 to 7 June, 1915. He showed great coolness and good leading, holding together in a most praiseworthy manner the battalion, which had suffered greatly. He had been previously brought to notice for gallant conduct during the operations up to May 5th." He was killed in action in Gallipoli on 15 Oct. 1915.

THOM, JOHN HERBERT, Capt., was born 10 Nov. 1882. He entered the Royal Artillery 4 Dec. 1901; was promoted Lieutenant 30 June, 1904, and Captain 30 Oct. 1914. Capt. Thom was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order for services in the Gallipoli Campaign [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "John Herbert Thom, Capt., Royal Artillery, 21st Kohat Mountain Battery (Frontier Force), Indian Army. For exceptionally gallant conduct on 21 June, 1915, near Gaba Tepe, Dardanelles. He engaged two of the enemy's guns at a range of 450 yards with one 10 pr. b.l. gun, which he had concealed in a tunnelled emplacement in the firing-line parapet, and put them out of action. During this duel, which lasted about an hour, he was knocked down by a high-explosive shell from other guns. Recovering, he continued to direct the fire of his gun, and, having won the fight, withdrew it undamaged and without casualty. Again, on 26 June, he was in an observation station with another officer and gunner. Both officers were wounded and the gunner killed by a shell, but Capt. Thom remained at duty until the following day, when a large piece of metal was removed from his head." He became Major 1 May, 1917; served with the Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force; was Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, Heavy Artillery, 1st Army Corps, M.E.F., 16 Jan. to 14 May, 1918; Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, Heavy Artillery, Army Troops, M.E.F., 15 May to 11 Nov. 1918; G.S.O.2, to Major-General Royal Artillery, General Headquarters, M.E.F., 12 Nov. 1918, to 3 April, 1919.

DOWNES, OSCAR CLAYTON, Capt., was born in 1884, only son of Sir A. H. Downes, Kt., and his first wife, Evelyn, daughter of James Downes and niece of Sir Oscar Clayton. He was commissioned in the Northumberland Fusiliers 4 June, 1904, becoming Lieutenant 1 June, 1907, joining the Rifle Brigade 24 June, 1908, in which he was promoted Captain 1 Feb. 1913. Capt. Downes was Assistant Superintendent of Gymnasia, Irish Command, 3 July, 1913, to 4 Aug. 1914. Serving in the European War, 1914–18, he was employed as Assistant Embarkation Staff Officer, Belfast, 5 Aug. to 8 Dec. 1914; was Temporary Major, Rifle Brigade, Feb. to July, 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1915]: "Oscar Clayton Downes, Capt., 1st Battn. The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own). For conspicuous gallantry and ability when organizing and leading the assault on the enemy's trenches south of Pilkem on 6 July, 1915. He carried out his duties with great bravery and efficiency until he was wounded." He was G.S.O.3, 2nd Army, British Expeditionary Force, 31 Oct. 1915, to 8 April, 1916; Brigade Major, 100th Infantry Brigade, British Expeditionary Force, British Armies in France, 9 April to 22 Dec. 1916; Brigade Major, 10th Training Reserve Brigade, 26 March, 1917, to 10 Jan. 1918; G.S.O.2, 1st Army Corps, British Armies in France, 24 March, 1918. Capt. Downes married Mary, daughter of the late Capt. Villiers Morton.

London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915.—"War Office, 6 Sept. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

HESKETH, JAMES ARTHUR, Major, was born in 1863. He was educated at the Royal Military College, Canada; joined the Military Forces; served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "James Arthur Hesketh, Major, Lord Strathcona's Horse (Royal Canadians). For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 1 Aug. 1915, near Messines, when a magazine in a farm containing much small-arm ammunition and many bombs and grenades was set on fire by the enemy's shells. One box of ammunition began to burn, and the cartridges were exploding in all directions, when Major Hesketh left his dug-out, entered the farm, still under heavy shell fire, put out the fire, and removed all the ammunition. The risk was very great, and but for his gallant action the reserve ammunition would have been destroyed." He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, and was created a C.M.G. in 1917.

PRATT, GEORGE McDONALD, Capt., was born 14 Oct. 1871. He joined Roberts's Horse, and entered the York and Lancaster Regt. 19 May, 1900, becoming Lieutenant 10 Nov. 1901; Captain 17 April, 1909, and Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel commanding 11th Battn. Northumberland Fusiliers 27 Oct. 1916, to 16 March, 1917. He served in the South African War, 1899–190; served with Mounted Infantry; took part in the Relief of Kimberley; in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, 1900, including actions at Elands River (4 to 16 Aug.); in Orange River Colony (May to 29 Nov. 1900), including actions at Bethlehem (6 and 7 July) and Wittebergen (7 to 16 July); again in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, Feb. 1901, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "George McDonald Pratt, Capt., The York and Lancaster Regt. For conspicuous gallantry during an attack on Hooge on 9 and 10 Aug. 1915. He was first into the enemy's position, and rendered his Commanding Officer great assistance in the front-line fighting."

BEAUMAN, ARCHIBALD BENTLEY, Capt., is the son of Bentley Martin Beauman. He was educated at Malvern College and Sandhurst, and entered the 2nd South Staffordshire Regt. 22 Feb. 1908, becoming Lieutenant 8 Jan. 1909, and Captain 1 March, 1915; was Temporary Brigadier-General 31 May, 1918, to 5 April, 1919. He was Staff Captain 22nd Infantry Brigade, British Expeditionary Force, 22 Sept. 1915, to 5 May, 1916; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 35th Division, British Armies in France, 6 May to 22 Sept. 1916; Brigade Commander, 69th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, British Force in Italy, 31 May, 1918, to 5 April, 1919. He landed in France with the original Expeditionary Force; was invalided home in Nov. 1914; rejoined in France in Jan. 1915; served continuously on active service from that time; was five times mentioned in Despatches; received the Italian Silver Medal and the Italian Croce de Guerra; was given the Brevets of Major 3 June, 1917, and Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Archibald Bentley Beauman, Capt., 1st Battn. The South Staffordshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Festubert on 16 May, 1915, when commanding the leading company of his battalion in the attack. He handled his men with great skill, clearing the trenches to his right with his company and bombers, and, after reaching the line allotted to the battalion, entrenching himself and held on under heavy artillery fire during the 16th, 17th and 18th May." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

BROWN, HUGH BARRINGTON, Capt., was born 24 July, 1886. He entered the Leicestershire Regt. 31 May, 1909; became Lieutenant 18 Sept. 1911, and Captain 18 Dec. 1914. He was Staff Captain, 16th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 16 Aug. 1915, to 4 April, 1916; Brigade Major, 59th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., British Armies in France, 5 April, 1916, to 22 Aug. 1918; was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Hugh Barrington Brown, Capt., 1st Battn. The Leicestershire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and good service in the trenches at Hooge between 2 and 5 Aug. 1915, when in charge of a brigade bombing party. He got his party up to the trenches by day under shell fire, and remained in them three days during a heavy bombardment. All his bombs were exploded by shell fire, and his party was several times buried and had to be dug out. He has brought his battalion bombers to a high state of efficiency."

FORSTER, ALFRED LEONARD, Capt., son of the Rev. Bennet Forster, late Rector of Sevington, Kent. He was educated at Blackheath School, and entered the R.M.A. 1 Sept. 1903, becoming Lieutenant 1 July, 1904, and Captain 1 Sept. 1914. He served in the European War; was mentioned in Despatches twice; given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Alfred Leonard Forster, Capt., Royal Marine Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry on 16 June, 1915, near Zillebeke. During an attack, when two companies of an infantry regiment were crossing some open ground, heavy shrapnel fire was opened on them, three being killed and ten wounded. Capt. Forster, with Corpl. Stone, of the Royal Marine Artillery, who volunteered, went out under heavy shrapnel fire, and brought the wounded into shelter. Capt. Forster has on many occasions showed the highest qualities of an officer when fearlessness and good judgment were essential to success." Major Forster married Gladys, only daughter of R. F. Godfrey-Faussett.

HANBURY, PHILIP LEWIS, Major, was born 1 May, 1879. He was educated at Eastbourne College, and entered the Shropshire Light Infantry 18 Oct. 1899; became Lieutenant 22 Jan. 1901; was Adjutant, Shropshire Light Infantry, 1 April, 1905, to 14 Feb. 1908; was promoted to Capt. 6 March, 1909, and Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieut.-Colonel 29 Oct. 1916, to 2 June, 1917. He was Brigade Major, 82nd Infantry Brigade, New Armies, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force; D.A.A.G. and Q.M.G., 16th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 25 Jan. to 29 Aug. 1916; G.S.O.2, 27th Division, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 1 Sept. to 28 Oct. 1916; G.S.O.1, 26th Division, British Salonika Force, 29 Oct. 1916, to 12 Jan. 1918; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Salonika Force, 13 Jan. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, and took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Houtnek (Thoba Mountain), Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Elands River (4 to 16 Aug.); in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Rhenoster River; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War, 1914–16, he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 3 June, 1917; received the Order of SS. Maurice and Lazarus, Italy, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Philip Leonard Hanbury, Major, The King's (Shropshire Light Infantry). For consistent good work as Brigade Major during the first four months of 1915, notably at St. Eloi, during the attacks of 14 and 15 Feb. and 14 and 15 March." He married Jess, daughter of W. G. Allan.

Digitized by Google

HEPBURN, WILLIAM CLAY, Capt., was born 25 June, 1877, son of the late James S. Hepburn and the late Ellen Gertrude Hepburn (née Clay). He was educated at Amersham Hall, Caversham, at New College, Eastbourne, and is a Graduate of the School of Mines, Camborne, Cornwall. He was mining for four years in British Columbia, and later in the Transvaal; obtained an English Colliery Manager's Certificate in 1905; was Manager in 1907, and subsequently Agent to the Oakdale Navigation Collieries, Ltd. He joined the 1st Monmouth Regt.; was Second Lieutenant in 1908, Captain in 1913, and was mobilized 5 Aug. 1914. He commanded the 172nd Coy., Royal Engineers, in 1915; was mentioned in Despatches twice, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "William Clay Hepburn, Capt., 1st Battn. Monmouthshire Regt., Territorial Force, attached 172nd Coy., Royal Engineers. For conspicuous energy and good work near Ypres on 12 July, 1915. After the enemy had exploded a mine just short of our parapet, a gallery was driven out to protect the trench, and the enemy's mine was struck. It was found to contain a charge of about 1,350 lbs. of explosive, some detonators, and part of the main electric firing lead. These were successfully withdrawn by the united efforts of Capt. Hepburn and two officers and four men working under him." Major Hepburn has retired. He married, in 1906, Helen, daughter of David Hannah, and they have two sons and one daughter.

JONES, KINGSMILL WILLIAMS, Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Kingsmill Williams Jones, M.D., Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps (Special Reserve), attached 1st Battn. East Kent Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at Hooge. During the entire night of 9–10 Aug. 1915, and the whole of the following day and night, he was attending to and evacuating wounded from the front trenches, time after time exposing himself to shell and rifle fire. He was twice slightly wounded, but stuck to his work with unflagging energy. It was entirely owing to Capt. Jones that the crater was successfully evacuated of wounded."

Kingsmill W. Jones.

PHILBY, HAROLD PAYNE, Capt., was born 22 July, 1887, third son of the late Harry Montague Philby, of Cocoawatte and Galoola Estates, Ceylon, and of May Beatrice Philby. He was educated at Streete Court, Westgate, and at Aldenham School; entered the Royal Military College 13 Sept. 1906; gazetted as Second Lieutenant, The York and Lancaster Regt. 19 Sept. 1908; promoted Lieutenant 1 April, 1910; seconded with W.A.F.F. 4 Oct. 1911, to 3 Aug. 1914; rejoined 2nd Battn. The York and Lancaster Regt. 4 Aug. 1914, on outbreak of war, and went with them to France (6th Division), Sept. 1914; appointed Temporary Captain, York and Lancaster Regt. 15 Nov. to 28 Nov. 1914; promoted Captain 29 Nov. 1914; appointed Adjutant, The York and Lancaster Regt. 15 Dec. 1914; appointed Temporary Major 6 Feb. 1916; appointed to the command of 2nd Battn. The York and Lancaster Regt., April, 1916; killed in action 17 May, 1916. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915, and 1 Jan. 1916], and awarded the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Harold Payne Philby, Capt., 2nd Battn. The York and Lancaster Regt. For conspicuous and consistent good service throughout the campaign, notably during the fighting at Hooge on the 9th Aug. 1915, when with the greatest coolness and energy he frequently visited all portions of the firing line under heavy shell fire, and personally supervised the despatch of reinforcements, bombs, etc." Major Philby was a very fine soldier, and was beloved and admired by all who knew him.

SHEEPSHANKS, ARTHUR CHARLES, Temporary Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Arthur Charles Sheepshanks, Temporary Capt., The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own). For conspicuous gallantry in a counter-attack on 30 July, 1915, when he continued to advance with his company, till only he and six riflemen were left standing. He then checked a bomb attack by the enemy, and held on to his trench till late in the evening. He was wounded in the head early in the day, but returned to duty with his company after the wound had been dressed."

STOCKWELL, CLIFTON INGLIS, Capt., was born 27 Sept. 1879, son of Colonel C. de N. Stockwell, Lincolnshire Regt., and Emily Stockwell. He was educated at Haileybury, and at Sandhurst in 1898, and was appointed to the 2nd Battn. Royal Welsh Fusiliers 11 Feb. 1899; served with them in China and India; promoted to Captain in 1st Battn. at Aldershot, 1907; served with 1st Battn. in England and Ireland; appointed to Depôt at Wrexham, 1912; joined the 2nd Battn. as 1st Reinforcement the first day of the Battle of the Aisne, 1914; commanded A Coy., 2nd Battn., till March, 1915; mentioned in Despatches in Nov. 1914; transferred to the 1st Battn. R.W.F.; commanded A Coy., 1st R.W.F.; attacked and captured Canadian Orchard at Battle of Festubert 16 May, 1915; at the end of the day was senior surviving officer; awarded the D.S.O.; mentioned in Despatches; was Brigade Major, 59th Infantry Brigade, in Sept. 1915; promoted Major 15 Sept. 1915; mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1916; given command 1st Battn. R.W.F. in Feb. 1916; commanded the battalion during the actions of 1 July, 1916 (attack on Fricourt); 4 July (night attack on the Triangle Trench); 14 July (attack on Bazentin-le-Petit); 27 Aug. (attack on Delville Wood, and Ale, Hop and Beer Alleys), and 3 Sept. (attack on Guinchy). He was mentioned in Despatches, in July, 1916; appointed to command the 164th Infantry Brigade, 55th Division, 18 Sept. 1916; commanded the 164th Infantry Brigade during the attack on the Gord Line and Gueudecourt 27 Sept. 1916; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel, and mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1917; attack of 31 July, 1917 (Third Battle of Ypres) (mentioned in Despatches); attack of 20 Sept. 1917 (Third Battle of Ypres); attack of 20 Nov. in support to the Battle of Cambrai; counter-attack of 30 Nov. to enemy attack at Cambrai; awarded the C.M.G., and mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1918. On 9 April, 1918, held Givenchy with the 164th Infantry Brigade, and successfully repulsed heavy attack, taking 700 prisoners; mentioned in Despatches in July, 1918; on 20 Sept. captured the enemy position at Givenchy by surprise attack; pursuit of the enemy from La Bassée to Tournai, including the forcing of the Haute Dendre Canal, Marque River; on 9 Nov. commanded mobile column (Stockwell's Force) which reached a point a mile from Enghien on the day of the Armistice, having forced the Dendre at 5 a.m. that day; billeted in Brussels with the 164th Infantry Brigade for Christmas; awarded the C.B., and mentioned in Despatches in Jan. 1919; Staff College in April, 1919; granted a p.s.c., and posted to the 2nd Battn. in Limerick in Jan., 1920; awarded the French Croix de Guerre in March, 1920. His Distinguished Service Order was gazetted 6 Sept. 1915: "Clifton Inglis Stockwell, Capt., Royal Welsh Fusiliers. For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Festubert on 16 May, 1915, when he led his company in an attack on the German trenches. After his company had lost heavily, he reorganized it, and collected men of other units and made two further successful advances. It was largely due to his gallant and capable leading that the troops succeeded in establishing the line so far forward." He married Hilda Rose, daughter of Colonel T. P. Westmorland, late Royal Engineers.

Clifton Inglis Stockwell.

TURNER, ARNOLD GEOFFREY, Capt., was born 17 May, 1880. He entered the Royal Engineers 6 Jan. 1900; became Lieutenant 6 Jan. 1903; Captain 6 Jan. 1909; Major 2 Nov. 1916; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Engineers, from 1 May, 1918. He was 2nd Assistant Instructor, School of Military Engineering, 1 Feb. 1910, to 13 April, 1912; on Special Service in Egypt from Oct. 1910, to April, 1911; and 14 Oct. 1911, to 20 March, 1912; 1st Assistant Instructor, School of Military Engineering, 14 April, 1912, to 31 Jan. 1913; employed on Rhodesia and Angola Boundary Commission 1 Feb. 1913, to 26 April, 1915. For his services in the European War he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 6 Sept. 1915]: "Arnold Geoffrey Turner, Capt., Royal Engineers. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during the attack on Hooge on 9 Aug. 1915. After leading two sections and six blocking parties of his company through the first line under heavy artillery and machine-gun fire, he immediately put out wire in front of the captured position. When the Senior Infantry Officers were killed or wounded, Capt. Turner assumed command of the whole party in his vicinity, and proceeded to consolidate his position, continuing to do so after being wounded till incapacitated by loss of blood."

London Gazette, 15 Sept. 1915.—"War Office, 15 Sept. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

BECHER, JOHN PICKARD, Capt., was born 20 July, 1889, son of the late John Henry Becher, of Hill House, Southwell, Notts. He joined the Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire Territorials 1 Nov. 1906, becoming Lieutenant 15 July, 1907, and Captain 9 May, 1910, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Sept. 1915]: "John Pickard Becher, Capt. (Temporary Major), 8th Battn. The Sherwood Foresters (Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire Regt.), T.F. For conspicuous gallantry and good service on several occasions. On 24 April, 1915, at Kemmel, when part of his trench was blown in, he organized the defence of the breach under heavy fire, and personally assisted in repairing the parapet, digging out seven buried men. On 15 June, at Kemmel, when part of his trench was blown in by mines, shells and trench mortars, he displayed great gallantry and coolness in reorganizing the defence. On 30 July and subsequent days, at Ypres, he displayed great coolness, cheerfulness and resource under trying circumstances, when in temporary command of a battalion." He died on 1 Jan. 1916, of wounds received on 14 Oct. 1915.

Digitized by Google

MONTEITH, HUGH GLENCAIRN, Capt., was born 11 May, 1883, son of the Rev. John Monteith, of Moniave-Glenluiart, Dumfriesshire. He was educated at Fettes College, and Pembroke College, Cambridge, for the medical profession, and joined the Royal Army Medical Corps in July, 1910, as Lieutenant, becoming Captain in Jan. 1914. He served in the European War; was at one time attached to the 2nd Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry; was present at Ypres, Yser, the Marne, etc. He held various Staff and other appointments; was mentioned in Despatches four times; received the O.B.E., and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Sept. 1915]: "Hugh Glencairn Monteith, Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps (attached 2nd Battn. The Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry). For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in picking up and attending to the wounded under heavy fire in the actions near St. Jean and Wieltje, east of Ypres, between 23 and 27 April, 1915, when the casualties in the battalion to which he was attached were very heavy." He played Rugby for Cambridge and for Scotland, and also for the London Hospital (where he was trained). Capt. Monteith married, in 1915, Dorothy Huntly, eldest daughter of Owen R. Dunell, of Garboldisham Manor, Norfolk, and they have one son and one daughter.

POWELL, HENRY GEORGE, Capt., was born 17 Feb. 1867. He joined the Army 5 Feb. 1887, and became Captain 3 Dec. 1894, and retired from the North Lancashire Regt. 8 July, 1903. On the outbreak of the European War, Capt. Powell took part in the campaign on the Western Front. He was given the Brevet of Major, Reserve of Officers, 3 June, 1916, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Sept. 1915]: "Henry George Powell, Capt. (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), Reserve of Officers, The Loyal North Lancashire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry on 23 Oct. 1914, near Bixschoote, when he led his company in the attack, and by his fine and courageous example contributed greatly to the success achieved. He was wounded in the action."

SACKVILLE, LIONEL CHARLES STOPFORD, Capt., was born 30 April, 1891, son of the late Colonel Lionel Stopford Sackville (who commanded the 4th Battn. Rifle Brigade, and died in 1905), and of Evelyn Stopford Sackville, daughter of Major A. Gosling. He was educated at Eton and Sandhurst, and was commissioned in the Rifle Brigade 17 Dec. 1910. He served in Egypt in 1911, and in the Soudan in 1912, in which year he was promoted Lieutenant, and he was sent to India in 1913, where he remained until 1914. He served in the European War in France and Flanders, 1914–15, and on 29 Dec. 1915, he went to Salonika, remaining there till 1918. He became Captain 20 March, 1915; was Staff Captain, 80th Infantry Brigade, British Salonika Force, 26 Nov. 1916, to 1 Aug. 1917; Brigade Major, 65th Infantry Brigade, British Salonika Force, 2 Aug. 1917, to 3 Nov. 1918. Capt. Stopford Sackville was mentioned in Despatches in June, 1915; was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1919; received the Croix de Guerre avec Palme, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Sept. 1915]: "Lionel Charles Stopford Sackville, Capt., 4th Battn. The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own). For conspicuous gallantry and ability since he obtained command of a company in Feb. 1915. Near Ypres, from 8 to 15 May, he did excellent work in the trenches, keeping up his men's spirits under very heavy bombardments. He took command of another company in addition to his own when it had lost all its officers. On the night of the 14th–15th March, near St. Eloi, he took a barricade with half his company, went forward by himself to reconnoitre, and then, returning for his company, led them back and cleared the houses on the road."

L. C. Stopford Sackville.

London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915.—"Admiralty, 13 Sept. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of the following Officers to the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of the services mentioned."

TALBOT, CECIL PONSONBY, Commander, Royal Navy, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Cecil Ponsonby Talbot, Commander, Royal Navy. For his services in sinking a German torpedo-boat destroyer off the enemy's coast on the 26th July, 1915, whilst on patrol duty in his submarine."

WATERLOW, JOHN BEAUCHAMP, Lieut.-Commander (now Commander), Royal Navy, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "John Beauchamp Waterlow, Lieut.-Commander (now Commander), Royal Navy. For his services in the mine-sweeping operations in the Dardanelles between the 19th Feb. and 17th March, 1915. Lieut.-Commander Waterlow took part in these operations on several occasions under a heavy fire, notably on the night of 13–14 March, when he carried the attack through an area illuminated by six powerful searchlights and covered by the fire of four forts, as well as numerous light guns." He was killed in action 31 May, 1916.

COOKSON, EDGAR CHRISTOPHER, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Edgar Christopher Cookson, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy. For services during the operations in the Shatt-el-Arab. Lieut.-Commander Cookson was concluding a reconnaissance up a creek of the Euphrates, west of Gurnah, in the armed launch Shushan, on the 9th May, 1915, when he was heavily attacked by Arabs concealed in the reeds. Although severely wounded early in the action, he resumed command after his wound had been temporarily dressed, and succeeded in most ably extricating the vessel from a perilous position under heavy rifle fire." He was subsequently awarded the Victoria Cross (see Victoria Cross Volume).

Edgar C. Cookson.

HERBERT, GODFREY, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, was born in 1884. He served in the European War, and was present at the Battle of Heligoland Bight, in the Submarine D5, which he subsequently commanded. He was promoted to Commander in 1917, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Godfrey Herbert, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy (with Claude Congreve Dobson, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, and Archibald Douglas Cochrane, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy). For services in a submarine in the Sea of Marmora, where they did great damage to enemy shipping, and after blocking the railway line near Kava Burnu by bombarding it from the sea, shelled a troop train and blew up three ammunition cars attached to it." Commander Herbert married, in 1916, the widow of Major Francis Arthur Nelson, Royal Marine Light Infantry, and they have one daughter.

DOBSON, CLAUDE CONGREVE, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Claude Congreve Dobson, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy (with Godfrey Herbert, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, and Archibald Douglas Cochrane, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy). For services in a submarine in the Sea of Marmora, where they did great damage to enemy shipping, and after blocking the railway line near Kava Burnu by bombarding it from the sea, shelled a troop train and blew up three ammunition cars attached to it."

COCHRANE, THE HON. ARCHIBALD DOUGLAS, Lieut.-Commander, was born 8 Jan. 1885, second son of the 1st Baron Cochrane (son of the 11th Earl of Dundonald), and Lady Gertrude Boyle, daughter of the 6th Earl of Glasgow. He served in the European War, 1914–18; was present at the Battle of Heligoland Bight; was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Archibald Douglas Cochrane, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy (with Godfrey Herbert, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, and Claude Congreve Dobson, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy). For services in a submarine in the Sea of Marmora, where they did great damage to enemy shipping, and after blocking the railway line near Kava Burnu by bombarding it from the sea, shelled a troop train and blew up three ammunition cars attached to it."

SKETCHLEY, ERNEST FREDERICK POWYS, Capt., was born 6 Aug. 1881, at West Kensington, W., son of the Rev. E. Powys Sketchley, of Ballater, Bromley, Kent, Assistant Secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and Mrs. Powys Sketchley. He was educated at Dulwich College, and joined the Royal Marine Light Infantry as a Second Lieutenant 1 Jan. 1900. From 1905 to 1908 he was A.D.C. and Secretary to His Excellency Sir F. G. D. Bedford, G.C.B., the Governor of Western Australia. He became Lieutenant 1 Jan. 1901, Captain in 1911, and Major in Sept. 1914, when he was also made a G.S.O.2. From 1914 he was on the Staff of the Royal Naval Division; served at Ostend and Antwerp; went to Gallipoli, and for his services there was twice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Ernest Frederick Powys Sketchley, T./Major, Portsmouth Division, Royal Marine Light Infantry. For services in the Gallipoli Peninsula 3 July, 1915, during operations south of Achi Baba, where a retreat began and rapidly developed, which might have had very serious consequences. Major Sketchley, who was in the supports, assisted by L.-Corpl. J. G. Way, prevented some of the men from retiring further. He then gathered together about forty of them, reorganized them, and, leading them forward, reoccupied some of the trenches. He returned twice to gather more men, and, collecting in all about a hundred, retook further trenches, captured forty prisoners and secured the position. He exhibited great courage, presence of mind, and powers of personal leadership in a moment of crisis." He married Phyllis F. M., daughter of J. F. Campbell, Esq., Deputy Master of the Royal Mint, Perth, Western Australia. Major Sketchley died of wounds received in action 12 Oct. 1916.

SINGLETON, MARK, Lieut., Royal Navy, served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Mark Singleton, Lieut., Royal Navy. For his services during the advance from Qurnah and capture of Amara at the beginning of June, 1915. Lieut. Singleton was in command of the armed launch Shaitan, and displayed great skill and energy in pursuit of the enemy gunboat Marmariss and other craft. He went ahead of the main force through Amara in a gallant manner, and performed the remarkable feat in his small armed tug of bringing to surrender a body of about 11 officers and 250 men of the Turkish troops, whom he had intercepted, and causing a large number to retire, thus largely contributing to the surrender of the town."

Digitized by Google

BIGSWORTH, ARTHUR WELLESLEY, Wing-Commander, was born 27 March, 1885, son of Arthur Wellesley (and Kate) Bigsworth. He was educated at a naval crammer's, by a tutor, and in H.M.S. Worcester. He first went to sea in 1901, and served several years in the Mercantile Marine as an officer; joined the Royal Naval Reserve in 1904; was promoted to Sub-Lieutenant in Jan. 1911, and shortly after taking his certificate, was appointed to the Naval Flying School at Eastchurch as a flying officer. He was subsequently transferred to the Royal Naval Air Station at Calshot, and when the Naval Air Service was organized, he graded as a Flight Commander 1 July, 1914. He is described as being "very modest and level-headed, a man who would keep steady in a tight corner." He served in the European War, first in France with No. 1 Naval Aeroplane Wing; at Antwerp, Lille, Ostend, etc. On 17 May, 1915, he succeeded in destroying, single-handed, a Zeppelin that had raided Ramsgate, dropping four bombs, which set one of the compartments on fire. This feat is recorded by the Admiralty in a statement issued 17 May: ". . . The Zeppelin that attacked Ramsgate early this morning was chased off by Eastgate and Westgate machines as far as the West Hinder Lightship. When off Nieuport she was attacked by eight naval machines from Dunkirk. Three machines were able to attack her at close range by fire. Flight-Commander Bigsworth dropped four bombs from 200 feet above the airship. A large column of smoke was seen to come out of one of her compartments. The Zeppelin then rose to a great height, 11,000 feet, with her tail down, and is believed to be severely damaged. All our machines were exposed to a heavy fire from the Zeppelin." The Admiralty report makes it evident that in fighting the enemy air machine Flight-Commander Bigsworth ran great risk from anti-aircraft fire and machine-gun fire from four machine guns on the Zeppelin. In recognition of this gallant exploit he was mentioned in Despatches, and appointed Wing-Commander, Royal Naval Air Service. This was the first Zeppelin to be attacked during the war, and it is believed that it was destroyed. In Aug. of the same year Wing-Commander Bigsworth was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Arthur Wellesley Bigsworth, Wing-Commander, Royal Naval Air Service. For his services in destroying, single-handed, a German submarine on the morning of 26 Aug. 1915, by bombs dropped from an aeroplane. Squadron-Commander Bigsworth was under heavy fire from the shore batteries and from the submarine whilst manœuvring for position. Nevertheless, displaying great coolness, he descended to 500 feet, and after several attempts was able to get a good time for dropping the bombs with effect." The Insignia of the Distinguished Service Order were presented to Commander Bigsworth by the King at Buckingham Palace 14 Oct. 1915. At one time he was ordered to the Dardanelles, but at the last moment was told to remain in France, where he had been doing good work consistently at the front. On 1 Oct. 1917, he received a Bar to his D.S.O.

Arthur W. Bigsworth.

PLAYNE, BASIL ALFRED, Surgeon, Royal Navy, served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 13 Sept. 1915]: "Basil Alfred Playne, Surgeon, Royal Navy, Royal Naval Division. For gallantry and good service during operations near Gaba Tepe from 28 April to 1 May, 1915. On several occasions he rushed across the open (the communication trench being incomplete) into the fire trenches, and attended the seriously wounded, regardless of the severity of the enemy's fire; on one occasion he carried a wounded officer on his back from the fire trench to the communication trench under heavy fire. His conspicuous bravery not only inspired the stretcher-bearers to perform fine work, but gave confidence and spirit to all ranks. He was again several times brought to notice for gallant deeds when attending wounded on May 3rd and 4th."

London Gazette, 24 Sept. 1915.—"Admiralty, 24 Sept. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of the undermentioned Officer to be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order."

HAMILTON, LOUIS HENRY KEPPEL, Lieut., Royal Navy, was born 31 Dec. 1890, son of the late Admiral Sir Frederick Tower Hamilton, G.C.V.O., K.C.B. He joined the Royal Naval College, Osborne, as a Naval Cadet in Sept. 1903. He served in the European War, serving in the Cameroons in charge of a river flotilla, and was present at the Battle of Jutland, for which he received the Order of St. Stanislas. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 Sept. 1915]: "Louis Henry Keppel Hamilton, Lieut., Royal Navy. For his services in the operations in the Cameroons. Lieut. Hamilton was in charge of a river flotilla which drove the Germans out of Dehane at the end of Dec. 1914. He was later in command of the detachment which transported a naval gun 160 miles up the lower reaches of the Niger River, thence 480 miles up the Benue River, and 60 miles by land, and thus contributed in large measure to the success of the operations which culminated in the surrender of Garua on the 10th June, 1915." Commander Hamilton was subsequently employed on special duty in the War Office. He has published various small works on signalling. He married Margaret, youngest daughter of B. P. Blockley, and they have one daughter.

London Gazette, 8 Oct. 1915.—"Admiralty, 8 Oct. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officer to be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order."

DOYLEY-HUGHES, GUY, Lieut., Royal Navy, served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Oct. 1915]: "Guy Doyley-Hughes, Lieut., R.N.D.S.C. For his services on the 21st Aug. 1915, when he voluntarily swam to the shore alone from a submarine, and blew up a low brickwork support to the Ismid railway line, in spite of the presence of an armed guard within 150 yards of him. After a running fight of about a mile, he dived into the sea, and was finally pulled on board the submarine utterly exhausted, having had to swim nearly a mile in his clothes."

London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915.—"His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to confer the undermentioned rewards for distinguished service in the field. To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

MOLESWORTH, EDWIN ALGERNON, Major, was born 9 May, 1875, son of the late Colonel St. Aubyn Molesworth, R.H.A. He was gazetted to the Royal Dublin Fusiliers 9 Dec. 1896; became Lieutenant 25 June, 1898; Captain 26 Oct. 1901, and Major 5 Dec. 1914. Major Molesworth served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915]: "Edward Algernon Molesworth, Major, Royal Dublin Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." In 1916, Major Molesworth married Ruth, daughter of Leslie Creery.

FARMAR, HAROLD MYNORS, Major, was born at Southampton 15 June, 1878, son of the late Major-General William Roberts Farmar and Ellinor Louisa, his wife, daughter of Lewis Girardot. He was educated at the Isle of Wight College, and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, passing into the Lancashire Fusiliers 7 June, 1898. He accompanied the Nile Expedition; was present at the Battle of Khartoum, and received the Khedive's Egyptian Medal with clasp, and the Medal. He served during the Insurrection in Crete, 1898, and with the Mounted Infantry in the South African War from 1899 to 1900, being present at the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, including action at Reit Vlei; also during operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, including action at Zilikat's Nek. He was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; and received the Queen's Medal with four clasps. He became Captain, Lancashire Fusiliers, 1901, and accompanied the North China Field Force, 1901. He was Adjutant, Lancashire Fusiliers, from 1904 to 1907, and was on the Staff, Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, 1907–11. Capt. Farmar served in the European War from 1914, first as Staff Captain with the Aden Mobile Column. He took part in the celebrated Lancashire Landing on the Gallipoli Peninsula. This landing was accomplished in the morning of the 25th April, 1915, with the 1st Battn. (Lancashire Fusiliers). The fighting was terrific; the Brigadier-General was wounded, and the Brigade Major killed, leaving Capt. Farmar in command of the Brigade from early morning until the afternoon, when fresh troops landed and captured the Turkish Redoubts. In this battle the 86th Brigade suffered casualties at the rate of 50 per cent. Capt. Farmar now became Brigade Major, and on 28 April led the successful attack of the 86th Brigade on the Krithia Wood, after the 88th Brigade had been compelled to fall back. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915]: "Harold Mynors Farmar, Major, The Lancashire Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." In July, 1915, he was wounded. He was passed fit for duty in Nov., and appointed D.A.A. and Q.M.G.; was A.A. and Q.M.G., and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 10 July, 1916, to 3 Sept. 1917, with the 3rd Australian Division; A.A. and Q.M.G., 35th Division, British Armies in France, 4 Sept. 1917, to 5 Sept. 1918; A.Q.M.G., American Staff College, British Armies in France, 6 Sept. to 26 Oct. 1918; A.Q.M.G., 9th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 27 Oct. 1918, to Jan. 1919; A.M.S., Western Command, 25 April, 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1917, and created a C.B. in 1919. He played cricket and hockey for Sandhurst in 1897, and polo for his regimental team. Lieut.-Colonel Farmar married Violet, youngest daughter of Sir William Dalby, and they have one son and two daughters.

MOORE, FRANCIS, Major, was born at Bury, Lancashire, 22 Dec. 1879, eldest son of the late Colonel Francis Moore, Royal Munster Fusiliers, and Cara Eliza, daughter of Thomas Cummins, Esq., of Coolaha, County Cork; and grandson of the late Capt. Francis Moore, Royal Dragoons. He was educated at the Elizabeth College, Guernsey, and at Blundell's School, Tiverton, passing into the Royal Fusiliers, as Second Lieutenant, 4 Jan. 1899, from the 1st Regt. Royal Guernsey Light Infantry. He became Lieutenant 31 Jan. 1900. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1902, with the Royal Fusiliers Mounted Infantry Company, and was slightly wounded; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, April to Dec. 1901, and March to May, 1902; in Orange River Colony, Jan. to March, 1902; also in Cape Colony, May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). He was wounded 6 July, 1901; was promoted to Captain 19 Oct. 1904, and was employed as Chief Instructor of the School of Musketry, South Africa, with the temporary rank of Major, from 1909 to 1913, becoming Major 1 Sept. 1915. During the Francis Moore.

Digitized by Google

European War he was present with the 2nd Battn. Royal Fusiliers (29th Division) at the first landing on the Gallipoli Peninsula 25 April, 1915. During the subsequent operations he was twice slightly and once severely wounded. He was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Machine Gun Corps, 26 Nov. 1916, and was Deputy Inspector of Machine Gun Units, Allied Forces, Archangel, 1918–19. He was mentioned in Despatches in 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915]: "Francis Moore, Major, The Royal Fusiliers (City of London Regt.). For distinguished service in the field." He was awarded the O.B.E. in 1919. He married Anne Early, youngest daughter of the late William Van Wyck, Esq., of New York, U.S.A., and they have one daughter.

WOOD, ALGERNON GEORGE NEWCOME, Major, was born at Warley, Essex, 19 May, 1879, son of Lieut.-Colonel George Wilding Wood, of Nithsdale, Ingatestone, Essex (late 56th Regt., Pompadours), and Anna Maria, his wife, daughter of the Rev. James Morton, of Little Island, Clonmel. He was educated at Haileybury College, obtaining his first commission in the Essex Regt. 11 Feb. 1899, and became First Lieutenant 11 March, 1900; Captain 14 March, 1905, and Adjutant, 1st Battn. Essex Regt. from Nov. 1912. Lieut. Wood went right through the South African War, from 1899–1902, on the Staff, employed with the Mounted Infantry. He took part in the Relief of Kimberley, and was engaged in many of the chief actions of the war; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria and Diamond Hill (11 and 12 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, including action at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); again in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, including action at Frederickstad (17 to 25 Oct.); in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including actions at Colesberg (1 to 29 Jan.); again during operations in the Transvaal and Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902. He received the Queen's Medal with six clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He served in the European War, in the Eastern Area, landing with the 1st Essex Regt. in the 88th Brigade, 29th Division, in Gallipoli, 25 April, 1915, and was one of the few surviving original officers left when the battle was over. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915]: "Algernon George Newcome Wood, Major, The Essex Regt. For distinguished service in the field." Major Wood was shot in the trenches 30 Oct. of the same year, the term of his Adjutancy expiring on the day he was killed. He was awarded the Serbian Order of the Eagle.

Algernon G. N. Wood.

M'LAGAN, DOUGLAS CRAIG, Capt., was born in Edinburgh, 12 March, 1880, son of Thomas Thomson M'Lagan, M.A., Royal High School, Edinburgh, and of Margaret Cunningham Campbell (or M'Lagan), daughter of Murdoch Campbell. He was educated at the Royal High School, and at Edinburgh University, eventually becoming a Solicitor. He joined the Volunteers (Q.R.V.B.R.S.) in April, 1900; became Second Lieutenant 22 Nov. 1902, and Captain in Oct. 1906. On the outbreak of the European War in Aug. 1914, he mobilized with the 5th Royal Scots, and formed the 2/5th Royal Scots (Sept. 1914). He returned to the 1/5th in Nov. 1914, and went to Gallipoli, where he landed on the memorable 25 April, 1915; commanded the 1/5th from 28 April until 18 May. He was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915]: "Douglas Craig M'Lagan, Capt., 1/5th Battn. The Royal Scots. For distinguished service in the field." Capt. M'Lagan was wounded during these operations, and invalided home. From Sept. to Nov. 1915, he was employed in a Staff Office in Edinburgh, and from Dec. to Jan. 1916, was Second-in-Command, 3/5th Royal Scots, with the rank of Major. In the spring of 1916, Major M'Lagan rejoined the 1/5th Royal Scots in France, taking over the command, with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, on 15 April, and was invalided home in Feb. 1917, remaining on home service until demobilized on 19 Feb. 1919.

TURNBULL, WILLIAM McGREGOR, Major, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915]: "William McGregor Turnbull, Major, New Zealand Staff Corps. For distinguished service in the field."

SMITH, GEOFFREY SAMUEL, Major, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 15 Oct. 1915]: "Geoffrey Samuel Smith, Major, 14th (South Otago) Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

London Gazette, 28 Oct. 1915.—"War Office, 28 Oct. 1915. His Majesty the King has been pleased to confer the undermentioned reward for distinguished service in the field, in connection with the recent military operations in Togoland. To be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order."

POTTER, HARMAN BARNES, Capt., was born 9 April, 1882. He joined the Army, as Second Lieutenant, 8 Jan. 1901, and was attached to the East Kent Regt. in the following March; became Lieutenant 9 July, 1904, and was Adjutant, East Kent Regt. 4 Aug. 1908, to 3 Aug. 1911. He was promoted Captain 24 July, 1912, and Major 8 Jan. 1916, and was employed with the West African Frontier Force 8 May, 1912, to 13 Jan. 1915, and 21 Feb. 1917, to 7 April, 1919. He was Local Lieutenant-Colonel 13 March, 1917, to 31 Oct. 1918, and 1 Nov. 1918, to 1 Feb. 1919. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 28 Oct. 1915]: "Harman Barnes Potter, Capt., East Kent Regt. For distinguished service in the field."

London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915.—"War Office, 29 Oct. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to confer the undermentioned rewards for distinguished service in the field."

HAMILTON, ANTHONY, Commander, Royal Indian Marine, was born 12 March, 1872, son of Capt. Andrew Hamilton, late 31st Regt. He was educated at Brentwood, and joined the Royal Indian Marine in 1892, becoming Lieutenant in 1897, and Commander in 1909. He served in Somaliland, 1902–4 (Medal), and commanded various ships of the R.I.M. He made a survey of the river Tigris from Basra to Baghdad in 1906, jointly with Commander Charles Gardner, R.I.M., which became the standard map of the river during the war. From 1909 to 1912 he was Port Officer and Collector of Customs at Bassein, Burma. Commander Hamilton served in the Great War in 1914–15, as Principal Marine Transport Officer, Mesopotamia. He was subsequently on Special Duty at the War Office. He was mentioned in Despatches four times, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Anthony Hamilton, Commander, Royal Indian Marine. For distinguished service in the field." In 1911, he married Margaret, youngest daughter of B. P. Brockley, and they have one daughter.

BRANSBURY, HENRY ARTHUR, Major, was born 2 Oct. 1877, son of Henry Bransbury, late of Southsea, and now of Redhill, Surrey. He was educated privately, and at St. George's Hospital, London, and joined the Royal Army Medical Corps 29 Jan. 1901, becoming Captain 29 Jan. 1904; Major 29 July, 1912, and Lieutenant-Colonel 30 May, 1918. He served in the European War, and was present at Mesopotamia, 1914 to July, 1916, and with the Egyptian Expeditionary Force, Aug. 1917, until the Armistice. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Henry Arthur Bransbury, Major, Royal Army Medical Corps. For distinguished service in the field." The Insignia were presented to him 4 Nov. 1916.

DUNCAN, HENRY CLARE, Major, was born 12 July, 1876. He was gazetted to the Durham Light Infantry 20 Feb. 1897; became Lieutenant, Indian Army, 2 Nov. 1900; Captain 20 Feb. 1906; Major 20 Feb. 1915, and was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 11 Jan. to 16 Nov. 1918. He was D.A.A. and Q.M.G., India, 1 Feb. to 28 Oct. 1914; D.A.Q.M.G., India, 29 Oct. to 23 Dec. 1914; Brigade Major from 24 Dec. 1914; Brigade Major, India, 6 March, 1916, to 22 March, 1917; A.Q.M.G., Dunsterforce, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, 11 Jan. to 21 Oct. 1918; A.A. and Q.M.G., 14th (Indian) Division, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, 22 Oct. to 16 Nov. 1918. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Henry Clare Duncan, Major, 9th Gurkha Regt., Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field." He married Edith Irene (who died in 1918), eldest daughter of the late R. Byng Campbell, C.B.

KNOX, ROBERT WELLAND, Major, was born 6 Sept. 1873, son of Sir George Edward Knox, C.S.I., I.S.O., LL.D., and Katherine Anne Louise, daughter of the late Major W. Loch, 1st Bombay Lancers. He was educated at Westminster, and at Edinburgh University, and became Lieutenant, Indian Medical Service, 28 Sept. 1897; Captain 28 July, 1900; Major 28 Jan. 1909, and Lieutenant-Colonel 28 Jan. 1917. From 23 Nov. 1918, he was Assistant Director of Medical Services, 60th Division, Egyptian Expeditionary Force. For his services in the Great War (Dardanelles), 1915–16, he was mentioned in Despatches; received the Serbian Order of the White Eagle, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Robert Welland Knox, M.B., Major, Indian Medical Service. For distinguished service in the field." He married in 1900, Lilian Margaret, daughter of the late Colonel J. L. Loch.

LANGHORNE, JAMES ARCHIBALD DUNBOYNE, Major, was born 24 Feb. 1879, son of the Rev. J. Langhorne, M.A.Camb., Vicar of Lamberhurst, Kent. He was educated at Tonbridge School. He was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 23 June, 1898; was promoted Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901; Captain 1 Feb. 1904, and Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 27 July, 1907, to 26 July, 1911, also Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 2 April, 1912, to 25 April, 1914. Major Langhorne served in the European War, and was present at the Turkish attack on the Suez Canal and operations on the Canal, 1914–15; the Battle of the Somme, 1916 (wounded); the Third Battle of Ypres, 1917, and operations round Hazebrouck and advance, 1918, to Armistice. He was D.A.Q.M.G. 14 Jan. 1915, to 6 Jan. 1916; A.Q.M.G., 10th Indian Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force; Egyptian Expeditionary Force, and Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel 7 Jan. to 29 Feb. 1916; A.Q.M.G., 15th Army Corps, 1 March to 15 April, 1916; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel from 26 March, 1917. He was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel in March, 1920, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "James Archibald Dunboyne Langhorne, Major, Royal Garrison Artillery. For distinguished service in the field."

MACMULLEN, CYRIL NORMAN, Major, was born 13 Dec. 1877. He entered the Army, as Second Lieutenant, Unattached, 4 Aug. 1897; became Lieutenant, Indian Staff Corps, 29 Nov. 1898; Lieutenant, Indian Army, 4 Nov. 1899; Captain 4 Aug. 1906; Major 4 Aug. 1915, and was Temporary Brigadier-General 7 Feb. to 18 June, 1916, and 26 Sept. 1917, to 29 Nov. 1918. He was G.S.O.3, Headquarters, India, 7 Jan to 3 Dec. 1913; G.S.O.2, Headquarters, India, 4 Dec. 1913, to 11 Nov. 1914; Staff Captain, 2nd Expeditionary Force, 12 Nov. 1914, to 6 May, 1915; G.S.O.2, 8th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 5 June to 3 Oct. 1915; G.S.O.1, 2nd Mounted Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 4 Oct. 1915, to 6 Feb. 1916; Brigadier-General, G.S., 15th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 7 Feb. to 18 June, 1916; G.S.O.1,

Digitized by Google

British Armies in France, 19 to 30 June, 1916; G.S.O.1, Reserve Army, 5th Army, British Armies in France, 1 July, 1916, to 11 Jan. 1917; G.S.O.1, G.H.Q., British Armies in France, 12 Jan. to 25 Sept. 1917; Brigadier-General, G.S., 19th Army Corps, British Armies in France, 26 Sept. 1917, to 29 Nov. 1918. He was given the Brevets of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1916, and of Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.M.G., and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Cyril Norman Macmullen, Major, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field."

MOBERLY, BERTRAND RICHARD, Major, was born 15 Oct. 1877. He entered the Army 4 Aug. 1897, as Second Lieutenant, Unattached; became Lieutenant, I.S.C., 7 Nov. 1898; Lieutenant, I.A., 4 Nov. 1899, Captain 4 Aug. 1906, Major 4 Aug. 1915, and was Temporary Lieut.-Colonel 2 July, 1916, to 2 June, 1918. He was Staff Officer, Base and Lines of Communication, Somaliland Field Force, 5 March to 16 April, 1903; Staff Captain, H.Q., India, 7 Jan. to 27 June, 1909; D.A.Q.M.G., H.Q., India, 28 June, 1909, to 6 Jan. 1913; G.S.O.2, 13 Aug. to 20 Sept. 1914; Staff Captain, Indian Expeditionary Force, 21 Sept. to 23 Dec. 1914; D.A.A. and Q.M.G. 24 Dec. 1914, to 4 June, 1915; G.S.O.2, 29th Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 5 June to 18 June, 1915; G.S.O.2, G.H.Q., Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 13 Aug. 1915, to 24 Jan. 1916; G.S.O.2, 16th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 25 Jan. to 9 Feb. 1916. He was given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 3 June, 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Bertrand Richard Moberly, Major, 56th Punjabi Rifles (Frontier Force), Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field."

QUERIPEL, LESLIE HERBERT, Major, was born 14 July, 1881, son of Col. A. E. Queripel, C.B., and Mary Queripel (née Watson). Educated privately, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; entered the Royal Artillery 22 Nov. 1899; became Lieutenant 16 Feb. 1901, Captain 17 March, 1908, and Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Lieut.-Colonel 1 April, 1915, to 17 Aug. 1916; Temporary Colonel 28 Sept. to 28 Oct. 1917; Acting Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Artillery, 29 June, 1918. He was Deputy Director of Army Signals, Indian Expeditionary Force "D," 1 April, 1915, to 23 May, 1916; Director of Army Signals and Telegraphs, Indian Expeditionary Force "D," Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 24 May, 1916, to 28 Oct. 1917. He served in China in 1900 (Medal with clasp). For his services in the Great War, 1914–18, he was given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 3 June, 1916; was created a C.M.G. in 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Leslie Herbert Queripel, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field." He married, 1st, in 1914, Margaret Kidner (who died in 1914), and, 2ndly, in 1918, Sybil, daughter of John Kidner, of Dodhill House, Taunton, and they have one daughter.

Reginald E. M. Russell.

RUSSELL, REGINALD EDMUND MAGHLIN, Major, was born 2 Sept. 1879, son of E. M. Russell, of Milford House, Limerick. He was educated at Cheltenham College, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; was gazetted to the Royal Engineers 23 June, 1898; became Lieut. 9 March, 1901, Captain 23 June, 1907, and Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Temporary Lieut.-Colonel 7 Feb. 1916, to 28 Feb. 1917; Temporary Brigadier-General 1 March to 1 Aug. 1917; Acting Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Engineers, 2 Aug. 1917. He was employed with the Egyptian Army 2 April, 1905, to 1 April, 1915; was G.S.O.2, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 13 June, 1915, to 6 Feb. 1916; G.S.O.1, Forces in Egypt, 7 Feb. to 31 March, 1916; G.S.O.1, West Frontier Force, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 1 April to 5 Nov. 1916; G.S.O.1, 52nd Division, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 6 Nov. 1916, to 28 Feb. 1917; Chief Engineer, Desert Column, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 1 March to 1 Aug. 1917; employed under the Air Ministry 23 April, 1918. He served in the Annak Expedition (Sudan) in 1912 (Medal and clasp and 4th Class Medjidie). He again saw active service in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, March to April, 1901; in Orange River Colony, April to Nov. 1901; also in Cape Colony, April, 1901, to April, 1902 (Despatches [London Gazette, 29 July, 1902]; Queen's Medal with five clasps). He served in the European War, with the British Expeditionary Force in Egypt and Palestine, and took part in operations on the Suez Canal in 1915, Senussi Campaign in 1916, Sinai in 1916–17, and Jerusalem in 1917. He was four times mentioned in Despatches; was given the Italian Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus, and the 4th Class Order of the Nile; was given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918; was created a C.B.E. in 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Reginald Edmund Maghlin Russell, Major, Royal Engineers. For distinguished service in the field." Lieut.-Colonel Russell married, in 1918, Dorothy B., twin daughter of Major E. B. Crake Rifle Brigade, and they have one daughter.

SCOTT, GERALD BASSETT, Major, was born 27 Oct. 1875, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel H. B. Scott; entered the Army 22 Jan. 1896; Indian Staff Corps 1 April, 1897; Lieutenant, Indian Army, 22 April, 1898; Captain 22 Jan. 1905; Major 22 Jan. 1914; served Waziristan, 1901–2 (Despatches); Somaliland, 1903–4 (Medal and two clasps; mentioned in Despatches); European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Gerald Bassett Scott, Major, 27th Punjabis, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field."

SKEEN, OLIVER ST. JOHN, Major, was born at Meerut, India, 2 Nov. 1874, son of the late Surgeon-General William Skeen and Mary Keen Skeen. He was educated at the Aberdeen Grammar School, and at Sandhurst, passing into the Army 16 Jan. 1895. He became Lieutenant 16 April, 1897, and Captain 16 Jan. 1904. He served in the South African War, employed on Special Service; served with the Mounted Infantry, 1902, and took part in the operations in the Transvaal and Cape Colony, May, 1902; also in Orange River Colony, Jan. to March, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He served in Tibet, 1903–4; took part in the action at Niani, during the operations at and around Gyantse, and the march to Lhassa (Medal with clasp). He served in the European War with the 62nd Punjabis, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Oliver St. John Skeen, Major, 62nd Punjabis. For distinguished service in the field." The following record of Major Skeen's gallantry is taken from General A. Wilson's Despatch: "Major O. St. J. Skeen displayed great promptitude and courage in charging the enemy, when disembarking from their pontoons. His skilful leading in the attack of 4 Feb. was instrumental in causing the surrender of the enemy, upon whose trenches he brought to bear an effective enfilading fire." Major Skeen fell in action at the Persian Gulf 21 Jan. 1916. He married, 29 Dec. 1905, at Bombay, India, Mabel, daughter of the late Henry A. Hawkins, and they had one son, Oliver St. John, born 10 April, 1907, and Kathleen Mary. He was a keen fisherman and good shot (small game).

Oliver St. John Skeen.

CHOPE, ARTHUR JOHN HERBERT, Capt., was educated at Sandhurst, and was commissioned in the West Riding Regt. (Duke of Wellington's). He passed into the Indian Army in 1906; served in the Abor Expedition, 1911–12; was Adjutant of the 2nd King Edward's Own Gurkhas (The Sirmoor Rifles). He served in the European War from 1914; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Arthur John Herbert Chope, Capt., 2nd King Edward's Own Gurkha Rifles (The Sirmoor Rifles) (attached Bikanir Camel Corps). For distinguished service in the field." He also received the Order of the Nile, 4th Class. Captain Chope married Elizabeth Susanna Winifred, widow of Major H. C. Nicolay.

MORGAN, MOUNTIFORD HICKMAN LLEWELLYN, Major, served in the European War. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Mountiford Hickman Llewellyn Morgan, Major, 62nd Punjabis. For distinguished service in the field."

PEPYS, GERALD LESLIE, Major, served in the South African War, 1900–2, as Railway Staff Officer; in the Transvaal 30 Nov. to Dec. 1900, and March, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also during operations in Cape Colony, Dec. 1900, to March, 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Gerald Leslie Pepys, Major, 57th Wilde's Rifles (Frontier Force), Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field."

SCOTT, HENRY ST. GEORGE STEWART, Capt., served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, March, 1901, to Jan. 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Henry St. George Stewart Scott, Capt., 4th Gurkha Rifles. For distinguished service in the field." He was also awarded a Bar to his D.S.O.

WILLIS, GERALD CHARLES WALE, Capt., was educated at Cheltenham College. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Gerald Charles Wale Willis, Capt. 31st Duke of Connaught's Own Lancers, Indian Army. For distinguished service in the field."

SHEEPSHANKS, RICHARD HASELL, Lieut., was born at Park Place, Harrogate, 19 Feb. 1885, son of the Rev. T. Sheepshanks, M.A., and Mrs. Sheepshanks, daughter of Andrew Grieve, W.S., of Edinburgh. He was educated at Harrow, and Trinity College, Cambridge, becoming Second Lieutenant, Royal 1st Devon Yeomanry, in 1904. He joined the 12th Cavalry, Indian Army, 19 Jan. 1907, as Lieutenant. He saw active service in the European War in Mesopotamia near Awaz. He was mentioned in Despatches 25 June, 1915. The following is the record of his service in General Sir A. Barrett's Mention: "Lieut. R. H. Sheepshanks, 12th Cavalry, attached 33rd Cavalry, was conspicuous for his gallantry and skilful handling of a small body of cavalry 3 March. Reforming his troop, he repeatedly charged the foremost lines of the enemy and inflicted heavy losses on them." The late Cavalry Brigade Commander wrote: "There was no one with that force, cavalry or infantry, who did better. His skilful leading, energy and dash were talked of by everyone." Another wrote: "Sheepshanks has been doing wonders on the other side of the Tigris with 22 men of the 33rd Cavalry; his last Richard H. Sheepshanks.

Digitized by Google

effort was when the Arab Horse got into the guns. He charged with eleven men, buckled his sword in an Arab, took a heavy toss, picked himself up although much hurt, and killed fourteen men with his rifle and saved a wounded gunner. Thirty-three men of a British regiment stood, and all the guns were saved, except one. The tales of Sheepshanks' prowess are like fairy-tales, only true." He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Richard Hasell Sheepshanks, Lieut., 12th Cavalry, I.A. For distinguished service in the field." He was promoted Captain, and was appointed A.D.C. to the Viceroy of India in 1916, whose third daughter, the Hon. Bridget Thesiger, he married, 25 June, 1919. Capt. Sheepshanks was subsequently invalided home suffering from severe attacks of fever and neuralgia, the result of the Mesopotamian Campaign.

London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915.—"War Office, 29 Oct. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

HARVEY, JOHN, Lieut.-Colonel, served in the South African War, 1899–1901; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.); also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. 1901 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "John Harvey, Lieut.-Colonel, 8th City of London Battn. London Regt. (P.O. Rifles), Territorial Force. For conspicuous ability, coolness and devotion to duty in the command of his unit during the attack on the German trenches at Festubert on 25 and 26 May, 1915. His gallant example greatly aided the successful attack." He was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch of 15 Oct. 1915, dated War Office, 1 Jan. 1916.

BAYLEY, HADRIAN, Major, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Hadrian Bayley, Major, 15th County of London Battery, Royal Field Artillery, Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry and ability from 12 to 26 May, 1915, at Le Plantin, when his battery rendered excellent service by its effective fire. He was heavily shelled by the enemy in his observation stations, but throughout the operations he sent back prompt and reliable information."

CLARK, WILLIAM ELLIS, Major, son of the late John William Hyne Clark, Barrister-at-Law, and Mrs. Akenhead, of Riseholme, The Mount, York. He was educated at Dulwich, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 21 Sept. 1896; became Lieut. 21 Sept. 1899, and Capt. 9 March, 1902; Adjutant 16 Aug. 1908, to 4 Aug. 1911. He served in the South African Campaign, 1899–1902; was present during operations in Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; operations in the Orange River Colony, May to Oct. 1900, including actions at Wittebergen; operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, Oct. and Nov. 1900; during operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, 1900–02. He received the Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps. He served in the European War, and was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "William Ellis Clark, Major, Royal Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry and good work during operations between 9 and 19 May, 1915, near Rue-du-Bois, especially when under heavy shell fire at the observation station of his battery. His reports and observations on the course of events were of great value." He was promoted Lt.-Col. 1917 and created a C.M.G.

LEES, RODERICK LIVINGSTONE, Major, served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Roderick Livingstone Lees, Major, 1/6th Battn. The Lancashire Fusiliers, Territorial Force. For most conspicuous gallantry and determination during an attack near Krithia, Gallipoli Peninsula, on 8 Aug. 1915. He commanded the defence of a position against heavy odds with great skill and tenacity, and showed absolute disregard of personal danger in leading and encouraging his men."

STANDISH, IVON TATHAM, Major, served in the European War, in Gallipoli, 1915, with No. 3 Battery, Royal New Zealand Artillery. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Ivon Tatham Standish, Major, No. 3 Battery, Royal New Zealand Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry in the Gallipoli Peninsula on 27–28 Aug. 1915. He was controlling the fire of a very exposed section of guns, performing this duty on a flank under heavy fire, when one of his guns was put out of action, and a fire broke out round his ammunition pit. He at once left his observing station, ran to the pit, and personally assisted in extinguishing the fire." He was created a C.M.G. in 1917.

BLAIR, RICHARD CURWEN RICHMOND, Capt., served in the South African War, 1899–1901; performed duties of Station Staff Officer; was present during the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; took part in the operations in the Transvaal, west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; served during the operations in Orange River Colony, May, to 29 Nov. 1900, including action at Rhenoster River; also in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900 (Queen's medal with four clasps). He served in Aden, 1903–4, during operations in the interior. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Richard Curwen Richmond Blair, Capt., 1/5th (Cumberland) Battn. The Border Regt., Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry on the night of 27 Sept. 1915, at Armentières. He went out with a party of ten to bomb the enemy's trenches. Finding conditions unfavourable, the party lay down and waited about 50 yards from the enemy's wire. Soon afterwards a party of 14 Germans were seen advancing towards them. Capt. Blair held his fire till they were ten yards away, when he shot four of them with his revolver. His party accounted for all the remainder except two, and returned unscathed. Capt. Blair was constantly taking part in arduous and enterprising night work." Capt. Blair was killed in Oct. 1916.

CALLAGHAN, CECIL ARTHUR, Capt., served in the European War and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Cecil Arthur Callaghan, Capt., 2nd Battery, Field Artillery, Australian Imperial Force. For conspicuous gallantry and ability on 12 July, 1915, during an action on the Gallipoli Peninsula. As Forward Observing Officer, he advanced with the first line of infantry, and established telephone communication with his battery from captured hostile trenches. During the day he continued to advance under heavy fire, sending back accurate reports, valuable not only to the guns but also to the Corps Staff."

DOUIE, FRANCIS McCRONE, Capt., was born 20 March, 1886. He entered the Royal Engineers 5 Aug. 1906; became Lieutenant 22 Nov. 1908, and Captain 30 Oct. 1914. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Francis McCrone Douie, Capt., Royal Engineers, No. 3 Coy., 1st King George's Own Sappers and Miners, Indian Army. For conspicuous gallantry on 22 May, 1915, west of Ferme-du-Bois. In broad daylight, accompanied by his orderly, Sapper Jiwa Khan, he got over the parapet, and went within 80 yards of the German trenches, which were being shelled by our guns, and brought back to safety a wounded man. He also assisted to bring in another wounded man on a stretcher. The Germans were alert at the time, and opened fire at once."

Francis McCrone Douie.

He was given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1917, and was awarded the Military Cross. Major Douie is the eldest son of Sir James McC. Douie, K.C.S.I.

FINN, BERTRAM SIBBALD, Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Bertram Sibbald Finn, Capt., New Zealand Medical Corps. For conspicuous devotion to duty in the Gallipoli Peninsula during operations from 6 to 9 Aug. 1915, when he worked day and night with unceasing zeal and without rest evacuating the wounded. His work was carried out under continuous fire, on one occasion the dressing station being heavily shelled for an hour, and many assistants and wounded being hit. Owing to Capt. Finn's efforts the wounded lying in the more exposed positions were got into a place of greater safety."

GARDINER, HARRY, Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Harry Gardiner, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Duke of Wellington's (West Riding Regt.), attached 8th Battn. For conspicuous gallantry and determination during operations at Suvla Bay, Gallipoli Peninsula, on the 8th Aug. 1915. He continued to lead his men forward after being twice wounded, and only gave up after being wounded a third time."

GREANY, JOHN WINGATE, Capt., was born in 1892, son of Surgeon-General J. P. Greany, I.M.S. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "John Wingate Greany, Capt., 5th Battn. The Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire Regt.). For conspicuous gallantry in the Gallipoli Peninsula. On 10 Aug. 1915, his battalion suffered severely in the Salzi Beit Valley and on the 25th Aug. two men arrived in an exhausted condition, bringing word that five others were still alive at the upper end of the valley, having lived for 14 days among the dead and wounded. Capt. Greany formed a rescue party of volunteers from his regiment, and although it was found impossible, owing to bright moonlight, rifle fire and meeting a Turkish patrol, to complete the search on the night of the 25th–26th Aug., yet on the following night he found and brought in the five men under heavy fire. Capt. Greany also brought back valuable information regarding the country and the enemy's movements." He was killed in action on 9 April, 1916.

John Wingate Greany.

Cecil Duncan Sasse.

SASSE, CECIL DUNCAN, Capt., was born in Kensington, in 1891, son of F. C. Sasse. He was educated at Eastbourne and Sandhurst, passing into the 1st Battn. The East Yorkshire Regt. in 1911. Owing to an accident to his knee he resigned in 1913, and went to Australia; but when the European War broke out, he joined the Australian Imperial Force, and served in Egypt and Gallipoli. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Cecil Duncan Sasse, Capt., 1st Battn. (New South Wales) Australian Imperial Force. For conspicuous gallantry and determination during the attack on Lone Pine, Gallipoli Peninsula, on the 6th–7th Aug. 1915, when he led several bayonet charges on trenches occupied by the enemy, resulting in substantial gains. Capt. Sasse was three times wounded, but remained on duty." He was sent with his regiment to France, being promoted Major. He played cricket for Blue Mantles and Yorkshire Gentlemen, and football for his regiment, Ealing and Eastbourne.

Digitized by Google

SCOTT, ALLAN HUMPHREY, Capt., was born at Tumut, New South Wales, Australia, 3 April, 1891, son of D. H. Scott, of Edgmond, Wahroonga, New South Wales. He was educated at the Sydney Grammar School, and entered the 1st Battn. New South Wales Scottish Rifles in 1911. In Aug. 1914, he was gazetted Captain, 1st Contingent of the Australian Imperial Force. He accompanied this force to Gallipoli, serving in that theatre of war from the landing to the evacuation in 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Allan Humphrey Scott, Capt., 1st Contingent, Australian Imperial Force. For conspicuous gallantry in the attack on Lone Pine on 6–7 Aug. 1915. He held on to a very exposed position till all the wounded had been removed. Later, after a heavy bombing attack by superior forces had compelled him to retire, he led a bayonet charge which retook and held a position, in face of the enemy's enfilading machine-gun fire. This position was of great importance as linking up the positions captured on either flank." He was killed in action on 30 Sept. 1917.

WILLIAMS, GUY CHARLES, Brevet Major, was born at Bangalore, India, 10 Sept. 1881, son of the late Lieut.-Colonel Richard Francis Williams. He was educated at Sherborne School, passing into the Army 2 May, 1900. He was stationed at Bermuda from 1901 to 1904; returned home to proceed to Colchester, where he remained until 1908. From 1909 to 1914 he was employed in East Africa on survey duty under the Colonial Office; became Captain 2 May, 1910, and was promoted Director of Surveys in 1912. Capt. Williams served in the European War, and was mentioned five times in Despatches, and created a C.M.G.; also awarded the Order of St. Stanislaus, 3rd Class, with Sword, and was promoted Brevet Major 18 May, 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 29 Oct. 1915]: "Guy Charles Williams, Captain and Brevet Major, 173rd (Tunnelling) Coy., Royal Engineers. For conspicuous gallantry and initiative in France. He pushed his advanced galleries through those of the enemy, thereby successfully carrying out mining operations. From the commencement of this dangerous and difficult operation Major Williams directed and controlled the work with great forethought and daring, which alone enabled an almost unique result to be obtained." Capt. Williams attained his substantive Majority, becoming Temporary Lieut.-Colonel in 1915, and was employed as Controller of Mines, 1st Army.

London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915.—"War Office, 4 Nov. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

ALLANSON, CECIL JOHN LYONS, Major, was born at Carnarvon, North Wales, 2 April, 1877, son of John B. Allanson, of Bath, and of Constance Lyons, his wife, of Brookhill, County Antrim. He was educated at Bedford Grammar School, and Woolwich, passing into the Royal Artillery in 1897. From 1899 to 1902 he was employed as A.D.C. to the Lieut.-Governor of Bengal, and was transferred into the Indian Army. He was promoted Adjutant in 1903, and passed the Staff College in 1907; was Brigade Major in 1908; was employed as Private Secretary to the Lieut.-Governor of Bengal from 1909 to 1910. In 1910 he was appointed Tutor Guardian to the Maharaja of Hathwa, and served during the Imperial Delhi Durbar. From 1912 to 1915 he acted as Military Secretary to the Governor of Madras. He was promoted Major in March, 1915. Major Allanson was appointed to command the 1st Battn. 6th Gurkha Rifles in Gallipoli. He was three times wounded; was mentioned in Despatches twice, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Cecil John Lyons Allanson, Major, 1st Battn. 6th Gurkha Rifles. For most conspicuous gallantry and marked ability on 9 Aug. 1915, in leading his battalion to the attack on the Chunuk Bair Ridge, Gallipoli. Major Allanson, with two companies, reached the summit of the ridge under a very destructive fire from the enemy, where he was wounded by a bayonet thrust. When it was obvious that no supports could reach him, he skilfully withdrew his men, and notwithstanding the pain from his wound, remained with his battalion throughout the whole day, being the only British officer left." Major Allanson was recommended for the Victoria Cross by his Brigade and Divisional Commander, and was referred to in Sir Ian Hamilton's Despatch of the 7th Jan. 1916, as "that fine leader of men." Major Allanson was made a Companion of the Indian Empire, and was placed on the General Staff in 1916. He married, 12 Sept. 1916, Ethel, widow of Edward Temple Patterson, at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, London, W.C., the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Herbert Davies, his brother-in-law. He was awarded the Croix de Guerre (avec Palme) in 1918, and created a C.M.G. in 1919.

Cecil John L. Allanson.

DUTTON, THE HON. JAMES HUNTLY (now Baron Sherborne), Temporary Major, was born 5 March, 1873, eldest son of the late Colonel the Hon. Charles Dutton, and May Arbuthnot, his wife, daughter of the late George Noble Taylor. He was educated at Wellington College. He served in the European War with the 12th Royal Scots, and took part in operations at Loos. He also served in the South African War from 1899–1902, with the 2nd Battn. Scottish Rifles. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "James Huntly Dutton, Temporary Major, 12th Battn. The Royal Scots (Lothian Regt.). For conspicuous gallantry, resource and determination at 'Fosse 8,' from 26 to 28 Sept. 1915, as Officer Commanding the Battalion. He repeatedly organized the defence of his line against German counter-attacks, and maintained his position till relieved." He married, 27 Feb. 1908, Ethel Mary, eldest daughter of William Baird, late Lieut.-Colonel and Honorary Colonel Commanding the Fife Royal Garrison Artillery (Militia), and they have two sons: Charles, born on 13 May, 1911, and George Edward, born 23 Sept. 1912, and two daughters.

GORDON, ADRIAN CHARLES, Major, was born at Enfield 4 July, 1891, son of Charles Wood Gordon, Shipowner, and Florence Gordon, his wife. He was educated at Bishop's Stortford School, joining the Volunteers when in his teens. He was employed in shipping. He served during the European War, and early in 1915 went to France as Major. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Adrian Charles Gordon, Major, 16th County of London Battery, 6th London Brigade, Royal Field Artillery, Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry, ability and resource at Maroc 25 Sept. 1915, when he got close up to the German lines to reconnoitre, and although under heavy fire, captured 12 Germans, after shooting one man with a revolver. On the afternoon of the same day he again went up to reconnoitre the enemy's second line under very heavy fire. On the following day Major Gordon rendered valuable service at Loos by reorganizing men who had become detached and taking them to the firing line." The following record is taken from "Truth," 10 Nov. 1915: "Of all the brave deeds done at the Battles of Loos, one of the bravest was that of Major Adrian Charles Gordon, Commanding the 16th County of London Territorial Force, who while reconnoitring on 25 Sept., close up to the German lines, cut off 12 German soldiers, who were holding a trench, and after shooting one of them, ordered the others to hold up their hands and file past him as his prisoners. If ever a D.S.O. was well earned, it was by Major Gordon." He was gazetted Lieut.-Colonel in 1916. Lieut.-Colonel Gordon fell in action 12 Dec. 1917. The Chaplain of the Brigade wrote as follows to his widow: "He was one of the finest commanding officers that any brigade could have. He had all the qualities which go to make the ideal leader of men, and they would have followed him anywhere. He died just after the accomplishment of the greatest achievement in his military career, after having done something with his brigade which it will be given to few artillery officers to be able to do. His name has been on everybody's lips in this division, and not in this division alone. Further honours would certainly have come to him in the near future."

Adrian Charles Gordon.

HUGHES, GEOFFREY WALLACE GRAINGER, Major, was born 2 Sept. 1880, son of Colonel Emilius Hughes, C.B., C.M.G. He was educated at King's College London, being appointed House Surgeon, King's College Hospital, in 1902. Dr. Hughes joined the R.A.M.C. in 1903, and served with the Egyptian Army from 1904 to 1911, gaining the 4th Class Medjidie in 1911. He became Captain in 1906. In 1913 he became a Specialist in Ophthalmology, and became Major in 1914. He served during the European War with the Royal Army Medical Corps; was twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Geoffrey Wallace Grainger Hughes, Major, 6th Cavalry Field Ambulance, Royal Army Medical Corps. For conspicuous ability and good work in arranging for the care and evacuation of the wounded at Loos on 26 and 27 Sept. 1915 A large number of wounded infantry were tended and evacuated by the two cavalry field ambulances, in addition to wounded cavalrymen. During the greater part of the time Loos was under heavy bombardment." He married, in 1911, Rosamond, daughter of the late Rev. Henry Goodwin, and they have one son and one daughter. Lawn tennis and golf are his favourite recreations.

LEWIS, FREDERICK, Major, was born 19 Jan. 1870. He joined the Army in 1889, serving in the ranks until Feb. 1896, when he received a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Leicestershire Regt. He became Lieutenant 28 May, 1898, and Captain 26 April, 1902. From 1903 to 1907 he was employed with the West African Frontier Force. He served during the South African War, 1899 to 1902; took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including actions at Talana and Lombard's Kop; at the Defence of Ladysmith, including sortie of 7 Dec. 1899; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, including actions at Belfast (26 and 27 Aug.) and Lydenberg (5 to 8 Sept.); again in the Transvaal, Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902; also during operations in Orange River Colony, April to May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with five clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He served in West Africa (Northern Nigeria) in 1903; took part in the operations in the Kabba Province; during operations against tribes on the direct route between Bauchi and Ibi; Sokoto-Burni operations; was slightly wounded (Medal with clasp). Major Lewis served on the Western Front, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Frederick Lewis, Major, Leicestershire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and ability during the action near Pietre Farm on 25 Sept. 1915, when, as second-in-command, he directed the assault with the utmost coolness. At an early stage he was wounded by shrapnel in the neck, but refused to leave his post for three hours, and then returned immediately after his wound was dressed. He set a fine example to those around him. About 3.30 p.m. he took command of his battalion, his senior officer being wounded. He has previously been brought to notice for gallant conduct." He was promoted to the rank of Major, Sept. 1915.

Digitized by Google

LOWE, SIDNEY JOSEPH, Major, was born 29 Aug. 1880. He joined the Royal Fusiliers in Aug. 1899; became Lieutenant in June, 1900, and was employed as Railway Staff-Officer from March to Oct. 1901. He became Captain in 1905, and was appointed Adjutant to the Volunteers in Sept. 1906. He was transferred as Adjutant to the Territorial Force in 1908. Major Lowe served during the European War, and from Aug. 1914, to the following Oct. he was employed as Embarkation Staff Officer (graded as Staff Captain), and was promoted to Major in Sept. 1915. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Sidney Joseph Lowe, Major, R.F., City of London Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and coolness at Maroc and Loos on 25 and 26 Sept. 1915, when he visited captured German lines under heavy fire and reported on the situation. On 26 Sept., again under heavy fire, he collected and reorganized men who were retiring and directed them back to their positions."

McLEAN, CHARLES WESLEY WELDON, Major, was born at St. John, New Brunswick, 26 Aug. 1882, son of Major-General Hugh Havelock McLean, K.C., M.P., and of Jennie M. McLean (née Porteous), deceased. He entered the Royal Artillery as Second Lieutenant from Local Military Forces, Canada, 7 March, 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901, Captain 12 Sept. 1908, and Major 29 Oct. 1914; was Acting Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Artillery, 21 July, 1917, to 21 March, 1918, and 3 July to 11 Nov. 1918; seconded as M.P. 28 Dec. 1918. From 28 Feb. to 7 Oct. 1916, he was Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, 59th Division, Home Forces. He was educated at the Royal Military College, Kingston, and served in the South African War, 1899–1900, taking part in the advance on Kimberley; was present during operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including those at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.); actions at Poplar Grove and Dreifontein; in Orange River Colony, May to Aug. 1900; also during operations in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900 (Queen's Medal with three clasps). He served in the European War, and since 1918 has been M.P. (C.U.) for the Brigg Division of Lindsey, Lincolnshire. For his services in the war, when he commanded the 52nd Brigade, Royal Artillery, 9th Division, he was mentioned in Despatches; created a C.M.G. in 1919; promoted to Colonel, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Charles Wesley Weldon McLean, Major, 52nd Brigade, Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry and ability on many occasions between May and Sept. 1915, notably the following: On 21 Sept. 1915, when, although stunned when his observation station was hit, he remained at his post and continued to observe the fire of his guns. On 25 Sept., when he brought forward his battery with great dash over the open in close support of the infantry near Hohenzollern Redoubt, and ran a wire at once, under heavy fire, to the Battalion Headquarters. He observed fire from a very exposed position till after dark, when he was wounded after rejoining his battery. He refused to leave his battery, and brought it out of action himself from a most critical situation." He was awarded two Bars to the Distinguished Service Order.

POPHAM, GILBERT LEYBOURNE, Major, was born 14 May, 1881. He was educated at Cheltenham College, and entered the Royal Artillery 6 Jan. 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901; Captain 10 Aug. 1908; was Adjutant, Royal Artillery, 1 Sept. 1908, to 31 Aug. 1911; was promoted to Major 30 Oct. 1914. He was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 Sept. 1913, to 18 July, 1916. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Gilbert Leybourne Popham, Major, 26th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry on 10 Sept. 1915, at Vermelles. While giving instruction to a battery, a shell set fire to the covering of a gun emplacement, in which were some high-explosive shells. Major Popham removed these shells himself, thereby probably saving a very serious explosion. He also did excellent work during the operations from 21 Sept. till he was severely wounded on 25 Sept."

Hugh Alexander Ross

ROSS, HUGH ALEXANDER, Capt. (Temporary Major), was born at Glasgow, 19 Feb. 1880, son of the late John McDonald Ross, of Ledgowan, Achnasheen, Ross-shire, and of Robine, eldest daughter of the late Alexander Gilroy, of Craigie, Fifeshire. He was educated at Loretto School, and entered the Gordon Highlanders 5 Jan. 1901; became Lieutenant 6 Feb. 1904, and Captain 3 June, 1910. He served in the South African War, 1901–2, and received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. He served in the European War; was thrice mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Hugh Alexander Ross, Capt. (Temporary Major), 2nd Battn. The Gordon Highlanders. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 25 Sept. 1915, near Hulluch. When his Commanding Officer was wounded early in the morning, he took command, and led his battalion with great judgment. He held on to an advanced and exposed position all day, after his battalion had suffered heavy casualties, and he himself was badly gassed. Capt. Ross remained with the battalion till it came back into support, and then only left it on being ordered to go to hospital." He also received the Order of Danilo of Montenegro.

ADAMSON, JAMES EDGAR, Temporary Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "James Edgar Adamson, Temporary Capt., 8th Battn. The Gordon Highlanders. For conspicuous gallantry at Haisnes 25 Sept. 1915. After leading his company across the open under heavy shell and rifle fire, and across the lines of wire, where he was exposed to heavy machine-gun fire, he pressed on with great determination, into the village of Haisnes, far in advance of any other detachment, and held on there from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., causing heavy losses to the attacking Germans. Finally, when completely isolated and exposed to bombs and artillery and rifle fire on three sides, he brought back what remained of his company in good order. He exhibited throughout the greatest coolness and courage."

BELL, WHITEFORD JOHN EDWARD, Capt., was born 26 Jan. 1881, son of the late Colonel Whiteford John Bell, 93rd Sutherland Highlanders, of Troqueer Moat, Dumfries. He was educated at Wellington College, and at Edinburgh University, and entered the Royal Army Medical Corps 30 July, 1906; became Captain 30 Jan. 1910; was Temporary Major, R.A.M.C., 16 March, 1916, to 29 July, 1918; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, R.A.M.C., 22 Aug. 1916; was promoted to Major 30 July, 1918. For his services in the European War he was thrice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Whiteford John Edward Bell, M.B., Capt., No. 2 Field Ambulance, Royal Army Medical Corps. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on all occasions, notably near Loos between 28 Sept. and 1 Oct. 1915, when he visited the advanced bearer post day and night under continuous shell fire, and personally supervised the arrangements for collecting and evacuating the wounded in that area. Capt. Bell has commanded a bearer division since Aug. 1914." He married, in 1919, Vyvian Lydia Winifred, A.R.R.C., daughter of Harington Bird, A.R.C.A.

BIRD, JOHN WILFRED, Major, was born 28 March, 1872, at Toronto, Canada, son of the late Lieut. John Sealy Bird, 67th Regt. He was educated privately, and at Guy's Hospital, London; served in the Royal Navy as Surgeon from 1897 to 1905; joined the Territorial Force in 1908, and was gazetted Captain in the 6th London Field Ambulance, Royal Army Medical Corps (T.F.); served four years, and then went into the Territorial Force Reserve. On the outbreak of war in Aug. 1914, he rejoined the Ambulance; was promoted Major (temporary) 10 Sept. 1914; later landed in France in March, 1915, and served in the 47th Division (T.F.), and was present at many engagements, amongst which were Richebourg, Festubert, Givenchy, Maroc and Loos. In April, 1916, he was recalled by the War Office, and given Command of the 2/6th London Field Ambulance, 60th (London) Division (T.F.); temporary rank of Major was made substantive dating 10 Sept. 1914; promoted Lieutenant-Colonel (temporary) 13 May, 1916. He went abroad with the unit, and joined the British Expeditionary Force in France in June, 1916. In Dec. 1916, the division was transferred to the Salonika Army. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "John Wilfred Bird, Major, 6th London Field Ambulance, Royal Army Medical Corps (Territorial Force). For conspicuous devotion to duty during operations at Maroc and Loos, between 25 and 30 Sept. 1915, in dealing with casualties. On one occasion he worked for 23 hours without any cessation, in dressing and tending the wounded. He set a fine example, which had far-reaching results." He was mentioned in Despatches 1 Jan. 1917. Major Bird married, 2 March, 1903, Marjorie Jane, daughter of Edwin Byrne, of Shanghai, and they have two children: John Alan Geoffrey, born 20 May, 1906, and Madeline Mary, born 7 Sept. 1904.

John Wilfred Bird.

BLOGG, EDWARD BASIL, Capt., (Temporary Major), became Second Lieutenant, Royal Engineers (T.F.), 14 May, 1909. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Edward Basil Blogg, Capt (Temporary Major), 4th London Field Coy., Royal Engineers (Territorial Force). For conspicuous gallantry and ability from 27 Aug. to 25 Sept. 1915, near Loos and Hill 70, when he pushed forward the construction of front-line trenches with great energy. His area came under heavy fire, but he carried on his work, displaying great bravery and coolness. After the assault he personally directed the consolidation of the captured positions. In Loos, he himself unloaded the mines under the church tower, carrying out this dangerous work under heavy shell fire." Major Blogg was killed in action in France in 1916.

BURRARD, GERALD, Major, was born 17 Jan. 1888, son of Sir Sidney Gerald Burrard, K.C.S.I., R.E., F.R.S., and Gertrude, daughter of Major-General C. Haig. He was educated at Cheltenham College, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; entered the Royal Artillery 23 July,

Digitized by Google

1909; became Lieutenant 23 July, 1912; Captain 23 July, 1915, and Major 19 Sept. 1918. He served in India until the outbreak of the European War, and then went to France with the Indian Expeditionary Force in Nov. 1914. He was present at the actions of Givenchy, Neuve Chapelle, Ypres, Festubert, Loos and the Somme. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Gerald Burrard, Major, 52nd Brigade, Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry on many occasions, notably the following: On 25 Sept. 1915, when, as Brigade Adjutant, he guided his brigade across the open under continuous shell and rifle fire to the close support of the infantry near Hohenzollern Redoubt, and pointed out their positions to the batteries. On the night of 27 Sept., when he arranged and assisted in laying wires under a heavy shell and rifle fire. Major Burrard has been continuously on active service since Nov. 1914, and his name was brought to notice for gallantry after actions at Givenchy, Ypres and Festubert." He was severely wounded at the Somme in Aug. 1916, when his right leg was amputated. In consequence he was retired from the Army in Oct. 1919. He was then appointed to the staff of the "Field." Major Burrard is an F.R.G.S. He married Hilda Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Mumm.

Gerald Burrard.

DAWSON, JAMES, Capt. (Temporary Major), was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "James Dawson, Capt. (Temporary Major), 6th (Banff and Donside) Battn. The Gordon Highlanders (Territorial Force). For conspicuous gallantry and ability near Hulluch on 25 Sept. 1915, when he materially assisted his Commanding Officer to organize an advanced position, and took command of the battalion when the latter was killed. All through the day and up to midnight he held on to this position, and displayed great coolness and judgment."

James Dawson.

DENNIS, MICHAEL FREDERICK BEAUCHAMP, Temporary Capt., was born 3 Sept. 1880. He joined the 4th Battn. Royal Munster Fusiliers, and retired from the Service in March, 1904. Lieut. Dennis rejoined at the beginning of the European War, and went to the Western Front. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Michael Frederick Beauchamp Dennis, Temporary Capt., 7th Battn. The King's Own Scottish Borderers. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty near Loos, and Hill 70 on 25 Sept. 1915. He was wounded in the trenches immediately before the assault, but after his wound was bandaged, he advanced with his company, cheering and encouraging his men till he was again wounded. He was carried back to the dressing station, from which he disappeared after his wound was dressed. Later he was seen catching up his company, and again cheering them on till he was wounded a third time." He was killed in action 19 May, 1918.

GWYNN, KINGSMILL DOUGLAS HOSEASON, Temporary Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Kingsmill Douglas Hoseason Gwynn, Temporary Capt., 8th Battn. The Devonshire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry near Hulluch on 25 Sept. 1915. At 7.15 a.m., when all the other officers of his battalion, except one Second Lieutenant, had been killed or wounded, he took command, led the men on, and captured four German guns. He was in command all day, and with great coolness and energy held on to the positions captured in the morning. He was wounded by a bomb at about 7.30 p.m."

HAMILTON, CHARLES STEWART PARNELL, T. Capt., was born 14 Sept. 1891, son of Henry Thomas Hamilton, L.R.C.P.I. He was educated at Charing Cross Hospital, London (M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.Lond., 1914), and was gazetted to the Royal Army Medical Corps as a Temporary Lieutenant 7 Aug. 1914, to 6 Aug. 1915, and was a Temporary Captain 7 Aug. 1915, to 31 May, 1918. He was Capt., R.A.M.C., 7 Feb. to 1 June, 1918; served in the European War, 1915–18; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: Charles Stewart Parnell Hamilton, Temporary Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps, attached 2nd Battn. The Buffs (East Kent Regt.). For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty from 27 to 30 Sept. 1915, in France. He dressed the wounded in the firing line, being for hours together under heavy shell fire, and went to points of great danger, often to where bombers were actually fighting."

Charles S. P. Hamilton.

KEARSLEY, EDWARD REGINALD, Major, was born 27 Aug. 1883. He was educated at Harrow, and joined the Royal Welsh Fusiliers as Second Lieutenant 10 Oct. 1903; became Lieutenant 12 Jan. 1907; Captain 18 Dec. 1918, and Major 10 Oct. 1918. From April, 1913, to Nov. 1914, Major Kearsley was employed with the Egyptian Army, but on the outbreak of the European War he accompanied the British Expeditionary Force to the Western Front. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Edward Reginald Kearsley, Major, 1st Battn. The Royal Welsh Fusiliers. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during the attack in the German trench near Hulluch on 25 Sept. 1915. He was in command of the battalion, and, although severely wounded, rallied his men, and continued to advance under heavy fire until finally disabled by no less than seven wounds. His personal good leading and determination resulted in the capture of several lines of German trenches."

KERR, FRANK ROBISON, Capt., was born in Melbourne, Australia, 3 April, 1889, son of John H. Kerr, Paymaster, Treasury, Melbourne. He was educated at Wesley College, Melbourne; at the University of Melbourne (M.B., Ch.B. Melbourne); was Rhodes Scholar, Victoria, 1913; proceeded to Oxford (University College), and there studied physiology. He is a Triple Blue (Melbourne) in cricket, football and athletics; five-mile cross-country champion, Victoria, 1910, etc. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Frank Robison Kerr, M.B., Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps, Special Reserve. For conspicuous gallantry and splendid devotion to duty at Cuinchy 25 Sept. 1915. After an unsuccessful attack on the enemy's trenches, this officer crawled over our parapet and brought in a wounded man from about a dozen yards outside, in full view of the enemy, at a range of only 70 yards. He then went out again for 30 yards, and rescued a man whose thigh had been broken, being fired at the whole time. During the night of 25 Sept. Capt. Kerr was out attending to the wounded for two hours under constant machine-gun and rifle fire, and on the night of 27–28 Sept. he went within 25 yards of the enemy's position to rescue a man reported wounded, but found that he was dead." Capt. Kerr married, in 1916, Myrtle, daughter of John M'Meekin, of Mortlake, Victoria, and they have one son and one daughter.

Frank Robison Kerr.

LOW, CLAUD JOHN, Capt., was born 3 May, 1883, son of Thomas Vacher Low, of Holt House, Redhill, Surrey. He was educated at St. John's, School, Leatherhead, and served in the European War, being present at the capture of Givenchy, Les La Bassée, 23 Dec. 1914. Cambrin 23 Jan. 1915; Aubers Ridge attack 9 May, 1915; Loos 25 Sept. and 13 Oct. 1915; Gommecourt 1 July, 1916; Wancourt Ridge 3 May, 1917; Passchendaele Ridge, Ypres, Aug. 1917; Cambrai, Nov. 1917; Vimy Ridge, March, 1918 (German offensive), and Bullecourt 2 Sept. 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Claud John Low, Capt., 1/14th (County of London) Battn. The London Regt. (London Scottish), Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry and ability on 25 Sept. 1915, near Hulluch. He led his company with great skill during the attack, and when hung up by German wire, maintained his position in spite of heavy machine-gun fire from both flanks. By this action he largely induced the German surrender, after which he at once marched forward and occupied their third line."

Claud John Low.

MACGREGOR, WALTER WILLIAM, Capt., was born 27 April, 1877. He was educated at Eton, and entered the Gordon Highlanders 24 March, 1897; became Lieutenant 28 May, 1899, and Captain 15 Jan. 1902; retired from the Gordon Highlanders 5 Feb. 1913, and entered the Reserve of Officers. He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel in the Army. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902, and took part in the operations in Natal, 1899, including actions at Elandslaagte and Lombard's Kop; at the defence of Ladysmith, including action of 6 Jan. 1900 (severely wounded); in the Transvaal, Dec. 1900, to Dec. 1901, also during operations in Orange River Colony, Dec. 1900; received the Queen's Medal with five clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. In 1908 he served on the North-West Frontier of India, in the Mohmand Expedition. He served in the European War, 1914–17; was thrice mentioned in Despatches, and for gallantry at Loos was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London

Walter W. MacGregor.

Digitized by Google

Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915: "Walter William MacGregor, Capt. (Temporary Major), Reserve of Officers, The Gordon Highlanders, attached 9th (Pioneer) Battn. For conspicuous gallantry during the action at Loos on 26 Sept. 1915. He received an order to retire, but, after retiring to the German front-line trenches, he became doubtful of the authenticity of the order, and, although large numbers of men were retiring, he called on two companies and led them back to Loos under heavy shell fire. He reoccupied his defensive position, and held on from 5 to 8 p.m., when he received reinforcements, which enabled him to remain in position all night. His prompt action helped to prevent the Germans turning our flank."

McLEOD, DAVID, Capt., was born 5 Jan. 1869; entered the Army 14 July, 1900, and became Captain 16 Aug. 1905: retired from the Gordon Highlanders 5 Jan. 1914. He served in the Dongola Expedition, 1896, in the action of Firket (Egyptian Medal with clasp); with the Nile Expedition, 1897 (clasp to Egyptian Medal); with the Nile Expedition, 1898; took part in the battles of Atbara and Khartoum (two clasps to Egyptian Medal; Medal; Despatches [London Gazette, 30 Sept. 1898; Medal for distinguished conduct in the field); again with the Nile Expedition, 1899, during the operations in first advances against the Khalifa, and subsequent operations resulting in final defeat of Khalifa (two clasps to Egyptian Medal); served in the South African War, 1900–2 (Medals and clasps). He served in the European War; was Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Service Battn. Gordon Highlanders, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "David McLeod, Capt. (Temporary Major), Reserve of Officers, The Gordon Highlanders, attached 8th Battn. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 25 Sept. 1915. In the attack on the Hohenzollern Redoubt, although wounded three times, he continued to lead his company forward till he fell from exhaustion."

MENZIES, ARTHUR JOHN ALEXANDER, Capt., was born 21 May, 1886, son of the late Alexander Menzies, of Lankat Estate, Sumatra. He was educated for the medical profession, and took his degree M.B., Ch.B., and subsequently joined the Royal Army Medical Corps in Feb. 1914. Lieut.-Colonel Menzies served in the European War, and landed in France with the 3rd Cavalry Division 8 Oct. 1914; was present at the First and Second Battles of Ypres and Loos, 1915; the Somme, 1916; Cambrai, 1917, and the Fifth Army Retreat, 1918; served in France till killed 9 Aug. 1918, commanding the 3rd Cavalry Field Ambulance; promoted to Captain in Feb. 1915, and Lieut.-Colonel in Feb. 1918. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Arthur John Alexander Menzies, M.B., Capt., Royal Army Medical Corps, attached 1st (Royal) Dragoons. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty from 26 to 29 Sept. 1915, in Loos. Capt. Menzies was unremitting in his attention for the wounded of all units. He was twice seen carrying wounded on a stretcher under rifle fire, and for 55 hours he was continually exposing himself to heavy shell fire while carrying out his duties." Capt. Menzies married Ethel Fanny Whitelock, youngest daughter of Mrs. D. L. Boyes. He was killed in action 9 Aug. 1918.

Arthur J. A. Menzies.

PULLMAN, ALFRED HOPEWELL, Capt., entered the Army 5 Jan. 1901; became Lieutenant 23 July, 1907, and Captain 1 Aug. 1909. Major Pullman has retired from the Royal West Kent Regt. He served in the South African War, 1901–2; took part in the operations in the Transvaal in Sept. 1901, and Oct. to Nov. 1901; in Orange River Colony, April to Sept. 1901, and Nov. 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also during the operations on the Zululand Frontier of Natal in Sept. and Oct. 1901, and in Cape Colony in April, 1901; received the Queen's Medal with five clasps. For his services in the European War he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Alfred Hopewell Pullman, Capt. and Temporary Major (Reserve of Officers), The Queen's Own (Royal West Kent Regt.), attached 8th Battn. For conspicuous gallantry near Hulluch on 26 Sept. 1915, when he commanded his company with skill during the retirement, although wounded, and collected men to cover the movement until it was completed. This was accomplished under heavy machine-gun fire from the enemy at close range." Major Pullman married Emilie Louisa Outram Marshall, and they have one son and one daughter.

RONALD, JOHN JAMES, Major, was born 19 Sept. 1874. He joined the Army 6 March, 1895; became Captain 16 Feb. 1901; retired 23 Sept. 1911; promoted Major, Reserve of Officers, 1 Sept. 1915. He served at Kandia, 1898, in the affair of 6 Sept.; served in the South African War, 1899–1902, as Commandant, Jamestown; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900, including actions at Wittebergen (1 to 29 July) and Witpoort; again in Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to Feb. 1901; also during operations in Cape Colony, Feb. 1901, to May, 1902; received the Queen's Medal with two clasps, and the King's Medal with two clasps. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "John James Ronald, Capt. (Temporary Major), Reserve of Officers, The Highland Light Infantry, attached 11th Battn. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in the attack on 25 Sept. 1915, at a point where a sap was being pushed forward. A serious block stopped his company, which was moving to take up its assault position, but he at once jumped in to the top of the trench, completely exposed to artillery and machine-gun fire, cleared away the obstruction, and remained exposed until he had received several wounds."

STUART, HERBERT CRAVEN, Major, was born at Cuddapah, Madras, 29 Oct. 1872, son of the late Colonel C. J. Stuart, I.S.C., and a daughter of Bishop Sargent. He was educated at King's School, Canterbury; joined the South Lancashire Militia, 1892, and the 2nd Leinster Regt. 7 Dec. 1895 (Lieutenant 27 July, 1898), with which regiment he served in the South African War in 1902. He became Captain, 4th Royal Warwickshire Regt., in 1902, until it was disbanded in 1907, when he went on half-pay until he was posted to the 2nd Highland Light Infantry 26 Aug. 1908. He retired on a pension 12 June, 1912, and settled in Jamaica as a Banana Planter until 1914, when war broke out, and he was called up for service with the 10th Highland Light Infantry, 28th Infantry Brigade, 9th Division, formed in Aug. 1914. He went to France in May, 1915; was promoted to Major, Reserve of Officers, 1 Sept. 1915, and was Temporary Colonel, Labour Commandant, commanding the 10th Highland Light Infantry, 1915; the 7th Loyal North Lancashire Regt. 1917; was Chief Instructor, 2nd Army School, 1916–17; was transferred to a Labour Corps in 1918; was Officer Commanding, 20th Labour Group, Dieppe; Officer Commanding, 75th Labour Group, Marquise; Labour Commandant, 3rd Corps, 1918–19, during the operations on the Lille front which led to the cessation of hostilities. He was present at the Battle of Loos. Though he was gassed he reorganized what was left of his battalion near Cambrin. Major Stuart was mentioned in Despatches four times, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Herbert Craven Stuart, Major, Reserve of Officers, The Highland Light Infantry, attached 10th Battn. For conspicuous gallantry and ability near Cambrin on 25 Sept. 1915, when he led his company forward to the attack, and later, although himself gassed, reorganized what remained of his battalion, restored confidence and commanded it with marked skill." He married, in 1901, Julia McKenzie, daughter of Sir John Pringle, K.C.M.G., and Amy Zillah, daughter of the late Hon. J. Levy, and they have one son and one daughter.

SYKES, CHARLES HENRY, Capt., served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Charles Henry Sykes, Capt., 6th Battn. The Royal Fusiliers (City of London Regt.), attached 3rd Battn. For conspicuous gallantry near Vermelles on 29 Sept. 1915. When some troops on his left were bombed out of their position he led a charge with about a dozen men, drove out the Germans, and retook the lost portion of the trench. He even penetrated further, and only fell back later, owing to want of support. He saved a serious situation by his gallantry and initiative. Later on the same day, when under heavy shell fire, he supported a company which was being driven back by superior numbers, and succeeded in regaining all the lost ground. He displayed throughout great bravery and coolness. He was wounded in the morning of 30 Sept."

WILLIAMS, SIR RHYS, Capt., Bart., was born 20 Oct. 1865, son of Gwilym Williams, of Miskin Manor, Llantrisant, Glamorgan, and Mrs. Emma E. Williams. He was educated at Eton, and Oriel College, Oxford; joined the Grenadier Guards 5 Aug. 1914; served in France, Nov. 1914, to Sept. 1915; transferred to the Welsh Guards in Feb. 1915. He served in the European War, and took part in the Battle of Loos in Sept. 1915, when serving with the Welsh Guards. He subsequently served as Military Attaché, Teheran, Dec. 1915, to Dec. 1916; Assistant Director-General, Movements and Railways, War Office, 1917–1918; Deputy Director, Training and Staff Duties Division, Admiralty, 1918, to Dec. 1919. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Rhys Williams, Capt., 1st Battn. Welsh Guards. For conspicuous gallantry and great determination on the night of 27–28 Sept. 1915, during the attack on Hill 70. Capt. Williams was in command of the Welsh Guards' Machine Guns, and performed very effective work until wounded. He then obtained a dressing for his wound, and returned to the guns, which he continued to control until midnight, having had to lie on his back for the purpose, owing to the nature of his injuries." He was promoted Captain in April, 1915; Temporary Major in April, 1917; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel in July, 1917; Substantive Major in July, 1919; placed on Reserve with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in April, 1920.

Sir Rhys Williams.

WILSON, WALTER CARANDINI, Capt., was born 22 June, 1885. He joined the Leicestershire Regt. as Second Lieutenant (from the Militia) in Jan. 1907, and became Lieutenant in Nov. 1903. From June, 1911, to Feb. 1914, he was employed with the West African Frontier Force, being promoted to Captain 1 Nov. 1913, and given the Brevet of Major 3 June, 1916. He was given the O.B.E., and awarded the Military Cross for services in the European War, as Staff Captain, 70th Infantry Brigade, B.E.F., 24 May, 1916, to 13 Feb. 1917; Brigade Major, 70th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 24 May, 1916, to 18 Feb. 1917; G.S.O.2, 2nd Division, British Armies in France, 19 Feb. 1917, to 3 Jan. 1918; G.S.O.2, 2nd Army Corps, British Armies in France, 4 Jan. to March, 1918; G.S.O.1, British Military Mission to America, 9 April, 1918, to 3 March, 1919; G.S.O.1, 68th Division, Forces in Great Britain, 4 March, 1919, to 18 May, 1919. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Walter Carandini Wilson, Capt., 2nd Battn. The Leicestershire Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack near Pietre Farm on 25 Sept. 1915. When giving final directions to his men he was severely wounded in the stomach, but he stuck to his work and went forward, encouraging his men till he could see through the smoke that they were on the German parapet. He was then helped back in an exhausted state. Capt. Wilson's name has several times been brought forward for gallantry and determination."

Digitized by Google

CRUIKSHANK, GUY LINDSEY, Lieut. (Temporary Capt.), entered the Gordon Highlanders 1 Dec. 1908. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Guy Lindsey Cruikshank, Lieut. (Temporary Capt.), Gordon Highlanders and Royal Flying Corps. For conspicuous gallantry in France on 29 Sept. 1915, when he successfully carried out a special mission, involving very great risk." He was killed in action 15 Sept. 1916.

EVANS, FAITHFUL SIDNEY, Lieut. (Temporary Major), served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Faithful Sidney Evans, Lieut., 1/9th Battn. King's (Liverpool Regt.), T.F. For conspicuous gallantry on 25 Sept. 1915, in the attack near Le Rutoire. He commanded his company with great skill and dash, and his cheerfulness and absolute disregard of danger had a marked effect on his men, who were attacking for the first time over open ground. He was wounded in the attack." Major Evans has retired.

LAWRENCE, GEORGE AUBREY KENNEDY, Lieut. (Temporary Capt. and Flight-Commander), was born at Tunbridge Wells 15 Sept. 1891. He comes of a good military stock, his father being Major-General William Alexander Lawrence, Honorary Colonel of the 17th Cavalry, Indian Army, and eldest son of Lieut.-General R. C. Lawrence, C.B., the youngest of the five brothers of Indian fame, and who received the Medals for the Indian Mutiny and the Sutlej Campaign. Major-General Lawrence's grandfather was the distinguished Colonel Alexander Lawrence, who took part in the storming of Seringapatam, where he was seriously wounded. George Lawrence was educated at The Grange, Folkestone (Mr. Jelf's); at Wellington College, Berks; at Mr. Cobbold's, West Wratting, and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, passing into the Army 23 Dec. 1911. He served with the 112th Battery in Ireland from 1912 to 1914. At the outbreak of the European War in 1914, he at once joined the Royal Flying Corps as Second Lieutenant, and proceeded to France in Sept. 1915, where he speedily distinguished himself. Sir John French, in his Despatch dated Headquarters, British Army in France, 15 Oct. 1915, refers to Lieut. Lawrence's work as follows: "On one occasion an officer of the Royal Flying Corps engaged four enemy machines and drove them off, proceeding on his reconnaissance." Again he writes: "As evidence of the dangers our flying officers are called upon to face, I may state that on one occasion a machine was hit in no fewer than 300 places soon after crossing the enemy's lines, and yet the officer successfully carried out his mission." And further on in the same Despatch: "The Royal Flying Corps has on several occasions carried out a continuous bombing of the enemy's communications, descending to 500 feet and under, in order to hit moving trains on the railway." The following extract from "London Opinion" in Oct. 1915, speaks of the 300 bullet-holes in his machine: "An officer, in a letter home, writing of the Royal Flying Corps, says: 'The record for bullet-holes in one's machine is much prized. It is held by a Capt. L., who returned from one flight with over 300 holes in his machine, the previous record having been 240 odd.'" In Nov. 1915, he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "George Aubrey Kennedy Lawrence, Lieut. (Temporary Capt. and Flight-Commander), Royal Flying Corps. For conspicuous and repeated acts of gallantry in France, notably the following: On 21 Sept. 1915, he completed a reconnaissance to points 60 miles inside the German lines, although repeatedly attacked by a hostile machine. On 25 Sept. he attacked and hit a moving train near Lille, descending to 600 feet. On 26 Sept. he attacked and drove off a hostile aeroplane which was interfering with our bombing machines. On 30 Sept. he carried out a three-hour reconnaissance in very bad weather. Although his machine was hit in 70 places by anti-aircraft guns in crossing the German lines on his way out, he carried on and completed his work." He was received by the King at Buckingham Palace 9 Dec. 1915, and was invested with the Insignia of the Companionship of the Distinguished Service Order. From 16 Feb. to 26 June, 1916, he was employed as Squadron Commander in England, when he took a squadron of Sopwith machines to France, remaining there till the end of Dec. 1916, when he received the appointment of Assistant Commandant of the Central Flying School, Upavon, and Wing Commander and Temporary Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Flying Corps, from 1 Jan. 1917, to date of his death. He was killed in England when testing an aeroplane 28 Jan. 1917, and was buried at Brooklands Cemetery. Lieut.-Colonel Lawrence was 25 years old and unmarried. The following is an extract from a letter received from Major-General Trenchard, D.S.O., C.B., Royal Flying Corps: "Headquarters, Royal Flying Corps, 10 March, 1915.—I always had an extremely high opinion of your son, and was greatly distressed to hear of his death. His example was excellent, not only by the thoroughness with which he carried out his duties, but by his courage and skill as a pilot. His squadron, which was under my immediate command during the Battle of the Somme, had heavy fighting and many casualties, but the tone never deteriorated. This I attribute in no small degree to your son's personal example and cheerfulness under all conditions. His death was a real loss to the Royal Flying Corps." Lieut.-General Sir David Henderson, K.C.B., D.S.O., wrote: "London, 6 Feb. 1917.—I knew your son personally and by report as one of our best officers, and his death is a great loss to the corps. He was a brave boy and a good soldier." The Officer Commanding No. 70 Squadron, Royal Flying Corps, also recorded his high esteem for Lieut.-Colonel Lawrence in the following words: "Both officers and men feel Lieut.-Colonel Lawrence's death as a personal loss, and have asked me to express the great respect and confidence in which they held him during the time he was in command of No. 70 Squadron, Royal Flying Corps.—1 Feb. 1917." Lieut.-Colonel Lawrence was good at games and a fine ski-er.

George A. K. Lawrence.

PARK, MAITLAND ELPHINSTONE, Lieut., was born 12 Sept. 1894, son of Sir Maitland Hall Park, and Alice, daughter of Peter Baillie, of Inverness. He entered the Royal Highlanders 2 Sept. 1913, becoming Lieutenant 30 Sept. 1914, and Captain 2 March, 1916. He served in the Great War, was twice wounded, mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Maitland Elphinstone Park, Lieut. (Temporary Capt.), 2nd Battn. Royal Highlanders (The Black Watch). For conspicuous gallantry at Mauquissart on 25 Sept. 1915, when leading his company and directing bombing parties in continuous close fighting from 6 a.m. to 10 a.m. During this time he drove the enemy back some 400 yards along two lines of trenches, and established three blocks, which he held until relieved. At Givenchy, on 8 Oct., the enemy exploded two mines about 20 yards from the parapet along which his company was posted. Although half-buried by the first explosion, he hurried along his fire trench, but was again half-buried and slightly wounded by the second. Six of his men were killed and many injured, but he rapidly replaced them from his supports, and was soon ready to meet any attack."

BUCHAN, JAMES IVORY, 2nd Lieut., served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "James Ivory Buchan, 2nd Lieut. (Temporary Capt.), 2nd Battn. Black Watch. For conspicuous gallantry at Mauquissart on 25 Sept. 1915, when rallying and leading his company after both he himself and many men had suffered from the effects of gas. He led his men over three lines of German trenches, his company being the first to enter their reserve line near the Moulin. He only gave the order to retire when the troops on both flanks had been forced back by the enemy's counter-attack and he himself had been wounded."

PUSCH, FREDERICK LEOPOLD, 2nd Lieut. (Temporary Lieut.), served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 4 Nov. 1915]: "Frederick Leopold Pusch, 2nd Lieut. (Temporary Lieut.), 19th (County of London) Battn. The London Regt. (St. Pancras), T.F. For conspicuous gallantry, marked ability and resource at Loos on 25 and 27 Sept. 1915. During the advance through Loos he led a party of bombers, and going alone into a house, captured seven Germans, although badly shot in the face by one of them. Notwithstanding his serious injury, this very gallant officer continued clearing the enemy out of the cellars in the town. Lieut. Pusch organized the bombing attack of Grenadiers on 27 Sept., operating from the Chalk Pit against the Copse, at great personal risk, and helped materially in its capture." The Insignia were presented by the King at Darley Barracks, Brentwood, 17 March, 1916. He was killed in action.

London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915.—"War Office, 8 Nov. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to confer the undermentioned rewards for distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles. To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

BARLOW, CHARLES LESLIE, Major, entered the Army 18 Oct. 1899; became Lieutenant 24 Aug. 1901, and Captain 8 Feb. 1910. He served in the South African War, 1899–1901; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including action at Colenso; operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900 (wounded 21 Jan.) and action at Spion Kop; took part in the operations in Natal (March to June, 1900), including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); served in the Transvaal, east and west of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; again in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to April, 1901 (Queen's Medal with four clasps). He served in East Africa, 1905. For his services in the European War he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Charles Leslie Barlow, Major, The Prince of Wales's Own (West Yorkshire Regt.), attached Essex Regt. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He was killed in action.

BROWNING, JOHN COWAN, Major, youngest son of William Browning, J.P. He was educated at Cheltenham College. He became Lieutenant, 5th Lancashire Battery, Royal Field Artillery (T.F.), 22 June, 1910; was promoted to Major and retired. He served in the European War, 1914–18, was mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "John Cowan Browning, Major, 5th Lancashire Battery, Royal Field Artillery (T.F.). For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." Major Browning married, in 1916, Beatrice, daughter of J. T. Kenyon, and they have one son.

CURLING, BRYAN JAMES, Major, was born 21 Sept. 1877. He entered the King's Royal Rifle Corps 29 Nov. 1899; became Lieutenant 19 Feb. 1901, Captain 22 Jan. 1908, and Major 1 Sept. 1915; Temporary Lieut.-Colonel 20 Dec. 1915, to 18 Aug. 1916; 25 Sept. 1916, to 20 April, 1917, and 8 June, 1917, to 28 Jan. 1918; Temporary Lieut.-Colonel Commanding 8th Battn. The King's Royal Rifle Corps, 30 Jan. to 2 Sept. 1918; Temporary Brigadier-General 3 Sept. 1918. He was Staff Captain, 5th

Digitized by Google

Division, Irish Command, 2 April, 1912, to 31 Dec. 1913; Staff Captain, War Office, 1 Jan. 1914, to 17 Jan. 1915; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 29th Division, New Armies, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 18 Jan. to 1 June, 1915; G.S.O.2, 29th Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 19 June to 19 Dec. 1915; G.S.O.1, 26th Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 20 Dec. 1915, to 18 Aug. 1916; G.S.O.1, 65th Division, Home Forces, 25 Sept. to April, 1916; G.S.O.1, 42nd Division, British Armies in France, June 1917; Brigade Commander, 189th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 3 Sept. 1918. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; was present at the Relief of Ladysmith, including operations of 17 to 24 Jan. 1900, and action at Spion Kop; operations of 5 to 7 Feb. 1900, and action at Vaal Kranz; and the operations on Tugela Heights (14 to 27 Feb. 1900) and action at Pieter's Hill; in Natal, March to June, 1900, including action at Laing's Nek (6 to 9 June); in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to Jan. 1901; in Orange River Colony, March, 1901, to 31 May, 1902; also during the operations in Cape Colony, Jan. to Feb. 1901 (Queen's Medal with six clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). For his services in the European War he was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Bryan James Curling, Major, The King's Royal Rifle Corps. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

GOING, JOHN, Major, son of the late John Going, private gentleman, Cragg, Birdhill, Limerick, and Eliza, daughter of the Rev. C. Mayne; was born 13 March, 1866. He was educated at The Abbey, Tipperary, Ireland; joined the 4th Gloucester Militia in 1886. He entered the South Wales Borderers 16 Nov. 1887; became Lieutenant 31 July, 1889, Captain 18 Nov. 1895, and Major 11 Dec. 1905 (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel South Wales Borderers 25 Aug. to 24 Sept. 1915). He became Lieut.-Colonel 29 Nov. 1915 (in command of Training Reserve Battn. 27 Aug. 1917, to 15 Jan. 1918). He was Adjutant, Volunteers, 28 April, 1898, to 7 April, 1903. He served with the Burmese Expedition, 1887–89 (Medal with clasp). He served in the European War; took part in the capture of Tsingtau in 1914, and was present at the landing at Gallipoli in 1915. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "John Going, Major, The South Wales Borderers. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He married, at St. James's, Piccadilly, W., 30 Oct. 1894, Ethel Mary, the only daughter of the late Benjamin Bridges, of Manor House, Mitcham; they have one daughter, Joan Mary Mayne.

John Going.

KIRKBY, HAROLD ALEC, Major, was born 27 Sept. 1874. He entered the Lancashire Fusiliers 5 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 19 April, 1901, Captain 14 June, 1910, and Major 1 Sept. 1915; Temporary Lieut.-Colonel, The Lancashire Fusiliers, 21 Oct. 1915, to 4 Feb. 1916; Acting Lieut.-Colonel, Lancashire Fusiliers, 3 June to 31 Dec. 1918; Temporary Lieut.-Colonel, Lancashire Fusiliers, 1 Jan. 1919; employed with West African Frontier Force 10 July, 1901, to 27 Aug. 1906. He was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 6 July, 1914, to 20 Oct. 1915; Special Appointment (graded Brigade Major) Commanding Officer Cadet Company, 1 Nov. 1916, to 4 Sept. 1917. He served in the South African War, 1899–1900; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, May, 1900, including action at Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including action near Johannesburg (Queen's Medal with three clasps); in West Africa (Southern Nigeria), 1901–2, with the Aro Expedition (Medal with clasp); in West Africa (Southern Nigeria), 1903 (clasp); in West Africa (Southern Nigeria) 1904, during the operations in the Northern Ibibio district (Despatches [London Gazette, 25 Aug. 1905]; clasp); in West Africa (Southern Nigeria), 1904–5, during the operations of the Ezza Patrol (Despatches [London Gazette, 23 Feb. 1906]); in West Africa (Southern Nigeria), 1905–6, with the Bende-Onitsha Hinterland Expedition (clasp). He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Harold Alec Kirkby, Major, The Lancashire Fusiliers (attached 8th Battn. Territorial Force). For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

SINCLAIR-THOMSON, ANGUS ERIC METHVEN, Major, son of the late W. Sinclair-Thomson, M.D., was born 24 May, 1880. He was educated at Epsom College, and in France and Germany; joined the 1st Essex Regt., from the Militia, 15 Nov. 1899; became Lieutenant 18 April, 1900. He served in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the Relief of Kimberley; in the Orange Free State, Feb. to May, 1900, including operations at Paardeberg (17 to 26 Feb.; slightly wounded 18 Feb.); in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900, including actions at Colesberg (1 to 29 Jan.); also in the Transvaal and Cape Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He was promoted to Captain 7 May. 1909; was Adjutant, The Essex Regt., 1 Nov. 1909, to 31 Oct. 1912, in which year he married Rachel, daughter of Walter Ingram, of Broads, Lewes, and they have one son and one daughter. At the beginning of the European War he was employed as Staff Captain at the War Office for several months. He was then sent to Gallipoli as Staff Captain and Brigade Major, 29th Division, Gallipoli, and was there throughout the whole of that campaign, taking part in the landing on the River Clyde, and in the evacuation of the Allied troops at Suvla and Helles. He was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Angus Eric Methven Sinclair-Thomson, Major, The Essex Regt. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." Major Sinclair-Thomson then accompanied his regiment to Egypt and Palestine. He was G.S.O., 1st Grade, 53rd Division, Egyptian Expeditionary Force, 15 Sept. 1916, to 30 June, 1919, and G.S.O.1, Scottish Command, 7 July, 1918, to 30 June, 1919. He was twice mentioned in Despatches, given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 3 June, 1917, and made Chevalier Légion d'Honneur.

SYKES, FRANCIS BERNARD, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), son of T. G. Sykes, B.A., late Principal La Martinière College, Lucknow, India. He was educated at Gray's Inn, becoming a Barrister-at-Law, and joining the R.F.A. 23 May, 1900, to take part in the South African War, 1900–1. He served with the New Zealand Contingent; afterwards employed with Imperial Yeomanry; took part in the operations in Orange Free State, May, 1900, including actions at Vet River (5 and 6 May) and Zand River; in the Transvaal in May and June, 1900, including actions near Johannesburg and Pretoria; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, 1899–1900; also in Orange River Colony, May, 1902; again during operations in Cape Colony, Feb. to March, 1901 (Queen's Medal with five clasps). In 1906 he was transferred to the Royal Horse Artillery, being gazetted Captain 1 Jan. 1911, and Major, 30 Oct. 1914; was Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 March, 1912, to 9 July, 1914. Major Sykes again saw active service in the European War, being employed with the New Zealand Force from 10 July, 1914, to 13 March, 1918, taking part in operations in Egypt, Gallipoli and France. He was mentioned five times in Despatches, and in Nov. 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Francis Bernard Sykes, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), Royal Artillery (attached New Zealand Imperial Force). For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He was appointed Temporary Lieut.-Colonel in 1915, and subsequently appointed Inspector of Artillery, New Zealand Defence Forces, and placed in command of the 2nd New Zealand Field Artillery Brigade. Lieut.-Colonel Sykes married, in 1911, Alice Augusta, daughter of the Rev. H. C. Watson, M.A., Vicar of Gainford, County Durham, and they have one daughter.

Francis Bernard Sykes.

WINTER, ORMONDE DE L'EPÉE, Major, son of W. H. and Fanny Cheney Winter, late of Sutton Court Lodge, Chiswick, W., was born 15 Jan. 1875. He was educated at Cheltenham College and at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and was commissioned in the Royal Artillery 17 Nov. 1894, becoming Lieutenant 17 Nov. 1897; Captain 1 Feb. 1901; Major 24 July, 1911, and Lieutenant-Colonel 28 April, 1916. He was G.S.O.2, 13th Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 12 Oct. to 28 Dec. 1915; Brigadier-General, Royal Artillery, 11th Division, British Armies in France, 25 Dec. 1917. He was mentioned in Despatches six times, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]; "Ormonde de l'Epée Winter, Major, Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." Major Winter was created a C.M.G. in 1917; a C.B. in 1919, and was also awarded a Bar to his Distinguished Service Order. Racing is his favourite recreation.

Ormonde de L'E. Winter.

WOOD, GEORGE BENSON GLEN, Major, was born 11 Nov. 1881. He entered the Lancashire Fusiliers 11 Aug. 1900; became Lieutenant 19 March, 1902, and Captain 15 Jan. 1912; Temporary Major 17 Aug. to 31 Aug. 1915; Major 1 Sept. 1915 (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel 1 Sept. to 6 Sept. 1915; Temporary Lieut.-Colonel Commanding Territorial Force Battn. The Leicestershire Regt. 14 Jan. 1917); Adjutant, Territorial Force, 15 Jan. 1912, to 27 Nov. 1916; Brigade Major, 177th Infantry Brigade, Home Forces, 17 Feb. to 27 July, 1916. He served in the European War; was given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "George Benson Glen Wood, Major, The Lancashire Fusiliers (Adjutant, 5th Battn. Territorial Force). For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

WYMER, HUBERT JULIAN DE CRESPIGNY, Major, second son of the late Major George Bannatyne Wymer, R.A.; was born at Sheerness 19 Nov. 1878. He was educated at Stubbington and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, passing into the 3rd West India Regt. 3 Aug. 1898; became Lieutenant 19 Oct. 1899. In 1901 he took part in operations with the Gambia Expedition from Jan. to May, and on 16 March, 1907, was gazetted Capatin, 1st Battn. The Hampshire Regt. He saw active service in the European War, taking part in the landing at Gallipoli with the 29th Division in 1915, and was promoted to Major 1 Sept. 1915. He was wounded, mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Hubert Julian de Crespigny Wymer, Major, The Hampshire Regt. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He held a Special Appointment (graded Brigade Major) 29 Jan. 1918, to 14 Jan. 1919; was Officer Commanding Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military College, from 15 Jan. 1919. Major Wymer married, on the 31st Dec. 1917, Dorothy May Joan Stockley, and they have one son.

Digitized by Google

ALEXANDER, HEBER MAITLAND, Major, second son of Major C. A. Alexander, late 4th Gloucestershire Regt.; was born 1 Feb. 1881. He was educated at Clifton, and was gazetted to the Somerset Light Infantry 11 Aug. 1900, becoming Lieutenant 15 Sept. 1903; Capt., Indian Army, 19 June, 1911, and Major 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Lieut.-Colonel. On the outbreak of war in Europe was sent to France (Sept. 1914), in command of the 9th Mule Corps, Indian Army. He saw active service in Gallipoli with the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps from April to Nov. 1915, in command of the Mule Transport, being present at the first landing in Gallipoli and at the Battle of Suvla Bay (6–10 Aug.). He received the thanks of the Army Corps Commander in Orders, for services between 25 April and 5 May; was mentioned in Sir Ian Hamilton's Despatch 8 Nov. 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Heber Maitland Alexander, Major, Supply and Transport Corps. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He has published a book on the war, "On Two Fronts" (Heinemann, 1917). Major Alexander married, 13 Oct. 1909, at Hobart, Tasmania, Mary Brenda (died 15 March, 1914), daughter of the late J. H. B. Walch, of Hobart, Tasmania; they had no children.

Heber M. Alexander.

CREAGH, PETER HUBERT, Capt., was born 17 Aug. 1882. He entered the Leicestershire Regt. 22 Oct. 1902; became Lieutenant 10 July, 1905, and Captain 13 Nov. 1908 (Temporary Major, Leicestershire Regt., 3 July to 29 July, 1916; Acting Major, Leicestershire Regt. 22 Aug. 1916, to 21 Oct. 1917); Major, Leicestershire Regt., 22 Oct. 1917; Adjutant, Territorial Force, 12 June, 1911, to 9 Sept. 1916. He served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Peter Hubert Creagh, Capt., The Leicestershire Regt. (Adjutant, 7th Battn. The Manchester Regt. Territorial Force). For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

Peter Hubert Creagh.

D'APICE, JOHN EDMUND FRANCIS, Capt., was born in Sydney 7 July, 1877, son of the late Chevalier Charles D'Apice, K.S.S., formerly of Naples. He was educated at Riverview College, Sydney, and at Sydney University, and represented the University of Sydney and College in rowing (Blue, 1899), Rugby football, tennis and rifle shooting. He entered the Royal Artillery (from Local Military Forces, New South Wales) 23 May, 1900; became Lieutenant in Royal Artillery 13 Aug. 1901; Captain 23 May, 1913, and promoted Major 30 Dec. 1915 (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel 26 April to 2 June, 1919). He was Adjutant, Volunteers, 22 Jan. 1907, to 31 March, 1908; Adjutant, Territorial Force, 1 April, 1908, to 22 March, 1910, and 26 March, 1914, to 31 Jan. 1915; Staff Captain, Royal Artillery, 29th Division, New Armies, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 1 Feb. to 25 April, 1915; Brigade Major, Royal Artillery, 29th Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 26 April to 31 May, 1915; Staff Captain, Royal Artillery, 29th Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 1 June to 25 Aug. 1915; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., 52nd Division, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 26 Aug. to 29 Nov. 1915; D.A.A., 8th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, and Q.M.G., 9th Army Corps, Mediterranean Expeditionary Force, 30 Nov. 1915; D.A.A. and Q.M.G., Northern District, Ireland, 28 Sept. 1916, to 25 May, 1917; D.A.A.G., War Office (Temporary), 27 May, 1917, to 25 April, 1919; A.A. and Q.M.G., Thames and Medway Garrison, 26 April, 1919. He served with the New South Wales Mounted Rifles, and later with the Royal Artillery, in the South African War, 1899–1902; took part in the operations in the Orange Free State, including actions at Poplar Grove, Dreifontein, Karee Siding, Vet River and Zand River; in the Transvaal; in Orange River Colony, including action at Bethlehem and Wittebergen; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River; also during the operations in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with four clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). He took the Gunnery Staff Course, 1912-13; served in the European War on the Staff of the 29th Division for the original landing at Gallipoli, and on the Staff of the 8th Army Corps for the final evacuation in 1916. He commanded a heavy battery in the Battle of the Somme in 1916. He was twice wounded during the Great War, was twice mentioned in Despatches, given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel 3 June, 1919, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "John Edmund Francis d'Apice, Capt., Royal Artillery. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." Major d'Apice married, in 1904, Mary Holroyd, only daughter of Lieut.-Colonel J. J. L. Ratton, late I.M.S., and they have one son.

John E. F. D'Apice.

HOWELL-JONES, JOHN HYNDMAN, Capt., (Temporary Major), was born 13 Dec. 1877. He entered the Royal Marine Artillery 1 Sept. 1896, becoming Lieutenant 1 July, 1897, Captain 19 April, 1902, and Major 24 Nov. 1915. He was Ordnance Officer, 4th Class, from 30 April, 1909; Ordnance Officer, 3rd Class (Temporary), 12 Dec. 1914, to 23 Nov. 1915; Ordnance Officer, 3rd Class, from 23 Nov. 1915, and Ordnance Officer, 2nd Class, from 5 April, 1916. He took part in operations in Gallipoli, in the European War, in connection with the Army Ordnance Department, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "John Hyndman Howell-Jones, Capt. (Temporary Major), Army Ordnance Department. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He was created a C.I.E., and was also given the Brevets of Major 3 June, 1916, and Lieut.-Colonel 1 Jan. 1918.

ROLLING, BERNARD ISMAY, Capt. (Temporary Major), son of George Miller Rolling, The Grove, Penistone, near Sheffield; was born 31 May, 1883. He was educated as an Engineer in Leeds, becoming successively Assistant Engineer, Newcastle Electric Supply Company; Chief Assistant Engineer, Motherwell Corporation; Engineer and Manager for Scotland for Igranic Electric Company. He served in the European War with the 2nd Lowland Divisional Royal Engineers, Territorial Force, and took part in operations at the Dardanelles; was mentioned four times in Despatches; awarded the O.B.E. in 1919; given the Brevet of Major, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Bernard Ismay Rolling, Capt. (Temporary Major), 2nd Lowland Field Coy., Royal Engineers, Territorial Force. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel.

Bernard Ismay Rolling.

KANE, ROMNEY ROBERT GODRED, Capt., son of the late Judge R. R. Kane, 4, Fitzwilliam Place, Dublin, and Glendree, County Clare; was born 11 Oct. 1888. He was educated at the Oratory School, Edgbaston, and at Sandhurst, passing into the Army 19 Sept. 1908. He became Lieutenant, Royal Munster Fusiliers, 14 March, 1910, and served in India and Burma until the outbreak of hostilities in Europe in Aug. 1914. He saw active service on the Staff in Gallipoli from the first landing till 13 July, 1915. From 1915 to 1916 Capt. Kane saw further service on the Staff in France. He was twice wounded, mentioned in Despatches, made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Romney Robert Godred Kane, Capt., The Royal Munster Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

EBELING, GUS, Major, served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Gus Ebeling, Major, 8th Battn. (Victoria) Australian Imperial Force. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

LLOYD, HERBERT WILLIAM, Major, son of William Lloyd, late of County Roscommon; was born 24 Nov. 1883. He was educated at Wesley College, Melbourne; joined the Australian Military Forces; was Captain and Adjutant, Victoria Field Artillery, 1908–9; on the Administrative and Instructional Staff, 1910; served with the 2nd Battery, Royal Australian Field Artillery, up to 1917; was Adjutant, 1st Field Artillery Brigade, 1st Australian Division, Australian Imperial Force, 1914; landed at Anzac as Adjutant, and was promoted to command the 1st Australian (Regular) Battery at Helles, Gallipoli, in May, 1915. He was created a C.M.G. in 1917; appointed Brigade Major, 2nd Australian Divisional Artillery, Dec. 1915; mentioned in Despatches, given the Brevet of Lieut.-Colonel in 1918, created a C.B. in 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Herbert William Lloyd, Major, 1st Field Artillery Brigade, A.I.F. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." Colonel Lloyd married, in 1914, Meredith, daughter of Colonel W. B. Pleasants, of Victoria, and they have one daughter.

LORENZO, FRANCIS MAXWELL DE FRAZER, Major, served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Francis Maxwell de Frazer Lorenzo, Major, 10th Battn. (South Australia) Australian Imperial Force. For distinguished service in the field duirng the operations at the Dardanelles."

STEVENS, ARTHUR BORLASE, Major, served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London

Digitized by Google

Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Arthur Borlase Stevens, Major, 2nd Battn. (New South Wales) Australian Imperial Force. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

TILNEY, LESLIE EDWARD, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Leslie Edward Tilney, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), 16th Battn. Australian Imperial Force. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

BROWN, CHARLES HENRY JEFFRIES, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Charles Henry Jeffries Brown, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), Canterbury Battn. New Zealand Infantry. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He was killed about 8 June, 1917.

WHYTE, JAMES HENRY, Major, son of James Whyte, of Glasgow, and Jane Johnstone Whyte (née Birkenhead): was born at Woodlands, Auckland, New Zealand, 17 Dec. 1878. He was educated at Auckland, New Zealand, joining the Army in 1897. During the South African War he saw active service as Sergt.-Major with the New Zealand Contingent, and gained the Distinguished Conduct Medal, the Queen's South African Medal with four clasps (Kimberley, Dreifontein, Johannesburg and Diamond Hill) and the King's South African Medal. Major Whyte again saw active service in the European War, and greatly distinguished himself at the operations in the attack on Hill 60, Gallipoli, 27 Aug. 1915. He was mentioned five times in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "James Henry Whyte, Major, Wellington Mounted Rifle Regt. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He was promoted to Lieut.-Colonel. On the 4th of April, 1916, in The Pines, Ghezireh, Cairo, Lieut.-Colonel Whyte married Dorothy Ann, daughter of the late Henry Rose, of Dunedin, New Zealand, and Grace Edith Rose, of Christchurch, New Zealand. He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

YOUNG, ROBERT, Major, served in the Great War with the Wellington Battn. New Zealand Force, taking part in operations in Gallipoli. He was mentioned in Despatches, and in Nov. 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Robert Young, Major, Wellington Battn. New Zealand Infantry. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles." He was promoted to Lieut.-Colonel; was created a C.B. in 1919, a C.M.G. in 1916, and was made Officer, Legion of Honour.

BECK, WILLIAM THOMAS, Honorary Capt., served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "William Thomas Beck, Honorary Capt., New Zealand Ordnance Corps. For distinguished service in the field during the operations at the Dardanelles."

London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915.—"Admiralty, 7 Nov. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of the undermentioned Officers of the Royal Naval Division to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their services in the Gallipoli Peninsula."

MITCHELL, FRANCIS HERBERT, Capt., joined the Royal Navy. He took part in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Francis Herbert Mitchell, Capt., Royal Navy. In recognition of services in the Gallipoli Peninsula."

KENNEDY-CRAUFURD-STUART, CHARLES, Capt. (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), was born in London 29 Aug. 1879. He comes of a distinguished race, and is the senior male representative of the ancient Ayrshire families of Kennedy, of Ardmillan, and Craufurd, of Baidland and Ardmillan. He is the son of Robert Stuart, of Rye, Sussex, and Margaret Elizabeth Stuart, his wife, the third daughter of Clifford Craufurd, of Ardmillan. His grandfather was the Rev. Charles Stuart, B.A., of Rye, Sussex. Charles Kennedy-Craufurd-Stuart was educated at Merchant Taylors' School, London, and entered the Militia in 1899. On the 4th April, 1900, he was gazetted from the 3rd Battn. The South Lancashire Regt. to the 1st Battn. The Manchester Regt., with which latter regiment he saw active service in the South African War, 1900–2; took part in the operations in Natal, June, 1900; in Orange River Colony, May to 29 Nov. 1900; in Cape Colony, south of Orange River, Feb. to April, 1900; also during the operations in the Transvaal 30 Nov. 1900, to 31 May, 1902 (Queen's Medal with three clasps, and King's Medal with two clasps). On 8 Aug. 1903, he was transferred to the 1st Punjab Cavalry. Capt. Kennedy-Craufurd-Stuart served with the Burma Military Police from 1907 to 1914, exchanging into the 127th Baluchistan Light Infantry in 1913. He was promoted to Captain, Indian Army, 27 Jan. 1909, and to Major, Indian Army, 1 Sept. 1915; was Temporary Major, Royal Marines, 1914–15, and Temporary Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Marines, 10 May, 1915, to 19 Feb. 1916. He again saw active service in the European War, being sent with the Royal Naval Brigade to Gallipoli, as Lieut.-Colonel Commanding the Hood Battn., and in Nov. 1915, he was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 5 Nov. 1915], for great gallantry in leading the Hood Battn. into the Turkish trenches, where he was wounded 4 June, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Charles Kennedy-Craufurd-Stuart, Temporary Lieut.-Colonel, Royal Marines. In recognition of services in the Gallipoli Peninsula." His wounds proved very severe, including a shattered jaw. From Feb. 1916, to Oct. 1917, Major Stuart was sent to Egypt as Special Service Officer attached to the Sudan Government. He received the thanks of the Sudan Government for successful action against Chief Ashwol in Bahr-el-Ghezal Province. He was in the United States, Jan. 1918, to May, 1919, as Private Secretary to the Earl of Reading, High Commissioner and Ambassador. Major Stuart has published two songs, "At Gloaming Tide" and "Make-Believe Land"; he has also exhibited at the London Salon of Photography. He is a Fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society and a Fellow of the Zoological Society.

KING, HENRY DOUGLAS, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, was born 1 June, 1877, son of the late Capt. Henry Welchman King. He was educated in the Training Ship Conway, Liverpool, and afterwards in sailing ships until 1897, when he joined the P. and O. Service. In 1899 he left the sea, and took up farming. He afterwards studied Law, and was called to the Bar at the Middle Temple in 1905. He was adopted as the Unionist candidate for the Northern Division of Norfolk in 1909, and contested both General Elections in 1910. He was elected M.P. (Independent) for North Norfolk in 1918. He became Midshipman, Royal Naval Reserve, in 1893; served until 1902; served two years in the Inns of Court Rifle Volunteers; was commissioned in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, London Division, in 1904; appointed to Drake Battn. on the formation of the Royal Naval Division, and commanded it from June, 1915, to July, 1916; served at the Siege of Antwerp in Oct. 1914. On 26 April, 1915, he landed at Gallipoli Peninsula, and served there until the evacuation 9 Jan. 1916. He served afloat, and later with the Royal Naval Siege Guns in Flanders (Croix de Guerre and special promotion for distinguished war service). He was wounded, was three times mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Henry Douglas King, V.D., Lieut.-Commander (Temporary Commander), Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. In recognition of services in the Gallipoli Peninsula." Commander King married, in 1900, Margaret Elizabeth, only daughter of the late William Robert Swan, of South Australia, and they have one son and four daughters.

Josiah C. Wedgwood.

WEDGWOOD, JOSIAH CLEMENT, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, the second son of C. F. Wedgwood, of Barlaston and Etruria (Staffordshire), and Emily C. Rendel, sister of the first Lord Rendel; was born in 1872. He was educated at Clifton College, and at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich (Scholar, 1892). From 1895 to 1896 he was employed as Assistant Constructor, Portsmouth Dockyard, and from 1896 to 1900 he was Naval Architect to the Elswick Shipyard. In 1900 he proceeded to South Africa with the Elswick Battery as Captain, and served in the South African War, gaining the Medal with three clasps, and from 1902 to 1904 he acted as Resident Magistrate in Ermelo, Transvaal. In 1906 he became Member of Parliament (Liberal) for Newcastle-under-Lyme, and County Councillor (Staffordshire) in 1910. He was appointed Honorary Secretary of the William Salt Archæological Society, and at one time acted as President of the English League for the Taxation of Land Values. He served in the European War, taking part in operations in Antwerp, France, Dardanelles and East Africa. He was wounded, twice mentioned in Despatches, and in Nov. 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Josiah Wedgwood, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, M.P. In recognition of services in the Gallipoli Peninsula." He sat on the Mesopotamian Commission in July, 1916; was Assistant Director, Trench Warfare, 1917; on the Mission to Siberia with temporary rank as Colonel, 1918. Colonel Wedgwood has published a book on "Staffordshire Pottery and its History," and several pamphlets on the "Taxation of Land Values," and he wrote, in collaboration with Mrs. Wedgwood, "The Road to Freedom."

LAWS, HENRY WILLIAM, Lieut., Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, served in the Great War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Nov. 1915]: "Henry William Laws, Lieut., Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. In recognition of services in the Gallipoli Peninsula."

London Gazette, 16 Nov. 1915.—"War Office, 16 Nov. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officer to be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of his gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

Arthur Penrice Sayer.

SAYER, ARTHUR PENRICE, Capt., son of William Feetham Sayer and Edith A. Sayer (née Bell), was born 5 Nov. 1885. He was educated at Cholmeley School, Highgate, N., and at Woolwich, S.E., and entered the Royal Engineers 25 July, 1906; became Lieutenant 22 Nov. 1908, and was sent to Gosport in the same year. He was stationed at Gibraltar, 1909 to 1914; was promoted Captain 30 Oct. 1914, and was stationed at Weymouth from 1914 to 1915. He was Temporary Major 4 Oct. to 31 Dec. 1918. From 17 March, 1916, to 4 June, 1917, he was Officer, Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and from 5 June,

Digitized by Google

1917, he was Commander, Company of Gentleman Cadets, Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. Capt. Sayer saw active service in the European War; he was wounded at the Battle of Loos, and for his services in this action he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 16 Nov. 1915]: "Arthur Penrice Sayer, Capt., 91st Field Coy., Royal Engineers. For conspicuous gallantry near Loos on the morning of 26 Sept. 1915. He rallied men of various units, who were retiring from Hill 70, and led them up the hill again. It was largely due to his cool action at a critical moment that the troops in his locality were able to hold their ground. Later he rendered great services in collecting stragglers to fill the old German trenches, and continued doing this until he was overcome by gas." He was wounded, and was given the Brevet of Major 1 Jan. 1919. He represented the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, against the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, in cricket. In 1916, Major Sayer married Blanche Mary, youngest daughter of the late Dr. J. W. Leacroft and widow of Capt. David S. Dodgson, R.A.

London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915.—"Admiralty, 19 Nov. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order."

BOYLE, PATRICK JAMES (VISCOUNT KELBURN), Commander, Royal Navy, son of the 7th Earl of Glasgow, and Dorothea, daughter of Sir Edward Hunter-Blair, 4th Baronet, was born 18 July, 1874. He entered the Royal Navy; became Lieutenant in 1897, and Commander in 1909. Lord Kelburn served in the European War, 1914–19; he commanded H.M.S. Pyramus at the capture of the German Colony of Samoa, and took part in operations at the surrender of Apia in 1914. He also assisted in the Allied landing in the Persian Gulf in 1915, and for this special service he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915]: "Patrick James Boyle, Viscount Kelburn, Commander, Royal Navy. For his services during landing operations in the Persian Gulf in Aug. 1915." He succeeded his father in 1915, and is the 8th Earl of Glasgow (created in 1703). He is Deputy-Lieutenant, County Ayr; owns about 5,000 acres. Lord Glasgow married, in 1906, Hyacinthe Mary, daughter of W. A. Bell, of Pendell Court, Bletchingley, and they have two sons (the elder being Viscount Kelburn, born 24 July, 1910), and two daughters.

Viscount Kelburn.

HALAHAN, HENRY CROSBY, Commander, Royal Navy, son of the late Colonel S. H. Halahan, of Chiddingfold. He entered the Navy in 1896, becoming Lieutenant in 1900. Lieut. Halahan was made a Member of the Victorian Order in 1907. He served in the European War, and in Nov. 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915]: "Henry Crosby Halahan, Commander, Royal Navy. For his services in command of the Naval Heavy Batteries attached to the Belgian Army since 1 Jan. 1915. In the operations on the Belgian front, from 25 Sept. onwards, he displayed a gallantry and devotion to duty worthy of the best traditions of the Royal Navy." He was promoted Wing Captain, Royal Naval Air Service, in 1917, and was killed in action 23 March, 1918.

STOCKS, DAVID DE BEAUVOIR, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, only son of John W. Stocks (Captain, C.B.L. Horse), of Babool Bonah, Beckenham, S.E., was born in 1885. He served in the European War, and in Nov. 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915]: "David de Beauvoir Stocks, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy. For his services in command of a submarine in the Sea of Marmora, where he made a prolonged cruise, in spite of adverse conditions, and succeeded in inflicting much damage on the enemy." He was also made Chevalier, Legion of Honour. He was drowned at sea 31 Jan. 1918. Commander Stocks married Cheridah, youngest daughter of the late Capt. Ernst, Deputy Lieutenant and Justice of the Peace, of Westcombe, Evercreech S.O., Somerset.

David de Beauvoir Stocks.

WILMOT-SMITH, ANDREW, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, second son of John Crosbie Wilmot-Smith, of Ballynanty, County Limerick, and of Killuran, County Clare, and Jane Grant, his wife, eldest daughter of the late Andrew Sherlock Lawson, of Boroughbridge Hall, Yorkshire. He was educated at Banstead and in H.M.S. Britannia, entering the Navy in 1900. He served in the European War from 1914, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915]: "Andrew Wilmot-Smith, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy."

SEYMOUR, ARTHUR GEORGE, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy, third and youngest son of Lord Ernest (James) Seymour (third son of the 5th Marquess of Hertford and Lady Emily Murray, daughter of the 3rd Earl of Mansfield), and Lady Georgiana Seymour Fortescue (who died in 1915), daughter of the 3rd Earl Fortescue. He was educated in H.M.S. Britannia, at Dartmouth, and joined the Royal Navy. He served in the European War, as First Lieutenant, H.M.S. Espiègle, and in command of the armed launch Shushan in Mesopotamia. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915]: "Arthur George Seymour, Lieut.-Commander, Royal Navy. For excellent work throughout operations in Mesopotamia. During the attack on Nasiriyeh on July 24th, 1915, Lieut.-Commander Seymour, who was in command of the armed launch 'Shushan,' fired the gun himself under very difficult conditions, and sank an armed Turkish patrol boat." He was promoted to Commander in 1919.

Arthur George Seymour.

ELLIOT, BERTRAM NOWELL, Capt. (Temporary Major), served in the European War, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915]: "Bertram Nowell Elliot, Capt. (Temporary Major), Royal Marine Light Infantry. For his services in laying mines and in charge of minefields in the Serbian rivers for several months. This work has very many times been carried on under the fire of the enemy's patrols, and always with a fine courage and much skill in organization." He was killed in action on 23 April, 1918.

DACRE, GEORGE BENTLEY, Flight Lieutenant, Royal Navy, was born 22 March, 1891, son of John Dacre, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. He was educated at Clifton College, and at the University of Bristol (Pilot Aviator's Certificate, No. 162, 1911). In 1911 he was given an appointment on the experimental staff of the British and Colonial Aeroplane Co. Ltd., and in Aug. 1914, was gazetted Probationary Flight Sub-Lieutenant, Royal Naval Air Service, becoming Flight Lieutenant 31 Dec. 1914; Flight Commander in June, 1916; Captain, Royal Air Force, in April, 1918. He served in the European War (Gallipoli), 1915–16; (Egypt), 1916. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 19 Nov. 1915]: "George Bentley Dacre, Flight Lieutenant, Royal Navy. For his services in the Dardanelles when he flew over the Gallipoli Peninsula, and in spite of serious trouble with his machine, succeeded in carrying out a difficult operation, and afterwards returned safely to his base. Great nerve and courage were displayed in prosecuting an attack under very adverse conditions." In June, 1916, he was promoted Flight-Commander, and on 26 Aug. 1916, was reported to be a prisoner in Turkey, where he remained until Nov. 1918.

George Bentley Dacre.

London Gazette, 24 Nov. 1915.—"Admiralty, 24 Nov. 1915. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of the undermentioned Officer to be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of the service described below."

SMYTH-PIGOTT, JOSEPH RUSCOMBE WADHAM, Flight Lieut., Royal Navy, was born in 1889, youngest son of the late Cecil Hugh Smyth-Pigott, of Brockley Court, Somerset. He was educated at the Oratory School, Edgbaston, and entered the Royal Navy, serving in the European War. He was mentioned in Despatches, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 24 Nov. 1915]: "Joseph Ruscombe Wadham Smyth-Pigott, Flight Lieut., R.N. On the night of 13–14 Nov. Flight Commander Smyth-Pigott volunteered to attack the railway bridge at Kuleli Burgas. He was able to locate the bridge by the moonlight shining on the river, and descended to within 300 feet of it before releasing his bombs. He was heavily fired on from several places, and in spite of trouble with his engine, which commenced before he reached the bridge, he returned safely to his base after a night flight which had lasted over four hours." He was also awarded a Bar to the D.S.O.

London Gazette, 8 Dec. 1915.—"Admiralty, 8 Dec. 1915. From Commander-in-Chief, Cape of Good Hope Station. Challenger, 15 July, 1915.—At 4.15 a.m., on the 6th July, H.M.S. Severn (Capt. Eric J. A. Fullerton), and H.M.S. Mersey (Commander Robert A. Wilson), weighed and proceeded across the bar into the Kikunja branch of the Rufiji river, which they entered about 5.20 a.m. The operations on the 6th July, though not a complete and final success, were creditable. A further attack was made to complete the destruction of the Königsberg on the 11th July, which was completely wrecked, having suffered from shell fire and explosions. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of the following Officers to the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their services as mentioned, on the occasion of the operations against the Königsberg."

FULLERTON, ERIC JOHN ARTHUR, Capt., Royal Navy, son of Admiral Sir J. R. T. Fullerton, was born in 1878. He took part in the European War, and gained distinction in the two attacks on the Königsberg, as it lay in the Rufiji River. Two monitors were engaged in these operations, the Severn, under Capt. Fullerton, and the Mersey, under Commander Robert Ancotts Wilson, both under the orders of Capt. Fullerton. On 6 July, 1915, the two vessels proceeded across the bar into the Kikunja branch of the Rufiji River. Although subjected to very heavy and accurate fire, the two vessels did much damage to the enemy ship. A second attack was made to complete the destruction of the Königsberg 11 July, 1915, and on this occasion it was reduced to a complete wreck. For his services in the operations against the Königsberg, Capt. Fullerton was mentioned in the Despatch of Vice-Admiral H. King Hall, Commander-in-Chief, Cape of Good Hope Station, dated from the Challenger, 15 July, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Dec. 1915]: "Eric John Arthur Fullerton, Capt., Royal Navy. Was in charge of the two monitors, and conducted the operations in the river with complete success. He, with Commander Robert Ancotts Wilson, had to deal with a very difficult task, entering a river of which very imperfect information was obtainable, against an unknown and invisible defence, which might well have been very serious, and there is no doubt that the monitors were most fortunate in not being more seriously handled by the enemy." He was mentioned in Despatches for subsequent operations on the coast of German East Africa; commanded the battleship Orion, Grand Fleet, 1916–18. Capt. Fullerton was subsequently in charge of Naval Officers undergoing instruction at Cambridge University. He married, in 1908, the Hon. Dorothy Sybil, second daughter of Admiral of the Fleet Lord Fisher, of Kilverstone, O.M., G.C.B., G.C.V.O., and Frances (who died in 1918), daughter of the Rev. T. Delves Broughton.

Digitized by Google

WILSON, ROBERT ANCOTTS, Commander, Royal Navy, served in the European War, and was given his Distinguished Service Order for the two attacks on the Königsberg, on the 6th and 11th July, as the vessel lay in the Rufiji River. Two monitors were engaged in these operations, the Severn, under Capt. Eric Fullerton, and the Mersey, under Commander Robert Ancotts Wilson. On the 6th July the two vessels proceeded across the bar into the Kikunja branch of the Rufiji River. Although subject to very heavy and accurate fire, the two monitors did much damage to the enemy ship. A second attack was made to complete the destruction of the Königsberg 11 July, 1915, and on this occasion it was reduced to a complete wreck. For his services in these operations, Commander Wilson was mentioned in the Despatch of Vice-Admiral H. King Hall, Commander-in-Chief, Cape of Good Hope Station, dated from the Challenger, 15 July, 1916, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Dec. 1915]: "Robert Ancotts Wilson, Commander, Royal Navy. These two officers (Capt. Eric J. A. Fullerton) had to deal with a very difficult task, entering a river of which very imperfect information was obtainable, against an unknown and invisible defence, which might well have been very serious, and there is no doubt that the monitors were most fortunate in not being more severely handled by the enemy." Commander Wilson married Gladys (who died in 1918), granddaughter of W. Gillilan, of 6, Palace Gate, W.

Robert Ancotts Wilson.

GORDON, ROBERT, Squadron Commander, Royal Naval Air Service (Temporary Major, Royal Marines), eldest son of Robert Gordon, M.I.C.E., and Gertrude Mary Gordon, was born in Burma in 1882. He was educated at Fettes College, Edinburgh, and joined the Royal Marines in 1900. He served in the European War, and was Squadron Commander in command of the Air Squadron during the operations to encompass the destruction of the Königsberg, as it lay in the Rufiji River. For his services on the two occasions of attack, 6 and 11 July, 1915, he was mentioned in the Despatch of Vice-Admiral H. King Hall, Commander-in-Chief, Cape of Good Hope Station, dated from the Challenger, 15 July, 1915, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Dec. 1915]: "Robert Gordon, Squadron Commander, Royal Naval Air Service (Temporary Major, Royal Marines), was in command of the Air Squadron. He was indefatigable in his work, and ran great risk in spotting and reconnoitring." He was in Mesopotamia with General Townshend's Force, and afterwards with the force attempting to relieve Kut. He was promoted to Wing Commander and to Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel.

CULL, JOHN TULLOCH, Flight Commander, R.N.A.S. (Lieut., R.N.), entered the Royal Navy, and became Lieutenant-Commander 15 March, 1909, and Squadron Commander, Royal Naval Air Service, 1 Jan. 1916. He served in the European War, and was mentioned in Vice-Admiral H. King Hall's Despatch of 15 July, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Dec. 1915]: "John Tulloch Cull, Flight Commander, R.N.A.S. (Lieut., R.N.). Flight Com-Commander Cull and Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold were spotting on the 11th July, under fire, in a biplane, when the enemy's fire damaged it so that it descended in a quarter of an hour from 3,200 feet to 2,000 feet. During this time no attempt was made to return to Headquarters at Mafia, although it was obvious that this could not be done unless a start was made at once. Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold continued to send his spotting signals the whole time, and when a quarter of an hour later the machine was again hit and forced to descend, Flight Commander Cull controlled the machine and Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold continued to send spotting corrections to the last, after warning the monitors that they were coming down and would endeavour to land near them. The aeroplane finally came down in the river, turning over and over. Flight Commander Cull was nearly drowned, but was assisted by Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold, and both were rescued by a boat from the Mersey."

ARNOLD, HARWOOD JAMES, Flight Sub-Lieut., Royal Naval Air Service, served in the European War, and took part in the destruction of the Königsberg as it lay in the Rufiji River. For his services on the two occasions of attack, 6 and 11 July, 1915, he was mentioned in the Despatch of Vice-Admiral H. King Hall, Commander-in-Chief, Cape of Good Hope Station, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 8 Dec. 1915]: "Flight Commander Cull and Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold were spotting on the 11th July, under fire in a biplane, when the enemy's fire damaged it, so that it descended in a quarter of an hour from 3,200 feet to 2,000 feet. During this time no attempt was made to return to Headquarters at Mafia, although it was obvious that this could not be done unless a start was made at once. Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold continued to send his spotting signals the whole time, and when, a quarter of an hour later, the machine was again hit and forced to descend, Flight-Commander Cull controlled the machine, and Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold continued to send spotting corrections to the last, after warning the monitors that they were coming down and would endeavour to land near them. The aeroplane finally came down in the river, turning over and over. Flight Commander Cull was nearly drowned, but was assisted by Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold, and both were rescued by a boat from the Mersey." Vice-Admiral King Hall, in his Despatch [London Gazette, 8 Dec. 1915], writes: "Most serious risks have been run by the officers and men who have flown in this climate, where the effect of the atmosphere and the extreme heat of the sun are quite unknown to those whose flying experience is limited to moderate climates. 'Bumps' of 250 feet have been experienced several times, and the temperature varies from extreme cold when flying at a height to a great heat, with burning, tropical sun, when on land. In the operations against the Königsberg, on the 6th July, both the personnel and material of the Royal Naval Air Service were worked to the extreme limit of endurance. The total distance covered by the two available aeroplanes on that date was no less than 950 miles, and the time in the air, working watch and watch, was 13 hours." Flight Sub-Lieut. Arnold was accidentally drowned 20 March, 1918.

London Gazette, 23 Dec. 1915.—"War Office, 23 Dec. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

ODLUM, VICTOR WENTWORTH, Lieut.-Colonel, son of Professor E. Odlum, M.A., B.Sc., and Mary Odlum (née Powell), was born at Cobourg, Ontario, 21 Oct. 1880. He was educated at Toronto University; was Editor of the Vancouver "Daily World," and is a Director of Clapp-Anderson & Odlum, Ltd. When the South African War commenced he served for the British with the 1st Canadian Contingent (2nd Royal Canadian Rifles), and afterwards in the 3rd Canadian Mounted Rifles, gaining the South African Medal with three clasps. He was associated continuously for 22 years with the Canadian Militia (Colonial Long Service Medal), becoming Major and Second-in-Command, 11th Irish Fusiliers of Canada, allied with the Royal Irish Fusiliers. Major Odlum again saw active service in the European War, 1914–18. He was seven times mentioned in Despatches; was created a C.M.G. in 1917; a C.B. in 1919, and awarded the Order of Danilo, 3rd Class. He became Brigadier-General, commanding the 11th Infantry Brigade, 4th Canadian Division, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 Dec. 1915]: "Victor Wentworth Odlum, Lieut.-Colonel, 7th Canadian Infantry Battn. (1st British Columbia Regt.), Canadian Expeditionary Force. For conspicuous ability and energy. He personally superintended all arrangements for a bombing attack made by his battalion on the night of 16–17 Nov. 1915, near Messines, and by his coolness and determination was largely instrumental in bringing about the success of the exploit." He was awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order. Capt. Odlum married, in 1904, Sada Eugenie Tressa, daughter of Isaac and Margaret Rogerson, and they have three sons and one daughter.

WARREN, WILLIAM ROBINSON, Major, was born 5 May, 1882. He entered the Royal Artillery 2 May, 1900; became Lieutenant 3 April, 1901; Captain 24 Feb. 1910; Major 30 Oct. 1914; was Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Royal Artillery, 13 Oct. 1917, to 30 March, 1918, and 9 Oct. 1918. He served in the European War, 1914–15; was wounded; thrice mentioned in Despatches; given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1919, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 Dec. 1915]: "William Robinson Warren, Major, Royal Field Artillery. For conspicuous gallantry near Croix Barbée on 16 Sept. 1915. When one of his battery wagons had been set on fire by a shell, and both wagon body and one cartridge were blazing, he removed the remainder of the ammunition at great personal risk. The enemy at the time were directing a heavy and accurate fire on the battery."

William R. Warren.

COSTIGAN, CHARLES TELFORD, Capt., son of Thomas John Costigan and Jeannie Costigan (née Telford), of Ireland, was born 5 Sept. 1880, in Surrey. He was educated at Halbrake College. On the outbreak of the European War, Charles Costigan immediately joined the 1st Canadian Division (4 Aug. 1914), proceeding to Europe with his regiment; he was employed as Field Cashier, and in 1915 was transferred as Captain to the 10th Battn. Canadian 1st Division. Capt. Costigan took part in a successful surprise attack on the German trenches at Messines. He was mentioned in Despatches, and in Dec. 1915, was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 Dec. 1915]: "Charles Telford Costigan, Capt., 10th Canadian Infantry Battn. For conspicuous gallantry near Messines on the night of 16–17 Nov. 1915. He led a bombing party into the German trench, shot the first three Germans he met with his revolver, and then led his bombers along the trench, which was filled with the enemy." In June, 1916, Capt. Costigan added to his honours by being again mentioned in Despatches, and was awarded the Military Cross. He was wounded and sent to a London hospital. Capt. Costigan died in Nov. 1918.

Digitized by Google

BARNES, CHARLES ROPER GORELL-, Lieut., was born at 29, Sloane Gardens, London, S.W., 1st July, 1896, eldest son of Sir Frederick Gorell-Barnes, D.L., J.P. (formerly Member of Parliament for North-East Kent), and of Caroline Anne Roper, only daughter of Sir Roper Lethbridge, K.C.I.E., and Eliza, daughter of W. Finlay. He was educated at Stubbington House, Fareham; at the Royal Naval College, Osborne; at Dartmouth, and at Pembroke College, Cambridge (History Scholar). He joined the 8th Battn. Rifle Brigade (Lord Kitchener's 1st Army) as Second Lieutenant in Sept. 1914, and proceeded to France with the 14th Division in May, 1915. He was promoted Lieutenant 30 July, 1915 [London Gazette, 16 Sept. 1915]; appointed Adjutant 31 July, 1915, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 Dec. 1915]: "Charles Roper Gorell-Barnes, Adjutant, 8th Battn. The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own). For conspicuous gallantry near Ypres on 23 Nov. 1915. A wounded officer was lying out in front of the German lines. After three attempts at rescue had failed and an officer and four men had been wounded, Lieut. Gorell-Barnes formed one of a fourth party to make the attempt. Although there was bright moonlight and a German covering party was heard quite close, they crawled out to the wounded officer, and succeeded with great difficulty in dragging him back under heavy rifle and machine-gun fire, thus undoubtedly saving his life." Lieut. Gorell-Barnes was mentioned in Sir John French's Despatch of 30 Nov. 1915 [London Gazette, 1 Jan. 1916]. In the same year he was awarded the Military Cross for distinguished service in the field [London Gazette, 14 Jan. 1916]; was mentioned in Sir Douglas Haig's Despatch of 30 April, 1916 [London Gazette, 15 June, 1916]. He was promoted Captain in the following Sept. Capt. Gorell-Barnes was appointed a General Staff Officer, 3rd Grade, in June, 1917.

Charles R. Gorell-Barnes.

HOLMES, WILLIAM DUMBLETON, Lieut., son of William Cuthbert Holmes (retired Indian Civil Service) and Clara Eveline, daughter of the late Henry Dumbleton, of Hall Grove, Bagshot, Surrey, and of Rocklands, Victoria, British Columbia; was born at Mangalore, Madras Presidency, India, 10 June, 1893. He was privately educated in France and Germany, and in British Columbia; was in the ranks of the 88th Victoria Fusiliers in 1913, and was given a commission. Lieut. Holmes saw active service in the European War, where he greatly distinguished himself. At Festubert, on the night of the 21st May, 1915, "the Canadians made a fine attack, in which they advanced our line several hundred yards," says Mr. John Buchan, in his "History of the War" (Volume VII., page 107). In this attack Lieut. W. D. Holmes was in command on the extreme right. Almost immediately after the attack began, all but two of his men were killed or wounded. Lieut. Holmes was himself wounded in the side by a shell, which threw him into a sort of stream, which he crossed, holding on to a couple of planks, and was followed by his remaining two men, who crawled over the planks. "We three," wrote Lieut. Holmes, "went on to a good planking position, where we could put up a rapid fire on the enemy, who were bombing our centre." Lieut. Holmes was again wounded, and a few minutes after that some reinforcements who had lost their officers crawled up. Our centre was somewhat advancing, and a lull in the firing giving opportunity, Lieut. Holmes and his men charged, roaring, "Canada, Canada! Forward, Canada!" "The Germans did not wait for us to run off in the dark," adds Lieut. Holmes. For his conduct in this affair he was recommended for the Victoria Cross, and it is believed that it is for his conduct at Festubert that he received the Military Cross. Lieut. Holmes was sent to England invalided for some months. On returning to the front he was attached to the famous 7th Canadian Infantry Battn., and some time afterwards, on the night of the 16–17th Nov. 1915, took a prominent part in the Messines affair. The River Douve lay in No Man's Land, between the German lines and ours. Lieut. Holmes and his scouts secretly cut three lanes through the German wire entanglements, laying three plank bridges (2 feet by 20 feet) across the Douve. Over these bridges and through the lanes they led a bombing party, which made a surprise and successful attack on the German trench. Lieut. Holmes was mentioned in F.M. Sir John French's Despatch of 30 Nov. 1915, and in the following month he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 Dec. 1915]: "William Dumbleton Holmes, Lieut., 7th Battn. 1st British Columbia Regt. For conspicuous gallantry and resource near Messines on 16–17 Nov. 1915, when in charge of the scouts during a bombing attack. He superintended the cutting of the German wire, and the laying of a bridge over the Douve, 16 yards from a heavily-manned German trench. His gallant conduct at Festubert was brought to notice in May last." Lieut. Holmes was promoted to Captain 12 Jan. 1916. He was again mentioned in Despatches by General Sir Douglas Haig. Capt. Holmes fell in action 13 June in the same year at the Third Battle of Ypres. The King caused a letter to be sent from the War Office, expressing his high appreciation of Capt. W. D. Holmes's services.

William D. Holmes.

McILREE, JOHN RAYMOND, Lieut., son of J. H. McIlree, I.S.O., and C. E., daughter of the late J. Winter Humphreys, was born 19 Jan. 1893, at Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada. Educated at Trinity College School, Port Hope, Ontario, he joined the 88th Victoria Fusiliers in 1913, and when the European War broke out he served in France and Flanders, working himself up to the rank of Colour Sergeant-Major; was present at the battles at St. Julien (or Ypres) in April, 1915, and at Festubert. He was given a commission as Lieutenant in 1915, and was in charge of the first surprise attack on the German trenches at Messines, made on the night of 16–17 Nov. 1915, by the 7th Battn. (Canadians), under Lieut.-Colonel Odlum, who was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for planning this enterprise, which was completely successful. Lieut. McIlree was mentioned in Sir Douglas Haig's first Despatch, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 Dec. 1915]: "John Raymond McIlree, Lieut., 7th Canadian Infantry Battn. For conspicuous gallantry near Messines on the night of 16–17 Nov. 1915. He led a bombing party into the German trench, threw down the first German he met, and felled the second with a rifle. He was then joined by his bombing party, and led them along the trench, which was heavily manned by the enemy." The following is Lord Beaverbrook's account of this "surprise attack": "A small party of bombers crawled at night across the 'No-Man's-Land' separating the lines, climbed over the top of the parapet into the enemy's trench, remained there about a quarter of an hour, and then returned with a dozen prisoners. . . . Never can there have been a more exciting scene. . . . The noise was indescribable . . . while the whole picture was lit up by the flares that were being sent up by the dozen. Germans aroused from their sleep came lumbering out of their dug-outs, to be immediately collared by a stranger in khaki, and before they were wide-awake found themselves inside the British trench. . . . Lieut. McIlree, on emerging round the traverse (with emptied rifle), came right on top of a German who was standing on the firing platform. . . . Quick as lightning, the officer, an old Rugby football player, threw himself at the legs of his adversary, and pulled him to the bottom of the trench, where he sat on his chest, urging him to surrender. At the critical moment another German appeared round the corner, but the officer, seizing the rifle which had fallen from the hands of his first opponent, swung it round, and knocked the new-comer head over heels." He was promoted to Captain in 1916.

London Gazette, 7 Dec. 1915.—"War Office, 7 Dec. 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field."

PAGAN, ALEXANDER WILLIAM, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), was born 23 Feb. 1878. He was gazetted to the Gloucestershire Regt. 11 Feb. 1899; became Lieutenant 24 Feb. 1900; Captain 29 Sept. 1906; was Adjutant, Gloucestershire Regt., 12 July, 1908, to 11 July, 1911; Major 1 Sept. 1915; Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel, Gloucestershire Regt., 1 Sept. 1915, to 7 Sept. 1916; Acting Lieutenant-Colonel, Gloucestershire Regt., 12 Nov. 1916, to 27 March, 1918; Temporary Brigadier-General from 28 March, 1918. He was Adjutant, Special Reserve, 16 Nov. 1911, to 2 Jan. 1915; Brigade Commander, 184th Infantry Brigade, British Armies in France, 28 March to 16 Oct. 1918. For his services in the European War he was mentioned in Despatches; was given the Brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel 1 Jan. 1917, and was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Dec. 1915]: "Alexander William Pagan, Major (Temporary Lieut.-Colonel), 1st. Battn. The Gloucestershire Regt. For conspicuous good work when in command of his battalion, near Loos, on 8 Oct. 1915, during a heavy bombardment of four and a half hours, followed by a heavy infantry attack. He had already been brought to notice for good work done on 9 May and 25 Sept. 1915."

MARTIN, NORMAN, Second Lieut., eldest son of Lieut.-Colonel M. Martin (late R.E.) and Edith Martin, and grandson of Sir Ronald Martin, was born 5 March, 1897; was educated at the Inverness College and at Fettes. He offered his services to Lochiel, who was then raising the 5th Battn. of the Cameron Highlanders, but was ordered to await his 18th birthday, when he was commissioned in the 3rd Battn. Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, and posted to his Corps at Invergordon. On the 30th Sept. 1915, he was ordered to France, and was posted to the 1st Battn. Camerons. On the 20th Oct. he was appointed Bomb Officer, and was complimented by the Commanding Officer in October for his conduct in fierce trench fighting in the following words: "You did darned good work, sir, darned good work." He was mentioned in Despatches by F.M. Sir John French, Commander-in-Chief in France, and in Dec. 1915, he was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Dec. 1915]: "Norman Martin, Second Lieut., 3rd Battn. (attached 1st Battn.) Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders. For conspicuous gallantry and determination near Hulloch, on 13 Oct. 1915. During a bombing attack in a German communication trench one officer of the company was killed, another wounded, and three parties of bombers were all either killed or wounded.

Digitized by Google

Second Lieut. Martin then commenced throwing bombs himself, after which he expended all the rounds in his revolver, and continued to fire with a rifle. It was largely due to his coolness and courage that the barricade was held till more bombers had been obtained." He returned to active service, and, on the night of 22–23 July was killed by a single bullet while scouting near Martinpuich, probably the most advanced man of our forces at the moment of the occurrence. Colonel Craig-Brown, D.S.O., Commanding 1st Cameron Highlanders, writes: "The Camerons have lost an officer of more than ordinary promise, but he died a gallant death, and we are all proud of him."

WATSON, GILBERT FRANCE, Second Lieut., was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 7 Dec. 1915]: "Gilbert France Watson, Second Lieut., Welsh Field Company, Welsh Divisional Engineers, Royal Engineers, Territorial Force. For conspicuous gallantry and determination near Hooge. On the night of 24–25 Sept. 1915, he made an excellent reconnaissance of the enemy's wire, and on the 25th crawled out with two men, and successfully cut it before the assault. During the assault, with a party of 12 sappers and 25 infantry, he dug 80 yards of a communication trench in two hours under very heavy fire, by which nearly three-quarters of his men became casualties. He then reported for instructions, and took the remains of his party into the captured positions in order to consolidate them. When retirement was ordered he got back to our original trenches with one sergeant, who was killed almost at once, and three or four men, and, finding the trenches unoccupied, he collected about 25 men of the 4th Battn. Gordon Highlanders, and held on until relieved by another battalion after dark. Second Lieut. Watson set a fine example of bravery and devotion to duty."

NAMES OMITTED FROM CORRECT POSITIONS.

London Gazette, 27 Sept. 1901.—"War Office, 27 Sept. 1901. The King has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointment to the Distinguished Service Order to the undermentioned Officer, in recognitio i of services during the operations in South Africa. To bear date 29 Nov. 1900. To be a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order."

MALLOCK THOMAS RAYMOND, Lieut., was born 17 Sept. 1869; entered the Royal Fusiliers 31 May, 1890; became Lieut., Royal Fusiliers, 2 July, 1894, Capt. 26 Oct. 1901, Major 28 Nov. 1905. He served in the South African War 1899–1902, taking part in operations in the Transvaal, east of Pretoria, July to 29 Nov. 1900; operations in Cape Colony, north of Orange River, including action at Ruidam; employed with South African Light Horse; afterwards in command of 2nd Battn. Imperial Yeomanry from 26 March, 1902, to end of operations; operations in the Transvaal Oct. 1901 to Jan. 1902, and March to 31 May 1902; operations in Orange River Colony, June to Oct. 1901, and Jan. to March, 1902; operations in Cape Colo y, Jan. to June, 1901; mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 10 Sept. 1901]; Queen's Medal with three clasps and King's Medal with two clasps. He was created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 27 Sept. 1901]: "Thomas Raymond Mallock, Lieut., Royal Fusiliers. In recognition of services during the operations in South Africa." In the European War he was mentioned in Despatches [London Gazette, 19 Oct. 1914].

London Gazette, 23 June, 1915.—"War Office, 23 June, 1915. His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the undermentioned honour for distinguished service in the field, with effect from 3 June, 1915, inclusive."

BRUCE, ARCHIBALD GORDON, Capt., was born 6 May, 1:77, son of Colonel E. A. Bruce, late Alexandra Princess of Wales's Yorkshire Regt. He was educated at Cheltenham College, and entered the Royal Scots Fusiliers 5 May, 1900, becoming Lieut. 22 Jan. 1902, Capt. 25 Oct. 1911; was Adjutant, West Surrey Regt., 22 Jan. 1912, to 7 Oct. 1913; promoted Major 1 Sept. 1915. He served in the South African War 1899–1902 (wounded; Queen's Medal with four clasps and King's Medal with two clasps); in the European War from 1914 (Battles of Ypres, Armentières and Neuve Chapelle); was thrice wounded, twice mentioned in Despatches, and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order [London Gazette, 23 June, 1915]: "Archibald Gordon Bruce, Capt., Royal Scots Fusiliers. For distinguished service in the field." He married Aline Mary, daughter of E. Birch, late 2nd West India Regt., and they have one daughter.

PHOTOGRAPHS OMITTED FROM CORRECT POSITIONS.

Col. W. R. Howell
(See Record p. 93-94).

Major E. H. Phillips
(See Record p. 96).

Col. G. Bridges
(See Record p. 148).

Col. Evan Gibb
(See Record p. 269).

Col. E. V. D. Riddell
(See Record p. 396).

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

INDEX

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

INDEX

PAGE

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN 2
ABADIE, E. H. E. 241
Abadie, H. B. 227
Abbott, F. B. 413
Abbott, F. W. 291
Abbott, H. E. S. 54
Acheson, Hon. P. G. E. C. 412
Adams, A. P. 21
Adamson, J. E. 423
Addison, G. H. 397
Agnew, Q. G. K. 265
Ailesbury, Marquess of (see Cardigan, Earl of) 221
Ainsworth, W. J. 132
Airey, H. P. 28
Aldridge, J. B. 210
Aldworth, W. 15
Alexander, A. de V. 311
Alexander, E. C. 276
Alexander, H. 101
Alexander, Hon. H. C. 343
Alexander, H. L. 386
Alexander, H. M. 428
Alexander, W. N. S. 372
Allanson, C. J. L. 422
Allason, W. 364
Allcard, H. 240
Allen, H. M. 323
Allen, R. F. 313
Allen, W. L. 295
Alright, H. 70
Amphlett, C. G. 191
Amos, H. G. M. 216
Anderson, D. F. 364
Anderson, E. C. 123
Anderson, E. L. B. 331
Anderson, J. 272
Anderson, N. G. 243
Anderson, R. J. P. 140
Anderson, S. J. 414
Anderson, W. C. 182
Angel, T. L. 147
Anley, B. D. L. G 219
Annesley, J. H. A. 131
Annesley, W. R. N. 14
Anstruther-Thomson, C. F. St. C. 163
Aplin, P. J. H. 314
Applin, R. V. K. 296
Arbuthnot, A. G. 343
Archdale, T. M. 234
Archdale-Porter, J. G. 407
Archer-Shee, M. 232
Ardagh, G. H. 298
Arden, J. H. M. 382
Aris, C. J. 327
Armitage, C. H. 96
Armitage, C. L. 410
Armitage, Rev. R. 281
Armstrong, G. D. 177
Armstrong, O. C. 262
Arnold, A. J. 66
Arnold, H. J. 431
Arthur, C. G. 406
Arthur, J. M. 404
Ashburner, L. F. 234
Aspinall, R. L. 220
Asser, V. 307
Astell, S. C. G. F. 123
Atchison, C. E. 401
Athlone, Earl of (see Teck, Prince A. A. F. W. A. G. of) 127
Atholl, Duke of (see Tullibardine, The Marquis of) 84
Atkinson, E. W. 386
Atkinson, H. N. 332
Atlay, H. W. 359
Austin, H. H. 92
Aytoun, A. 187
BABINGTON, J. T. 347
Backhouse, M. R. C. 298
Bacon, R. H. S. 65
Bacon, S. K. 411
Badcock, F. F. 45
Bagge, R. L. 220
Bagot, Hon. W. L. 181
Bailey, A. H. 233
Bailey, Hon. J. H. R. 178
Bailey, P. J. 268
Baillie, A. C. 223
Baillie, H. F. 371
Baillie, J. A. 308
Bainbridge, N. B. 208
Bainbridge, W. F. 159
Baines, C. S. 332
Baird, A. W. F. 257
Baird, H. B. D. 387
Baird, H. H. C. 244
Baird, J. L. 354
Baker, A. B. 137
Baker, R. J. 292
Bald, A. C. 269
Baldwin, G. M. 57
Balfour, C. E. 230
Balfour, E. W. S. 355
Balfour, J. E. H. 221
Ballantine, J. 405
Banks, H. J. A. 124
Barker, W. F. 149
Barlow, C. J. 17
Barlow, C. L. 426
Barlow, C. W. 317
Barnardiston, S. J. B. 236
Barnes, C. R. Gorell- 432
Barnes, R. W. R. 127
Barnett, W. A. 191
Barratt, W. C. 66
Barrett, A. Ll. 25
Barrow, A. F. 53
Barrow, C. T. 5
Barry, S. L. 129
Bartholomew, A. W. 350
Bartholomew, H. J. 211
Bartlett, E. 291
Barton, B. J. 367
Barton, C. G. 176
Barton, C. W. 244
Barton, M. C. 89
Barton, P. 393
Bastard, R. 382
Bateman, H. R. 375
Bates, A. S. 405
Bates, C. L. 222
Battye, C. W. 235
Bayard, R. 293
Bayford, E. H. 303
Bayley, G. E. 371
Bayley, H. 421
Bayly, A. W. L. 23
Beale, H. Y. 282
Beall, E. M. 407
Bearne, L. C. 375
Beatty, C. H. L. 220
Beatty, D. 60
Beauman, A. B. 415
Becher, J. P. 416
Beck, W. T. 429
Beckett, J. D. M. 400
Beckwith, A. T. 385
Beckwith-Smith, M. 327
Bedingfield, H. 341
Beech, J. R. 43
Begbie, E. W. 38
Begbie, G. E. 175
Belcher, H. T. 236
Beley, C. H. H. 23
Belfield, H. E. 278
Bell, G. J. 299
Bell, H. S. 252
Bell, W. J. E. 423
Bell-Irving, A. 101
Bellamy, R. 230
Benbow, H. 38
Bennett, A. C. 290
Bennett, A. J. 137
Bennett, C. H. 124
Bennett, W. 4
Benson, C. B. 305
Benson, H. W. 109
Bentinck, W. G. (Baron) 292
Beresford, Hon. J. G. H. H. de la P. 314
Beresford-Peirse, H. B. de la P. 181
Berkeley, C. R. 242
Bernal, G. H. W. 221
Bessell-Browne, A. J. 308
Bethell, A. B. 393
Bethell, E. H. 100
Betty, H. K. 405
Betty, P. K. 397
Beveridge, W. W. O. 289
Beynon, W. G. L. 51
Biggs, H. V. 69
Bigsworth, A. W. 418
Binny, S. S. 270
Birch, E. M. 235
Birch, J. R. K. 266
Bircham, H. F. W. 401
Bird, A. J. G. 380
Bird, J. W. 423
Bird, S. G. 162
Bird, W. D. 111
Birdwood, W. R. 322
Birkin, R. L. 222
Birt, L. H. 341
Bishop, F. E. 96
Blackader, C. G. 194
Blackburne, C. H. 298
Blackwood, F. H. 332
Blackwood, Lord F. T. Hamilton-Temple- 243
Blades, W. W. 405
Blair, A. 130
Blair, R. C. R. 421
Blake, N. J. R. 162
Blake, W. A. 387
Blakeney, H. N. 213
Blakeney, R. B. D. 85
Bland, C. E. W. 366
Blandy, L. F. 397
Blenkinsop, L. J. 83
Blewitt, R. 332
Blogg, E. B. 423
Blomfield, C. J. 78
Blunt, A. St. J. 371
Blunt, W. F. 328
Bode, L. W. 168
Boileau, G. H. 397
Boland, S. B. 308
Bolitho, W. E. T. 182
Bols, L. J. 197
Bond, C. E. 303
Bond, E. E. 82
Bond, R. C. 193
Bond, R. L. 347
Bonham, W. F. 268
Bonner, S. 408
Bonus, W. J. 116
Boon, G. 248
Booth, R. M. St. J. 363
Booth, W. H. 119
Boothby, H. 349
Borradaile, H. B. 50
Borrett, O. C. 398
Borrow, F. R. 11
Borton, A. E. 406
Boscawen, Hon. G. E. 327
Boucher, B. H. 190
Boulton, C. P. 297
Bourke, H. B. 49
Bowden, F. L. 144
Bowden, W. 48
Bowen, A. J. Hamilton 409
Bowen, C. O. C. 204
Bowen, G. C. 191
Bowen, H. J. Ap-O. 226
Bowker, W. J. 91
Bowman-Manifold, M. G. E. .. 227
Bowring, E. L. 366
Boxer, H. E. R. 399
Boyall, A. M. 241
Boyce, W. G. B. 118
Boyd, G. F. 307
Boyd, J. D. 343
Boyd-Moss, E. W. 245
Boyle, P. J. 430
Boys, R. H. H. 197
Brabant, G. A. 309
Brabazon, Hon. E. W. M. M. .. 332
Bradley, R. W. 302
Braithwaite, W. G. 206
Brake, H. E. J. 92
Brand, C. H. 385
Bransbury, H. A. 419
Breading, G. R. 315
Brereton, E. F. 282
Bretherton, G. H. 55
Brett, C. A. H. 192
Bridges, G. ..... 148 and 433
Bridges, G. T. M. 314
Bridgford, R. J. 124
Brierley, G. T. 214
Briggs, E. F. 347
Brind, J. E. S. 387
Brindle, R. 75
Brinton, J. C. 204
Brittan, R. 189
Brock, A. W. S. 410
Brocklebank, J. J. 251
Brodie, I. A. M. 298
Bromfield, H. H. 221
Bromley-Davenport, W. 161
Bromlow, T. D'A. 18
Bromwich, G. H. 95
Brooke, C. R. I. 400
Brooke, R. G. 84
Brooke, V. R. 132
Brooke-Popham, H. R. M. 404
Brough, A. 397
Brown, C. H. J. 429
Brown, E. 351
Brown, H. 410
Brown, H. B. 415
Brown, H. R. S. 364
Browne, A. G. F. 37
Browne, C. G. 402
Browne, C. M. 312
Browne, F. Macdonnell 361
Browne, G. F. 28
Browne, H. H. 225
Browne, J. W. 291
Browne, W. H. 317
Browning, J. C. 426
Brownlee, J. I. 145
Bruce, A. G. 433
Bruce-Steer, T. 299
Bru-de-Wold, H. T. 320
Brunker, C. M. 177
Bryant, C. E. 356
Bryant, H. G. 237
Buchan, E. N. 253
Buchan, J. I. 426
Buchanan-Dunlop, C. N. 394
Buchanan-Dunlop, H. D. 369
Buckland, G. C. B. 347
Buckle, C. R. 265
Buckle, M. P. 202
Buckley, W. P. 331
Budgen, W. T. 20
Buist, H. J. M. 189
Bulkeley, H. C. 220
Bullen-Smith, G. M. 402
Buller, H. C. 402
Bulman, P. 163
Bunbury, V. T. 80
Burke, C. J. 354
Burke, H. F. 397
Burland, W. W. 405
Burnaby, H. B. 299
Burnard, C. F. 363
Burn, H. P. 402
Burne, A. H. 325
Burnett, J. Chaplyn 190
Burnett, J. Curteis 327
Burnett, J. L. G. 372
Burnett-Hitchcock, B. F. 341
Burnett-Stuart, J. T. 133
Burnham, F. R. 185
Burns-Lindow, I. W. 377
Burrard, G. 423
Burrard, H. G. 374
Burt-Marshall, D. B. 408
Burton, G. W. 403
Buston, P. T. 99
Butler, A. G. 386
Butler, S. G. 341
Byron, R. 200
CADDELL, H. M. 387
Callaghan, C. A. 421
Calvert, C. A. 393
Cameron, A. 246

Digitized by Google

	PAGE
Cameron, G. W.	141
Cammell, G. A.	382
Campbell, A.	18
Campbell, A. J.	278
Campbell, C.	65
Campbell, C. C.	20
Campbell, C. H.	405
Campbell, D. F.	135
Campbell, D. L.	155
Campbell, Hon. E. O.	371
Campbell, F.	69
Campbell, J.	169
Campbell, J. E. R.	179
Campbell, J. H.	125
Campbell, Hon. J. B.	348
Campbell, J. V.	235
Campbell, K. J. R.	57
Campbell, M. D.	180
Campbell, V. L. A.	384
Campbell, W.	168
Campbell, W. R.	304
Canny, J. C. Macnamara	253
Cape, C. S.	138
Capel-Cure, H.	29
Capell, A. E.	143
Capper, T.	280
Carden, H. C.	224
Cardew, J. H.	261
Cardigan, Earl of	221
Carew, G. A. L.	68
Carew, R. H.	30
Carington, Hon. R. C. G.	291
Carleton, C. A. S.	341
Carleton, F. M.	93
Carleton, G. A.	263
Carleton, H. D.	277
Carleton, L. R.	266
Carmichael, G. I.	380
Carpenter, A.	17
Carruthers, J.	360
Carter, A. J.	226
Carter, H. St. M.	402
Carter-Campbell, G. T. C.	382
Carthew, T. W. C.	404
Carton de Wiart, A.	384
Cartwright, F. L.	141
Cartwright, G. N.	358
Cary-Barnard, C. D. V.	344
Cass, C. H. D.	187
Cather, T. P.	15
Cator, A. B. E.	332
Caulfeild, A. M.	27
Caulfeild, G. N.	48
Cautley, W. O.	378
Cavendish, Lord J. S.	134
Cavendish-Bentinck, Lord W. A.	191
Cecil, Lord E. H.	81
Champion de Crespigny, C.	212
Chancellor, J. R.	74
Channer, B.	14
Chaplin, J. G.	400
Chapman, P.	322
Charles, J. R. E.	233
Charlton, L. E. O.	135
Charrington, E.	95
Charteris, J.	387
Chetwode, P. W.	197
Chiazzari, N. W.	95
Chichester, A. A.	188
Chisholm, H. A.	406
Cholmondeley, H. R.	143
Chope, A. J. H.	420
Christian, G.	203
Christie, A. E.	142
Christie, G. J.	408
Christie, H. B.	138
Christophers, E.	290
Christy, S. H.	317
Chute, P. T.	165
Clark, R. L.	178
Clark, W. E.	421
Clark, W. G.	409
Clarke, G. V.	257
Clarke, L. F.	152
Clarke, T. H. M.	89
Clayhills, G.	305
Clegg-Hill, Hon. C. R.	246
Clementi-Smith, E.	254
Clementi-Smith, H.	389
Clements, R. A. P.	41
Clemson, W. F.	401
Clerke, A. W.	221
Clifford, E. S.	257
Clifford, H. F. H.	364
Clifford, W.	135
Climo, S. H.	72
Clive, G. S.	387
Clowes, E. W.	195
Coates, H. W. U.	190
Coates, R. C.	205
Coats, A.	223
Cobbe, A. S.	97
Cobbe, H. H.	206
Cochrane, The Hon. A. D.	417
Cochrane, J. E. C. J.	95
Cockburn, G. M.	79
Coddington, H. A.	119
Coke, Hon. R.	348
Coker, E. R.	4
Cole, A. W. G. Lowry	280
Cole-Hamilton, C. G.	297
Coleridge, H. F.	175
Coles, A. H.	33
Collen, E. H. E.	236
Collet, C. H.	330
Collings, G. D.	262
Collins, A. E.	139
Collins, E. R.	216
Collins, L. P.	383
Collins, Hon. R. H.	301
Collins, R. F.	97
Collis, R. H.	219
Collopy, C. J.	143
Colquhoun, W. J.	95
Colvile, G. N.	193
Colville, J. R.	407
Colvin, C. H.	225
Combe, H.	355
Compton, Lord A. F.	222
Concanon, E. G.	252
Congreve, C. R.	333
Connell, J. C. W.	366
Conry, J. L. J.	232
Coode, P.	218
Cook, G. T. R.	356
Cooke, A. St. J.	268
Cookson, E. C.	417
Cooper, E. J.	167
Cooper-King, G. C.	204
Copland-Crawford, P. W. G.	57
Corbett, R. de la C.	21
Cornes, Hugh	359
Cornish-Bowden, J. H. T.	366
Corry, J. B.	276
Corry, N. A. L.	203
Cory, E. J. d'Almeida	250
Cory, G. N.	214
Costeker, J. H. D.	257
Costigan, C. T.	431
Cotton, A. S.	394
Cottrell-Dormer, C. M.	341
Couchman, G. H. H.	25
Coulson, G. H. B.	248
Cowan, B. W.	291
Cowan, J. W. A.	88
Cowan, W. H.	82
Cowey, R. V.	402
Cowie, H. E. C.	255
Cowie, H. N. R.	130
Cox, B. T.	412
Cox, E. H.	283
Cox, E. W.	391
Cox, W. H.	275
Coxhead, T. L.	27
Cradock, S. W. K.	224
Craig, S. E.	147
Craig-Brown, E.	372
Cramer-Roberts, M. T.	403
Crane, C. P.	224
Craske, J.	198
Crauford, G. S. G.	207
Crawford, V. J.	376
Creagh, P. H.	428
Crean, T. J.	402
Critchley, A. C. B. (surname changed from Critchley-Salmonson)	386
Crichton, C. W. H.	407
Crichton, Viscount	128
Crofton, M. S.	5
Crofts, R.	93
Cropper, E. D.	223
Crompton, B.	282
Crompton-Roberts, H. R.	282
Crosse, R. B.	333
Crossman, G. L.	303
Crozier, B. B.	381
Cruddas, H. W.	403
Cruikshank, G. L.	426
Cubitt, T. A.	312
Cubitt, W. G.	19
Cull, J. T.	431
Cullen, E. H. S.	325
Cullum, G. C.	299
Cumberlege, C. B.	399
Cummins, J. T.	20
Cuninghame, Sir T. A. A. Montgomery-	240
Cunningham, G. G.	57
Cure, H. C.	29
Curling, B. J.	426
Curry, M. C.	110
Curtis, R. S.	109
Cuthbert, J. H.	134
Cuthbert, T. W.	383
Dacre, G. B.	430
Dallimore, P. J.	274
Dalmahoy, P. C.	310
Dalrymple-Hay, J. R. M.	99
Daly, P. J.	308
Damant, F. H.	159
Daniel, C. J.	190
Daniel, E. H. E.	209
Daniell, F. E. Ll.	351
Daniell, J. A. S.	405
d'Apice, J. E. F.	428
Darell, W. H. V.	351
Darley, H. R.	222
Darling, H. F.	141
Daubeney, E. K.	11
Daunt, R. A. C.	133
Davidson, C. J. Ll.	175
Davidson, D. S.	348
Davidson, G. H.	195
Davidson, J.	324
Davidson, J. H.	134
Davidson, L. E. O.	360
Davidson, P.	223
Davidson, T. St. C.	283
Davidson-Houston, C. E. D.	377
Davies, C. H.	311
Davies, C. M.	354
Davies, R. B.	380
Davies, T. A. H.	47
Davies, W. T. F.	146
Davis, G. McB.	52
Dawnay, G. P.	305
Dawnay, Hon. H.	234
Dawnay, Hon. J.	205
Dawson, J.	424
Day, H. E.	362
de Brett, H. S.	67
de Castilla, J. S. R.	141
Deedes, C. P.	304
Deedes, W. H.	20
De Falbe, V. W.	201
de la Bere, R. N.	297
Delafield, N. B.	261
Delamain, W. S.	318
de la Pryme, W. H. A.	364
De La Voye, A. E.	350
Delap, G. G.	242
de Lisle, H. de B.	12
Dening, L.	21
Denne, W. H.	381
Dennis, M. F. B.	424
Dennison, C. G.	299
Dent, J. L.	333
Dent, L. E. M.	333
Denton, J. S.	385
de Rougemont, C. H.	169
Derry A.	235
de Salis, E. A. A.	244
De Sausmarez, C.	207
Deshon, C. J.	32
de Trafford, A. F.	249
Devine, J. A.	291
Dick, D. H. A.	399
Dick-Cunyngham, J. K.	243
Dicken, W. P.	19
Dickinson, N. H. C.	310
Dickson, J. Quayle-	299
Dickson-Poynder, Sir J. P., Bart.	249
Digan, A. J.	91
Digby, A. K.	383
Dill, J. G.	391
Dill, R. F.	347
Dillon, C. T. F.	268
Dillon, E. F.	353
Dillon, H. M.	400
Dimsey, E. R.	66
Dingwall, K.	206
Dixon, E. S.	411
Dobell, C. Macp.	172
Dobrée, G.	309
Dobson, C. C.	417
Dodds, T. H.	299
Dodgson, H. B.	189
Doherty-Holwell, R. V.	398
Donaldson, J.	300
Done, H. R.	363
Doran, W. R. B.	259
Dorling, L.	285
Dorrien-Smith, A. A.	245
Dorrien-Smith, E. P.	246
Dorward, A. R. F.	15
Douglas, H. E. M.	135
Douglas, J. S. G.	143
Douglas, S. W.	213
Douglas, W.	107
Douglas, W. C.	289
Douie, F. McCrone	421
Dove, F. A.	138
Dowden, C. H.	348
Downes, O. C.	415
Downes, W. K.	16
Downing, H. J.	187
Doyle, I. P.	34
Doyle, R. D.	138
D'Oyley-Hughes, G.	418
Drage, W. H.	67
Driscoll, D. P.	145
Drysdale, W.	352
Dugan, W. J.	391
Dugdale, J. G.	271
Dugmore, W. F. B. R.	88
Duka, A. T.	139
Duly, C.	252
Du Maurier, G. L. B.	288
Dun, E. W.	23
Duncan, F. J.	197
Duncan, H. C.	419
Duncan, J.	203
Duncombe, Hon. H. V.	162
Duncombe-Shafto, A.	245
Dundas, L. C.	16
Dundas, P. H.	377
Dunne, J. S.	333
Dunning, H. G.	33
Du Plat-Taylor, St. J. L. H.	177
Durand, H. M.	333
Durnford, J.	17
Dutton, Hon. J. H.	422
Dyer, S. B. B.	312
Dyson, H. Hugo B.	363
Earle, E. G.	360
Earle, H.	22
Earle, M.	206
Earle, R. G.	398
Eassie, F.	267
East, L. W. P.	50
Eastwood, H. de C.	279
Ebeling, G.	428
Eccles, C. J.	356
Eden, W. R.	130
Edlmann, E. E.	73
Edmonds, C. H. K.	350
Edwardes, S. M.	51
Edwards, F. M.	71
Edwards, H.	411
Edwards, H. de B.	157
Edwards, H. D.	411
Edwards, J. B.	54
Edwards, W. F. S.	96
Egerton, A. F.	192
Egerton, C. C.	43
Egerton, W. M.	302
Elderton, F. H.	157
Elger, E. G.	193
Elkan, C. J.	372
Ellershaw, A.	394
Eliott, F. A. H.	321
Eliott-Lockhart, P. C.	90
Elliot, B. N.	430
Elliot, W. G. R.	342
Elliot, W. H. W.	263

Digitized by Google

	PAGE
Elliott, E. L.	21
Ellis, C. R. C.	175
Elwes, L. E. C.	192
Emerson, N. Z.	237
English, F. P.	318
Ensor, H.	242
Escombe, W. M. L.	410
Eustace, A. H.	314
Eustace, C. L. E.	124
Eustace, H. M.	191
Eustace, W. L.	191
Evans, C. R.	375
Evans, C. W. H.	69
Evans, E.	213
Evans, F. H. F.	296
Evans, F. S.	426
Evans, L. P.	410
Evans, W.	214
Evans, W. K.	370
Evatt, J. T.	94
Eveleigh-de-Moleyns, The Hon. F. R. W.	64
Everett, E.	4
Ewald, F. C. T.	371
Ewart, F. R.	129
Ewart, R. H.	52
FAIR, J. G.	283
Fairtlough, E. C. d'H.	67
Fairweather, J. McIntyre	301
Falkner, T. F.	98
Fane, C.	244
Fanshawe, R.	118
Fargus, H.	229
Fargus, N. H. S.	404
Farmar, H. M.	418
Farrar, G. H.	146
Farrar, J. P.	146
Farquhar, F. D.	234
Farquhar, M. G.	150
Fathy Bey	64
Fayle, R. J. L.	108
Feilden, C. W. M.	188
Feilden, G. C.	288
Feilding, G. P. T.	200
Feilding (Viscount)	333
Feltham, J. A. P.	148
Fendall, C. P.	25
Fendall, P. P. W.	321
Fenwick, H. T.	160
Ferguson, H. G. de L.	93
Ferguson, J. D.	87
Ferguson-Davie, A. F.	73
Fergusson, C.	81
Fernyhough, H. C.	215
Ferrers, E. B.	400
Ferrier, J. A.	10
Festing, A. H.	92
Fiaschi, T. H.	138
Fielden, H.	206
Fielding, T. E.	402
Figg, D. W.	409
Finch, H. M.	368
Finch-Hatton, E. H.	208
Finlayson, R. G.	360
Finn, B. S.	421
Firman, R. B.	161
Fiset, M. J. E.	282
Fisher, B. D.	351
Fisher, H.	241
Fisher, J.	72
Fisher, J. L.	316
Fitton, H. G.	62
Fitzgerald, G. A.	199
Fitzgerald, P. D.	133
Fitzherbert, The Rt. Hon. F. E.	179
Fitzwilliam (Earl)	131
Flanagan, E. B.	253
Fleming, C. C.	86
Fletcher, A. F.	387
Fletcher, W.	154
Fletcher, W. A. L.	250
Flint, R. B.	342
Flintoff, T.	260
Foley, F. W.	199
Forbes, A. J.	91
Forbes, D.	273
Forbes, G. S. D.	150
Forbes, H.	251
Forbes Sempill, The Hon. D.	192
Ford, R.	196
Ford, R. W.	108
Ford-Hutchinson, G. H.	82
Forman, A. B.	333
Forrest, C. E.	238
Forrest W.	180
Forster, A. L.	415
Forte, H. A. N.	206
Fortescue, The Hon. C. G.	99
Foss, C. C.	365
Foster, M. A.	187
Foster, W. L.	311
Foulkes, C. H.	378
Fowler, C. A.	323
Fowler, C. H.	146
Fowler, H. G. C.	414
Fowler, F. J.	35
Fowler, J. S.	51
Fox, A. C.	376
Fox, A. M.	238
Fox, C. V.	333
Fox, R. F.	176
Foxcroft, M. C.	309
Francis, S. G.	238
Frankland, A. P.	152
Fraser, H. F.	387
Fraser, I. M.	47
Fraser, N. W.	65
Fraser, P. W. N.	271
Freeman-Mitford, Hon. C. B. O.	355
Freeth, G. H. B.	127
French, A. H.	347
Frere, Sir B. C. A.	28
Freyberg, B. C.	385
Fuhr, R. S. H.	237
Fullbrook-Leggatt, C. St. Q. O.	342
Fuller, R. W.	322
Fullerton, E. J. A.	430
Fulton, H. T.	227
Furse, W. T.	117
GALE, R.	402
Gallagher, A. E.	321
Galloway, L.	319
Galway, H. L.	57
Gamble, R. N.	178
Game, P. W.	388
Gandy, H. G.	398
Gardiner, H.	421
Garland, E. A. C.	109
Garratt, F. S.	111
Garsia, H. G. A.	292
Garvice, C.	236
Gascoigne, E. F. O.	86
Gascoigne, F. R. T.	161
Gatacre, W. F.	30
Gathorne-Hardy, Hon. J. F.	350
Gault, A. H.	381
Gaussen, J. R.	159
Gay, A. W.	176
Geddes, G. W.	386
Geddes, R. J.	164
Gedye, J. B.	300
Gemmill, W	404
Gerard (Lord)	161
Gibb, E.	269 and 433
Gibb, J. H.	166
Gibbons, E. S.	334
Giffard, W. C.	99
Gilbert, A. R.	286
Gilbert, G. E. Ll.	323
Giles, A. E. B.	413
Gillam, W. A.	221
Gilliat, J. B.	224
Gillman, W.	277
Gillson, G.	357
Gilson, C. H.	300
Girdwood, A. C.	219
Girouard, E. P. C.	63
Glanusk (Lord) (see Bailey, The Hon. J. H. R.)	178
Glanville, F.	26
Glasgow, Earl of (see Boyle, P. J.)	430
Glasgow, T. W.	139
Gleichen, Lord A. E. W.	113
Glover, R. F. B.	289
Glubb, F. M.	164
Glyn, G. C.	148
Godden, H. T.	82
Godfrey, C.	259
Godfrey-Faussett, O. G.	198
Godley, H. C.	119
Godman, S. H.	200
Godson-Godson, G.	405
Godwin, C. H.	413
Goff, C. W. T. T.	293
Going, J.	427
Goldie, M. L.	278
Goldney, G. F. B.	388
Golightly, R. E.	24
Goodbody, C. M.	375
Goodwin, P. C. W.	248
Goodwin, T. H. J. C.	71
Goodwyn, H. E.	24
Goodwyn, N. J.	93
Gordon, A. C.	422
Gordon, A. F.	97
Gordon, F.	116
Gordon, H.	365
Gordon, J. H.	20
Gordon, L.	402
Gordon, L. G. F.	117
Gordon, Robert, R.N., R.A.F.	431
Gordon, Robert, Gordon Highlanders	139
Gordon, S. V.	53
Gordon-Gilmour, R.	165
Gore-Browne, G.	50
Gorell-Barnes, C. R.	432
Gorges, E. H.	258
Gorle, H. V.	200
Gorringe, G. F.	63
Goschen, A. A.	253
Gosselin, A. B. R. R.	326
Gosset, F. W.	350
Gough, A. P. G.	177
Goulburn, C. E.	111
Gould, P.	402
Gowans, J.	297
Graham, C. A. L.	353
Graham, C. P.	353
Graham, F.	344
Graham, H. W. G.	32
Graham, J. M. A.	212
Graham-Clarke, L. A.	222
Grahame, J. C.	277
Grant, A.	271
Grant, A. S.	306
Grant, C. J. C.	351
Grant, G. P.	276
Grant, J. P.	371
Grant, R. C.	144
Grant, R. F. S.	246
Grattan, O'D. C.	160
Graves, P. H.	297
Gray, F. W. B.	323
Greany, J. W.	421
Green, A. D.	130
Green, A. L.	225
Green, E. W. B.	367
Green, H. E.	216
Green, J. E.	351
Green, T. A.	138
Green, T. H. M.	191
Greener, H.	144
Greenlees, J. R. C.	382
Greenly, W. H.	231
Gregge-Hopwood, E. B. G.	398
Greig, R. H.	240
Grenfell, Hon. J. H. F.	344
Gresson, T. T.	209
Grey, M. S. D. A.	330
Griffin, C. J.	365
Griffin, C. P. G.	158
Griffin, H. L.	198
Griffith, A. L. P.	342
Griffith, C. R. J.	194
Griffith, D. M.	388
Griffith, G. R.	60
Grimshaw, C. T. W.	302
Grove, A. S.	28
Grove, E. W.	207
Groves-Raines, R. G. D.	398
Grubb, A. H. W.	270
Gubbins, R. R.	205
Guinness, P. W.	346
Gunner, F. H.	334
Gurdon, B. E. M.	51
Gurney, T. C.	355
Gwynn, C. W.	49
Gwynn, K. D. H.	424
HADOW, R. C.	54
Haggard, A. C. P.	10
Haig, R. C.	373
Haining, R. H.	391
Halahan, H. C.	430
Haldane, J. A. L.	70
Hale, C. H.	64
Hale, G. E.	45
Hall, G. C. M.	87
Hall, H. G. K.	48
Hall, M. H.	180
Hall, P. B.	311
Hall-Dempster, R. H. (surname changed from Hall)	160
Hamerton, A. E.	315
Hamilton, A.	419
Hamilton, C.	150
Hamilton, Lord C. N.	334
Hamilton, C. S. P.	424
Hamilton, G. C.	398
Hamilton, H. I. W.	81
Hamilton, I. S. M.	39
Hamilton, J. G. H.	210
Hamilton, J. W.	81
Hamilton, K. R.	209
Hamilton, L. H. K.	418
Hamilton, W. G.	54
Hamilton-Bowen, A. J.	409
Hamilton-Campbell, W. K.	281
Hamilton-Temple-Blackwood, Lord F. T.	243
Hammond, A. G.	32
Hamond, P.	310
Hanbury, P. L.	415
Hanbury-Sparrow, A. A.	334
Hancock, R. E.	334
Hannyngton, J. A.	405
Harbord, E. R.	220
Hardcastle, R. N.	239
Harding, G.	374
Harding Newman, E.	394
Hardinge, Hon. E. C.	326
Hare, R. H.	266
Hare, R. W.	230
Hare-Bowers, D. A.	308
Hargreaves, A. K.	373
Harington, C. H.	128
Harington, F. J.	348
Harington, H. D.	383
Harington, J.	402
Harley, H. K.	52
Harman, G. M. N.	276
Harman, R.	44
Harper, G. M.	190
Harris, A. E. F.	400
Harris, C. B. M.	314
Harris, O. M.	357
Harris-St. John, C. E.	243
Harrison, E. G.	88
Harrison, E. S. E.	118
Harrison, L. W.	375
Harrison, T. E.	182
Harrison-Topham, T.	46
Hart, H. E.	385
Hart-Synnot, A. H. S.	126
Hart-Synnot, R. V. O.	248
Harvey, J.	421
Harvey, J. J.	34
Harvey, J. R.	260
Harvey, R.	44
Harvey, R. N.	125
Harvey, W. L.	163
Harvey-Kelly, H. D.	355
Hastings, E. S.	23
Hastings, W. C. N.	294
Hatchell, H. M.	162
Haughton, H. W.	291
Hawes, A. J. D.	31
Hawker, L. G.	383
Haworth, R.	386
Hayden, F. A.	169
Haydon White, H. B.	340
Hayes, A. E.	33
Haymes, R. L.	394
Hayter, R. J. F.	388
Haywood, A. H. W.	394
Headlam, H. R.	391
Headlam, J. E. W.	117
Heane, J.	385
Heard, H. L. P.	411
Heath, G. M.	116
Heath, R. M.	296
Heathcote, C. E.	369
Heberden, G. A.	147
Hely-Hutchinson, R. G.	399

Digitized by Google

	PAGE
Henderson, D.	279
Henderson, F. B.	67
Heneage, A. R.	167
Heneage, Hon. H. G.	285
Henegan, J.	48
Heneker, W. C. G.	277
Hennell, R.	21
Hepburn, W. C.	416
Hepburn - Stuart - Forbes - Trefusis, Hon. J. F.	362
Hepper, A. J.	6
Herapath, E.	164
Herbert, C.	53
Herbert, G.	417
Heriot, G. Mackay	324
Heriot-Maitland, J. D.	127
Herring-Cooper, W. W.	308
Hesketh, J. A.	415
Heugh, J. G.	49
Hewitt, Hon. A. R.	327
Heygate, R. H. G.	59
Heyland, A. K.	403
Heyworth, F. J.	176
Hibbert, G. L.	176
Hickey, D. A.	308
Hickley, J. D.	49
Hickman, T. E.	33
Hickson, S. A. E.	23
Higgins, J. F. A.	235
Higginson, C. P.	123
Hildebrand, A. B. R.	361
Hildyard, R. J. T.	391
Hill, C. G.	230
Hill, H.	388
Hill, F. F.	112
Hill, F. W. R.	232
Hill, J.	90
Hill-Dillon, S. S.	372
Hilliard, M. A.	137
Hine-Haycock, V. R.	214
Hobart, C. V. C.	68
Hobbs, R. F. A.	271
Hobson, G. W.	356
Hodgkin, H. S.	393
Hodgson, G. C.	317
Hodson, G. B.	276
Hogg, I. G.	317
Holbrooke, P. L.	361
Holden, E. C. S.	225
Holford, C. F.	272
Holford, J. H. E.	95
Holland, A. E. A.	112
Holland, G. E.	38
Holland, L.	391
Holman, H. C.	255
Holman, R. C.	299
Holmden, F. A. A.	144
Holmes, W.	137
Holmes, W. D.	432
Holt, F. V.	349
Holt, M. P. C.	282
Holt-Wilson, E. E. B.	237
Home, A. F.	351
Home, R. E.	292
Hood, Hon. H. L.	313
Hook, G. B.	148
Hooper, A. W.	126
Hooper, R. G.	136
Hope, J. W.	394
Hopkinson, E.	224
Hore-Ruthven, Hon. C. M.	306
Hore-Ruthven, Hon. W. P. (Master of Ruthven)	208
Hornby, C. B.	355
Hornby, M. L.	53
Horsfall, A. H.	252
Horton, J. H.	315
Horton, M. K.	329
Hoskins, A. R.	283
Hoskyns, H. C. W.	364
Howard, A. L.	183
Howard, F. G.	361
Howard, G. R.	327
Howard, G. W.	304
Howard, T. W. J. W.	151
Howard-Vyse, R. G. H.	392
Howell, H. de B.	177
Howell, H. G.	395
Howell, W. R.	93 and 433
Howell-Jones, J. H.	428
Howley, J. J.	199
Hudson, C.	315
Huggins, H. W.	334
Huggins, P. G.	25
Hughes, A. M.	299
Hughes, G. A.	78
Hughes, G. B.	405
Hughes, G. W. G.	422
Hughes, J. G.	139
Hughes-Hallett, J. W.	53
Hugo, J. H.	74
Humby, J. F.	297
Hume, C. V.	111
Hume-Spry, L.	128
Humphreys, D. W. H.	316
Humphreys, G.	177
Humphris, J. F.	139
Hunt, F. E.	153
Hunt, G. P. E.	94
Hunter, A.	7
Hunter, C. G. W.	383
Hunter, G. D.	59
Hunter-Weston, A.	102
Huntington, A.	223
Hutchens, H. J.	299
Hutchinson, H. M.	237
Hutchison, R.	388
Huth, P. C.	272
Hutton, G. M.	123
Hyslop, H. H. G.	373
Hyslop, J.	151
Ilderton, C. E.	28
Ing, G. H. A.	407
Ingham, J. P. M.	408
Inglefield, F. S.	100
Inglefield, L. D.	405
Inglefield, N. B.	261
Ingouville-Williams, E. C.	115
Innes, J. A.	134
Innes-Ker, Lord A. R.	335
Ironside, W. E.	388
Irvine, F. S.	389
Irving, L. E. W.	142
Isaac, J. E. V.	335
Islington (Lord) (see Dickson-Poynder, Sir P. J.)	249
Ives, C. M.	140
Jackson, G. H. N.	247
Jackson, H. K.	110
Jackson, J. E.	147
Jackson, S. C. F.	34
Jackson, T. D.	293
Jacob, A. Le G.	75
James, A. H. C.	352
Janvrin, R. B.	411
Jardine, C. A.	331
Jardine, J. B.	226
Jardine, W.	300
Jarrett, A. V.	401
Jebb, G. D.	294
Jebb, J. H. M.	214
Jeffcoat, A. C.	235
Jeffcoat, H. J. P.	215
Jelf, R. G.	370
Jelf, W. W.	357
Jenkins, E. V.	245
Jenkins, F.	298
Jenkinson, G. S. C.	182
Jenner, A. V.	30
Jennings, J. W.	90
Jervis, Hon. St. L. H.	120
Johnson, A. E.	299
Johnson, C. R.	303
Johnson, D. G.	379
Johnson, F. E.	157
Johnson, H. C.	245
Johnson, R. B.	269
Johnson, R. H.	389
Johnston, H. J.	290
Johnston, R. H.	364
Johnstone, F. B.	175
Johnstone, M. G.	179
Joly de Lotbinière, H. G.	287
Jones, F. A.	235
Jones, H. J.	51
Jones, L. O. W.	400
Jones, Ll. M.	212
Jones, K. W.	416
Jones, W. Ll.	325
Jones, W. T. C.	94
Jordan, R. P.	207
Jourdain, C. E. A.	194
Judge, S. F.	33
Kane, R. R. G.	428
Karslake, H.	272
Kavanagh, C. T. McMurrough	280
Kay, W. A. I.	327
Kearsey, A. H. C.	246
Kearsley, E. R.	424
Kearsley, R. H.	350
Keary, H. D'U.	45
Keenan, C. B.	142
Keene, A.	22
Keighley, C. M.	32
Keith, J.	44
Kelburn, Viscount (see Boyle, P. J.)	430
Keller, R. H.	218
Kelly, J. A. M. J. P.	302
Kelly, O. W.	309
Kelly, P. B.	412
Kelly, R. M. B. F.	108
Kemball, G. V.	258
Kemmis Betty, H.	405
Kemmis Betty, P.	397
Kempster, F. J.	19
Kendall, C. J. C.	313
Kenna, P. A.	265
Kennard, A. M.	198
Kennard, F.	87
Kennard, W. A.	377
Kennedy, M. A. C.	325
Kennedy, M. R.	88
Kennedy-Crauford-Stuart, C.	429
Kenney, A. H.	100
Kenrick, G. E. R.	129
Kensington, Lord	239
Kentish, R. J.	331
Keppel, C. R.	67
Ker, C. A.	94
Kerr, C. L.	406
Kerr, F. R.	424
Kerr, F. W.	57
Kerry, Earl of	131
Kersey, H. M.	291
Keyes, A. St. V.	412
Kilner, C. F.	349
Kimber, E. G.	409
Kincaid-Smith, K. J.	214
King, A. D'A.	116
King, A. J.	115
King, E. R.	148
King, H. D.	429
King, W. B. M.	406
King-King, J. G.	168
Kington, W. M.	302
Kino, A. R.	399
Kinsman, G. R. V.	395
Kinsman, W. A. C.	307
Kirby, M. T. A.	140
Kirkby, H. A.	427
Kirkpatrick, H. J.	271
Kirkpatrick, H. P.	283
Kirkpatrick, R. T.	68
Kirkpatrick, W.	275
Kirkwood, C. H. M.	176
Knatchbull, R. N.	215
Knight, J. P.	335
Knight, W. C.	286
Knowles, G.	278
Knox, A. R.	176
Knox, R. W.	419
Kreyer, H. S.	335
Lafone, C. A.	348
Laing, J.	300
Lainson, A. J.	200
Lakin, M. L.	393
Lamb, A. J. R.	325
Lamb, C.	335
Lambarde, F. F.	389
Lambart, R.	346
Lambert, R.	218
Lambert, W. M.	17
Lambton, Hon. C.	79
Lambton, G. C.	217
Lambton, Hon. Wm.	113
Laming, H. T.	169
Lamport, W.	28
Lang, E. C.	379
Langford, C.	251
Langford, M. H.	413
Langhorne, A. P. Y.	324
Langhorne, J. A. D.	419
Langley, E. J. F.	154
Lascelles, W. C.	197
Lashmore, H.	413
Laurie, C. V. E.	179
Lawrence, F. G.	270
Lawrence, F. R.	91
Lawrence, G. A. K.	426
Lawrence, W. L.	342
Lawrie, C. E.	79
Laws, H. W.	429
Lawson, The Hon. W. A. W.	182
Lawton, T. E.	282
Laycock, J. F.	221
Layton, E.	193
Leach, H. P.	42
Leath, B. H.	399
Leatham, B. H.	399
Leatham, R. E. K.	362
Leckie, J. E.	142
Leckie, M.	342
Lecky, F. B.	110
Lee, G. L.	183
Lee-Warner, H. G.	410
Lees, Sir E., Bart.	223
Lees, R. L.	421
Lefroy, B. P.	254
Legge, N.	59
Leggett, A. H.	241
Leggett, E. H. G.	395
Leggett, E. H. M.	226
Le Grave, W.	279
Leigh, C.	233
Leigh-Bennett, A.	378
Leland, H. J. C.	97
Le Marchant, L. St. G.	195
Le Mottee, E. D'A.	229
Lemprière, H. A.	199
Lendy, E. A. A.	36
Le Roy-Lewis, H.	162
Leslie, G.	274
Lester, A. E.	413
Lethbridge, E. A. E.	191
Leuchars, G.	320
Lewin, A. C.	293
Leveson, C. H.	325
Lewes, P. V.	48
Lewin, A. C.	293
Lewis, B. G.	163
Lewis, D. S.	346
Lewis, F.	422
Lewis, R. C.	140
Lichtenburg, J. W.	254
Liddell, C. G.	392
Liddell, G. W.	374
Lilley, J. L.	140
Lilly, C. O.	368
Lindsay, W. F. L.	102
Lister, F. A.	406
Lister, Hon. T.	271
Lithgow, S. A.	2
Little, A. C.	357
Liveing, C. H.	342
Livesay, R. O'H.	270
Livingstone-Learmonth, F. V. C.	138
Livingstone-Learmonth, J. E. C.	359
Llewellyn, H.	144
Lloyd, A. A.	192
Lloyd, F.	78
Lloyd, G. E.	7
Lloyd, H. G.	358
Lloyd, H. W.	428
Lloyd, H. W. C.	336
Lloyd, L. N.	243
Lloyd-Jones, P. A.	402
Loch, The Hon. E. D. (now Lord Loch)	86
Loch, S. G.	255
Lockett, W. J.	217
Lockyer, E. L. B.	347
Lodwick, J. T.	384
Logan, E. T.	152
Lomas, E. C.	153
Long, A.	118
Long, W.	295
Longbourne, F. C.	363
Longden, A. E.	117
Longmore, J. C. G.	374
Longridge, T.	187
Loomis, F. O. W.	405
Lorenzo, F. M. de F.	428

Digitized by Google

	PAGE
Lovat, Lord	182
Low, C. J.	424
Low, R. B.	56
Lowe, A. C.	248
Lowe, S. J.	423
Lowther, H. C.	205
Lowther-Crofton, E. G.	95
Luard, A. J. H.	178
Luard, C. E.	97
Luard, E. B.	370
Lucas, F. G.	72
Lucas-Tooth, D. K. L.	342
Luckock, R. M.	414
Lugard, E. J.	37
Lugard, F. J. D.	23
Luke, T. M.	316
Lukin, H. T.	144
Lukin, R. C. W.	389
Lultman-Johnson, F.	181
Lye, R. C.	316
Lyle, H. T.	24
Lyle, J. C. V.	309
Lynch-Staunton, R. K.	389
Lyon, F.	125
MABERLY, C. E.	100
Macalpine-Leny, W. H.	378
Macandrew, H.	151
Macandrew, H. J. M.	124
McBarnet, A. E.	275
Macbean, J. A. E.	84
MacBrien, J. H.	406
McClintock, A.	258
McClintock, R. L.	132
McConnel, J. K.	336
M'Cormick, H. B.	315
McCormick, J.	308
McCracken, F. W. N.	280
McCulloch, R. H. F.	65
McCuaig, D. R.	406
M'Donald, A. W.	269
Macdonald, H. A.	36
Macdonald, K.	205
Macdonald, P.	299
Macdonald, R. P.	34
Macdonell, A. C.	141
Macdonell, A. H.	226
Macdonell, I. H.	320
M'Douall, R.	209
Macfarlane, D. A.	168
Macfarlane, S. C.	308
Macgregor, C. R.	33
Macgregor, P. A.	239
MacGregor, W. W.	424
McHardy, A. A.	125
McIlree, J. R.	432
Macinnes, D. S.	131
Mackay, H. B.	32
Mackenzie, C.	95
Mackenzie, E. L.	204
Mackenzie, G. D.	74
Mackenzie, I. R.	274
Mackenzie, T. C.	296
Mackey, H. J. A.	395
Mackie, E. F.	142
Mackie, J.	179
M'Killip, T. H.	406
Mackinnon, H. W. A.	16
Mackworth, H. Ll.	252
Maclachlan, A. F. C.	306
M'Lagan, D. C.	419
Maclaren, K.	187
McLaughlin, H. J.	260
Maclaverty, C. F. S.	395
McLean, A. A.	225
McLean, C. W. W.	423
MacLean, D. C. H.	293
MacLean, H. D. N.	217
Maclear, H.	404
MacLeod, C. W.	389
McLeod, D.	425
M'Leod, D. J. S.	20
McLeod, R. G. McQ.	110
M'Loughlin, G. S.	87
McLoughlin, M. W.	300
M'Mahon, Sir H. W.	64
M'Mahon, N. R.	123
McMicking, H.	196
Macmillan, A.	300
Macmillan, C. C.	95
Macmullen, C. N.	419
MacMunn, G. F.	46
M'Murdo, A. M.	33
Macnaghten, E. B.	377
McNeill, M.	259
McNicoll, W. R.	385
Maconchy, E. W. S. K.	44
Maconchy, F. C.	208
Macphail, A.	406
Macpherson, J.	256
Macquoid, C. E. E. F. K.	72
Macready, J.	365
McSheehy, O. W.	403
McSwiney, E. F. H.	26
McVean, D. A. D.	276
Madden, G. C.	46
Magniac, H.	152
Mahon, B. T.	59
Mahon, Sir W. H., Bart.	179
Main, F. M.	411
Mair, G. T.	320
Mairis, G. B. de M.	292
Maitland-Dougall, W. E.	336
Major, T. C.	138
Majoribanks, The Hon. D. C.	231
Makin, E. Ll.	401
Makins, E.	292
Malcolm, H. H. L.	110
Malcolm, J. A.	309
Malcolm, N.	88
Malcolm, P.	275
Mallinson, H.	406
Mallock, T. R.	433
Mance, H. O.	302
Mangles, R. H.	295
Mangles, W. J.	192
Manners, Lord R. W. O.	126
Mansbridge, W. O.	385
Mansel, A.	43
Mansel, G. C.	116
Mansel-Jones, C.	392
Mansfield, W. H. C.	355
Mantell, P. R.	178
Mapplebeck, G. W.	355
March, Earl of (see Settrington, Lord)	136
Marden, A. W.	286
Margetts, C. F. M.	342
Marix, R. L. G.	330
Marjoribanks, Hon. D. C.	231
Marker, R. J.	151
Marks, C. L.	224
Marriott, J.	188
Marriott, R. A.	8
Marriott, R. G. A.	196
Marsden, G.	149
Marsh, C. H.	136
Marshall, A.	407
Marshall, W. R.	406
Martin, C. G.	327
Martin, J. H.	38
Martin, J. McC.	66
Martin, K. J.	336
Martin, N.	432
Marton, R. O.	210
Martyr, C. G.	59
Mason, A. H.	44
Mason, J. C.	252
Mason, P. G.	407
Massereene & Ferrard, Viscount (see Skeffington, The Hon. A. W. J. C.)	217
Massie, J. H.	267
Master, A. G.	374
Matcham, W. E.	193
Mathew, C. M.	83
Mathias, G. M.	273
Mathias, H. B.	82
Matthews, F. B.	108
Matthews, H. H.	406
Maturin, R. G.	257
Maud, C. C.	319
Maude, F. S.	169
Maurice, D. B.	210
Maxse, F. I.	80
Maxwell, D. L.	273
Maxwell, F. A.	74
Maxwell, Hon. H. E.	163
Maxwell, J. G.	11
Maxwell, W. F.	407
Maxwell-Scott, W. J.	352
May, J. C.	236
Maycock, F. W. O.	321
Maynard, C. C. M.	126
Mayne, C. R. G.	278
Meade, Hon. H.	329
Meares, A.	302
Meeson, E. H. T.	347
Meiklejohn, R. F.	215
Mellor, W.	412
Menzies, A. J. A.	425
Menzies, S. G.	336
Merrick, G. C.	318
Merriman, R. G.	46
Metcalfe, C. P.	412
Metcalfe, S. F.	358
Micklem, H. A.	85
Middleton, F. B.	20
Middleton, J. R.	412
Midgley, S.	300
Midwinter, E. C.	86
Milford, A.	146
Milne, G. F.	263
Milne, R. L.	16
Milner, G. F.	279
Milner, M. H.	251
Miller, A. D.	266
Miller, E. D.	222
Miller, H. de B.	233
Miller, Sir J. P.	223
Miller-Wallnutt, C. C.	69
Mills, The Hon. E. J.	224
Minchin, C. F.	120
Minshull-Ford, F. J.	143
Mitchell, F. H.	429
Mitchell, W. E. C.	145
Mitford, B. R.	98
Moberly, B. R.	420
Moberly, F. J.	47
Moffitt, F. W.	368
Moir, J. P.	228
Molesworth, E. A.	418
Molony, T. C. W.	202
Molyneux, E. M. J.	124
Molyneux-Seel, E. H.	190
Money, G. L. C.	6
Money, N. E.	222
Montague-Douglas-Scott, Lord F. G.	336
Montague-Douglas-Scott, Lord H. A.	137
Monteith, H. G.	417
Montgomery, B. L.	336
Montgomery, F. C.	274
Montgomery, R. A. K.	175
Moore, A.	304
Moore, C. D. H.	352
Moore, C. H. G.	316
Moore, E. H.	380
Moore, F.	418
Moore, H. T. G.	362
Moore, T. M.	138
Moore, W. H.	292
Moores, C. F.	215
Moorhouse, H. C.	319
More-Molyneux, G. H.	89
Morgan, A. H.	49
Morgan, C. B.	93
Morgan, H. G.	60
Morgan, M. H. Ll.	420
Morison, F.	414
Morland, T. L. N.	258
Morrice, L. E.	175
Morris, A. H.	37
Morrison, E. W. B.	252
Morse, F. A.	27
Morse, J. A. V.	412
Mortimore, C. R.	400
Moss-Blundell, B. S.	365
Mossop, J. U.	273
Moulton-Barrett, E. M.	399
Mowbray, J. L.	389
Muirhead, M.	360
Mulholland, Hon. C. H. G.	355
Mullaly, A.	315
Munn, F. H.	260
Munster, Earl of (see Tewkesbury, Lord, G. G. G.)	219
Murphy, W. R.	37
Murray, A.	31
Murray, A. J.	101
Murray, E. R.	223
Murray, F.	315
Murray, J. T. C.	368
Murray, K. D.	4
Murray, W. F.	148
Murray, W. G.	282
Musgrave, H.	354
NAISMITH, W. J.	223
Napier, V. M. C.	395
Nash, J. F. P.	414
Nash, W. F.	115
Nason, F. J.	90
Nason, H. H. W.	164
Neal, H. V. McC.	95
Neilson, W. G.	244
Nelson, C.	356
Nesbitt, C. W.	148
Nevill, H. L.	247
Neville, W. C.	165
Newbigging, W. P. E.	204
Newcome, H. W.	381
Newland, A. E.	360
Newman, E. H.	394
Nicholl, C. E.	260
Nicholl, D. F.	211
Nicholson, B.	309
Nicholson, E. H. M.	86
Nicholson, L. C.	337
Nicholson, J. S.	64
Nicholson, O. H. L.	239
Nicklin, W.	18
Nicol, A. G. B.	273
Nicol, W. E.	381
Nightingale, M. R. W.	413
Nolan-Neylan, J.	183
Norie, C. E. de M.	262
Norie, F. H.	377
Norman, M. C.	220
Normand, P. H.	146
Norrington, H. L. W.	375
Norris, R. J.	46
North, O. H.	392
Northey, W.	133
Norton, A. E. M.	225
Nugent, O. S. W.	54
Nunburnholme (Lord) (see Wilson, The Hon. C. H. W.)	251
Nunn, J. A.	38
Nunn, T. H. C.	296
Nunn, W.	380
O'BRIEN, Hon. M.	195
Odlum, V. W.	431
O'Donnell, H.	34
O'Donnell, T. J.	108
O'Farrell, M.	291
Ogilvy, A. H. R.	187
Ogilvy, J. H. C.	142
Ogilvy, Hon. L. G. S.	143
O'Gorman, C. J.	234
O'Grady-Haly, R. H.	31
Ogston, C.	392
O'Hara, H. D.	386
O'Kelly, H. K.	343
Oldfield, L. C. J.	383
Oldman, R. D. F.	319
Ollivant, J. S.	215
Olliver, S. A.	141
O'Malley, C. E. J. G.	96
O'Meara, B. E. A.	147
O'Neill, E. J.	385
O'Neill, W. H. S.	108
Oppenheim, A. C.	370
Ormsby, G. J. A.	376
Orr, A. S.	177
Orr, J. B.	231
Orr, M. H.	288
Orr-Ewing, Sir N. A., Bart.	337
Osborn, P. B.	88
Osborne, E. A.	337
Osborne, H. P.	370
Oswald, W. D.	309
Ottley, G. C. L.	348
Ottley, G. F.	262
Ouseley, R. G.	119
Outram, E.	411
Owen, C. S.	399
Owen, E. R.	50
Owen-Lewis, A. F.	226
Owen-Lewis, C. A.	292
PACKARD, H. N.	358
Pagan, A. W.	432
Page, F.	405
Paget, H.	160
Paine, A. I.	293

Digitized by Google

	PAGE
Paine, J. H.	75
Pakenham, G. de la P. B.	353
Paley, A. T.	389
Palk, Hon. L. C. W.	367
Palmer, A. P.	251
Palmer, C. E.	319
Palmes, G. B.	381
Palmes, G. C.	162
Palmes, G. L.	200
Panet, H. A.	142
Pardoe, F. L.	337
Pares, B.	393
Park, M. E.	426
Parker, F. M. W.	140
Parker, R. G.	363
Parker-Jervis, W. S. W.	401
Parks, J. H.	406
Parry, H. J.	188
Parry, Ll. E. S.	223
Parry, R. G.	413
Parsons, A. W.	356
Parsons, F. G.	179
Paterson, E.	228
Paterson, P. J.	359
Paton, I. V.	233
Patterson, J. H.	251
Patterson, N.	272
Patterson, T. W.	20
Paul, J. R. A. H.	295
Payne, R. L.	373
Payne, R. Ll.	16
Paynter, G. C. B.	337
Peake, W. A.	224
Pearse, H. W.	161
Peebles, A. S.	232
Peebles, E. C.	193
Peel, E. J. R.	358
Peirse, R. E. C.	380
Pell, B. T.	158
Pelly, J. S.	164
Pendavis, H. V.	338
Pennycuick, J. A. C.	343
Penton, R. H.	59
Pepys, F.	338
Pepys, G. L.	420
Percival, A. J. B.	213
Percival, C. J.	265
Percival, E. M.	112
Percival, H. F. P.	274
Percy-Smith, D. C.	247
Pereira, G. E.	158
Perkins, A. E.	138
Perkins, A. T.	297
Perkins, J. C. C.	266
Perkins, R.	140
Perkins, R. C.	143
Perry, A. C.	224
Peters, F. T.	379
Peterson, F. H.	52
Petrie, C. L. R.	258
Peyton, W. E.	83
Philby, H. P.	416
Philipps, I.	158
Philips, L. F.	370
Phillimore, V. E. B.	95
Phillips, E. H.	96 and 433
Phillips, G. E.	258
Phillips, G. F.	392
Phillips, H. C. B.	270
Phillips, H. J. V.	220
Phillpotts, L. M.	212
Pickering, W.	226
Pigott, C. B.	28
Pigott, G. E.	85
Pilcher, E. M.	193
Pilkington, F. C.	356
Pilleau, H. C.	196
Pilson, A. F.	167
Pine-Coffin, J. E.	202
Pike, W. W.	108
Pink, F. J.	34
Pirie, A. M.	84
Pitt-Taylor, W. W.	306
Place, C. O.	302
Platt, W.	324
Playne, B. A.	418
Pleydell-Railston, H. G. M.	408
Poe, J.	402
Pollard, G. C.	380
Pollard, W. A.	301
Pollok-Morris, W. P. M.	285
Polson, D.	138
Ponsonby, J.	203
Ponsonby, W. R.	151
Poole, F. C.	292
Poole, F. G.	158
Poore, R. A.	249
Poore, R. M.	112
Pope-Hennessey, G.	145
Pope-Hennessey, L. H. R.	321
Popham, G. L.	423
Popham, R. S.	306
Portal, B. P.	283
Porteous, D. MacD.	382
Porter, F. J. W.	189
Porter, H. A.	317
Porter, R. W.	163
Potter, H. B.	419
Potts, E. T.	376
Powell, A. Ff.	166
Powell, E. W. M.	210
Powell, H. G.	417
Power, W. S.	250
Poynter, A. V.	223
Poyser, R.	53
Pragnell, G. S. T.	406
Pratt, E. St. G.	286
Pratt, G. McD.	415
Pratt, H. R. E.	74
Pratt, M.	268
Prescott, J. J. W.	135
Presgrave, E. R. J.	50
Preston, J. E.	16
Pretyman, G. F.	380
Price, B. G.	206
Price, C. H. U.	92
Price, C. L.	241
Price-Davies, Ll. A. E.	136
Prichard, C. S.	265
Prickett, C. H.	362
Pringle, R.	281
Prior, J. H.	248
Prior, M.	143
Pritchard, H. L.	85
Probyn, P. J.	125
Puckle, J.	207
Pugh, H. O.	147
Pullman, A. H.	425
Pulteney, W. P.	58
Purcell, J. F.	254
Pusch, F. L.	426
QUEEN, H.M. THE	2
Quayle-Dickson, J.	299
Quéripel, L. H.	420
Quirk, J. O.	6
RADCLYFFE, C. E.	123
Radcliffe, J. F.	201
Radcliffe, N. R.	267
Radford, M. C.	410
Radwan Hassan Bey	14
Radwan Said	14
Railston H. G. M. (surname changed to Pleydell-Railston)	408
Rait-Kerr, W. C.	338
Ramsbotham, J. B.	301
Ramsden, J. V.	396
Rankin, C. H.	210
Rankine, R.	386
Rasch, G. E. C.	362
Rattray, H. B.	74
Rattray, P. M.	301
Ravenhill, E. E.	318
Raw, R. G.	310
Rawlins, A. K.	73
Rawlins, S. W. H.	352
Rawlinson, S. R.	21
Rawnsley, C.	281
Rawson, C. D.	414
Ray, MacCarthy R. E.	316
Raynham, E. F.	147
Reade, R. E.	136
Ready, F. F.	227
Reddie, A. J.	404
Rees, H. C.	328
Reeves, P. E. S.	289
Reid, A.	225
Reid, D. E.	139
Reid, E. R.	259
Reid, H. A.	153
Reid, W. R.	353
Rennie, G. A. P.	232
Rennie, J. G.	120
Renny, L. F.	392
Reynolds, P. G.	131
Rhodes, E.	10
Rhodes, F. W.	39
Ricardo, A. St. Q.	199
Richards, B. O.	216
Richards, O.	403
Richards, S.	147
Richardson, F. J.	198
Richardson, J.	188
Richardson-Griffiths, C. du P.	164
Richey, G. H. M.	147
Rickman, W. E.	146
Riddell, E. V. D.	396 and 433
Riddell, J. B.	359
Riddell-Webster, T. S.	366
Ridings, C.	386
Riggall, A. H.	140
Riley, H. L.	374
Riley, R. F.	239
Rising, R. E.	328
Ritchie, W. B.	368
Roberts, F. C.	349
Robertson, J.	107
Robertson, W. R.	55
Robinson, F. W. T.	196
Roche, T. H. de M.	66
Rochfort-Boyd, H. C.	359
Rodger, T. H.	145
Roe, C. D.	410
Rogers, F. A.	37
Rogers, G. W.	30
Rogers, J. G.	17
Rogers, J. M.	117
Rolleston, L.	260
Rolling, B. I.	428
Romilly, B. H. S.	304
Romilly, F. H.	384
Romilly, F. W.	11
Ronald, J. J.	425
Rose, F. F.	329
Rose, H. M.	21
Rose, T. A.	278
Ross, A. C.	349
Ross, C. (Norfolk Regt.)	122
Ross, C. (Roberts's Horse)	148
Ross, H. A.	423
Ross, H. F. C.	273
Ross-Johnson, C. M.	288
Roth, R. E.	137
Roupell, E. P. S.	96
Rouse, H.	285
Rowan, P. S.	370
Rowand, A.	311
Rowe, W.	411
Rowcroft, E. C.	158
Rowcroft, G. F.	89
Rowley, C. A.	253
Roy, J. E. G.	145
Royle, H. L. F.	47
Royston, J. R.	256
Ruck-Keene, H. L.	125
Rudkin, W. C. E.	321
Rundall, F. M.	44
Rundle, H. M. L.	18
Rundle, W. J. S.	246
Russell, Hon. B. J.	407
Russell, H. D.	93
Russell, J. R.	338
Russell, R. E. M.	420
Rutherford, J. B.	147
Rutherford, N. J. C.	376
Ryan, C. M.	119
Ryan, D. G. J.	414
Ryan, G. J.	240
Ryder, C. H. D.	319
Rynd, F. F.	253
SACKVILLE, L. C. S.	417
Sadleir-Jackson, L. W. de V.	247
St. Leger, H. H.	3
Salmon, G. N.	373
Salmon, H. M. B.	379
Salmond, J. M.	354
Sampson, G. E.	338
Sampson, P.	338
Samson, C. R.	329
Sandbach, A. E.	98
Sanders, G. E.	183
Sanders, G. H.	358
Sandford, F. H.	412
Sandilands, J. W.	293
Sandys, E. S.	361
Sangmeister, F. A. W.	312
Sankey, C. E. P.	398
Sapte, F.	188
Sargent, H. N.	262
Sasse, C. D.	421
Saunders, C.	368
Saunders, E. A.	216
Saunders, E. H.	245
Saunders, F. J.	154
Saunders, G. F. C.	203
Saunders-Knox-Gore, W. A. C.	381
Savage, M. B.	368
Savage-Armstrong, F. S. N.	400
Savile, G. W. W.	117
Savile, W. C.	109
Sawyer, H. T.	350
Sayer, A. P.	429
Scaife, G. S. G.	57
Scallon, R. I.	29
Scarlett, J. A.	389
Schleswig-Holstein, H.H. Prince C. V.	155
Schofield, H. N.	117
Schreiber, A. L.	191
Schreiber, E. C. A.	338
Sclater-Booth, Hon. W. D.	357
Scott, A. B.	280
Scott, A. H.	422
Scott, C. B.	400
Scott, D. A.	5
Scott, Lord F. G. Montague-Douglas-	336
Scott, G. B.	420
Scott, G. J.	224
Scott, Harvey	182
Scott, Lord H. A. Montague-Douglas-	137
Scott, H. St. G. S.	420
Scott, J. M.	411
Scott, R. G.	185
Scott, R. K.	267
Scott, T. E.	66
Scott, W.	301
Scott-Kerr, R.	166
Scratchley, V. H. S.	127
Scudamore, C. P.	29
Seccombe, A. K.	264
Seckham, B. T.	180
Seely, J. E. B.	222
Segrave, O'N.	290
Segrave, W. H. E.	89
Selby, W.	72
Sell, E. C.	270
Sergison-Brooke, B. N.	352
Seton-Browne, C. L. S.	66
Settle, H. H.	42
Settrington (Lord)	136
Sewell, H. S.	393
Seymour, A. G.	430
Shakerley, G. C.	314
Shakespear, J.	37
Sharp, F. W.	289
Shaw, C. A.	157
Shaw, E. W.	379
Shaw, Sir F. W., Bart.	181
Shaw-Stewart, H. M.	211
Shea, J. S. Mackenzie	159
Shearer, J.	69
Sheepshanks, A. C.	416
Sheepshanks, R. H.	420
Shelton, W. A. D.	289
Shephard, C. S.	22
Shepherd, C. H.	34
Sheppard, P.	160
Sheppard, S. G.	272
Sheppard, S. H.	275
Sherborne (Lord) (see Dutton, The Hon. J. H.)	422
Sheringham, A. T.	403
Sherston, J.	22
Sherston, W. M.	131
Shewan, H. M.	208
Shirres, J. C.	54
Shone, W. T.	22
Shore, O. B. S. F.	168
Short, P. H.	320
Shortland, H. V.	96
Shott, H. H.	273
Shoubridge, T. H.	74
Shute, H. G. D.	111
Shuter, R. G.	294

Digitized by Google

	PAGE
Sidgwick, C. K. D.	308
Silburn, P. A. B.	273
Sims, R. F. Manley	244
Sinclair, A. L.	24
Sinclair, Sir J. R. G., Bart.	224
Sinclair-Maclagan, E. G.	202
Sinclair-Thompson, A. E. M.	427
Singer, C. W.	361
Singleton, H. T. C.	268
Singleton, M.	417
Sippe, S. V.	347
Sitwell, C. G. H.	87
Sitwell, W. H.	98
Skeen, O. St. J.	420
Skene, A.	22
Skene, C. McD.	20
Skeffington, Hon. A. W. J. C.	217
Skeffington-Smyth, G. H. J.	230
Sketchley, E. F. P.	417
Skinner, G. J.	36
Skinner, J. T.	4
Sladen, D. R.	72
Slater, S. A.	251
Sloan, J. M.	256
Sloman, H. S.	119
Smith, C. F.	301
Smith, F.	188
Smith, G.	307
Smith, G. B. F.	331
Smith, G. S.	419
Smith, H. Clementi	389
Smith, H. L.	109
Smith, H. Mackenzie	227
Smith, H. P. B.	411
Smith, H. S.	399
Smith, H. W.	133
Smith, J. A. J.	147
Smith, L. K.	241
Smith, S. A.	414
Smith, W. D.	376
Smith, W. H. U.	267
Smith-Bingham, O. B.	154
Smith-Dorrien, H. L.	8
Smitheman, F. J.	148
Smithson, W. C.	165
Smyth, G. B. F.	331
Smyth, G. H. J. S.	230
Smyth, O. S.	15
Smyth, R. N.	288
Smyth-Pigott, J. R. W.	430
Soames, A.	310
Solly-Flood, A.	128
Soltau-Symons, L. C.	401
Somerville, W. A. T. B.	363
Sowerby, H. J.	221
Spedding, C. R.	231
Spencer, A. V.	338
Spong, C. S.	82
Spooner, A. H.	365
Spragge, B. E.	22
Spry, L. Hume	128
Stacpoole, G. W. R.	229
Stafford (Lord) (see Fitzherbert, The Rt. Hon. F. E.)	179
Stairs, H. B.	226
Stanley, Hon. A. F.	339
Stanley, Hon. F. C.	211
Stanley-Clarke, H. C.	394
Stanley-Creek, R. F.	327
Standish, I. T.	421
Standford, W.	282
Stansfeld, T. W.	238
Stansfield, J. R. E.	136
Stanton, F. W. S.	323
Stanton, H. E.	26
Stapleton, J. H.	139
Staughton, S. T.	140
Staveley, R.	343
Stead, A. J.	21
Steel, E. A.	396
Steel, J. E.	310
Steele, F. W.	49
Steinaecker, F. C. L.	274
Stephen, A. A. L.	305
Stephens, F. A.	375
Stephenson, E. S.	144
Stevens, A. B.	428
Stevenson, A. G.	85
Stevenson, E. H.	216
Stevenson, R.	299
Steward, G. R. V.	366
Steward, S. J.	339
Stewart, A. B. A.	207
Stewart, B.	167
Stewart, C. G.	51
Stewart, H. A.	374
Stewart, H. W. V.	339
Stewart, I.	390
Stewart, J. H. K.	390
Stewart, N. St. V. R.	393
Stewart, P. A. V.	399
Stewart, W. E. L.	294
Stirling, Sir G. M. H., Bart.	129
Stirling, J. D.	255
Stirling, J. G.	270
Stirling, W. F.	257
Stobart, G. H.	390
Stockdale, H. E.	357
Stocks, D. de B.	430
Stockwell, C. I.	416
Stockwell, G. C. I.	266
Stokes, A.	111
Stormonth Darling, J. C.	366
Stoney, G. B.	415
Streatfeild, E.	197
Street, A. W. F.	21
Street, E. R.	408
Strick, J. A.	401
Strickland, E. P.	90
Strong, C. P.	233
Stuart, C. Kennedy-Craufurd-	429
Stuart, H. C.	425
Stuart-Wortley, Hon. A. R. Montagu	194
Stuart-Wortley, Hon. E. J. Montagu	78
Studd, H. W.	213
Sturges, C. H. M.	411
Sunderland, M. S. J.	31
Surtees, H. C.	160
Sutherland, H. H.	400
Sutton, A. A.	167
Swanston, C. O.	275
Swayne, C. H.	68
Swayne, O. R.	253
Swettenham, G. K.	195
Swinton, E. D.	204
Sykes, C. H.	425
Sykes, F. B.	427
Sykes, W. A.	22
Symes, G. S.	318
Symons, C. B. O.	398
Symons, F. A.	375
TAGART, H. A. L.	118
Talbot, C. P.	417
Talbot, Lord E. B.	100
Talbot, F. G.	195
Tanner, F. C.	339
Tanner, J. A.	25
Tapley, J. J. B.	392
Tarbet, A. F.	180
Tarbet, W. G.	247
Tarver, A. R.	324
Tatchell, E.	364
Taylor, A. H. M.	126
Taylor, H. N.	48
Taylor, J.	404
Teck, Prince A. A. F. W. A. G. of	127
Teck, Prince F. J. L. F. of	83
Temple, C. P.	6
Ternan, T. P. B.	33
Terry, R. J. A.	400
Teversham, R. K.	25
Tewkesbury, Lord, G. G. G.	219
Thackwell, C. G. R.	70
Thackwell, C. J.	151
Theobald, H. C. W.	136
Thesiger, Hon. W. G.	251
Thom, J. H.	415
Thomas, A. H.	93
Thomas, G. V.	102
Thompson, C. W.	167
Thompson, H. N.	261
Thompson, R. W.	120
Thompson, T.	151
Thompson, W. O.	52
Thomson, A. G.	403
Thornton, W. B.	400
Thorpe, G.	353
Thurlow, E. G. L.	392
Thynne, A. C.	298
Thynne, U. O.	249
Tickell, E. J.	88
Tidswell, E. C.	177
Tidswell, E. S. W.	365
Tighe, M. J.	35
Tighe, V. A.	91
Tillard, A. B.	73
Tilney, L. E.	429
Tivey, E.	151
Tobin, F. J.	162
Todd, T. J. M.	139
Tomkins, H. L.	74
Tompson, R. H. D.	278
Tonge, W. C.	289
Toogood, C.	130
Topping, T. E.	251
Torrie, C. J.	384
Tottenham, C. B.	216
Townley, N. V.	308
Townshend, C. V. F.	76
Traill, T. B.	339
Travers, H. M.	379
Travers, J. O.	194
Treeby, H. P.	164
Trefusis, The Hon. J. F. Hepburn-Stuart-Forbes-	362
Tremeer, C. A. C.	291
Trench, F. J. A.	261
Trenchard, H. M.	320
Trevor, H. E.	369
Trevor, W. H.	390
Trewby, G.	411
Tringham, A. M.	231
Triscott, C. P.	29
Trotter, A. R.	127
Trotter, E. H.	212
Trotter, G. F.	209
Trousdale, R. C.	303
Tucker, S. N.	148
Tudor, P. Ll.	308
Tudway, R. J.	259
Tullibardine, Marquis of	84
Tulloch, R. M. G.	369
Turnbull, D. R.	339
Turnbull, W. McG.	419
Turner, A. G.	416
Turner, A. J.	396
Turner, B. A.	269
Turner, F. C.	297
Turner, H. G.	145
Turner, R.	149
Turner, R. E. W.	142
Turton, W. H.	261
Tuson, G. E.	208
Tweedie, D. K.	396
Tweedie, H. C.	294
Tweedie, J. L.	4
Tweedmouth (Lord) (see Majoribanks, The Hon. D. C.)	231
Twemlow, F. R.	180
Twyford, E. H. S.	116
Twynam, H. M.	285
Tylden-Pattenson, A. H.	179
Tyndall, W. E. M.	234
Tyrrell, G. E.	360
UMFREVILLE, H. K.	367
Unett, J. A.	200
Uniacke, A. G.	298
Unwin, G. B.	322
Upcher, R.	20
Upton, E. J. G.	298
Ussher, E.	217
VALENTINE, F. A.	28
Vallancey, H. D'E.	119
Vallentin, H. E.	326
Vandeleur, C. F. S.	58
Van Someren, W. W.	75
Varwell, E. H.	404
Vaughan, C. D.	286
Vaughan, E. G.	324
Vaughan, J.	287
Vaughan, L. R.	390
Vaux, E.	250
Venables, C. J.	190
Venning, G. R.	253
Venour, W. J.	208
Ventry (Lord) (see Eveleigh-de-Moleyns, The Hon. F. R. W.)	64
Vernon, H. E.	64
Vernon, L. D.	347
Vernon, R. R.	141
Vickery, C. E.	307
Vigors, P. U. W.	188
Vigors, R. P. L.	229
Villiers, E. F.	238
Villiers, R. H.	150
Villiers-Stuart, J. P.	393
Vipan, C.	219
WACE, E. C.	15
Waite, F.	386
Wake, H.	135
Wake, W. St. A.	91
Walcot, B.	393
Walford, J. A. H.	144
Walford, J. C.	331
Walker, G. H.	152
Walker, H. A.	390
Walker, H. B.	285
Walker, J. B.	343
Walker, J. D. G.	134
Walshe, S. J. A. H.	376
Walter, J. MacNeill	263
Walthall, E. C. W. D.	219
Walwyn, F. J.	158
Ward, A. C.	317
Ward, A. L.	404
Ward, H.	396
Ward, Hon. R.	279
Wardle, E. V. L.	246
Warre, H. C.	193
Warren, G. E.	367
Warren, W. R.	431
Warwick, J. A.	151
Waterlow, J. B.	417
Waterlow, J. F.	225
Watermeyer, J. H. H.	145
Waterworth, G. F.	324
Watson, C. F.	247
Watson, G. F.	433
Watson, H. F.	240
Watson, J. K.	62
Watson, R. MacG.	373
Watson, W.	349
Watson, W. E.	239
Watt, A. F.	377
Watt, D. M.	384
Watt, J. A.	299
Wauchope, A. G.	134
Wauchope, D. A.	250
Way, A. C.	49
Way, A. S.	233
Weatherby, J. T.	390
Wedd, L. D.	246
Wedgwood, C.	290
Wedgwood, J. C.	429
Weir, G. A.	391
Welchman, E. T.	273
Weldon, Sir A. A., Bart.	181
Weldon, F. H.	197
Wells, J. B.	306
Wells-Cole, H.	89
Welman, N. G. L.	347
Wemyss, H. C. B.	340
West, R. R. F.	343
Westlake, A. P.	26
Westmacott, R.	36
Westmorland, P. T.	323
Wharry, H.	52
Whatman, A. B.	201
Wheatley, L. L.	75
Wheeler, H. L.	215
Whigham, R. D.	263
White, C. B. B.	385
White, F.	166
White, F. A.	232
White, H.	144
White, H. B. H.	340
White, J. N.	289
White, J. R.	154
White, S. R. Ll.	189
White-Thomson, H. D.	118
Whitehead, E. K.	301
Whyte, J. H.	429
Wickham, C. G.	248
Wickham, T. E. P.	252
Wickham, T. S.	150
Wicks, H. W. C.	384
Wight-Boycott, T. A.	281
Wilkin, H. D.	47
Wilkins, J. S.	42
Wilkinson, A. C.	396

Digitized by Google

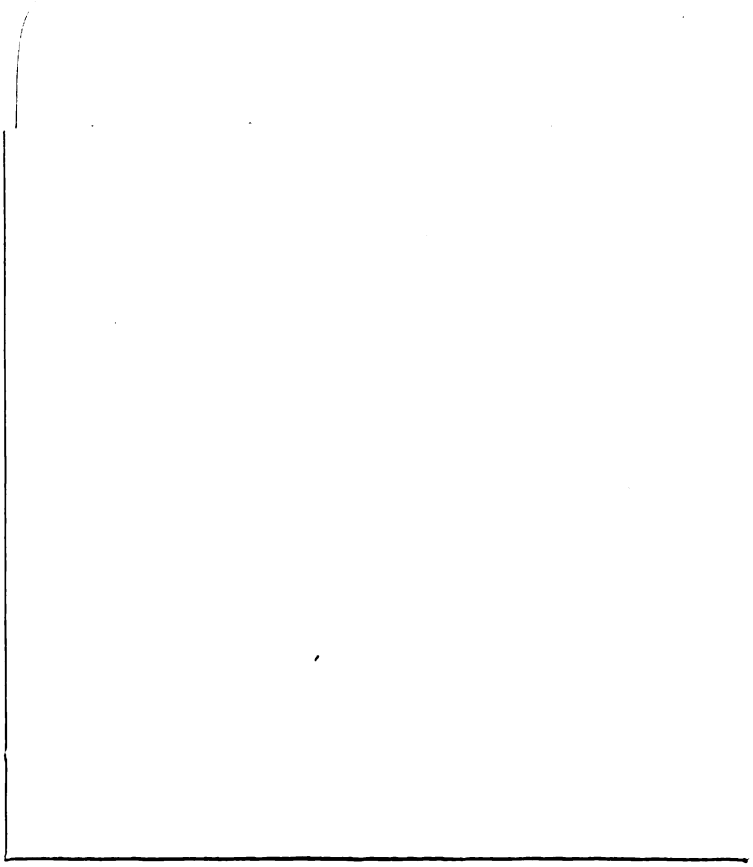
	PAGE
Wilkinson, G. A. E.	180
Wilkinson, H. T. D.	25
Wilkinson, T. H. Des V.	26
Wilkinson, W. T.	238
Willan, F. G.	401
Willans, T. J.	403
Willcocks, J.	22
Williams, A. F. C.	133
Williams, A. P. W.	144
Williams, E. E.	319
Williams, G. C.	422
Williams, H. A.	256
Williams, H. B.	153
Williams, O. de L.	365
Williams, O. T. D.	340
Williams, Sir R.	425
Williams, W. A. G.	91
Williams, W. de L.	91
Williams-Freeman, F. A. P.	330
Williams-Freeman, F. C. P.	368
Williams-Wynn, R. W. H. W.	270
Willis, E. S. C.	304
Willis, G. C. W.	420
Wilmer, E. R. G.	396
Wilmot-Smith, A.	430
Wilson, A. E.	273
Wilson, C. H. A.	249
Wilson, Hon. C. H. W.	251
Wilson, C. W.	199
Wilson, E. M.	79
Wilson, F. A.	234
Wilson, Hon. G. G.	305
Wilson, Henry Hughes	121
Wilson, Herbert Haydon	152
Wilson, H. T.	376
Wilson, J. A.	324
Wilson, J. T. R.	409
Wilson, L. M.	359
Wilson, L. O.	153
Wilson, N.	145
Wilson, R.	411
Wilson, R. A.	431
Wilson, R. H. F. W.	161
Wilson, W. C.	425
Wilson-Farquharson, D. L.	289
Wingate, F. R.	32
Wingate, M. R.	378
Wingfield, J. M.	178
Winn, S. T.	343
Winnington, J. F. S.	383
Winsloe, A. R.	73
Winter, O. de l'E.	427
Wintle, F. G.	42
Winwood, W. Q.	227
Wishart, R.	301
Wodehouse, E. C. F.	211
Wolley-Dod, O. C.	120
Wood, A. G. N.	419
Wood, A. V. L.	217
Wood, C. P. B.	297
Wood, E. F. M.	294
Wood, G. B. G.	427
Wood, H. St. L.	29
Wood, J. L.	227
Wood, P.	408
Woodgate, A. B.	411
Woodham, C. B.	367
Woodman, J. E. S.	340
Woodward, F. W.	230
Wormald, F. W.	210
Worship, V. T.	91
Wray, K. Mackenzie	225
Wreford-Brown, C. W.	245
Wright, B. A.	97
Wright, F. W.	21
Wright, G.	166
Wright, G. B.	406
Wright, H.	109
Wymer, H. J. de C.	427
Wyndham, Hon. E. S.	341
Wyndham-Quin, W. H.	181
Wynne, R.	251
Wynter, F. A.	74
Wynter, H. W.	397
Wynyard, E. G.	27
Yaldwin, A. G.	53
Yale, J. C.	171
Yarde-Buller, Hon. H.	121
Yatman, C.	201
Yeilding, W. R.	43
Young, H. G.	397
Young, N. E.	79
Young, R.	429

Printed at The Chapel River Press, Kingston, Surrey.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
wils v.2
Quarto 929.72 C86
Creagh, O'Moore, Sir, 1848-1923, ed.
The V. C. and D. S. O., a complete recor
3 1951 001 691 880 K

WILSON ANNEX

Digitized by Google